"The twentieth annual convention of the American Association of Cemetery associations opened at the Hotel Cadillac this morning with an address of welcome by Police Commissioner Smith, in the absence of Mayor Codd. The morning session was devoted to the president's address, the reading of reports and the appointment of committees. This afternoon the delegates will inspect the German Lutheran, Forest Lawn and Mt. Olivet Cemeteries.

Judge Alfred J. Murphy was scheduled to address the delegates this evening, but he cannot be present, and Attorney Frank T. Lodge has been substituted. Papers will be read by Bellett Lawson and George L. Tilton during the evening session, followed by a discussion.

The convention will continue until Thursday and wind up with a boat ride to the St. Clair Flats.

Omemee Sends Men To The West

A Number of Young Men Leave That Section for the Northwest.

Examiner Special.

Omemee, August 21.—The harvest is being well saved. Grain threshed proves good yield and sample.

Five of our young men left this morning for the West on the harvest excursions, Y. H. Gallaher, W. Howden, W. J. Guthrie, Henry Jones, and others will follow on the next excursion.

Several old citizens visited here on Peterborough's Civic Holiday.

A number of our canoeists will attend the Chemong regatta Thursday.

Mr. Jas. Hanna, evangelist, Peterborough, spoke very acceptably here in the Presbyterian pulpit. Everyone was glad to see and listen to the old Omemee boy.

The Salvation Army had a very successful ice cream social last Saturday night.

Our Public School teachers have all left again. Our schools passed about six more here during the last term.

There is great lament about our respected old friend, Jas. Keith, losing his $65 on August 9 on the tram between Lindsay and Omemee when coming to visit Dr. Keith here. It is supposed to have been taken by some of the gang following the circus.

Had a Bad Leg.

"For twelve years I was a great sufferer with eczema on the inside of the leg. There was a raw patch of flesh about three inches square, and the itching was terrible. Dr. Chase's Ointment completely cured me, took away the itching and healed up the sore."—Mr. Alex. McDougall, Postmaster, Broad Cove, Marsh. N.S.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

We Treat and Cure Syphilis, Gleet, Varicocele, Emissions, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Seminal Weakness, Kidney and Bladder Diseases.

Bogus Quarters Going.

—There are quite a number of bad quarters in circulation in the city at the present time. They can generally be told by the dull, leadlike appearance, though they appear to ring fairly true. The coins are so perfect in nearly all respects that they are being freely circulated without detection.

Hot in Newmarket.

—It must be hot in Newmarket. The Era says: "Backward turn backward, O time in thy flight, give us a frost again, just for to-night; I am so weary of weather so hot; the sweat it produced would fill a big pot; weary of collars that wilt like a rag; weary of toiling away for the swag. A snow storm or blizzard would go very nice; put me on ice, mother, put me on ice."

Heat Hurts Business.

—A prominent George street merchant stated to The Examiner today that the extreme heat of the past few days has seriously injured business. People prefer to remain home than going to the exertion of shopping. His own proceeds, he declared, had fallen off by at least 30 per cent. or more. Similar statements are made by merchants in all lines of business.

Another Writer On The Normal School Site

Endorses Suggestion of "Progress" to Build it on Murray Street, West of Y. M. C. A.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I am not going to suggest another site for the school, but to advocate the one proposed by "Progress" recently. I had before this site was advocated by "Progress" considered it a good one as those lots are of considerable depth and there would be quite a frontage from the Y.M.C.A. to the Baptist Church, and if the Central Park is such a desirable situation is this not also with the open park in front of it. The city would be able to procure this at a reasonable price as it has not as yet been a very revenue producing property and should be procured to double the assessed value or less less should the city not feel rich enough to pull down the Brownscomb house, they could rent it until such time as they did feel wealthy enough This appears to me to be a good site and it would be a suitable building to face on this future beautiful square.

PROGRESS SECOND.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH HAS NEW PAVEMENTS

The Trustee Board of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, have evidently profitted by the ministrations given within its walls—they have taken heed to their ways—they have provided both the narrow path and the broad road. In other words they have caused to be constructed a complete system of concrete pavement in alongside, in front and round about the church edifice and parsonage. These walks represent a great improvement, and a convenience that will be greatly appreciated by the congregation. The congregation of this church boasts of being out of debt, but they are in debt to the Trustee Board for a splendid system of concrete walks.

Big Crowd At Chemong Regatta

Nearly 200 From Stony Lake Visited the Park.

The annual regatta at Chemong Park is being held this afternoon, and from the reports coming in is a good success. The auto and delivery busses have been busy all afternoon in transporting the Peterborough people who wanted to go out to the park. A telephone message to The Examiner says that the Stoney Lake brought 175 people from that resort to view the regatta.

"Islanda" Resort Is Very Popular

Good Fishing Reported From This Resort in Buckhorn Lake.

A delightful summer resort, about which not a great deal has been said, but which is becoming very popular and all who visit are pleased with, is "Islanda," a pleasantly situated resort on an island in Buckhorn Lake between Chemong and Buckhorn.

The proprietor, Mr. Alex. Nicholls, who was in the city yesterday, reports that his house has been well filled all season, and all who have been there have been simply charmed with the scenery, the fishing and the manner in which the resort is conducted. It is easily accessible and is a most delightful place to spend a few days.

Fred Roberts To Do The Painting

Firm of Which He is Head Will Paint New Carpet Works.

Mr. Fred Roberts, of the firm of Roberts & Hetherington, contracting decorators for the building contractor, C. B. S. Dennick, is in the city to-day, in connection with the work of painting the new Carpet Company's factory. The work is in charge of a foreman, Mr. Roberts only remaining to get it under way. It is probable that work will take about a month to complete.

57th Band At The Chemong Regatta

The Local Band Will Furnish Music To-morrow.

The 57th Band will be in attendance at the dance at Chemong in connection with the regatta at the park, to-morrow night. In spite of all the reports to the contrary, the band has been engaged and will be present.

Hastings Tax Rate 22 Mills

This is the Rate That Will be Paid This Year.

The tax rate for the village of Hastings for 1906 has been fixed. Public School supporters will pay 21 mills on the dollar, and Separate School supporters 22 mills. This rate is the same as last year. The following are the several rates for this year, with those of other years for comparison:

	'06	'05	'04	'03
Public School.....mills	7	7	7	7
Separate School	8	8	8	7
Streets.....	7	8	4	2½
Street Lighting.....	2	2	2	2
County and Village	5	4	4	5

In 1896 there was an additional five mills, four for debentures and one for fire department.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 23.—Opening prices this morning were from 1 to 2 1-2 points higher under the influence of a higher London market. The market was under pressure of liquidating sales from the start and the opening gains were soon lost. The market see-sawed back and forth until the last hour when heavy buying of Anaconda advanced that stock 3 points, causing a rally of 2 1-2 in Amal. Copper and the list in general to rally New York Central was strong gaining at one time over 2 points, but later reacting. The Steels were bought heavily again to-day and show a good advance over yesterday, as do St. Paul and Union Pac. Louisville and Atchison lost ground on the day. The close was very active and quite strong on the top of the rally.

Pandora Range

SAVES FUEL AND HELPS TO PAY FOR ITSELF.

It is not the price you pay for a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the fuel it consumes after you get it.

If you buy a range which costs $5 to $7 less than a "Pandora" and it burns a ton, or only half a ton of coal more in a year, what do your gain? Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences, troubles and extra work which are a certainty with a poor range.

The "Pandora" is equipped with many fuel-saving features which are not found on any other range. Hot-air flues are constructed so that all the heat from the fire-box travels directly under every pot-hole and around the oven twice—every atom of heat is used, and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

Peterborough's Progress Surprises Old Boy

Mr. E. S. Dawe Tells of the Great Improvements of Eigteen Years—Looks Upon This City as One of the Most Promising in Ontario—His Advice: "Stay Home Young Man, and Grow Up With Father."

Mr. Ed. S. Dawe of Philadelphia, Pa., who is in the city on a visit to his brother, Mr. D. D. C. Dawe, is greatly delighted with the progress that Peterborough has made during his eighteen years' absence. In an interview with the Examiner Mr. Dawe said:

"It only seems yesterday that I wended my way to the great Northwest, where fortunes were made, and lost, in a day, where time and tide waited for no man, where every man's success depended solely upon his own energy and executive ability.

"When I departed, leaving friends and school chums behind I little thought that in a few years Peterborough would expand to such gigantic proportions, as it appears today. The town does not seem like the same old place; new faces present themselves at every step, new buildings and huge manufacturing enterprises abound at every turn; everyone is busy, hustle seems to be the watchword, and ultimately Peterborough, in my opinion, will be the banner city of Canada, at least central Ontario.

"Where vacant lots appeared eighteen years ago, to-day handsome homes are built, a manufacturing plant is erected, or if not built up, there exists a vast improvement in one way or another. Crossing the old river bridge, in the distance looms up the gigantic, world-famed Lift Lock, where a few years ago was a fertile farm. Peterborough, through the acquisition of this canal, and attendant engineering successes, has attained a name throughout the United Kingdom that only a hundred generations will obliterate. You now have everything possible to attain success; you can live almost independently from your home products; you are a town no longer, but a reputable Canadian city, established within massive pillars of commerce and finance, built from the foundation up, on the principles of honour, integrity and learning.

"My only regret is that my foresight did not extend far enough into the dim future to point out the many advantages of home-grown fortunes — home brain development, and being one of the many to build up the grand temple of Peterborough as it appears to-day; to have been one of your citizens, and aid in the future up-building of the Greater Peterborough, still remembered in my absence as my 'Canadian home.' With apologies to the renowned Horace Greely, I say — 'Stay home, young man, and grow up with father.'"

Mr. Kennedy's Work At A Camp Meeting

What the Advocate Says of His Services at Green Valley Camp Meeting, California—Most Successful Series of Meetings.

A copy of the California Christian Advocate, published at San Francisco, has a reference to the successful work of Evangelist H. D. Kennedy, who has been conducting meetings at Sebastopol, Santa Rosa, Green Valley and St. Helena, Calif. Speaking of the camp meeting, the Advocate says:

The thirty-eighth annual camp meeting of the Sonoma County Camp Meeting Association was held on their camp grounds in Green Valley from July 5 to 15, inclusive. From the first meeting until the last there was a manifestation of grace and power, which constantly grew in intensity as the meetings progressed.

The committee was planning for the camp when the earthquake came, but that put an end to all their arrangements, and for a time it looked as if no meeting could be held this year. It was first planned to have a three weeks' meeting, one week to be given to a literary programme, followed by the regular ten days of religious services; but the earthquake made that feature impossible for this year.

After things became somewhat normal the association decided to hold its regular meeting, and at the regular time and let it be conducted by the ministers who would attend, no outside help being available. But at a late date the services of Rev. H. D. Kennedy, an evangelist from Ontario, Canada, were secured.

Rev. Mr. Kennedy had charge of the evening services. His sermons were indeed in demonstration of the Spirit and in power. As an evangelist, he is both safe and sane. His sermons are all upon the great truths of God's Word and along the line of salvation. He knows how to handle the afternoon meeting to the best advantage. His work among the children deserves mention. In a very unique way he instructs them in the Christian life. He makes it plain, and shows it to be, what it really is, an attractive life for the young as well as the old. In the service of the last Sunday afternoon, about fifty children who had been assembled on the platform sang a song of invitation to fathers, mothers, families, friends and loved ones, to go with them to the heavenly land. It was very impressive to see several hundred people moving forward about the altar in response to the call of the children.

Purify The Water By Filter Process

Medical Authorities Agree at Association Meeting That This is the Surest Method—The Question Under Consideration at Toronto—Some Advantages of Filtration—Of Importance to Many Citizens.

In view of the fact that Peterborough is just now considering the question of purifying the city's water supply, by the installation of a filter, the consideration of this question at the meeting of the Medical Association in Toronto, will be of interest. The News, reporting it, says:

"The Factors of Sanitary Water Supply Problems," was a subject of great general interest discussed by Dr. H. W. Hill, Assistant Director of Health Laboratories, Minneapolis, Minnesota, before the State Medical Section to-day. The continuous sanitary supervision of supply after installation, in order to forestall outbreaks of typhoid, and the examination and treatment of supplies which have been allowed to become sources of outbreaks, were described, and urged by the speaker.

The artificial purification of water may be accomplished either by filtration, distillation, or aeration. The only system possible where large quantities of water are used, is filtration. There are two systems of filtration, one known as the "slow sand," or English filter bed, similar to a water tight reservoir, suitably under-drained, and filled to a depth of five or six feet, with proper filter material. The other is the American or mechanical filter system. Sand filters are at highest est state of bacterial efficiency before cleaning, but must be cleaned at frequent intervals, otherwise they become impervious.

Concrete is probably the best material for the English filter bed. The rate of filtration varies to some extent with the character of the water but from two to two and a half million gallons per day per acre may be given as the average rate.

The Cost of Filters.

A large filter costs less in proportion than a small one. To construct a filter one acre in extent, would cost $80,000 in this country, and for cleaning the filter, washing, and replacing sand, about $2 per million gallons. Mechanical filters differ from the slow sand, in that a small quantity of some coagulent, preferably aluminum sulphate, is added to the water before it reaches the filter. The aluminium hydrate thus formed is a most important constituent of the filter, for without it the bacterial efficiency is very low. The water is then admitted to the filter, which is a tank or cylinder made of wood, iron or concrete, three parts full of a specially selected sand, with suitable underdraining for carrying the filtered water to the reservoir.

The sand becomes dirty in a short time, depending on the turbidity of the water, and must be washed by a reverse current at least once every day, about 5 per cent. of filtrate being used. A first class plant would cost about $20,000 per million gallons. Bacterial efficiency of either systems, properly constructed, will be about equal. Mechanical filtration, however, is more effective in removing the colour and turbidity.

Condemns Pollution by Sewage.

"The custom of discharging sewage into rivers, or streams, or other similar bodies of water, cannot be too strongly deprecated," said Dr. Hilton, secretary of the Vermont State Board of Health, who discussed water supplies. He urged the great necessity of the filtration of water supply for municipalities, when the same was derived from rivers or lakes, which must contain a considerable amount of pollution. Many inter-state and international bodies of water had become merely affected by a prevalent custom, which tended to pollution, and the question resolved itself into one demanding governmental attention. Filtration removed odour, and dangerous bacteria, but the tendency among municipalities to overlook the importance of this feature of water supply was all too apparent. The prohibition of the use of waters, which it had been shown were polluted, had brought down blessings as well as curses, and presented many serious aspects to sanitarians, and municipal authorities could not be urged too strongly to take every possible precaution towards the best possible supply.

Pollution of Rivers.

Dr. T. A. Starkey, Professor of Hygience, McGill University, Montreal, devoted consideration chiefly to the pollution of rivers in discussing "Water Supplies." In the cases of rivers control was out of the question, and some means of filtration or purification was necessary. Reference was made to the Ottawa and the St. Lawrence, which he considered if not seriously dangerous, where adjacent to large cities, were becoming so. Money where spent should be devoted to permanent improvement as would give the municipalities interested, pure and wholesome water for all time to come.

Defence Against Disease.

Prof. Glaister of Glasgow, in discussing water supplies, considered that pure and sufficient water supplies were the best defence which could possibly be adopted by any country against dangerous contagious diseases. Three ways of securing a good supply were cited in connection with Prof. Glaister's Old Country experience. The first was by the purchase outright of the gathering ground or watershed of the district, of supply, or of the lake itself, as in the case of Manchester; or, secondly, as in the case of Glasgow, the purchase of the rights of conservation of the water shed with the object of preventing pollution. The third precaution cited was an arrangement whereby a municipality secured the right of inspection of its supply. Much depended upon the parties who controlled the supply, and it was pointed out that municipal ownership, as in Scotland, was preferable to that of private ownership, which made sanitation subservient to the making of profits.

Park Street Site Was Suggested For School

Ratepayer Thinks That Leonard Property, Bounded by Park, London and Dublin Streets, is Best Site.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As a ratepayer of the municipality, and being one interested in the educational development of the City of Peterborough, I would suggest the block of land facing on London, Park and Dublin streets, and belonging to the Dickson Co., and the Leonard Property. This land I understand, could be purchased at a reasonable cost, and I consider if "Outside of the Central Park Site" to be the best that has yet been publicly suggested, consisting of about two acres, and being beautifully situated only a few rods from the street car line, and being one of the best building sites on the market in the city at the present time. It is also in closer proximity with more of the other Educational Institutions of the City than any other site that has been mentioned. One point that I wish to strongly emphasize is the fact that this property can be purchased at about one-half the cost of the other sites spoken of, which are in my mind not nearly so well adapted for the school.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I am,

Yours respectfully,
A RATEPAYER.

WARM WEATHER THIS SUMMER LESSENS LOCAL SUPPLY OF MILK

Peterborough is threatened with a serious shortage in the milk supply if the hot weather lasts any longer. So far, other than a decided inconvenience to the dealers, many of whom have been forced to extend the list of places where they procure their supply, the shortage has not affected the consumer to any extent. But if present weather conditions continue there is no telling what may happen.

A milkman was asked about the shortage to-day, and he attributed it to the hot, dry summer. There is little grass and the weather has been so warm that the flies have have been a great pest to the cows, interfering seriously with the supply given.

There is one way for the dealers to overcome the shortage, and that is to procure milk from the farmers at present sending to the cheese factories, but this may be difficult on account of the high prices prevailing among the factory patrons.

There is some relief in the fact that the heavy rains of the past few days will improve the pasture lands, but even at that it will be some time before the supply reaches normal again.

As far as is known every dealer in Peterborough has been able to supply his customers regularly.

Central School Cost $15,258

Not $30,000 as Has Been Currently Reported.

Some discussion has taken place recently in reference to the cost of the Central Public School. The statement was made that it had cost $30,000 to build, and among those who were not more correctly informed, this statement was generally credited. It appears, however, that this is not the case. Poole's history of Peterborough, which is looked upon as most reliable, states that the actual cost was $16,258. This writer says, referring to this school: "The original estimate as to the cost of the new school building was $16,900, and the actual outlay for its completion and furnishing amounted to $16,258. So trifling an excess over the estimated sum was a matter for congratulation, alike by the Board and the public."

Half Holiday Was Enjoyed

Rogatta at Chemong Attended by Many Local People.

The clerks had their choice of several ways of spending their weekly half holiday to-day, and never was the privilege more enjoyed. The escape for a half day from the hot stores and streets was a great relief. The steamer Water-Lily took a good many on the round trip to Rice Lake, and many more went out to Chemong to take in the annual regatta, which is being held there this afternoon.

The Round Trip Car will run To-night.

Mrs. H. M. Lloyd's Father Dead

Mr. McClelland Passed Away in Montreal.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Lloyd, of Vancouver, formerly of Peterborough, will be sorry to learn of the death of Mr. McCleland, Mrs. Lloyd's father, which took place in Montreal, July 15th. Word received by friends here, states that Mr. McCleland was taken suddenly ill in his office and after eight weeks of suffering, he passed peacefully away. He was sixty-one years of age, and was one of the older manufacturers of Montreal. For many years Mr. McCleland was an honoured elder of Calvin Presbyterian church. Those who had to privilege of meeting Mrs. McCleland on her visits to her daughter will remember her lovely character and delightful companionship. The deepest sympathy of all will be extended to the friends in their season of sorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd now reside at 725 Eight avenue, West, Vancouver, B.C.

57th Band At Toronto Fair

Will Play on Aug. 30th Instead of Sept. 7th.

Mr. R. Gliddon, bandmaster of the 57th band, received word to-day from the authorities of the Toronto Industrial Fair, stating that the date upon which the 57th band will play at the Fair, has been changed from Sept. 7th to August 30th, which means that one week from to-day the 57th band will be heard by those who attend the Toronto Fair.

New True Blue Lodge Has Been Organized

An Addition to the Ranks of the Orange Lodges of the City—A Promising Lodge Instituted Last Night.

The Examiner has been supplied with the following report of the meeting held last night to organize a new True Blue Lodge:—

The Loyal True Blue Lodge mentioned a few days ago as about to be formed in Peterborough was organized last evening in a very successful manner. Although the evening was very warm, by 8 o'clock the lodge room contained a large number of lady and gentleman candidates for this Association. Two members of Canawa, two of Brantford and two of Toronto, assisted the Worshipful Master in the work.

All enjoyed the initiation and the White Degree. During the evening refreshments were served which were partaken of with great pleasure.

This Lodge, one of the well known Loyal True Blue Associations, has started with a very creditable membership and a large number of candidates that have made application were unable to attend, thus everything assures the Lodge of brightest prospects for the future. It is an association not to degrade but to build up characters in our countrymen, assist and encourage the down-hearted to help the neglected children and orphans of our land and help the widows.

Our Loyal True Blue Home near Picton, where the rescued children are clothed, boarded and educated, is a credit to many older organizations. The children get first-class board, a neat iron cot or bed according to suit the age each needs and regular hours each legal school day to attend public school which is on the same grounds as the Home. Unlike many homes of this kind where children are not made to feel happy we endeavour to have the officers in charge very agreeable, thus the little ones are made to feel content and comfortable.

They are furnished numerous games and toys according to age, each cares for and play rooms for stormy weather. The grounds are on the bay of Quinte and a wharf is built here so excursions can land and have the free use of the Orphanage Park. Many good things could be said in favour of True Blueism We cannot tell whose children will need the Loyal True Blues' helping hand Any donations made towards this cause goes to a good and noble work. Anyone interested can give a donation, no matter how small. The inspector of such institutions in his report of 1905, said it was in every way a creditable institution. There will be a meeting within a few evenings, when the Scarlet Degree will be given. The names of the officers elect to Prince of Orange Loyal True Blue Lodge No. 340 will be published in a future issue of this paper.

THE WEATHER

The downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, was one of the heaviest while it continued that Peterborough has ever seen. During the storm, which lasted only for 25 minutes, rain came down to the depth of one inch and a tenth on the level. The storm was local in extent. As a matter of fact no rain fell at the farm of Mr. J. Edgar, but a mile or so north of town on the Chemong road.

Warm Welcome Home For Rev. J. P. Wilson

Former Pastor of George Street Church Gladly Received By His Belleville Congregation.

The Belleville Ontario, in referring to the home-coming of Rev. J. P. Wilson, formerly pastor (of the George street Methodist church, says in part: A hearty reception was tendered Rev. J. P. Wilson and party last evening in Bridge street Sunday school rooms on their return from a two month's sojourn in the Old Land. The welcome was warm in every respect (even the weather), and Mr. Wilson and several members of the party who were there will always have pleasant memories of the reception given them, and of the many good words said by members of the congregation and others, to welcome them back to the good old City of the Bay.

Mayor Sulman occupied the chair, and performed the duties which devolved upon him in a very creditable manner, referring to Mr. Wilson and his trip in a very pleasing way, and saying he, with all present, was very glad to welcome our old pastor and citizen back.

Mr. Wilson was received, upon rising, with the "Chautauquay" salute, and said he was thankful for the very hearty reception that had greeted him on every side since his return. This had been a great opportunity, and he could see the hand of Providence in all these things; his companions upon the trip were all that one would want to make the trip enjoyable. If a man goes to England, and is from Canada, Belleville especially, he is well looked after. Mr. Wilson said he found many Belleville people in England, and this city has a very warm spot in the hearts of the people there.

"Doc" Shaw Has Left Peterborough

Star Centre-Half of the Rugby Team is Gone.

W. J. Shaw, better known as "Doc" Shaw, the star centre-half of last year's Peterborough champion rugby team, left this morning for the West, where he has secured a good position. His removal from the city will mean a considerable loss to the team, as Shaw's playing last year was a very important factor in winning the championship, his punting making him invaluable. His place will be very hard to fill.

Sick Benefit Fund For Peterborough Fire Brigade

Mr. C. B. Lasalle Moving Spirit in a Commendable Scheme—Soliciting Subscriptions for Fire Chart.

The merchants and manufacturers of the city, are being asked to contribute in a novel manner to the Sick Benefit Fund of the Peterborough Fire Brigade. The scheme, while it assists the fire laddies, is a splendid advertisement for the contributor.

Mr. C. B. Lasalle is the moving spirit, and has been in the city for some weeks in the interests of the fire brigade. The plan is to get out "Fire Charts," on which will appear the names of the members of the brigade, the official location of the fire alarm boxes, and other notes of interest in reference to this important public department.

Mr. Lasalle is soliciting advertisements for this chart from the merchants and manufacturers, who are responding liberally to the call, as they realize that in advertising through this medium they are materially assisting the brigade. All the money received for advertisments, after expenses have been paid, will be turned over to the brigade as a Sick Benefit Fund. The charts will be hung in the business places of the city, and two copies will be sent to the fire departments, councils and boards of trade throughout Ontario. The scheme appears most commendable and should be encouraged by those who appreciate the good work of the brigade.

Responsibility Rests With City Council

That Body Will Have to Appoint Man to Enforce Regulations Respecting Pollution of the Otonabee Waters—Board of Health Will Ask Council to Act.

It is up to the city now to see that the regulations passed by the Provincial Board of Health, and the provisions in the act recently passed by the Legislature, respecting the pollution of waters, are enforced. The chairman of the local Board of Health has received word from the Provincial Board of Health to the effect that since the intention of the regulations was to protect the health of Peterborough, this city would have to see that they were enforced. The matter will be under consideration by the Board of Health at the first meeting that will be called, which will be in the very near future, and the city council will, in all probability, be asked by the Board to appoint a man to see that no polluting substances are imported into the water.

In case the city council refuse to protect the public health to this extent, the Board of Health, if it has the power, will undoubtedly appoint the man, and charge the cost to the council.

It is expected that a meeting of the Joint Committee of the Finance Committee of the Council and the Board of Health will be held on Monday night, when the question of the Isolation Hospital will be taken up.

Local Divines Attend The General Conference

Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. J. G. Lewis Will go to Montreal Shortly—The Highest Body of the Methodist Church Will Meet in That City.

Rev. Dr. Crothers, chairman of the Peterborough district, and Rev. J. G. Lewis will go to Montreal in a short time to attend the general conference of the Methodist church, which opens on September 12. A request has been sent to the authorities of the church to have Rev. Dr. Crothers present at Granby on one of the Sundays during the progress of the conference. The Herald, referring to the gathering, says:

On Wednesday, September 12, there will convene in St. James Methodist church in this city, a general conference of the Methodist church. This is the highest court of the church and is composed of 306 representatives from all parts of the Dominion and Newfoundland, together with four delegates from Japan. This conference is vested with full legislative powers and meets every four years. The local churches for some time have been preparing for the entertainment of the delegates and other matters on connection with the sessions. On September 16 and 23 the various Methodist pulpits of the city will be occupied by the visiting ministers, and in addition to these Rev. S. F. Collins, of Manchester Mission, representative of the British Wesleyan Conference; Rev. Dr. Kelly, New York, representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. J. M. McCoy, of Alabama, from the M. E. Church South, will preach.

Jackson Park Is Cool Spot

People go There in Effort to Escape Heat.

In an effort to escape the stifling heat, a large proportion of Peterborough's population went out to Jackson Park last night. It seemed the only cool place in the city, and the breezy trip on the cars made people more reconciled to the humidity of the atmosphere. Peterborough, without her parks and street car lines, would scarcely be a desirable residing place during the prevailing weather conditions, and these advantages are being well patronized.

The moving pictures at Jackson Park were new and humourous, probably the best series seen there this year, and the hearty outbursts of laughter from the crowd showed that they were appreciated. The 57th Band rendered splendid music during the evening.

Changes In The Kingston Diocese

Archbishop Gauthier Has Transferred a Number of Priests.

His Grace the Archbishop, Most Rev. Dr. Gauthier, has made the following changes in the Diocese of Kingston during the past week. Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Results Of The Evolution Of Medical Idea

Surgeons and Doctors Testify of Abandonment of Alcohol.

ITS VALUE AS A DRUG NIL

Impressive Statements of Sir Victor Horsley and Prof. Woodhead—Figures Which Speak of the Great Change in Medical Practice Within the Life of Dominion—Doctors Leading in Reform

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Addresses from two of the most eminent men in attendance at the British Medical Association were the leading features in yesterday's proceedings. Sir James Barr delivered his address in the section of medicine on "The Circulation Viewed From the Periphery," and Sir Victor Horsley in the surgery section spoke "On the Technique of Operations on the Central Nervous System." The sectional work of the day was of great interest, including papers from Prof. Chittenden on his proteid experiments; Dr. Barker's essay on "Amino Acids and Metabolism"; Dr. Blackadar's contribution on "Rheumatism in Children"; papers on cancer research by Dr. E. F. Basliford, London; Prof. Gaylord, Buffalo; Dr. Clowes, Buffalo; Prof. Gaylor, New York, while the state medicine section afforded a valuable discussion on water and milk supplies.

The senate of the Toronto University has determined to confer the degree of LL.D honoris causa on thirteen members of the association.

EVOLUTION OF KNOWLEDGE.

Value of Alcohol as a Drug Practically Nil.

Yesterday's work of the British Association had no more interesting feature than the Dominion Alliance luncheon in the gymnasium at 1 o'clock. The temperance question has, of course, long passed the fad stage, but yesterday's proceedings placed the authoritative stamp of medical science upon the movement. Sir Victor Horsley, F. R. S., surgeon of University College Hospital, London; Prof. G. Sims Woodhead, professor of pathology, Cambridge University, and Dr. Murdock Cameron, professor of midwifery, Glasgow University, to mention no others, were sufficient by their presence to indicate this.

Sir Victor was received with prolonged applause by the crowded audience. Canadians were probably aware of the attitude of their own medical men. The French-speaking practitioners had recently passed a strong resolution, and the profession as a whole had indicated a hostile rather than a friendly attitude towards the drug called alcohol. He was there to give them some ideas of the views of old country physicians, of whom the B. M. A. formed a majority. Years ago the association had urged the Government to take more active steps to advance temperance in the nation, and on the whole, the profession in England was as hostile to alcohol as in Canada. Not only was this true in regard to alcohol as a beverage, but as a drug.

No Use as a Drug.

"As a drug—in my opinion—its value is practically nil," he said, and there was loud applause. It had been a tradition in blood-poisoning, in post-surgical conditions, and in other cases to administer alcohol, but on all these points it was no longer used.

Twenty years ago Dr. Hare began a table which Sir Victor had been able to bring up-to-date. He displayed a diagram showing the consumption of milk and alcohol in seven London hospitals since 1867. At that time $40,000 a year was spent on alcohol in these institutions, and the amount remained about level till 1872. In 1862 milk cost for the same places $15,000. In 1882, when Sir Victor was a student, the values of the two commodities used in these hospitals was equal, and two years ago they had changed their relative positions, milk having cost $40,000 and alcohol only $15,000.

"In the infirmary at Salisbury 25 years ago £300 had been spent annually on alcohol. Last year the cost was £7. This was due to no mere change of opinion, but to an evolution of knowledge. The change began with surgery, and as a surgeon he was not prejudiced in its favor. "But the credit was really due to the great man to whom we owe everything—Lord Lister." (Applause).

Antiseptic surgery had rendered alcohol unnecessary. Hancock, a great cheirurgical authority, had not used alcohol for seven years.

Social Reformers.

Sir Victor concluded with a word on the social side of the question.

"Personally I believe the medical profession to be the great social reforming agency of every nation, for they are the real witnesses of social life," he said. One Friday night in England they had issued a form of petition asking the Government to have compulsory teaching of hygiene in schools. On the Monday there were 5,000 replies from the doctors to which they had been sent, and 15,000 in a few days. The feeling was overwhelming strong, and produced a marked effect upon the Government. England was lagging behind the colonies in this respect, but he hoped she would gain fresh wind and cut a respectable figure in the race.

"If conditions are to be improved it will be by the authority and agency of the medical profession," he concluded.

Prof. Sims Woodhead, Cambridge, said that although not so potent, perhaps, as in surgery, there had been an equally strong change in medical views. Men who had held to alcohol as a sheet-anchor in febrile and other cases, now considered it exercised a bad effect on the resisting power of the patient.

Jail Sentence For Doctor.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—A sentence of seven days in jail was yesterday imposed by Magistrate Denison on Dr. Charles W. Wilson of Montreal, a member of the British Medical Association. He was arrested on the complaint of A. T. Severance of New York, who said that the night before the doctor in the hotel corridor put his arms around his daughter and kissed her. He saw the outrageous affair. Wilson told the magistrate he had no recollection of the affair. "Then you must have been very drunk," said the magistrate. "A man should keep sober who is liable to act like that when drunk, and we must try and correct you. A few days in jail will do you good." The prisoner pleaded against incarceration, but the magistrate imposed sentence.

A UNIQUE SCENE.

Brilliant Plate Presentation Ceremony On Board Battleship Dominion.

Quebec, Aug. 23.—Representatives were in attendance here from most cities in Canada at the presentation ceremony on board H. M. S. Dominion of the plate symbolic of the expression of the popular sentiment of the Canadian people, their loyalty to the Empire, and their appreciation of the compliment paid Canada by the Admiralty in naming one of the newest and most powerful battleships after this Dominion.

The battleship was gaily bedecked in red and white bunting, flags, etc. The two French cruisers now in this harbor also honored the occasion by flying the British ensign.

His Excellency the Governor-General, Lady Grey, Lord Howick, Lieut.-Governor Jette, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Right Hon. Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, G. C. M. G., British ambassador at Washington; Mayor Garneau, the French admiral, members of the committees of Toronto, Montreal and Halifax, etc., were on board from 1 p. m. when they partook of luncheon, and when the hour for the presentation arrived, the vessel was crowded.

The Ontario committee, which is chiefly responsible for the Canadian trophy, was represented by J. K. Osborne, Lieut.-Col. J. J. Davidson and W. B. McMurrich, K. C., The treasurer, D. R. Wilkie, and secretary, Capt. Des Voeux, were unable to get here, as was also Lieut.-Governor Clarke of Ontario.

Acting Mayor Johnson of Halifax presented a silver punch bowl from the citizens of Halifax.

The trophies presented by the Governor-General consist of a silver shield, a massive silver cup and six silver cigar boxes. The total amount subscribed by 20,000 Canadians was about $4,000, the amount of each subscription having been limited to 25 cents.

His Excellency made a fitting speech in making the presentation, and called on J. Kerr Osborne to make the presentation speech, which the latter did.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said jokingly that he was a man of peace, strong on railways and waterways, etc., but not on battleships. He alluded eloquently to the entente cordiale which existed now between France and England and said that the presence of the French admiral was evident and living proof of this good understanding.

A grand concert by the sailors of the Dominion, assisted by the band of the French flag ship, was given.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARNS.

Considerable Damage to Property by Tuesday's Storm.

Guelph, Aug. 23.—The barn of Thomas Sutton, Eramosa, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground with the season's crop, a mare and colt and nearly all the farm implements. The loss is about $2,000.

Three cattle were killed in Rockwood, the owners being Mrs. Lee, W. Torrance, and James Meadows.

Alvinston, Aug. 23.—During the electrical storm Tuesday afternoon the barns of James Readers were burned with season's crops and farm implements; loss $3,500; insurance, $1,900.

The barn of Dougald E. McKellar was also burned, with a loss of $3,500, and insurance of $1,800. Mr. McKellar was shocked.

Peterboro, Aug. 23.—The barn of J. Clyesdale of Dummer Township was struck by lightning Tuesday night and destroyed. The season's crop and several head of cattle were burned. The loss will be about $1,800, partially covered by insurance. Mrs. Clyesdale, who was in the building at the time, was stunned by the lightning, but hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Constitution For China.

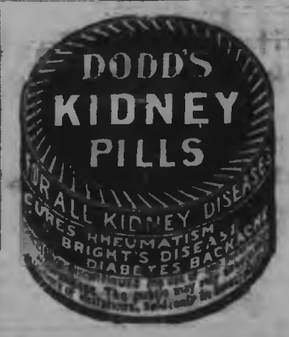
If you have not been, but ever do be, remember that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is nature's specific for all Bowel Complaints.

It has been on the market for 60 years. Surely this is reputation enough as to its efficacy.

Mr. Henry Voll, Carthage, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry with the best of results. Last summer I had the Diarrhœa so bad that I had to give up work. A friend of mine persuaded me to give Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a trial, which I did, and can say that it cured me entirely. I can recommend it to all who are troubled with Diarrhœa."

Be sure and ask for Dr. Fowler's and take no substitute. All dealers sell it.



Wife Murdet Then Suicide Latest Crime

Harry Anderson, Parry Sound, Commits Crime In Rage.

THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF DEAD

Mrs. Anderson Killed on Neighbor's Doorstep—Man Was Insanely Jealous, and Made Life a Burden to His Life-Companion—Revolver Used Evidently Recently Purchased—Two Young Children Left.

Parry Sound, Aug. 23.—In a fit of rage and jealousy Harry Anderson Tuesday night shot his wife dead at the door of a neighbor's house, and, returning to his own house, sat down and fired the pistol at his own head, killing himself instantly.

Anderson's family relations have not been happy for a long time past and he is reputed to have been cruel and overbearing towards his wife. He had been arrested for beating and ill-treating her and on one occasion she sought to have him bound over the keep the peace after he had repeatedly threatened her life.

He appears to have been a man of fitful and violent temper and subject to fits of violent jealousy of his wife. The shooting was done when the man was in this state of mind.

Anderson fired twice at his wife as she stood at the doorway going into a neighbor's house, the first bullet striking her on the shoulder. She turned round as he came towards her. He then fired the second shot, the bullet this time hitting her on the forehead and killing her instantly. A relative of Mrs. Anderson's standing near witnessed the affair.

The revolver which the man used was evidently recently purchased, as it was a new one.

Anderson was a man in middle life. He worked in the lumber yard of the Parry Sound Lumber Co.

A family of two young children, a boy and a girl, are left.

MURDERS PRIEST'S NIECE.

Cuts Throat, Robs House and Flees While Victim's Uncle Is Away.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 23.—News was received yesterday of a terrible murder at New Ireland, a remote village of Albert County. The victim was Miss Mary McCaulay, about 45 years of age, niece and housekeeper to Rev. Father McCaulay, parish priest.

Father McCaulay had given a home to Thomas Collins, a sailor, who appeared in the village three weeks ago.

On Sunday, while the priest was away, Collins borrowed a razor from a neighbor and cut her throat from ear to ear, threw her body in a wood shed, robbed the house of considerable money and fled.

Father McCaulay did not return until Tuesday. Collins is believed to be making his way to the States, and may be captured, but that is doubtful. There was no attempt at assault.

Bail For Mrs. Miller.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Lillian Miller, who was committed for trial by Magistrate Kingsford, on the charge of selling medicines to Mrs. Agnes Bridant, which caused her death, was yesterday admitted to bail. Mrs. Miller furnished $2,500, and Henry Bedell became security for a like amount.

Letter Carrier Trapped.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Pierre Compeau, a Montreal letter carrier, suspected of stealing money from letters, was trapped yesterday by means of decoy letters.

Must Stand Trial.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—George Finlayson of Montreal must stand trial before a jury on a charge of assaulting Charlie Querrie of the Tecumsehs during the civic holiday game. Querrie on the stand yesterday said the blow had knocked his teeth out. He did not know how many stitches were required to sew up his injured scalp, nor did he know who struck him. Thomas Carlind, manager of the Montreal lacrosse team, furnished bail in $200.

Come To Lindsay And Help Win Another Game

Shamrocks Will Run an Excursion on Saturday When They Cross Sticks With the Fast Toronto Junction Team.

For the third time this season the Peterborough Shamrocks go to Lindsay on Saturday to play a sudden death game. This time their adversaries are the fast Toronto Junction team picked by many wise ones as the junior champions. The local bunch are confident of making the aforesaid graduates of the knowledge school realize that the Junction team is not the only lacrosse team in this part of the granary of the Empire. As in the case of their other games the Shamrocks will run an excursion to the Scugog town and their supporters should rally round the banner as they did before and help them to take another step nearer the championship. Be a sport, buy a ticket and do your share in bringing the C. L. A. honours to Peterborough. A special train will leave the G.T.R. station at 2 o'clock and the fare has been placed at the very low rate of 65 cents return.

Surphlis Weakened In The Last Innings

Norwood, With a Local Battery, Defeated in Havelock Yesterday—Home Team Had a Port Hope Battery.

Examiner Special

Havelock, Aug. 23.—Havelock is jubilant over the defeat of the Norwood baseball nine at the Park and Pleasure Grounds here yesterday afternoon. The score card at the finish showed the locals in the lead by the score of 8 runs to 5 with an innings to the good. Up to the last innings Norwood had notched but a solitary run, Surphlis the lankey Port Hope man on the slab being responsible for the good showing of the home team. The other member of the Havelock battery was Sheets, also of Port Hope. Lang and Quinlan, of Peterborough, did the work behind the bat and on the slab for Norwood, while Parnell made a good showing on first base. The line-up of the teams was:—

Havelock.—Surphlis, p.; Sheets, c.; Edmans, 1st b.; Kelsey, 2nd b.; Behern 3rd b.; McClaren, s. s.; Beatson, r. f.; White, l. f.; Company, c. f.

Norwood.—Quinlan, p.; Lang, c.; Parnell, 1st b.; Anderson, 2nd b.; Trainor, 3rd b.; Weldon, s. s.; Doherty r. f.; Prest, l. f.; Pickard, c. f.

Umpire—Harnal, Hastings.

Angus Pointer, 2,03 3-4 A star pacer of the Dominion of Canada, and his speed limit not reached yet. He trimmed the bunch at Poughkeepsie, pacing a half in 1,09 1-2, and a quarter in 29 1-4. Two years ago last winter when George McPherson, of Montreal, won so much money with this son of Sidney Pointer at the Ottawa ice racing carnival, I picked Angus Pointer for a Canadian champion. He could have taken a record that season considerably faster than 2,04 1-2, having shown a trial mile in 2,02 3-4, or thereabout for Mr. McPherson, if I was correctly informed. Now that he has rounded to again, it is possible for this Canadian hummer to pace a few ticks faster than 2,03 1-4, and if he should enter the select two minute society, it would be no surprise. At Jewett a covered mile track two years ago last April, Angus Pointer is credited with having stepped a half mile in 59 1-2 seconds. —Horse World.

Bowlers Did Not Go To Port Hope

Received Word Last Night That Skips Were Out of Town.

The three rinks of local bowlers who were to have gone to Port Hope to-day, will not go. The secretary of the local club received word from Port Hope last night stating that since six of their skips were out of the city it would be impossible for them to give the locals the game.

BOWLING

All players who wish to enter the Doubles competition are asked to make entries to the secretary at once.

BASEBALL

Shea, who is playing in the Brantford City League, has batted .296 for the season. He has made 10 hits in 35 times at bat. He stands third on the Dufferin team.

LACROSSE

Lindsay, says the Post, is the place to come for sudden death games. Next Saturday will see the third game in which the Peterborough juniors have played sudden death games in Lindsay. —The atmosphere of Lindsay is favourable to putting an opposing team to sleep.

Busy Season At Idyl Wyld

Guests at This Popular Resort Given an Outing.

Examiner Special.

Idyl Wyld, Aug. 23.—Idyl Wyld is being appreciated this week by a houseful of merry tourists. The fishing is splendid, some record catches being made; so with the water chute, fishing and evening dances at the pavilion, one wishes the day had a few hours more.

The printers brought down 250 excursionists from Peterborough and all seemed to enjoy themselves, and as large a party and as equally jolly one came up from Hastings on Wednesday. On Friday the genial host, Mr. Hutchinson, treated his guests to a trip down the Trent in the "Marmaid" and an enjoyable day was spent.

The following are the guests for the week:—Mr. John Grob, Miss Grob, Miss Vogt, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnson, Toronto; Mrs. Fogler, Miss Fogler, Miss Gladys Fogler, Miss Lyons, Master Lionel Fogler and Master Harry Fogler, Toronto; Ed. Hartley, Peterborough; T. J. Wallace and Master Lawrence, Peterborough; Mr. R. Hill, Pilsburg; Mr. and Mrs. T. English, Toronto.

Since a reliable boat service has been established by the "Monarch" and Tuesdays to Wednesdays and the Rainbow on its regular Saturday trips the tourists on this part of the lake are no longer inconvenienced in coming or leaving.

Peterborough Gets Big Gatherings

And as a Result Lindsay People Are Jealous.

Lindsay people are getting anxious because this city gets so many excursions and conventions, and the Post has this to say about it: As compared with Peterborough, Lindsay attracts very few large gatherings or conventions or excursions even, and the question naturally arises, "Who is to blame — the citizens, or the town?" We claim the citizens are to blame. The town itself has plenty of inducements to offer in the way of attracting such assemblages.

NOT HEREDITARY

Baldness Due To a Living Minute Germ.

Many people even unto the present day of grace consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is further from the truth —baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall out.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is effected, the dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

New Wharves At Coboconk

Said to be Government's Intention to Erect Them.

The Sovereign brought a party of officials to Coboconk on Thursday of last week. We understand from their visit the Government intend to build a couple of new wharves here in the near future. They are very much needed as Coboconk is becoming a popular place for tourists and excursionists. One wharf at least is not safe to use at all.—Lindsay Post

How The Humid Heat Harasses Hot Humanity

The Hot Wave Hard Upon All—Especially Trying to Certain Trades and Occupations—Comparatively, the Majority Should Not Complain.

Nearly everybody in this city is complaining of the cruel intensity of the hot wave that is swathing sufferfering humanity these days as in a hot, wet blanket.

But the case of the majority of the people is nothing as compared with what others suffer under special conditions.

An article in the Toronto News of last night gives a graphic relation of the intensity of suffering from the heat in the congested and, of course, poverty-stricken sections of the city, where truly appalling conditions prevail, such as we in Peterborough can form no conception of. Rickety, rat-infested, rotting, tumbledown tenements, overlaid with the filth and unbinal smell of generations of dirty tenants, and facing on squalid streets, filthy as the buildings abutting upon them—foul back yards and airless, narrow courts, with the hot, dog day sun pouring its pitiless rays upon festering heaps of garbage, the sluggish air foetid with slimy humidity so thick that it may be almost cut with a knife, like foul-smelling cheese.

Most of us in Peterborough have nothing in comparison to contend with, and most of us are free from the exhausting and oppressive conditions that come to other persons. Persons employed in the top stories of buildings in the business section—next to the roasting flat roofs—may be said to especially suffer.

But it is in certain lines of manufacture, amidst the noise and roar of machinery, the air heavy with the odours of hot oil that conditions are terrible. The moulding shops of our large factories, especially at casting times, are a replica in miniature of an Inferno. So intense is the heat, so prostrating in its effects, that in the Lock Works, the William and Peter Hamilton Companies' shops, in the Shovel Works and similar factories, many of the men had off yesterday physically incapible of enduring the tremendous humidity of atmosphere, which makes life existence in such surroundings impossible, not to speak of the impossibility of intensifying it with strenuous toil.

The reader, ensconsed on his or her cool verandah, with the cool green of trees around, with water spraying the cold green of lawns, can, as he or she reads this little article, have little conception of the conditions under which it is prepared for their perusal. They would consider themselves lucky to get any kind of paper, no matter how indifferent, if they could appreciate the circumstances under which the staff, especially compositors, work. In addition to the sweltering, humid, crushing heat of the air, the compositors operating the type-setting machines stand along-side gas furnaces, glowing with heat sufficient to melt type metal.

You that sit on verandah cool, sipping lemonade with a straw, with possibly an electric fan developing a cooling breeze, think of the conditions of others before anathematizing the hot weather.

The Wonders Of The West

High Authority on Farming Gives His Impressions of Western Canada.

A telegram from Winnipeg says that Herbert Myrick, of Orange Judd & Co., the Phelps Publishing Company, editor of the American Agriculturist, the Orange Judd Farmer, the New England Homesteader, and the Farm and Home, American farm journals having a combined circulation of several hundred thousand, after making an extended tour through Western Canada, gave his impressions of the country.

"I have made it my custom," said Mr. Myrick in an interview, "to visit, personally, every state and territory in which our papers circulate once each year, and to make a very careful examination of these districts. In pursuance of this custom I came to Canada several weeks ago. Before coming, I had the reports of a number of my associates, who had visited Canada on many occasions. Among these were Professor Thomas Shaw, the live stock authority, Clarence A. Shamel, associate editor; B. W. Snow, statistician and crop reporter, and Otto H. Haubold, manager of the land advertising of the Orange Judd Farmer and the Farm Home. I conceive that I took the right way to see Canada properly in going first to Alaska, and making the long journey of 1,500 miles through the inland seas. I saw the evidences of the great influence on Northwesten Canada of the Japan currents in Alaska. At Skagway I picked the finest strawberries I ever saw, and saw a field of the finest poppies that ever grew.

"When I remembered that the mountain ranges of the South entirely disappeared as one travels north, and when I recollected the great influence of the Japanese ocean currents, I at once understood why the climate of Western Canada should be such as it is."

"How did British Columbia impress you?"

"I was greatly struck with the terminal facilities in Vancouver and by the splendid harbours found along the coast. The undeveloped mineral resources, the lumber, and the water powers of thee province also made a strong appeal to me.

"Prior to my own visit to Canada I had thought that the reports from our men were too enthusiastic, and that even Prof. Shaw had his judgment influenced by hospitable treatment. I am now free to confess with pleasure that they did not put the case a bit too strongly. The Orange Judd Farmer and the Farm Home have endeavoured to tell the truth about this country, and we believe that we have sent many thousands of people to it, but I am proud that we have understated the case for Canada. In Southwestern Alberta dry farming, by the Campbell system, will produce crops in such quantities and at such low cost as to enhance greatly the value of vast areas now considered suitable only for range purposes.

"What will the value of irrigation be to the Calgary district?"

"With reference to the C.P.R. irrigation project in Alberta, I desire to say that I consider it the most rational in America. This enormous ditch has been constructed with such economy, and the intake water is obtained so economically, that this land can be sold at less price per acre to the settlers than any other irrigatable land on this continent. The annual cost of water for irrigation (50 cents for each acre irrigated) is much less than prevails elsewhere. I was brought up in the irrigated section of North Colorado, and understood the great value of irrigated land. In Northern Colorado such land is valued at from $100 to $300 per acre. In the Yakima Valley, in Washington, orchard land under irrigation is worth up to $2,000 per acre. It is difficult to say in advance just what this Calgary land may be worth. As a beet sugar expert, I was anxious to see a test made on the Calgary plains of beet sugar raising, to which this area seems well adapted. As already announced, a Japanese envoy is now looking over the district, with a view to the establishment of a beet sugar industry.

"My belief is that, with its other natural advantages, this irrigation scheme insures to the city of Calgary a population, within 15 years, of 100,000 people.

"Farther north I found the country rich and fertile, more rolling, more wooded, with a climate equally good, if not better. The finest crops I have seen anywhere were average crops in the Edmonton country. Between Calgary and Edmonton there are immense area of splendid land, which can be bought at the present time at low prices. Edmonton itself is the metropolis of the inland empire of the Canadian Northwest. By this inland empire I refer to the immense area beginning 100 miles south, 200 miles east, and stretching away to the north and west indifinitely. Few people in Winnipeg realize the magnitude and richness of this empire. It may be compared with the inland empire of the American states, between the Cascade and the Rocky mountains, consisting of 150,000 square miles, of which Spokane is the centre.

A Cheap Trip To Rice Lake

Only 40c. Was Charged and this Includee Supper.

It's cheaper to go away than to stay at home this afternoon, and this view was held by a large number of persons who took the cheap trip down the river. The steamer Water Lily carried a boat load to Rice Lake, and for the trip to the lake and supper at Harwood the charge was only 40 cents. This is the cheapest trip on record, amounting to only 15 cents for the steamer ride, the 25 cents representing the price of the supper.

Arresting Men On Hot Day No Fun

Constable Adams Finds it More Laborious Than Pleasant.

Shoving and dragging a drunken man inside in the blazing sun, with the thermometer around 90, is not a pleasant occupation, as P. C. Adams found out this morning, when he corralled Wm. Jobe. The man was drunk, and sleeping on Downie street, when the officer arrived, but woke up when and did not want to accompany him to the police station. Constable Adams had to force him nearly all the way.

Excursion To Niagara Falls

Carpenters' Union May Run One in September.

The local Carpenters' Union are discussing the advisability of running an excursion to Niagara Falls on September 17, during the big convention of carpenters to be held there. The matter will be decided at a meeting on Monday night next, at which all members should be present to discuss this important business. Doubtless a large crowd would avail themselves of the opportunity to view the scenic beauties of Niagara Falls.

See Many Signs Of City's Progress

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sloan, of Depew, N.Y., Visit Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sloan, of Depew, N.Y., are visiting their son, Mr. Geo. Sloan, 66 Chamberlain street, for a couple of weeks. They have not been in Peterborough for 10 years, and naturally were greatly impressed with the progress of the city during the past decade. The increase in population, buildings and manufactures have especially astonished them.

A Disastrous Collision At St. Thomas Diamond

C. P. R. and Wabash Trains Collide and Terrible Damage Done—Employees Fatally Injured—Passengers Frightened and Shaken Up.

Examiner Special.

St. Thomas, Aug. 24.—This morning at the diamond where the Canadian Pacific crosses the Wabash tracks, just east of the city, a fast special Wabash train, en route to Chicago from New York, and the local passenger train from this city, for Toronto, collided, both trains being wrecked. The engineers and fireman of the Wabash special jumped and were not injured. Engineer McKay, of Toronto Junction, and Fireman Patterson, of St. Thomas, of the C. P. R. train were terribly hurt, the former dying shortly after the accident. Baggageman Wiley, also of the C. P. R. train, St. Thomas, was frightfully bruised and will die. The passengers of the C. P. R. train were badly shaken up.

Stole Jewelery From A Peterborough Man

The Tompkins Gang Identified as the Ones Who Stole From King Edward Hotel—Toronto Police Expect to Make a Big Haul Yet.

As the days go by the good fortune of the citizens of Peterborough in escaping so easily from the operations o the gang of thieves, the head of which was registered at one of the city's hotels for at least one day. Other persons did not get off as easily, however, as the following from the Toronto News will indicate:—

Two cases of theft, one at the King Edward and the other on a train near Orillia, were brought pretty close to members of the gang of thieves yesterday, so the police think.

George P. M. Edwards, of Denver, Colorado, was staying in room 703 of the King Edward Hotel on July 23, when his room was entered and stripped of valuable jewelry. He reported as missing a solid gold cable watch chain, 18 karats, which is worth $70 as old gold; three pairs of gold cuff links, six small shirt studs of 14 karats, and one oblong collar stud.

All these were recovered in Thompkins' room and Mr. Edwards, who is a prospector and is now in Peterborough, will come to Toronto to testify.

Tompkins and O'Neil will have to answer to a charge of stealing a diamond screw stud worth $250. J. E. Ivers, of Florida, lost this when on the Grand Trunk train near Orillia on the eighth of August. To-day he identified the photographs of Tompkins and O'Neil as the men whom he suspected as the thieves, and there is strong additional evidence against them.

Though charges of theft will be laid against all of the six to-morrow, their trial will not take place for a week at least, as the Crown is after even bigger game.

Reporting their appearance in the police court the News also says:—

Eleven charges of theft have been laid against the gang of pickpockets arrested in the raid of the police a week ago. Tompkins has the lion's share of six, while his wife has to answer to three.

Tompkins looked very shaggy as he came up, with a week's growth of beard. As soon as she could he went over to his wife and chatted with her as both stood up to hear the charges against them.

Nearly a Break-down.

The face of Mrs. Hattie Dineen looked drawn, and was almost ghastly in its whiteness. Her supply of opium has been kept from her, and she looks to be on the verge of a breakdown.

"I didn't do nothing"; honest, I didn't," she cried out, looking at the Crown Attorney, and she broke into tears.

The New Charges.

The charges against the prisoners bring to light some new cases.

It was a flim-flam game that caused H. A. Wilson, of Queen street east, to lose five dollars. Tompkins, it is alleged, went in and bought a baseball, tendering a ten-dollar bill, and confusing the proprietor about the change.

Hogg is a Hamilton man, and lost his grip and money on the train near Orillia.

Mrs. Tompkins was taken to the detectives' room after she left court, and was closely questioned on some discoveries made by the police.

Twomey Was Fined On The Charge Of Assault

Ennismore Young Man Who Created a Disturbance at Chemong Park Last Night Paid Dearly for His Fun—$12.25 Was the Price.

Frod Twomey, the Ennismore young man, who created a disturbance at Chemong last night by striking Claude Fleetwood, of Peterborough, and who was arrested afterwards by Constable Cullen, of Bridgenorth, learned this morning that fun of this kind is costly. He appeared before County Police Magistrate Edmison here to-day charged with two offences, common assault and creating a disturbance in a public place. On the assault charge, he was fined $5 and costs, amounting in all to $10.65, while on the charge of creating a disturbance the penalty was 10 cents and costs, amounting to $1.60. The fine in the second case was small because of the connection with the first charge.

Twomey's fun, boiled down to figures, cost him exactly $12.25.

Palace Auto Bus Went Off The Road

Into the Swamp Near Chemong Park Last Night.

The palace auto-car returning from the Chemong regatta last evening with a big crowd on board left the road in the swamp near the park and was placed on the thoroughfare again only after ardous labour. It took forty minutes to rescue the car. Many people patronized the bus during the afternoon and evening, it being crowded on every trip.

OUR poor council is doing the very best that it can. The only thing that is troubling it now is the threat that they are going to hang the mayor. Did This Horse Try To Suicide?

Struck His Head on Manger and Veterinary Had to Operate.

Last week a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Joe Symons, of Canton, struck its head in the stable with such force that its skull was shattered. Dr. S. S. Dickinson was sent for and he performed an operation in which pieces of broken bone were removed, and the horse is now recovering rapidly.—Port Hope Guide.

Bull Gored Man Caught In Field

Robert Caskey Seriously Injured Near Tweed.

The Tweed News says: Mr. Robert Caskey sustained a fractured shoulder blade in an encounter with a bull a week or so ago. The animal attacked him in the field and knocked him down with terrific force. He managed to get hold of the ring in the bull's nose and thus saved himself from further injuries.

Cheaper To Burn Gas Than Extinguish Lamps

This is the Unique Position Which Medicine Hat Enjoys—Messrs. Jas. Davidson and G. B. Stevenson Return From Trip to the Northwest—Splendid Horses at the Brandon Fair—Best Crops in the West are Those Near Edmonton.

The best crops seen in the whole of the West by Mr. Jas. Davidson, and Mr. G. B. Stevenson, who have just returned after over a month's absence in Western Canada, were, according to Mr. Davidson, those in the vicinity of Fort Sasaktchewan. These two gentlemen took a trip during which they visited practically all the large centres of the West, and, while everywhere they went, they found great crops, Mr. Davidson was of the opinion that the Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan sections had all the others beaten.

While they were away they attended the Brandon and Winnipeg fairs, and while they were both very creditable, the showing of horses made at the former, was particularly so, Mr. Davidson stated, that at no fair in the world has there been a better horse show than at Brandon this year.

At Maple Creek, which was the next place stopped at on the outward trip, they visited Mr. Fred Davidson's ranch, where they saw a large number of splendid cattle almost ready to ship to the British markets. The proprietor of this ranch is Mr. Davidson's nephew. Calgary is described as a growing city with a progressive air.

Land prices in Edmonton are said to be higher than in New York or Chicago, $600 to $1,000 a foot being asked—and paid—for some properties in the centre of the city. They did not buy any city lots in Edmonton this trip. The crops in this section, however, were surprises to the eastern visitors. The fall wheat was particularly good, while the crops as a whole were in splendid shape. Macleod and Lethbridge were visited on their return from the north and after a brief stay in each place, they returned to Medicine Hat, which has attained considerable notority in its own way. It is remarkable, chiefly because of the fact that there is gas in abundance, the statements being made that the street lights are allowed to burn all day, because it is cheaper than to employ a man to light them each night. The time spent in this city was very interestingly employed. Moose Jaw, Estevan and Alameda were other places stopped at during the trip, and at each of these the same evidences of the material progress of the West were seen.

Messrs. Davidson and Stevenson reached Peterborough Wednesday night.

WEDDING BELLS

LINDSAY—LEIGH.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. George Jamieson, 291 Townsend street, on the morning of Wednesday, August 22nd, when her sister, Miss F. L. Leigh was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. Lindsay, of Hamilton.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of invited guests, by Rev. D. N. McCamus, who is supplying the pulpit at the Charlotte street Methodist church.

After luncheon the happy couple took the two p.m. train for the East. They propose spending a week among the Thousand Islands before taking up their residence in Hamilton. The bride looked charming in a Princess gown of cream silk eolienne, trimmed with silk lace insition over white taffeta, and carried a bouquet of white asters. Her gowning away gown was of navy blue satin cloth trimmed with silk braid and with hat to match.

The bride was the recipient of beautiful presents, among others a sunburst of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom.

OBITUARY NOTICE.

MRS. TRACEY.

The Canadian Freeman of Kingston, in its last issue has the follow

"The late Mrs. Tracey of Toronto, was buried from St. Francis church on Aug. 10th. A requiem mass was celebrated by her nephew, Rev. W. J. Keilty, rector of St. Joseph's church, Douro, Diocese of Peterborough. Present at the mass were Rev. Dean McGee of Stratford, Father Walsh, nephew of late Archbishop Walsh and Rev. Wm. McCann, St. Francis church, Toronto. The late Mrs. Tracey's husband passed away at Prescott, thirty years ago, and since that time she resided in Toronto. Her son, Thomas, passed away a few years ago, and was well known in financial circles; he spent the winter months in Florida. He began life by taking a splendid course of studies at the Jesuit College in Montreal. Her son, William, Bursar of the Queen street asylum, passed away only a year ago. The deceased lady is survived by one son, John Tracey, a well known citizen of Hamilton, and one daughter, Mrs. Mooney, of Toronto, whose husband in his lifetime was a distinguished lawyer, and law partner of the late lamented Hon. C. F. Fraser. Mrs. Tracey was 84 years of age, a model woman in every sense of the word, and whose every thought during her long life was of home and heaven. May her soul rest in peace. Among the many present from a distance at the funeral was Mr. Thomas Keilty, Collector of Inland Revenue, Prescott. We might add as a strange coincidence that she held at the baptismal font, over sixty years ago, the priest who celebrated mass at her funeral."

Programme For To-night's Concert

Godfrey's "Voyage in a Troopship" Will be Played.

The 57th Regimental Band will render a splendid programme in Victoria Park to-night, in which will be included a number of new selections which should prove decidedly popular. The piece de resistance will be Godfrey's grand nautical fantasia, "A Voyage in a Troopship," by request. The popular music from "The Yankee Consul" will be repeated to-night. This number was introduced at last Friday's concert, and made a big hit.

PERMANENT EXHIBITION.

Where a Gentleman May See Everything Without.

Semi-ready tailoring has reached so high a point of artistic excellence that the term sartorial art now belongs to the Semi-ready trade-mark. The semi-ready wardrobe is a permanent exhibition of the best there is in this modern method of tailoring. Seeing the $15, 20 and $25 Semi-ready suits is worth your while. You need not buy because you are continually striving after a distinct individuality of dress. The actors may help to spread the desire for a new style by appearing in summer scenes in the winter, but the changes in style are rather created by the man who wants some distinctive touch which is not too loud a departure from the prevailing vogue, but is still original. In the Semi-ready tailor shops the extreme styles are tabooed, and yet there is always a distinctive touch about a Semi-ready garment. The Semi-ready Wardrobe is a permanent exhibition of garments which are correct in style and cultured in every part of their creation. A. W. Cresswell, agent for Peterborough.

TWO OPEN LETTERS

IMPORTANT TO MARRIED WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well.

It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that Mrs.

Mrs. Mary Dimmick

Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., is fully qualified to give helpful advice to sick women. Read Mrs. Dimmick's letters.

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from painful periods—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration of the female organs. The doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I can possibly avoid it. Please help me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D.C.

Her second letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick 59th and East Capitol Sts., Washington, D.C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how little it cost her—a two-cent stamp. Yet how valuable was the reply! As Mrs. Dimmick says—it saved her life.

Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers ailing women helpful advice.

OUR GREAT HERITAGE.

The Northwest harvest this year in the organized Provinces promises to be sufficiently abundant to justify Canada's aim at becoming the granary of the Empire. Especially when we take into consideration that north of the northern boundary of these Provinces there is an immense wheat-producing belt, where the promises of wheat-growing are better, in some respects, than further south—the wheat, for some reason, maturing earlier. A letter from the Peace River district states that wheat cutting commenced there on July 28, and that then nearly all the cereal crops in that district were ripe. It is likely, therefore, that the harvest there was over before it began in Manitoba and the new Western Provinces. As the Peace River is hundreds of miles north of Winnipeg, the great extent of Canada's wheat-growing territory is once more emphasized. In a sense, the stars, in their courses, seem to fight for Canada in regard to her food-producing possibilities. In a latitude north of the sixtieth parallel of latitude, the best wheat in the world can be grown and matured at a time much earlier than at a point five hundred miles farther south. The twist of the isothermal lines almost Dantan banana belt in latitudes which, in other parts of the world, are the abode of frost and starved vegetation. Even half a century ago all this immense region was considered to be of value only for furs and fish. It is still valuable for them, but its capability for producing great wheat crops has been pretty fairly demonstrated. A region a thousand miles north of sunny Italy may yet furnish a congenial home for the denizens of low latitudes. Canada has a great heritage to administer, and we need much wisdom and far seeing states-manship to enable us to reap the harvest which our uncountable acres of fertility, both as to cereals and minerals, and other sources of wealth, are capable of producing.

A LIVE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Berlin Board of Trade is evidently alive. The Examiner has received a copy of the annual report of the Board, under the striking title of "Busy Berlin." It is a most creditable booklet, consisting of 28 pages of splendidly illustrated matter, showing the chief public buildings; and also contains a compendious record of the work of the Board for the year under review, with the names of the several committees, and a list of the names of two hundred and fifty members of the Board. This report is evidence that the Berlin Board of Trade takes itself seriously, and furnishes an example to our own Board of Trade, which issues no report, except a type-written summary which would never see the light of day, where it not that the newspapers had more enterprise than the Board itself. A Board of Trade, representing "Progressive Peterborough," should, at least, break even with "Busy Berlin," and compile as large a record, and in, at least, as creditable form. The Examiner congratulates the Berlin Board of Trade, and if its admirable and elaborate annual report, both in typography and letter-press, is a reasonably reliable index of its functional activity, it must be a power in promoting the material progress and prosperity of the town it represents.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is a tang of autum in the air, suggesting the fall of leaves, the touch of frost and the gradual slide into winter conditions. Another indication of national importance, that the summer is rapidly drawing to a close, is the return of the Ministers to Ottawa after their holidays. Next week the first Cabinet council for some time will be held. Sir Wilfred Laurier will return to the city early in the week and Hon. Charles Hyman, Minister of Public Works, returned on Thursday.

Self government in Cuba is not proving itself a very successful experiment. The island is in the throes of a revolution against the Palma Government, and the only way out of it seems to be annexation to the United States. The American journals have not shown much sympathy with Great Britain in her South African troubles, but the costly experience of their government with the Philippines, and, now Cuba, should produce an appreciation of the difficulty of empire building out of crude and little malleable materials.

Estimates of the western wheat crop fluctuate between one hundred and fifty million and seventy-seven million bushels. There seems to be a good deal of unprofitable speculation in the matter. We can afford to wait. The western farmers, who have the first interest, can afford to wait the result of the threshing, especially when there is a normal crop, whether one hundred million bushels, or a few more or less; the chief point is that the wheat is there, and abundance of it, enough to justify the world's confidence in the wheat fields of the West.

Now there is a chance for the wonderful medical council of Ontario to become active. A Montreal physician got drunk and hugged a strange lady in a Toronto hotel corridor. The magistrate gave the maudlin medico seven days in jail, and the aid of the Minister of Justice is invoked to procure the release of the victim of justice. The medical council should join in the laudable attempt. It seems an outrage that even a drunken doctor should be prevented from practising his craft — making physical explorations in public. After unfrocking a physician for advertising and selling a remedy to cure a common disease—what right has a doctor to cure?—the medical council might well bestir itself to aid a doctor who hits like a slum thug. It will, it seems, be a travesty of justice if influence saves a man, who, of all men, should know better, from the consequences of making a beast of himself and disgracing the profession.

THE ONTARIO CROPS.

The August crop report seems to promise another year of prosperity for the province. The spring wheat crop is equal to that of last year, while fall wheat shows an expansion of 1,000,000 bushels over 1905. The barley crop shows an increase of almost 1,000,000 bushels, oats of 6,000,000 bushels, peas of 500,000 bushels, and beans of 200,000 bushels. The hay crop has decreased 1,000,000 tons while the yield of apples is larger by 3,000,000 barrels. Corn promises a good yield and so do potatoes. The figures are all based on comparisons with 1905, and it is to be remembered that they are not final. The Department's ultimate returns may indicate considerable divergence from present estimates.—News.

ONTARIO'S EXHIBIT.

Mr. W. D. Cunneyworth, traffic manager of the Temiscamingue & Northern Ontario Railway, was in Toronto yesterday and stated that the exhibit to be made at the Toronto Fair by the Government Railway, in lieu of that usually made by the Colonization Department, would include the finest products from the forest, farm and mine. The mining exhibit is valued at over $100,000.

The crops in the clay belts, he reports, are exceptionally satisfactory, some of the best being near New Liskeard. A sample of the excellence of the roads was furnished on the occasion of the Haileybury fire, when the New Liskeard fire department travelled the five and a half miles to Haileybury, and had the water turned on in 45 minutes.

Mr. Cunneyworth gives a glowing account of the north country.

THE CONTROL OF OUR MILK SUPPLY

The British Medical Association's deliberations seem to touch every phase that can affect the public health. At the meeting in Toronto when papers on the control of milk supply were called for, Dr. R. Harcourt, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, read an interesting paper on control of milk supplies. He contended that it was almost impossible to find milk kept and handled under proper conditions, and that methods employed in handling and bottling it were in almost every case faulty. If a commission were appointed in this country to investigate the conditions under which the milk was handled and delivered to the consumer the report would, Prof. Harcourt opined, be worse than that relating to the meat-packing establishments of Chicago, which caused so much surprise. There was, he said, a large and increasing demand for pure milk. The consumer had a right to demand milk which would if kept at sixty degrees or less keep for 24 hours, and that it be free from flavours. The advisability of establishing a standard required for milk, the price of which should depend upon the quality, was considered. The addition of preservatives of any kind was deprecated as injurious to public health, and under some circumstances deleterious to the food quality of the milk.

Prof. John Glaister (Glasgow,) in his paper on "Administration and Control of Milk Supplies," gave much interesting information regarding the model methods by which the purity of this important article of food could be assured to the consumer.

The relationship of impure milk to teh causation of certain diseases, Prof. Glaister, of Glasgow, said in his paper on the control of milk supplies, was now recognized. It was often responsible for the spread of enteric fever, typhoid, scarlet fever, epidemic sore throat and tubercular diseases. The following desiderata were outlined by Prof. Glaister:—"A guarantee in the hands of sellers that the milk came from cleanly sources, and the establishment of a standard and the prohibition of the sale of milk below a certain quality.

Drinking Water Caused Death

A Farmer Living Near Coboconk Dropped Dead in Field.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AN INDIGNANT MOTHER.

Editor Post Card Column:

I would like to call attention (through your valuable medium) if some of our city officials to the disgraceful condition of the sidewalk on Stewart street, between Wolfe and Townsend streets. A four house terrace has been erected there and the sidewalk has been torn up for about 60 feet, which proves a pitfall to the unwary after dark. Seeing there is no sidewalk on the other side of the street, pedestrians have to take the road at this point, and after a downfall of rain, it is not a pleasant experience. One night this week a lady was coming down the street and got her baby carriage into one of the holes, fortunately only breaking the two springs. Precious to that a young girl stepped on a loose piece of planking which flew up and made a nasty cut on her face. These small but painful accidents will continue to occur until the sidewalk is fixed. I would suggest, one of our up-to-date cement sidewalk be laid down this portion of the street being greatly travelled.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

Messrs. F. A. and F. B. Kilbourne spent Sunday at South Beach.

Lakefield citizens are rejoicing over the prospect of an early entry of the C.P.R. to the village. A large party of surveyors have been engaged for the past two weeks taking levels and drawing lines over several different routes, any one of which would touch the village. This new railway added to the canal system and the G.T.R., would furnish everything that could be desired in the line of good and convenient passenger traffic and will make Lakefield's position as a desirable location for manufacturing concerns still more pronounced.

We understand that the proposed new Radiator Company is looking for a site here, and no doubt our city fathers will meet them with open arms and a favourable proposition to induce their settlement here.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 9.—While the demand for money is very brisk and the high rates are creating some uneasiness, we believe that this development will, in a measure, remedy itself by influencing heavy gold imports. New York banks are in a position to secure a large percentage of all the gold that is to arrive in London from South Africa. The big interests are strong bulls on the market, and seem thoroughly well convinced that money development is not going to stand in the way of further improvement. The decline at the close yesterday looked very much like an effort on the part of the bull leaders to shake out a weak and undesired following, and we would not allow such an opportunity to pass without buying the standard stocks, especially in the event of weakness developing at the opening to-day. The coppers should gain further by reason of the dividend talk on Anaconda and A. C. P., while similar discussion should lead to a sharp rise in Atchison.

AMERICAN EDITORS AND NORTHWEST

"I feel like Christopher Columbus when he discovered the New World."

Mr. Edward J. Lowery, of the New York Evening Post, states that was the unique sensation which stole over him as he journeyed through the Canadian Northwest recently. He is a member of a party of eleven Washington newspaper correspondents, who, on the invitation of the Western Canadian Immigration Association, have been touring Canada's wheat belt. The party arrived in Toronto on Tuesday morning by the G.T.R. from North Bay, where they were met by Mr. H. R. Charlton, representing the Grand Trunk Railway Company. Mr. Ham, of the C. P. R. accompanied the newspaper men upon their entire trip of 7,000 miles over that company's lines. They were entertained by the Toronto Press Club the same afternoon, and left for Buffalo by a special G. T. R. train.

"It will make a great story, said Mr. Lowery. "Why, near Indian Head we saw a stretch of wheat thirty miles long, six feet high, and good for 45 bushels to the acre. I am told the wealth of Canada is assured so long as she has her Northwest. Canada, I might say, lies west of Winnipeg."

"I'm dizzy looking at wheat," remarked Mr. Irving C. Norwood, of the Washington Star. "Never had any idea of the country you had up there."

Mr. D. Bastinga McAdam, of the St. Louis Republican, when asked what impressed him most in the west, replied, "Wheat! wheat! wheat!. The object of the trip was to learn more about the West. Actually some of us knew more about the countries of Europe than we did about Canada. We didn't think there was much truth in this talk of supplying wheat for a world market. Why, that country, I believe, produces more grain than the best Western States combined."

All appear one in the opinion that the Canadian Northwest has already reached a point of marvellous agricultural development, and that there are still vast possibilities.

Weather Did Not Favour Chemong Park Regatta

Despite the Heavy Breeze, However, the Affair Was a Success—Contingents From Many Kawartha Lake Points.

The weatherman was not kind to the Chemong Park regatta, which was held yesterday afternoon, and the disagreeable brand he handed out interfered to some extent with the success of what had promised to be one of the most successful aquatic events of the season. The morning augured great things, but shortly after noon the weather changed. First there came heavy rain, and when this had stopped, a strong northeasterly breeze arose which swept the lake with choppy swells that made canoe racing a most labourious task, but afforded some remarkable exhibitions of seamanship in the sailing contests. The rough water cut off many entries who would not turn out in the heavy sea. Upsets were common during the afternoon, canoes and dinghies alike sharing in the mishaps.

Crowd Was Large.

Apart from the difficulties caused by the rough water, the regatta was a very successful one. The change in the atmospheric conditions did not come soon enough to interfere with the attendance, which was large. The Stoney Lake brought nearly 200 people from that resort, and they carried off their share of the prizes. Sturgeon Point was represented by a big excursion on the Esturion. The Ogemah brought another contingent, and private yachts from all parts of the Kawartha waters carried their crowds. Many Peterborough people spent the afternoon and evening at the park, the 'busses and auto cars being crowded on all out trips. The Lakeview House at Young's Point sent a jolly 'bus-load, who made their presence known.

Among the main steam craft present was the steamer Sovereign, with Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Canal and his party on board.

Interesting Sailing Races.

In view of the existing weather conditions the sailing races were naturally the most interesting and exciting of the day. The heavy breeze and rough water called for expert handling to keep the crafts right side up. Very few were reefed—most of the skippers carried their full canvas throughout, and this course resulted disastrously to several of the whitewings. The whole course was in full view of the spectators on the high bank, and the races were decidedly interesting from a spectacular point of view. The swift yachts keeled over to the breeze with their crews leaning far to windward and the spray flying from their bows made a very pretty picture, one in which, however, only an experienced sailor would realize the difficulties under which the doughty yachtsmen were labouring to handle their craft.

Chemong Keeps Cup.

The dinghy race was the one in which Chemong people were most interested. On the result of the contest depended the possession of the Kawartha Lakes Challenge Cup, won last year by Milne Hamilton, of the Chemong Yacht Club. The honour again belongs to Chemong, Mr. Merrit, of the Bank of Montreal, winning the race in clever fashion. His boat was splendidly handled throughout, and showed a clean pair of heels to all competitors. Oscar Dumble also of the Chemong Yacht Club, was a good second. The field was a large one and the race most interesting. The winner, Mr. Morrit, will, in addition to the Challenge Cup, also hold the cup presented by Mr. Baxendale.

Stony Lake Won Out.

Stoney Lake made a clean sweep of the open sailing race, in which there were 15 entries of all classes. J. S. Knapman's speedy skiff, Cygnet, the biggest of the fleet, was the winner. She was very cleverly sailed by Mr. Knapman, and carried her full complement of canvas throughout. The Cygnet sailed over the course in 41 mins., 43 secs., and won easily. A Stony Lake boat also took second place, Mr. W. H. Hamilton's boat, Tige, sailed by Harry Hall, winning the honours.

CHEMONG PARK,

Showing Mr. Hopwood's Island where the races were started yesterday. The finishing point was a little distance past the trees in the foreground.

Hopkins, of Sturgeon Point, in The Rose, was third.

Paddling Events.

The men's canoe tandem was won by F. Jopling and A. Nicholls, of Bridgenorth, with Jas. Cullen and Jas. Conway, also of Bridgenorth, second. Gilbert and Stock, of Peterborough, were upset at the start.

The men's four was the most exciting of the paddling events. A Bridgenorth crew composed of F. Joplin, A. Nicholls, J. Cullen and J. Conway were first, but the Stony Lake crew, composed of Messrs. Hubert Eakins, Barber, Bert Stock, and Percy Gilbert, gave them a great race. One of the four broke his paddle half way down the course, and they finished with three paddles only a length behind the winners.

The crab and gunwale races were most amusing. The heavy wind blew the canoes all over and upsets were numerous. Gilbert and Stock proved the most expert in managing their canoes under these novel conditions and won without difficulty.

The gasoline launch contests were not exciting, the winners leading by good margins.

The Summary.

Following is the summary:

Dinghy race for the Kawartha Lakes challenge cup and the Boxendale cup — 1 Mr. Merritt, Chemong; 2, Oscar Dumble, Chemong.

Open Sailing Race — 1, The Cygnet, J. S. Knapman, Stony Lake; 2, Tige, W. H. Hamilton, Stony Lake.

Men's Tandem Canoe — 1, F. Jopling and A. Nicholls, Bridgenorth; 2, J. Cullen and J. Conway, Bridgenorth

Men's Single Canoe — 1, S. Nicholls, Bridgenorth; 2, Bert Stock, Peterborough.

Men's Fours, Canoe Race — 1, F. Jopling, A. Nicholls, J. Cullen, J. Conway, Bridgenorth; 2, Hubert Eakins, Bert Stock, Percy Gilbert and Barber, Stony Lake.

Gunwale Race — 1, Percy Gilbert, Peterborough; 2, J. Cullen, Bridgenorth.

Crab Race — 1, Bert Stock, Peterborough; 2, Graham Halpine, Chemong.

Boys' Swimming Race — 1, Cyril Lech, Stony Lake, 2, Ken Halpine, Chemong.

Gasoline launches, under 6 horse power and over 3 — 1, M. Robinson, Stony Lake; 2, Mr. Cinnamon, Lindsay.

Gasoline launches, 3 horse power and under — 1, M. Nicholls, Lindsay; 2, Gordon Cummings, Chemong.

Single Skiff Race — 1, J. Hopwood, Chemong; 2, A. Piper, Stony Lake.

Mixed Tandem Canoe — 1, Mildred Bull and K. Halpine, Chemong; 2, Miss Dean and G. Halpine, Chemong.

Boys' Single Canoe — 1, Gordon Cumming; 2, Frank Halpany.

Successful Dance.

Not the least successful part of the occasion was the delightful dance which took place in the pavilion in the evening. The place was very prettily decorated for the occasion with evergreens, Chinese lanterns and bunting and presented a very gay and attractive appearance. A section of the 57th Band discoursed splendid music from a marquee, and a very pleasant time was spent by the large crowd present. Many Stony Lake people remained over for the affair, and there were many Peterborough young people present. During the evening the winners of the various events were presented with their prizes by Mr. W. S. Davidson, secretary of Regatta Committee, to whose energetic efforts much of the success of the occasion is due. The committee is to be congratulated upon the manner in which the programme was carried out in spite of the weather ditions, which were anything but favourable to an event of this kind.

Notes.

There were many upsets during the afternoon. Gilbert and Stock capsized in the men's tandem, and Easton blew over in the dinghy race. Fred Roy's sailing canoe also upset near the Enniamore shore.

The swift motor boat, "Rochester Jr.," from Stony Lake, elicited the admiration of the crowd by her speed and easy handling capabilities.

The float of the judges, which had been anchored off the club house, dragged her anchor during the first heavy squall, and blew down the lake. A boat had to be used for the remainder of the afternoon, and the judges were almost frozen to death before the programme was over.

The Bridgenorth men did some great paddling during the afternoon.

A Dummer Man's Painful Injury

Was Thrown From a Pea Harvester by Runaway Team.

Mr. John Clysdale, jr., of Dummer, met with an accident a few days ago. While driving a team attached to a pea harvester the horses became frightened and ran away, overturning the machine on top of him. He was considerably scratched and bruised but fortunately none of his injuries are of a serious nature.

Good Fishing At Young's Point

Guests at Lakeview House Have Good Luck.

Examiner Special,

Young's Point, Aug. 20.—Mr. L. A. Benoist and two sons, of Natchez, Miss., spent a few days at the Point last week. This was their first trip to the Kawartha Lakes, and they were much impressed with the scenery and also the fishing. Mr. Benoist, Sr., while trawling on Friday afternoon near the narrows, landed a 14-lb. 'lunge. He had been successful in bass fishing, but this was his first 'lunge, and naturally he feels proud of his fine catch. Mr. Benoist and sons left on Saturday and will visit Kingston, Montreal, Quebec and New York City before returning home.

Miss Ord is visiting her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Batesby.

Miss Frankie Welsh, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

Miss Emma Scollard, Peterborough, spent Sunday at her home.

Rev. and Mrs. Mund spent Sunday the guests of Rev. Mr. Batesby.

The following were registered at the Lakeview during the past week: J Ward, Belleville; Jos. Hopkirk, Montreal; Chas. Carroll, Montreal; Helena A Smythe, Peterborough; Aggie Carr, Peterborough; Minnie Kitney, Peterborough; May L Ronan, Buffalo; Gertrude Hanrahan; Buffalo; Loretto M Hanrahan, Buffalo; Miss L Preston, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Parks, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. R B Lundy, Peterborough; L A Benoist, Sr., L A Benoist, Jr., and Edwin E Benoist, Natchez, Miss.; O Thornton, Peterborough; Miss Josie Phelan, Lakefield; W F Crowley, Peterborough; J Connors, Peterborough; H Lacheur, Peterborough; J Hoolihan, Peterborough.

More Harvest Help Wanted

Although all the provinces in Eastern Canada have contributed a large number of labourers to assist in harvesting the tremendous wheat crop of Canada's western provinces, there is a great demand for more labourers.

With the improved machinery, and the men already sent the crop will be cut, but the demand is for labourers to assist in the threshing and the movement of the grain to the elevators.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 labourers have gone west; 5,000 to 10,000 more are required.

There will be a low rate labourers' excursion from south-western Ontario on September 5th, from the north-western section on September 7th, and from the northern and eastern sections on September 8th.

Through second class tickets are sold at $12 to Winnipeg, and on arrival there the labourer is met by Government representatives of the farmers, and when he has contracted to work he is furnished by the railway with a free ticket to the nearest station to the farmer he is to work with. On arrival at that station he deposits his ticket with the agent, and when he is ready to return after he has been working 30 days, the farmer he has been engaged with makes a verification to that effect on his certificate, and the agent issues ticket from that station back to the starting point, at the rate of $18.

It is expected a very large number will take advantage of these excursions to spend a few weeks in the West and acquaint themselves with the conditions in that country. This is an opportunity to have an outing and make something besides expenses.

Welcomed Pastor With Marconigrams

Bridge Street Church Sent One to Rev. J. P. Wilson.

The Bridge street Methodist Sunday school, Belleville, which from its organization in 1822, has been an up-to-date one, gave recent proof of keeping up to its record by using the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy to welcome back its pastor, the Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., who has been in Europe for a couple of months. Mr. Wilson received the message on Thursday, the 16th inst., when four hundred miles from land. On Sunday morning, the 19th inst., Mr. Wilson was again in his pulpit, and in reading the Maricongram, feelingly referred to the effect on him on receiving so thoughtful a message and found himself unable adequately to express his thanks to the school and the congregation for their continual kindness to his family and himself. — Christian Guardian.

RICHARD HALL & SON

Rev. J. J. Rae New President Of Bay Of Quinte Conference

Christian Guardian Has Complimentary Reference to Man Well Known in This City—A Strong Preacher and Possessing Executive Ability.

The Christian Guardian of this week has the following reference to Rev. J. J. Rae, who was this year elected president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and who is well-known in this city:—The president of the Bay of Quinte Conference was born in the year 1861 in Orono, Durham County, of Scotch Presbyterian parents. His education he received at the Public and High Schools of the county and at Albert College, Belleville. He joined the Methodist church in 1880, having begun the Christian life while at college through the influence of the college Y.M.C.A. He entered the ministry in 1882, and was ordained at Picton four years later. His ministry since ordination has been spent within the bounds of the one Conference, his fields of labour being Carrying Place, Havelock, Napanee West, Charlotte Street, Peterborough; Bowmanville, Simcoe Street, Oshawa, and First Church, Picton, where he is now spending his third year.

Mr. Rae, has, perhaps, much more than the average of executive talent. As an organizer, administrator, and disciplinarian he has won some distinction among his brethren, and has been growing in favour in the official circles of the church. He has shown steady interest in the temporalities of the church, and is decidedly a connexional man. For the past four years he has been an active member of the Board of Missions, and has taken a prominent part in its deliberations and work. He is a fearless advocate of any cause that seems to merit his support, and is a keen and forceful debater. It is commonly reported that he is exceedingly fond of a story, and knows well how to tell one. Upon the lecture platform he has gained some distinction, and is a sound and convincing preacher.

Bobcaygeon Beats Lindsay

Is Very Lively These Days and a Boom Is On.

A visitor from Bobcaygeon reported that the village was experiencing a big boom, and was prospering fast. The C. P. R. had done wonders to advertise the town, and the burg is full of American visitors and tourists. He said it was "away ahead of Fenelon Falls and livelier than Lindsay." Of course, he really could not have meant the latter.—Post.

The Buster Brown Cartoons Popular

That of To-morrow Will be One of Best of the Series.

The Buster Brown cartoon for to-morrow is one of the best of the whole series, and no one should miss a copy of the Examiner of to-morrow. The title of the page to-morrow is "Buster and the Goat—Tige to the Woods." The Examiner's exclusive publications of these cartoons in Peterborough is creating considerable favourable comment, and to the youngsters, particularly, it has popularized this paper.

Belmont Crops Badly Damaged

Recent Storms Have Played Havoc With Grain.

People who have been travelling all through Belmont report that the recent storms have played havoc with the crops in that section. The terrific wind storm which followed a heavy down pour of rain, drove the grain right into the ground, and in this way caused heavy damage. The flattening down of the grain will cause much difficulty in harvesting besides the loss sustained otherwise.—Havelock Standard.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article, and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigours may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papills, from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure, and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with a headache since."—Mr. O. Barber, Guardian.

Star Of The East Ores Tested High In Gold

Average of These Mines Was About $23 a Ton—New Process of Extracting Gold Tried—Will No Doubt be Adopted by the Company—Good News to the Many Local Shareholders.

The following from the Pittsburgh Gazette, on August 2nd, will be of special interest to the large number of persons in Peterborough, interested materially as well as morally, in the fortunes of the Star of the East Gold Mine, Barrie township, the headquarters of whose management are in Peterborough:

Exhaustive tests of ores from the 200-foot level of the Star of the East Mines, made by the United States Metal Recovery Company, which began on June 18 last, were terminated yesterday. They prove that the ores carry good values, all of which can be recovered. The trouble heretofore has been that none of the methods used could treat these ores to recover the values they contain. The United States Metal Recovery Company has sent to the officers of the company the detailed report of the result. This report will be sent to the stockholders as soon as printed. The report was on gold only and shows that 99 per cent. was recovered. The complete report and the analysis of the different metals in the ore that can be recovered will be ready in time for the stockholders' meeting to be held in Peterborough, Ontario, September 5th, next.

What it Means.

The significance of this test lies in the fact that the ores of this mine, though undoubtedly as shown by the above test, of usual richness, have not, so far, readily yielded to any of the ordinary processes to give a profitable and satisfactory quantity of gold. By this new process it is claimed that 99 per cent. of the gold can readily be extracted. The importance of this will be appreciated when as shown in the above extract, the assays, average a percentage of gold of nearly $23 per ton.

A meeting of the company will be held in Peterborough on Wednesday Sept. 5th, when the question of adopting and putting this process into practice, will in all probability be favourably considered. This will mean much for this enterprise. Even a layman who has seen the veins and their extent, must, accepting the correctness of the assays reported, appreciate the wealth potentialities of the Star of the East Mines.

Shipped Cattle To Northwest

Mr. M. E. Sanderson Left for McLeod on Wednesday.

Mr. M. E. Sanderson, North Smith, left on Wednesday night with a carload of cattle and machinery for his son, who is farming near McLeod, Alta. Mr. Sanderson will remain in the West about a month.

Mr. Forsyth To Visit Norwood

Will Probably Organize a Choral Society.

Mr. Cecil Forsyth, organist and choirmaster of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, teacher of advanced piano playing and voice culture, will make weekly trips to Norwood, commencing about the first week in September, providing a sufficient number of pupils enroll. Pupils prepared for examinations and degrees. In case a sufficient number can be secured, Mr. Forsyth will also organize a choral society. — Register.

Both Injured On The Same Machine

A Peculiar Accident Which Occurred at Havelock.

On Wednesday last Master Lawrence Pacy met with a severe accident while working in Spencer's sawmill, just north of the village. He was working at the shingle jointer, where the little finger of his right hand touched the saw in some manner, cutting the member so severely that amputation may yet have to be resorted to. A peculiar feature of the accident is that it was the same machine which caused the injuries to his father's hand, just one week before.—Havelock Standard.

Several Upsets At Chemong Regatta

Fred. Roy's Sailing Canoe Was Turned Over in a Squall.

Fred Roy of Peterborough, while sailing his racing canoe during the heavy breeze at Chemong yesterday afternoon, upset off the Ennismore shore, and his mishap caused considerable anxiety. He was in the water for a considerable time, and several small boats put out from the shore, but had to turn back on account of the rough water. A yacht went to his rescue, however, picked him up and brought him to shore with his canoe. Mr. Easton also caused some excitement by capsizing his dinghy near the Ennismore shore. Its occupants were picked up while the boat was beached.

A Serial Story: 'The Crimson Blind'

First Chapters Will be Published on Saturday, Sept. 1st.

To-morrow the closing chapters of the story, "The two Vanrevels" will be published in the Examiner, and one week from to-morrow, the opening chapters of the new story, "The Crimson Blind," a fascinating piece of fiction by Fred L. White, will be given. This is one of the most interesting stories ever sold for newspaper publication, and the Examiner has been fortunate in securing the serial rights for this city. No one should miss the first chapters; they are said to be very interesting.

CHEESE SUPREMACY OF PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT

Peterborough seems to enjoy a double distinction in the matter of cheese. This district doubtless makes the best cheese in Canada, and it has the best cheese board in the Dominion. The prices obtained at the last meeting, 12 7-8 cents, was the highest figure ever given on any Canadian board at this season of the year. High prices have been current on other boards, but none have reached the above phenomenal figures. The average offerings on the Peterborough Board are the second largest—being only excelled in this respect by the Belleville Board. Brockville district, even with the doughty dairy dictator, "Dan" Derbyshire, directing its destinies, will have to look to its laurels. Cheese is a powerful, if not a mighty factor in the prosperity of the farmer, a far greater mortgage-slayer than any grain crop.

WILL REVIVE MINING INDUSTRY AT BOGART

The Tweed News says: Judging from present indications the pyrite mine at Bogart, being operated by the American Madoc Mining Company, is to be operated on a very extensive scale in the near future, and a mammoth plant will be erected there for the treatment of the ores. The Baskin Brothers of Norwood, have taken the contract of building a siding right up to the mine from the main line of the C.P.R. and started work yesterday. It is understood that a large sum of money will be spent in the erection of the necessary buildings, plans for which have been fully completed. The operation of this mine and the treatment of the ore will no doubt prove a big boom for Bogart and Tweed.

Cannot Bury All Those Dead At Valparaiso

Fear of Pestilence Is the Concern of Valparaiso Now.

STILL UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Re-establishment Is In Progress, and All the Provinces, North and South Which Did Not Suffer by Earthquake, Are Sending In Food—Awful Mutilation of President-Elect Montt's Wife by Bandits.

Valparaiso, Chili, Aug. 24.—Some of the business houses here reopened yesterday for the first time since the earthquake. Telephone and telegraph communication with Santiago has been re-established, but the lines are almost exclusively used by the Government officials.

The city is still under martial law; traffic ceases at 6 o'clock in the evening, and everybody is compelled to take some part in the work of restoration.

At a first instalment, the Government has appropriated $4,000,000 for the relief of the destitute. The custom house was reopened yesterday, and traffic by water and by rail has been resumed. The post service is also in operation.

Can't Bury the Dead.

One of the greatest difficulties encountered by the authorities is the burial of the bodies recovered from the ruins, as all the cemeteries were destroyed. At the temporary morgues, heaps of coffins have accumulated. The work of recovering the bodies is being pushed to the utmost in order to avoid an epidemic, in fear of which many families are leaving the city.

Survivors of the earthquake say that during the shocks it was impossible to stand erect without support.

All the provinces of the north and south which have not suffered from the earthquake are sending supplies of food and money to the stricken cities and towns.

Valparaiso is still without street lights at night, but order is maintained, thanks to the severity of the authorities, who continue shooting all persons who are caught committing robberies.

3,000 Houses Condemned.

Santiago, Chili, Aug. 24.—It was announced yesterday that the Ministry of Public Works has been advised that it will be necessary to abolish more than 3,000 houses here, as the result of damages from earthquake shocks.

Measures have been taken to suppress all overcharging for the necessaries of life by merchants. The municipality is selling fresh meat to the inhabitants.

Awful Mutilation by Thugs.

Lima, Peru, Aug. 24.—Further details received here yesterday from Valparaiso, Chili, show that out of 40 employes of the Telephone Co., 38 were killed.

When the house of President-elect Montt collapsed, his wife fell from the balcony into the street, and bandits, who were passing, cut off her ears and fingers to rob her of her jewelry. She was taken in a dying state on board the Chilian warship O'Higgins. Among the dead at Valparaiso is Frederico Valrella, the famous capitalist and politician.

Considerable alarm is felt here, in view of the conditions in Chili, as no food products are coming from that republic to Peru, and the latter does not produce sufficient for the use of her inhabitants. Therefore, partial starvation, at least, it is feared, faces the middle and poorer classes of the Peruvian population.

SUING ST. THOMAS' TIMES.

Liberal Candidate Complains of Article Alleging Forgery.

St. Thomas, Aug. 24.—The Daily Times was served with a writ yesterday on behalf of W. F. Hepburn, the Liberal candidate in East Elgin, for an alleged libelous statement contained in an article signed "Fair Play," which appeared in The Times on Aug. 20.

The whole article was complained of, but in the particular the following clause: "No one can have half an hour's conversation with either Mr. Marshall or Dr. Marlatt without being fully impressed with their ability and integrity. Either would command respect and attention on the floor of the house. Would Mr. Hepburn? Does not the alteration of a signed document, unknown to the signer, as was the case with the first Wiseman letter, constitute a forgery? Should a man abetting such an act represent East Elgin?"

Bad Cuts In His Head.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Thomas Gooderham, a bricklayer, 45 years of age, is laid up in his house, 11 Garnet avenue, with a couple of bad cuts on his head. Tony Ross and his brother, Sam, of 175 Centre street, Italians, are locked up in No. 7 station on a charge of wounding. The Italians say that Gooderham insisted upon their buying a drink, when the mix-up followed.

Mob Shoots Negro Dead.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 24.—Willie Spain, a negro, 23 years of age, was shot to death by a mob near St. George, Dorchester County, yesterday. He admitted having gone to the residence of S. L. Comer with the intention of entering it. He was frightened away. The mob strung him to a tree and shot 500 bullets into his body.

Asks The United States For Guns To Help Them

Cuban Government Seeks Assistance To Put Rebels Down.

REVOLUTION FORMIDABLE

Palma Administration Have Underestimated Strength of Revolutionists, Who Have Been Preparing For the Struggle Ever Since the Presidential Election—May Not Result In Annexation to U. S.

Havana, Aug. 24.—The Cuban Government has asked the United States that eight rapid-fire guns, manned by American artillerymen, be sent to this island to assist in subduing the insurrection.

It is not admitted that this is equivalent to a call for intervention, under the terms of the Platt amendment, and indeed intervention is regarded by the press and public as a remote possibility.

Public opinion seems to vary according to locality, from enthusiastic adherence to the Government to open rebellion. In this city the general attitude is one of loyalty, but there has been nothing which could be fairly described as a general rising of the people in defence of the Government.

Revolution Formidable.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 24.—The Picayune's special cable from Havana says:

In spite of Government denials the revolutionary movement in Cuba has assumed formidable proportions. The whole island is in a ferment over the uprising and it is impossible to predict at this time what the final result will be.

The Government claims that it will be able to suppress the revolt within two or three weeks, but conservative people do not believe that the revolution can be crushed so easily.

The revolutionists have been preparing for the struggle ever since the presidential election, and the Palma administration has underestimated their strength.

It is known that several cargoes of arms and ammunition have been landed in Cuba from the Florida coast during the past two months, and the insurgents are abundantly supplied with war material.

It is believed by many Havana business men that it will be necessary for the United States to intervene and annex the island before the revolution will be crushed. Annexation is openly favored by the commercial interests in all of the larger cities and towns in Cuba. The revolutionary leaders even prefer annexation to the United States to a continuation of the present conditions.

The American residents on the Isle of Pines have taken sides with the revolutionists against the Palma Government, and they are giving the insurgents all the aid possible. The Isle of Pines will be an important base of operations for the revolutionists.

Bandera Hacked With Machetes.

Havana, Aug. 24.—The body of the negro, Gen. Quentin Bandera, the most daring insurgent in Havana Province, lies in the morgue at Havana to-day, flanked by those of two mulatto comrades, all frightfully gashed by the long, heavy machetes of the mounted rural guards, who ended their career. Across the street, in Mempturo Park, a great crowd, mostly negro friends of Bandera, are watching the morgue with silent interest.

The arrival of Bandera's body here was the first news of the fight in which he met his death. The conflict occurred at the Silveira farm, near Punta Brava, 15 miles from Havana. Thirty mounted rural guards, under Capt. Ignasio Del Gado and Lieut. Martines, were searching throughout the night for Bandera's party.

At 2 a. m. the rural guards were breaking through a wire fence at the edge of the Silveira farm, when they were suddenly fired upon by Bandera's 20 followers.

The guards rushed upon the insurgents, but with the exception of their chief and his two leading comrades, they all escaped. The guards made the chief and his companions a special target and all three received several bullet wounds and were horridly mutilated. Not one of the guards was wounded.

The bodies of Bandera and his companions were placed in a wagon and brought to Havana.

Threatens to Blow Up British Road.

Havana, Aug. 24.—General Manager Livesey of the Western Railway, yesterday afternoon received a personal message from Pino Guerra, forwarded from San Juan de Martinez saying:

"I am in possession of your station. If any more troops are sent over the Western Railway, I will blow up the bridge and destroy your property."

Later, Guerra again wired to Mr. Livesey, saying.

"If you send any more troops over the Western Railway, I will blow up the bridges and burn your stations and property, irrespective of any international complications or any other consideration."

Mr. Livesey carried the message directly to the Secretary of the Interior, with whom he held a consultation. The Western Railway is a British corporation.

Another train-load of troops was sent from Havana westward yesterday afternoon.

Easing Hunger For Land Is Now Being Attended To Important Series of Agrarian Conferences At Peterhof.

IMMEDIATE DISTRIBUTION

Government Has Definitely Decided to Proceed With the Original Plan For Settling the Agrarian Question, and Within a Fortnight an Imperial Ukase Will Direct Commission to Distribute Land.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—An important series of conferences began Wednesday night at Peterhof on the question of the immediate distribution of the crown and appanges to the peasants, in an attempt to find a partial solution of the agrarian question by measurably appeasing the land hunger of the peasantry, and the Government has definitely decided to proceed with the original plan for settling the agrarian question, regardless of Parliament and go to the country upon the issue of the coming election.

Within a fortnight an imperial ukase will be used directing the agrarian commission to begin the distribution 1,800,000 dessiatines (a dessiatine is about 2 1-2 acres), belonging to the appanges, 4,000,000 dessiatines belonging to the crown and 2,000,000 dessiatines of the land offered to or purchased through the peasants' bank.

Only the forest lands belonging to the state the preservation of which is considered necessary for the future agricultural prosperity of the country will be reserved.

The transaction will be financed through the peasants' bank. Little cash will be required. The landlords and other sellers will be given marketable land scrip, eventually redeemable by the peasant purchasers in instalment notes designed to meet the interest and amortization.

The Emperor will not give the land of the imperial family as a free gift, but like other landlords, he will accept scrip.

Moreover, it is believed that no Parliament will ever dare to repeal this temporary law.

Nearly all the present restrictions upon the peasant class also will be removed.

This, in substance, is the Government's bold bid for the support of the Russian peasant millions against the propaganda of the revolutionists.

Even Cossacks Rebel.

The Armenian-Tartar situation is worse than known to the outside world. Almost all the Russian military units are disaffected, and even the Cossacks are rebelling against doing police duty. The latest mutiny is that of the Poltava Cossacks, who several days ago, at Tiflis, formally demanded to be relieved from police duty, and asked for the discharge of those who had served over three years. The entire regiment was disarmed and confined under guard in its barracks.

Still Nominally Loyal.

A secret meeting of about 200 soldiers, including representatives of some of the guard regiments, has been held near the camp at Krasnoye-Selo, at which it is reported that a large portion of the men were shown to be in thorough sympathy with the cause of the people, and would refuse to fire on them if ordered to do so. But it was also determined that the time was not yet ripe for a general mutiny, as the majority of the troops at the capital were still nominally loyal.

Collision on Trolley Line.

London, Aug. 24.—A rear-end street car collision occurred last night on the Springbank Trolley line, near the Cove Bridge, in which Motorman John Harris of the rear car had both legs broken. Miss Lillie Craft, a passenger, was badly shaken up, and several other passengers had narrow escapes.

Gives Employe $500 Cheque.

Forest, Aug. 24.—J. D. Livingston, accountant with L. M. Smith & Co., bankers of this town, has completed twenty-five years service with the firm. To mark the event the firm presented him with a cheque for five hundred dollars.

Steamer Strett Ashore.

Tobermory, Aug. 24.—Yesterday morning during a heavy fog the steamer Street and two consorts ran ashore on shoals two miles west of Cove Island, near here. The consorts have been released, and are now at anchor close to the steamer, which is still ashore waiting tugs to release her.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Lock and Dam" St. Andrew's Rapids, Red River, Man., will be received at this office until the 10th day of September, 1906, for the construction of a concrete Lock and Dam at St. Andrew's Rapids, Red River, Province of Manitoba.

Plans and specifications can be seen at this Department; at the offices of the Resident Engineer of Public Works, Ashdown Building, Winnipeg; Mr. J. G. Sing, Resident Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Mr. C. Desjardins, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Montreal, and Mr. Ph. Beland, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Quebec.

Forms of tender can also be obtained at the above mentioned places.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

The Contractor will be required to conform to regulations to be made by the Governor General, in Council, respecting the accommodation, medical treatment and sanitary protection of the workingmen employed on the work.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for the sum of sixty-five thousand dollars ($65,000) which will be forfeited if the party tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Shamrocks In Fine Shape For Lindsay Game To-morrow

Come With the Crowd and See the Boys Take Another Jump Towards the Championship—Game Will be a Splendid One.

Those who go to Lindsay to-morrow, and from present indications there will be a big crowd, will see the best lacrosse game played in this district this season. The Toronto Junction team have a long and creditable record which they are determined to sustain by a victory over Peterborough to-morrow and the local bunch are equally confident of being able to stop the victorious career of the Junction twelve. The Peterborough Shamrocks have been practicing faithfully and are in better shape than they have been during the whole season. Unless all guesses and dope sheets slip a cog the local outfit will come out with the long end of the score.

To encourage them to do this, a big crowd should accompany the team to-morrow and support them vocally and otherwise. Nothing makes a team play better away from home than a knowledge of the fact that they have loyal supporters with them, so get into the swim to-morrow, buy a Lindsay ticket and a bunch of Peterborough ribbons and get ready to yell, not only loud but often; for something will surely happen to-morrow when the fast juniors meet. The return fare is only 65c. and you'll feel like 30c. if you don't go.

Both Teams Are Bound To Win

And Game To-morrow Will be a Fast One.

The Lindsay Post says: Lindsay citizens will have an opportunity of witnessing a good game of lacrosse next Saturday when Peterborough and Toronto Juniors meet in a C. L. A. semi-final. It will be a corker and no one sided game. Both clubs are out to win and both teams are evenly matched. The game should be an interesting one and worth going to see.

A RADICAL INQUIRY.

Grain Commission Will Get at Bottom of Grain Conditions.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—The investigation will be thorough in every respect and the Commission will get to the bottom of existing conditions in the grain trade of the west," remarked J. W. Millar of Indian Head, chairman of the Commission, appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate the grain situation.

The Commission is granted power to consider all matters connected with the Grain Inspection Act, the Manitoba Grain Act, and in connection therewith to visit grain growers, elevators all over the wheat growing region, investigate the methods of handling grain at the various stations, farmers' elevators, as well as companies' elevators; the distribution of cars, methods of dealing in grain at Winnipeg, as well as Toronto and Montreal, and the system of Government inspection and collection of fees; the selection of grades, methods of handling grain at Fort William and Port Arthur and at other ports and at Montreal, St. John and Halifax, and also to look into the methods existing in England for the handling of grain on arrival there.

The preliminary steps toward organization were taken. J. B. Boyle was made secretary.

TOMPKINS AND COMPANY.

Case Against Alleged Thieves and Vagrants Enlarged For a Week.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The gang of alleged pickpockets, shoplifters and general thieves arrested a week ago in Church street houses were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday. The detectives have been steadily working on the case, and now think they have evidence enough to warrant their laying the following charges against the prisoners:

Harry Tompkins—One gold watch chain, 2 pairs cuff links, seven shirt studs, from Geo. D. Edwards, July 23; one leather hand bag and $29 from A. Hogg; one silver tray, King Edward Hotel; one diamond scarf pin, J. E. Ivers, Aug. 8; five dollars, H. A. Wilson; 3 ladies' silk jackets, one chatelaine, one umbrella, T. Eaton Co., June 3.

Minnie Tompkins—Theft from Geo. D. Edwards, July 23; theft from A. H. Hogg; theft from J. E. Ivers.

Charles O'Niel—Theft, one diamond scarf pin, J. E. Ivers, Aug. 8.

Hattie Dineen—Theft, from T. Eaton Co., June 3.

Wm. Lennox—Vagrancy.

Minnie Lennox—Vagrancy.

All pleaded not guilty, and were remanded for a week.

BURNED HER BABIES.

Glace Bay Jury Will Investigate Death of Twin Infants.

Glace Bay, N. S., Aug. 24.—Two infants disappeared mysteriously from here on Tuesday, and their mother, named McKenzie, whose husband is in parts unknown, said the children had died, when she had taken them away with her on a berry picnic excursion.

The chief of police investigated and the woman confessed to having burned them near Long Beach, Port Morien.

Accompanied by officers, she indicated the place, and a warrant for disinterment being issued, the remains were taken up and a jury empaneled.

Medical examination as to whether they met with a violent death or not is somewhat inconclusive. Blood had flowed from the nostrils of one. They were about three or four weeks old.

An inquest will be held this evening.

CATS AND HENS IN BAKERY.

One of Conditions Revealed by An Investigation in Prussia.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The Government Medical Department has issued a report on the sanitary condition of the Prussian bakeries and slaughter houses, to which the newspapers are giving sensational prominence, one of them using the caption, "America in Prussia."

The report says that many of the butchering establishments were found in a very unclean condition.

The Government inspectors found the conditions in the bakeries to be particularly objectionable.

In one town boys kneaded the dough with their feet and one bakery was found to be occupied by cats and hens.

One baker admitted that his floor and vats were scrubbed only once a year.

Third Report Soon Ready.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—There was a council meeting yesterday afternoon, but Acting-Premier Foy stated that only routine business was transacted. Hon. Adam Beck stated that the Hydro-Electric Commission had approved, and would soon file their third interim report, dealing with the Lake Huron and Georgian Bay district, from Goderich up to French River, including Sudbury. The Commission has also about completed its report respecting the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers district.

THEY DINED AT NIGHT.

Recreation Day For Members of British Medical Association.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Yesterday was Recreation Day for the physicians in attendance at the British Medical Association. The day was largely given up to social entertainment, and scores of the members availed themselves of the invitation to accompany the ladies on their excursion to Niagara.

Only two short hours of work was allotted by the program to the proceedings of the various sections, and, outside of State medicine, this was of a technical and very abbreviated character. The afternoon was devoted to the conferring of the degrees bestowed by the university on a number of the eminent physicians at the Convocation Hall, and a series of delightful garden parties, while the feature of the evening was the annual dinner in the Victoria Rink.

The arrangements for the dinner were most admirable. The decorations were unique the electric designs of the green maple leaf and the colored crown, and other emblems giving a fine effect. The music was really musical, and the cuisine beyond criticism.

Among the speakers it is no reflection on anyone else to single out the utterance of the venerable Sage of the Grange as the gem of the evening. Words are like jewels in the setting of his thought. If any comment might be made at all upon some of the other speakers, it is one which would apply to almost any Canadian dinner. They are too long-winded. Goldwin Smith enchanted everybody in less than ten minutes. One or two others bored the assembly in from twenty to twenty-five.

The Governor-General sent a telegram, which was read during the proceedings.

Dr. Reeve, president of the association, took chair, and proposed the Lieutenant-Governor, who responded.

"The Parliament of Canada" was spoken to by Sir James Grant, and Mayor Coatsworth, the toast being responded to by E. B. Osler, M. P.

"The British Medical Association," was proposed by Goldwin Smith in a most delicately humorous and exquisitely phrased address.

Sir Wm. Broadbent and Dr. Macdonald Taunton responded.

Sir William Hingston proposed the toast of the guests in excellent terms, and in reply brief speeches were made by Prof. Aschoff, Marburg, representing Germany; Prof. Lapicque, Paris, representing France; Dr. Mayo, president of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Mott, representing England.

EMINENT ENGINEER SMITH.

May Divide His Allegiance to Give Winnipeg a Share.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—It is understood that the city has secured the services of Cecil B. Smith, the eminent engineer of Toronto, and that he will be given a free rein in dealing with the allied questions of adequate power and water supply for Winnipeg. It is stipulated that he shall have an assistant and staff of his own selection, and shall not be required to reside in Winnipeg or to devote his entire time to the service of the city. This will enable him to continue in the service of the Ontario Government.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Mr. Smith was seen yesterday afternoon. He had been in attendance upon the Cabinet meeting. "I have not resigned from either commission. Yes, I have had some negotiations with the city authorities of Winnipeg, but I am not prepared at the present time to say anything further."

FIRE ENGINE FOR HAILEYBURY.

Merchants Locating In Tents Pending Construction of Buildings.

Haileybury, Aug. 24.—A public meeting was held here Wednesday night to consider the fire situation. Accusations were hurled at Mayor Farr for neglect of duty in leaving the fire engine without gasoline, and the fire department, who were called incompetents.

The meeting decided to spend $10,000 on a steam fire engine.

The town is rapidly recovering and many of the merchants are locating in tents and temporary frame shacks.

A provincial detective is here investigating. The name of a local merchant is freely used in connection with the charge of incendiarism.

Probably Drowned.

Belleville, Aug. 24.—From the published description of clothing found in a derelict skiff, picked up by the steamer Picton on Tuesday, it is believed that they were worn by Henry Asselstine of this city, who disappeared some days ago.

Plan Improvements For Gore's Landing

A New Steamer Spoken of for Next Year—A Pagoda Will be Erected, Too—Auto Bus Line Another of the Propositions--Rice Lake May Rival Stony in Popularity

Gore's Landing, August 21.—The village is still thronged with visitors Every room at the hotels is at present occupied and many visitors have been provided with sleeping accommodation at private houses.

Mr. and Mrs John Wickett, of Port Hope and child who have been staying at the Rice Lake Hotel returned home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rooke, of Port Hope, and child, are at the White House.

A handsome pagoda is being built on the pier, the cost being covered by subscriptions. It provides comfortable seating accommodation in the most desirable spot where an excellent view of the lake and where all the coolest breezes are to be obtained.

Great plans are contemplated for improving Gore's Landing as a summer resort. A tennis court is being prepared and it is proposed to have a walk made for some distance along the shore of the lake. The beach, which is now in a very dirty condition is to be cleaned up. This will be a great boon, especially to children. An automobile bus will probably run next year from Port Hope to Cobourg and thence to Gore's Landing and return making the trip twice daily. This will make Gore's Landing a convenient place to reach and will make it a favourite resort for Port Hope and Cobourg. Mr. G. Hayward has bought land on which he will erect two summer cottages. One cottage is now being built and will be finished this autumn. It is probable that other summer cottages will be erected next spring.

It is proposed to form a company to build a large steamer to ply on Rice Lake. The steamer would be made to accommodate some two or three hundred passengers and would be used chiefly for excursions.

The steamer Monarch will continue to make trips between Gore's Landing and Peterborough. All these plans are in serious contemplation and there is a good prospect of their being carried out. Next year it is expected that Rice Laek will rival Stony Lake in popularity.

Fishing has not been very good this year, but a few excellent catches has been made. One party caught forty black bass in one afternoon and several lunge of good size have been taken.

The Port Hope Y. M. C. A. camp at Lee's Point broke up on Saturday as did also another camp of Port Hopers at the same place.

A MOST EXCEPTIONAL CHEESE SEASON IS THIS

The Montreal Star, dealing with the cheese market situation, says:—The market for cheese was firm today at yesterday's advance. Peterborough and Perth each sold at 12 7-8c, and under these circumstances prices here should be at least 13c. Although some holders may be asking that price, it would be difficult to get it as yet, 12 7-8c being about as much as anyone would pay for finest Ontario coloured cheese. White is quoted at 12 3-4c, Townships being 12 1-2 to 12 5-8c, and Quebecs 12 1-4 to 12 3-8c.

This has been a most exceptional season from start to finish, the market having advanced gradually, with only one or two slight relapses since last spring. It is now at the highest point since last March, and probably at the highest point ever known for the time of the year. The demand from the other side continues active, although many of the orders coming along are at lower prices than can be accepted.

Receipts of cheese reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 15,916 boxes.

THE DUMMER FARMERS SUFFER FROM GRASSHOPPERS

Mr. Albert Batten Reports a Loss of 400 Bushels of Oats in One Field--Mr. J. W. Lynn Returns From Trip to the West--Mrs. Middleton's Painful Accident.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, August 22.—Although the grain crops this year have been exceptionally heavy in this section, many of the farmers will not be much ahead of previous records when the threshing is over, on account of the great damage done by grasshoppers. The oat crop especially has been victimized by the swarms of these insects which have covered the country this summer.

Mr. Albert Batten, who lives about four miles south of Warsaw, reports a loss of 400 bushels of oats in one field, and although the destruction is not as bad as this throughout Douro and Dummer, generally, yet a very large number of farmers have sustained heavy losses from the grasshopper pest.

Mr. J. Wason Lynn returned to town yesterday after a month's trip through Manitoba. Mr. Lynn is very favourably impressed with the West as a prosperous and progressive country, the wheat crop in many sections beating all previous records. The scarcity of help is so great, however, that enormous quantities of grain are being spoiled in the fields for lack of men to harvest it. Mr. Lynn states that near Carlstairs, Alta., he saw oats growing three heads on one stalk, and wheat heads six inches in length.

Among the huge army of men daily leaving to relieve the labour situation in the West are the following from Warsaw, who left yesterday: Geo Crowe, Robt Lloyd, E Bell, Geo Barr, Percy Lloyd, James Melville and Percy Moore.

Mrs. John Middleton met with a very painful accident yesterday by having her hand badly cut with an axe. Dr. Robinson dressed the wound, and Mrs. Middleton is getting along nicely.

Mr. Elgan Snider is making extensive repairs and alterations to his residence and tailor shop on Peterborough street.

Mrs. F. Matice was in town yesterday making final arrangements for the removal of her household furniture to Peterborough, where Mr. Matice has secured a position on the office staff of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Matice regret very much their departure from Warsaw, where Mr. Matice has been so successful as a school teacher, and where he and Mrs. Matice have made many warm friends.

The School Board have secured as Mr. Matice's successor Mr. J. K. Wellbank, of Newburg, Ont., who entered upon his duties on Monday.

Miss Clara Madill leaves for Toronto on Saturday, where she has been engaged by the wholesale millinery establishment of Cockburn & Rea.

Mrs. Jos. Cooper and Miss McIlvena are visiting at Perrytown the guests of Mrs. Frank Irwin.

Rev. W. L. Atkinson returned on Saturday after a pleasant month's visit with Mrs. Atkinson's parents, at Inglewood.

Dr. T. Douglas left for Toronto yesterday to attend the convention of the British Medical Association.

Miss Sedgewick, Toronto, is the guest of Miss Victoria Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas, Hamilton, are the guests of their son, Dr. T. Douglas.

Miss Jessie Waddell returned on Saturday to resumor teaching at S. S. No. 5.

Miss Laura Webster is visiting friends in Lakefield.

Miss Marjorie Choate went to Peterborough on Monday, where she is visiting Miss Grace McClennan.

Miss Lily Martin, who has been the guest of Miss McCracken, returned yesterday to her home in Little Britain.

Mrs. King and two daughters, of Hamilton, are visiting Mrs. King's brother, Dr. Thos. Douglas.

Mr. Barton Earle, Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. A. F. Choate, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. R. F. Choate, late of the Montreal Herald, who is spending a couple of weeks with his parents, leaves Saturday to take a position on the Buffalo Courier.

Miss Dora Payne returned from Peterborough Saturday after a week's visit with Miss Bertha Wareham.

Miss Lila Caldwell, who has been visiting Miss Calder, returned to her home in Peterborough Saturday.

Miss Staunton, trained nurse of Peterborough, is at Mr. Franklin Jory's attending Mr. Oswald Jory, who was accidentally shot in the leg about a month ago. Mr. Jory is doing nicely and hopes to be out in a few days.

Mr. A. P. Earle, Pittsburg, and Mr. J. B. Fitzmorris, Montreal, are guests of Mr. R. F. Choate today.

Dr. and Mrs. Couch, Toronto, are visiting Mrs. Couch's mother, Mrs. R. Lynn.

Some Excitement At Chemong Park

Ennismore Man Hit Boy and a Lively Chase Ensued.

Considerable excitement was caused at Chemong Park last evening by a disgraceful occurrence which took place near the hotel. Fred Twomey, a young man from Ennismore, for what reason could not be learned, struck Claud Fleetwood, a Peterborough boy, with terrific force in the face. The assailant then started to leave the park, and a man-hunt followed. A big crowd followed the man through the pine woods opposite the park where he was arrested by Constable Cullen, of Bridgenorth, and locked up in the hotel. He will probably appear before County Magistrate Edmison.

Mr. Dumble Met With An Accident

His Horse Shied at Auto Bus and Threw Him Out.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, while driving to the city from the Chemong regatta yesterday met with an accident which might have had serious results, but from which he fortunately escaped uninjured. The horse he was driving became frightened at the big auto-car, and bolted into the ditch, overturning the buggy and throwing Mr. Dumble out. The rig was unmjured and its occupant also got off unhurt.

Some complaints are made that the car is recklessly driven at times. Farmers say that the car does not always slow down when horses show signs of being afraid, and that a serious accident will occur unless the motor vehicle is handled with considerations for the rights of others.

Price of Drinks Have Gone Up

Drunks as Well as Drinks Have Taken a Jump.

This morning's police court only lasted a few minutes, but it increased the city's finances to the extent of $11.50. The price of drinks is going up apparently, judging by the quotations this morning.

William Jobe was charged with being drunk in a public place. He was arrested by P. C. Adams on Downie street, where he was enjoying a noon-day siesta yesterday. He pleaded guilty this morning, and was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $5.75.

Michael Lavery had the same charge to answer to, with the addition of being disorderly. He also pleaded guilty, and received the same penalty, $5.75.

How "Bu-Ju" helps your kidneys.

"Bu-Ju" soothes irritation and heals inflammation.

"Bu-Ju" increases the excretion of urine. This flushes the kidneys—opens up the pores—clears the system of all poisonous deposits—and makes the kidneys well and strong.

"Bu-Ju" takes away the pain in the back and through the hips—cures the weakness and nervousness—and relieves all bladder troubles.

"Bu-Ju" will give you practically a new pair of kidneys, that will do their work in nature's way.

"Bu-Ju" does all this—and more—at a cost to you of only 3c. a day.

MARKHAM, ONT., Dec. 1st, 1903.

"I had suffered almost continually for seven years with Kidney Trouble. Could scarcely walk, and was unable to attend to my farm work. Saw "Bu-Ju," the kidney pills, advertised and procured a box from my druggist. After taking the first few pills, I feel much relieved; and after taking half a box, was able to do a full days work. I know one box of "Bu-Ju" saved me $40.00 doctor's bills and I think they are the finest pills made." JAMES ABBOTT.

Blomfield, Canada's Greatest Paddler

"Rod and Gun in Canada" Pays a Tribute to His Ability—A Local Boy Who Comes in for Warm Praise.

"Rod and Gun in Canada" has the following reference to a young man well known in Peterborough: Toronto has lost, and Edmonton gained, Reg. Blomfield, Canada's greatest paddler. Blomfield left Toronto for the West early in July. He was one of the finest sporting men in the Queen City, and his loss is a heavy one to the Toronto Canoe Club. Blomfield is a most versatile young man. He could do anything in a canoe any man ever did in Eastern Canada, was a first rank hockeyist and played a fair game of rugby.

Canoeing was Blomfield's forte. In a racing single he has only been beaten once. That was at Orillia last year, where Anderson, in a racing machine which was many pounds under weight—it was a section of a rowing shell—beat him after a desperate race. Boat and poor Anderson never were in Blomfield's class. Blomfield won all the singles he ever paddled in, in 1904 winning 31 prizes, and in fours and doubles, both single and double blades in the war canoes his crew almost invariably won. He was captain of the Toronto Canoe Club and steered its No. 1 war canoe crew.

In canoe acrobatics he was a wonder. He holds the record for the upset stunt of 2 2-5 seconds, and has been timed in practice as doing the busts in 1 4-5 seconds. The flip consists in upsetting a canoe and clambering back into it. Blomfield standing on one gunwale, grasps the other, and, by throwing himself backwards and kicking strongly with his feet, turns his canoe completely over in the air while he himself disappears in the water to reappear a second later and fairly bounce right out of the water into his canoe.

Blomfield is the originator of the most unique canoe stunt in the world. It is performed on Toronto Bay in the wake of a side wheel ferry boat, and consists of riding the crew over a wave from one side of the bay tot he other. Blomfield was the first man to do the trick in Toronto, but now at least a score of expert paddlers emulate the stunt.

To ride the swells requires a light canoe, much paddling ability, steady nerves, and the balance of a tight rope astern. Commencing, the canoeist dashes at the swell just astern of the steamer with a tremendous spurt and places his canoe just on the forward side of the third or fourth swell. There he paddles like a demon for an instant until the pull of the wave grasps his canoe, and away he shoots. Then he ceases paddling and devotes all his attention to steering, (for the curve of the moving wall of water shows a vigorous desire to shoot off at a tangent. Once let the canoe start on a side rip and it is all over but the swimming, for he will turn over like a flash.

Blomfield has gone West for the Dominion Bank. He was presented with a Greener gun by the T. C. C. boys.

Pickerel And Eagle In Death Struggle

Lying on the high sand beach of Big Sandy Pond, Lake Ontario, was a bald eagle, with its talons firmly imbedded in the back of a huge pickerel, a few days ago. Frederick C. List, of Syracuse, chanced to discover the unusual sight as he was drawing his boat up on the beach. List, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, explains the strange phenomenon in this manner:—That the eagle swooped down on the surface of the water and plunged its talons deeply in the pickerel, which happened to be so heavy that the eagle could not pick it up, but, on the other hand, was drawn under the surface and drowned. The pickerel probably died of its injuries, and the fish and bird were washed ashore a few days later. The pickerel was a beautiful specimen of the finny tribe, and Mr. List says would have weighed close to fifteen pounds

Remarkable Feat Of St. Louis Engraver

The flat surface or top of the head of a pin is a little less than five sixty-fourths of an inch in diameter. The entire top of the head of a pin is the same size as the white space contained in the loop of the letter p in types of the size of this print. Yet it was large enough to be now engraved so that with a strong magnifying glass, clearly discernable on its surface are all of the figures from 1 to 9 and all the letters of the alphabet, including the name of Eugene Wrenger, the expert engraver of St. Louis, who did the work.

The pin above described was presented by Wrenger to a friend, who in turn sent it to a museum in Philadelphia, where it was accepted as a wonder in the way of development of the engraver's art and placed on exhibition.

At various times in late years reference has been made in newspapers to finne specimens of engraving—notably that of the full text of the Lord's prayer on one side of a watch charm. But few attempts have been made to accomplish perfect work in the engraving line on the head of a pin.

The task is so delicate that the first thing done is to flatten the head of the pin, making it perfectly smooth. If the metal is over hard it is softened by chemical processes. Then, with a glass that brings out the limit lines of the surface, but magnifies it only four times, the operator sets to work with a lozenge form graver—which is a four-inch penstock holding a piece of the finest tempered steel, shaped like a diamond, the elongated points on which are the knives of the workmen.

Keener they are than a razor. The scratch or mark they will make in softened metal is finer than that made by any diamond cutter. Before a mark is made on the surface of the pinhead a device which will locate 960 straight parallel lines on a surface of one inch in width is used on the surface of the pinhead and the guide lines fixing the possibility of lettering on that surface are established. Then, operating with the aid of the magnifying glass, the work of cutting the letters is commenced.

The lines made are finer than those referred to ordinarily as "hair lines". The strongest eye in the strongest natural light cannot discern more than a webblike mass on the face of the pinhead after the work is complete. If picked up and examined casually a person with very strong eyes would declare there was nothing remarkable about the head of the pin except that it seemed to be flattened, the work having been done evidently with a very fine file. In order that no slip of the object being engraved will cause irreparable disaster, the pin is held in a delicate but strong vise, so arranged that it cannot move.

THE SINCEREST FLATTERY

The Envy of the Man Who Knows Your Whole History.

Pity the curious man as much as you will; he needs it. With what a grieved feeling the man of envy speaks of your success, disparaging your ability the while; for he knew you when you were young, knows all your history, in fact. Envy never has any praise for others. But envy is really the sincerest flattery.

The hammering of the Semi-Ready tailoring has been the favourite pastime of many envious people. That which one can surpass, one does not envy, but that which is beyond one's power to approach, either inspires to effort or condemnation. The hatred of the envious one is praise, and the Semi-Ready tailored garments at $15 has awakened peans of praise. The Semi-Ready Company take some pride in their creations and their achievements, and they are broad enough to welcome those who strive to equal their tailoring. A. W. Cressman, agent for Peterborough.

Cloth is now being successfully made from wood. Strips of fine-grained wood are boiled and crushed between rollers, and the fibres are spun into threads, from which cloth can be woven in the usual way.

Church Work And Workers

Church union is a live question away off in South Africa. Rev. Dr. R. Douglas Fraser received a letter a few days ago from Rev. S. J. Hamilton of the Whitewaterand Church Council, asking for the basis of union being considered by the three Canadian churches now negotiating, as a similar movement is on foot there.

Rev. Robt. Culley has been nominated as successor to the Rev. Charles H. Kelly, as Book Steward of the English Wesleyan Church, the election to take place at the conference of 1907.

The Bishops of the whole Anglican Church are summoned to meet in July, 1908, at Lambeth in the Lambeth Conference and Pan-Anglican Congress, the latter meeting just before the other, and including a united service at St. Paul's Cathedral, at which it is proposed to present a thank-offering from the Anglican Church all over the world.

The year 1907 will be the centenary anniversary of the sailing for China of Morrison, the first missionary to the Celestial Empire. For six years he laboured with scarcely a convert. Thirty-six years from his arrival there were twelve missionaries, and only six converts. Fifty-six years from that date there were not 2,000 converts. Now they number 180,000, and the missionaries 3,320, representing seventy-eight societies.

Church disestablishment in Wales seems likely in the near future. A British Parliamentary committee has been appointed to inquire into the religious situation in the principality with that in view. The committee consists of nine statesmen of highest standing, representing all the leading denominations. They will compile a complete religious census and study exhaustively the resources and work of each church.

ENGLAND

An ingenious trick, of which the police and magistrate were the victims, was revealed at Warminster, Wiltshire, police court recently. In October, 1904, a hawker named Sampson Light should have appeared before the magistrates for some trivial offence. When the clerk called his name Mrs. Light stepped forward to explain that her husband could not attend. The case was proceeded with, and during the hearing a dramatic incident occurred. A messenger brought a telegram into court. It was handed to Mrs. Light, and as she read it, she burst into tears. The telegram stated her husband was dead. The magistrate touched by the drama stopped the proceedings and the weeping widow left the court. And now the comedy commences. The police were skeptical about that telegram, and for two years they have searched and brooded. A few days ago the "dead" man stepped into court. He had been found and had the pleasure of coming "back from the grave" to pay a fine of three pounds.

The enormous municipal indebtedness of London is shown by recent returns issued by the order of the county council. The total net debt of London is £103,237,454. The debt of the metropolis Water Board is responsible for an increase of £37,470,522. Of the debt £48,297,619, or or 46.8 per cent., was in respect of tramways, and other revenue-producing services. The annual charge for the year 1904-5 for interest and repayment in respect of the total net debt amounted to £5,296,816 of which £3,822,408 was met out of the rates, and the balance £1,414,408, or 26.7 per cent., from the earnings of the revenue producing services. The total net debt, including the debt of the Metropolitan Water Board, has increased by £4,522,406, or 7 1-2 per cent., as compared with an increase of £3,306,425, or 5.7 per cent., in the previous year. Of the total increase, £2,916,606, or 64.1-2 per cent., was in respect of the remunerative undertakings. The total charge on the rate has increased by £240,922, or 6.6 per cent.

The story of a father's terrible experience in a London, Tilbury, and Southend train was told recently at an inquest in London. Awakening from sleep by the screams of his servant, the father was just in time to see his four year old daughter falling from the train. He jumped frantically to the rescue and caught the child's dress, but the wind caused by the train's rapid motion tore the flimsy garment from his grasp, and the child fell on the metals. Then for fifteen minutes or more the agonized father pulled frantically at the communication cord, but the train did not stop. When it did pull up ten miles from the scene of the accident the father's hands were torn and bleeding from pulling at the cord. As the train dashed through station after station he hung out of the window and shouted and waved his hat and his handkerchief in a vain effort to attract attention.

Mr. Aslett Baldwin, F. R. C. S., senior assistant surgeon at the West London Hospital, describes a peculiar case in the current number of the Lancet, which he says is the first of the kind in the country. He was called to see a woman who complained of a "tremendous buzzing" in the ear. Examination with the speculum revealed what appeared to be a minute dark piece of wax. An application of warm water failed to remove the object, and the buzzing continued undiminished. The surgeon then filled the outer ear with carbolic lotion and the buzzing gradually ceased, after which he extracted the foreign body with forceps. It proved to be a cockroach such as infest kitchens. It was more than an inch long and a quarter of an an inch in breadth. What the surgeon had seen was merely the tail of the beetle, which had become wedged in the wall of the passage to the tympanum.

The serenity of Winterbourne, a quaint old fashioned Gloucester town, six miles from Bristol, was recently disturbed by a triple tragedy. Congregational minister, named Rev. Hy. Brown, murdering his wife and her sister and then committed suicide. The women were attacked in their beds, the throats of each being cut. Mr. Brown had been under medical treatment for a considerable time for melancholia, and although his ministerial work had lately been curtailed he attended to his various public duties, which included the chairmanship of the Parish Council. Two blood stained razors, one of them broken, were found on the floor and in both rooms there were signs that the women had struggled fiercely for life, and the walls and floors were besmirched with blood.

Mr. Justice Jelf did not attempt to conceal his sympathy for a young man named Thomas Archibald Davies, who was before him Glamorganshire Assizes, Swansea, recently on a charge of stabbing his sweetheart, Mary Condon. The girl admitted having written the prisoner letters, breathing the keenest affection and that her love was warmly reciprocated. She broke off the engagement because her sister did not like the young fellow. The judge said that he could not help but feel that Davies had been badly treated by a woman of whom he was very fond, and who admitted that she was influenced against him by her sister. This was a very dangerous course for a sister to pursue, simply because she did not fancy a man. The judge accordingly imposed the light sentence of only six months.

A red rose is the annual rent paid for a valuable bit of land in Southwark, the busy central quarter of Southern London. The 250th payment has just been made to the governors of St. Olave's and St. Saviour's Grammar School, who are the ground landlords. The quaint custom dates from 1656, when a portion of a field belonging to the school was leased by the parish authorities for the benefit of the poor, at the nominal annual rent of one red rose. The lease was one of 500 years, so that in the natural course of things the annual red rose will be paid until A.D., 2156. The value of the lands will go on increasing, for green fields have now receded miles from Southwark.

SCOTLAND

The mysterious disappearance of a bridegroom on the eve of his wedding recently caused great sensation in Glasgow. The wedding guests, numbering over one hundred, had gathered in one of the city hotels. It was a fashionable gathering, the young couple being very popular and well known. At the appointed time the minister was in waiting to tie the knot but no bridegroom appeared. A feeling of uneasiness spread as the time passed on and the absentee did not turn up. Several friends went off to make a search and institute inquiries, but they were unsuccessful. There could be no wedding without a bridegroom, and the guests gradually dispersed. The minister had the unpleasant task of breaking the news to the bride, who was naturally very much upset. All trace of the bridegroom has disappeared. Every effort has been made to solve the mystery, but up till the present the friends have been unsuccessful.

The ceremony known as the "Riding of Langholm Marches" took place recently on the border of Dumfriesshire. At half-past five a drum and fife band summoned the inhabitants from their beds, and preceded them to Old Hillhead, where they witnessed a hound race of six miles, which was covered in 19 minutes. The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by A. S. McClure Co.

"Give me your hand, Tom," he said faintly. "I'd like to keep hold of it a minute or so. I couldn't have said that yesterday, could I, without causing us both horrible embarrassment? But I fancy I can now because I'm done for. That's too bad, isn't it? I'm very young, after all. Do you remember what poor Andre Chenier said as he went up to be guillotined?—'There were things in this head of mine!' But I want to tell you what's been the matter with me. It was just my being a bad sort of poet. I suppose that I've never loved any one, yet I've cared more deeply than other men for every lovely thing I ever saw, and there's so little that hasn't loveliness in it. I'd be ashamed not to have cared for the beauty in all the women I've made love to—but about this one—the most beautiful of all—I"—

"She will understand," said Tom quickly.

"She will—yes—she's wise and good. If Fanchon knew, there wouldn't be even a memory left to her, and I don't think she'd live. And, do you know, I believe I've done a favor for Miss Betty in getting myself shot. Carewe will never come back. Tom, was ever a man's knavery so exactly the architect of his own destruction as mine? And for what gain? Just the excitement of the comedy from day to day, for she was sure to despise me as soon as she knew, and the desire to hear her voice say another kindly thing to me, and the everlasting perhaps in every woman, and this one the heart's desire of all the world! Ah, well! Tell me—I want to hear it from you—how many hours does the doctor say?"

"Hours, Cralley?" Tom's hand twitched pitifully in the other's feeble grasp.

"I know it's only a few."

"They're all fools, doctors!" exclaimed Vanrevel fiercely.

"No, no. And I know that nothing can be done. You all see it, and you want me to go easily, or you wouldn't let me have my own way so much. It frightens me, I own up, to think that so soon I'll be wiser than the wisest in the world. Yet I always wanted to know. I've sought and I've sought—but now to go out alone on the search—it must be the search, for the Holy Grail—I"—

"Please don't talk," begged Tom in a broken whisper, "for mercy's sake, lad. It wears on you so."

Cralley laughed weakly. "Do you think I could die peacefully without talking a great deal? There's one thing I want, Tom—I want to see all of them once more, all the old friends that are going down the river at noon. What harm could it do? I want them to come by here on their way to the boat, with the band and the new flag. But I want the band to play cheerfully! Ask 'em to play 'Rosin the Bow,' will you? I've never believed in mournfulness, and I don't want to see any of it now. It's the rankest impiety of all! And, besides, I want to see them as they'll be when they come marching home—they must look gay!"

"Ah, don't, lad, don't!" Tom flung one arm about the other's shoulder, and Cralley was silent, but rested his hand gently on his friend's head. In that attitude Fanchon found them when she came.

The volunteers gathered at the courthouse two hours before noon. They met each other dismally, speaking in undertones as they formed in lines of four, while their dispirited faces showed that the heart was out of them. Not so with the crowds of country folk and townspeople who lined the streets to see the last of them, for these, when the band came marching down the street and took its place, set up a royal cheering that grew louder as Jefferson Bareaud, the color bearer, carried the flag to the head of the procession. With the recruits marched the veterans of 1812 and the Indian wars, the one legged cobbler stumping along beside General Trumble, who looked very dejected and old. The lines stood in silence and responded to the cheering by quietly removing their hats, so that the people whispered that it was more like an Odd Fellows' Sunday funeral than the departure of enthusiastic patriots for the seat of war. General Trumble's was not the only sad face in the ranks. All were downcast and nervous, even those of the lads from the country, who had not known the comrade they were to leave behind.

Jefferson unfurled the flag, Marsh gave the word of command, the band began to play a quickstep, and the procession moved forward down the cheering lane of people, who waved little flags and handkerchiefs and threw their hats in the air as they shouted; but, contrary to expectation, the parade was not directly along Main street to the river. "Right wheel! March!" commanded Tappingham hoarsely, waving his sword, and Jefferson led the way into Carewe street.

"For God's sake, don't cry now!" and Tappingham with a large drop streaking down his own cheek turned savagely upon Lieutenant Cummings. "That isn't what he wants. He wants to see us looking cheering and smiling. We can do it for him this once, I guess! I never saw him any other way."

"You look very smiling yourself!" snuffled Will.

"I will when we turn in at the gates," retorted the captain. "On my soul I swear I'll kill every sniffling idiot that doesn't! In line, there!" he stormed ferociously at a big recruit.

The lively strains of the band and the shouting of the people grew louder and louder in the room where Cralley lay. His eyes glistened as he heard, and he smiled, not the old smile of the worldly prelate, but merrily, like a child when music is heard. The room was darkened, save for the light of the one window which fell softly upon his head and breast and upon another fair head close to his, where Fanchon knelt. In the shadows at one end of the room were Miss Betty and Mrs. Tanberry and Mrs. Bareand and the white haired doctor who had said, "Let him have his own way in all he asks." Tom stood alone, close by the head of the couch.

"Here they come!"

"Hail to the band!" Cralley chuckled softly. "How the rogues keep the time! It's 'Rosin the Bow,' all right! Ah, that is as it should be. Mrs. Tanberry, you and I have one thing in common, if you'll let me flatter myself so far. We've always believed in good cheer, you and I, eh? The best of things, even if things are bad, dear lady, eh?"

"You darling vagabond!" Mrs. Tanberry murmured, trying to smile back to him.

"Hark to 'em!" said Cralley. "They're very near! Only hear the people cheer them! They'll 'march away so gayly,' won't they? And how right that is!" The vanguard appeared in the street, and over the hedge gleamed the oncoming banner, the fresh colors flying out on a strong breeze. Cralley greeted it with a breathless cry. "There's the flag—look, Fanchon, your flag!—waving above the hedge, and it's Jeff who carries it. Doesn't it always make you want to dance! Brave, brave!"

The procession halted for a moment in the street, and the music ceased. Then, with a jubilant flourish of brass and the roll of drums, the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," and Jefferson Bareaud proudly led the way through the gates and down the driveway, the bright silk streaming overhead. Behind him briskly marched the volunteers, with heads erect and cheerful faces, as they knew Corporal Gray wished to see them, their captain flourishing his sword in the air.

"Here they come! Do you see, Fanchon?" cried Cralley excitedly. "They are all there—Jeff and Tappingham and the two Madrillons and Will, the dear old fellow—he'll never write a decent paragraph as long as he lives. God bless him!—and young Frank—what devilries I've led the boy into!—and there's the old general, forgetting all the tiffs we've had. God bless them all and grant them all a safe return! What on earth are they taking off their hats for? Ah, goodby, boys, goodby!"

They saw the white face at the window and the slender hand fluttering its farewell, and Tappingham halted his men.

"Three times three for Corporal Gray!" he shouted, managing somehow to keep the smile upon his lips. "Three times three, and may he rejoin his company before we enter the Mexican capital!"

He beat the time for the thunderous cheers that they gave. The procession described a circle on the lawn and then, with the band playing and colors flying, passed out of the gates and took up the march to the wharf.

"The flag, the flag!" whispered Cralley, following it with his eyes. "It shows you helped make it, Fanchon, it's so beautiful. Ah, Tom, they've said we abused it sometimes. It was only that we loved it so well we didn't like to see any one make it look silly or mean. But, after all, no man can do that—no, nor no group of men or party! His voice grew louder as the last strains of the music came more faintly from the street. "They'll take your banner across the Rio Grande, Fanchon, but that is not all—some day its stars must spread over the world! Don't you all see that they will?"

After a little while he closed his eyes with a sigh. The doctor bent over him quickly, and Miss Betty started forward unconsciously and cried out.

But the bright eyes opened again and fixed themselves upon her with all their old gay inscrutability.

"Not yet," said Cralley. "Miss Carewe, may I tell you that I am sorry I could not have known you sooner? Perhaps you might have liked me for Fanchon's sake. I know you care for her."

"I do—I do!" she faltered. "I love her, and—ah—I do like you, Mr. Gray, for I know you, though I never—met you until—last night. God bless you—God bless you!"

She wavered a moment, like a lily in the wind, and put out a hand blindly. "Not you!" she said sharply as Tom Vanrevel started toward her. Mrs. Tanberry came quickly and put an arm about her, and together they went out of the room.

"You must be good to her, Tom," said Cralley then in a very low voice.

"I?" answered Tom gently. "There was never a chance of that, lad."

"Listen," whispered Cralley. "Lean down—no—closer." He cast a quick glance at Fanchon, kneeling at the other side of the bed, her golden head on the white coverlet, her outstretched hand clutching his, and he spoke so close to Tom's ear and in so low a tone that only Tom could hear.

"She never cared for me. She felt that she ought to, but that was only because I masqueraded in your history. She wanted to tell me before I went away that there was no chance for me. She was telling me that when he called from the window. It was at the dance, the night before, that she knew. I think there has been some one else from the first—God send it's you! Did you speak to her that night or she to you?"

"Ah, no," said Tom Vanrevel. "All the others."

Mrs. Tanberry and Betty and Mr. Bareaud waited in the library, the two women huddled together on a sofa, with their arms round each other, and all the house was very still. By and by they heard a prolonged, faraway cheering and the steamer's whistle and knew that the boat was off. Half an hour later Will Cummings came back alone, entered the room on tiptoe and silently sank into a chair near Mr. Bareaud, with his face away from Miss Betty. He was to remain in Rouen another week and join his regiment with Tom. None of the three appeared to notice his coming more than dimly, and he sat with his face bowed in his hands and did not move.

Thus perhaps an hour passed, with only a sound of footsteps on the gravel of the driveway now and then and a low murmur of voices in the rear of the house, where people came to ask after Cralley. And when the door of the room where he lay was opened the four watchers started as at a loud explosion. It was Mrs. Bareaud and the old doctor, and they closed the door again softly and came in to the others. They had left Cralley alone with Fanchon and Tom Vanrevel, the two who loved him best.

The warm day beyond the windows became like Sunday. No voices sounded from without in the noon hush, though sometimes a little group of people would gather across the street to eye the house curiously and nod and whisper. The strong, blue shadows of the veranda pillars stole slowly across the white floor of the porch in a lessening slant and finally lay all in a line, as the tall clock in a corner of the library asthmatically coughed the hour of noon. In this jarring discordance there was something frightful to Miss Betty. She rose abruptly, and, imperiously waving back Mrs. Tanberry, who would have detained her—for there was in her face and manner the incipient wildness of control overstrained to the breaking point—she went hurriedly out of the room and out of the house to the old bench in the garden. There she sank down, her face hidden in her arms; there on the spot where she had first seen Cralley Gray.

From there, too, had risen the serenade of the man she had spurned and insulted, and there she had come to worship the stars when Cralley bade her look to them, and now the strange young teacher was paying the bitter price for his fooleries, and who could doubt that the price was a bitter one? To have the spirit so suddenly, cruelly riven from the sprightly body that was, but a few hours ago, hale and alert, obedient to every petty wish, could dance, run and leap; to be forced with such hideous precipitation to leave the warm breath of June and undergo the lonely change, merging with the shadow; to be flung from the exquisite and commonplace day of sunshine into the appalling adventure that should not have been his for years, and hurled into it by what hand—ah, bitter, bitter price for a harlequinade! And, alas, alas, for the brave harlequin!

A gentle touch fell upon her shoulder, and Miss Betty sprang to her feet and screamed. It was Nelson who stood before her, hat in hand, his head deeply bowed.

"Is he with you?" she cried, clutching at the bench for support.

"No'm," answered the old man humbly. "I reckon we all ain' goin' see dat man no mo'."

"Where is he?"

"On de way, honey; on de way."

"The way—to Rouen!" she gasped.

"No'm; he goin' cross de big water." He stretched out his hand and pointed solemnly to the east. "Him an' me we cotch de boat, an' yo' pa mek 'em taken de hosses on bode. Den we git off at Leeville, five mile' down de rivuh, an' yo' pa hol' de boat whiles I ride back alone an' git de news, an' what de tale is you all is tole, f'um ole Mist' Chen'eth, an' Mist' Chen'eth, he rid back wid me an' see yo' pa at Leeville, an' dey talk in de shed by de landin', an' yo' pa tell Mist' Chen'eth what 'rangements he goin' make wid de property. Den he git on de boat ag'in an' dey sto't her agoin', an' he ain' wave no goodby, ner say no mo' wu'ds.

"Mist' Chen'eth rid back whens de light come, but he res' de hosses an' come back slow, 'case I ponduh on de wort', an' I mighty sorry fer yo' pa, missy. He ain' comin' back no mo', honey, an' Mis Tanberry an' me an' Mamie we goin' take keer er yo'. Yo' pa gone back dah to de F'enchmun, whuh he 'us a young man. He mighty sick, an' he scairt, honey; an' he ain' goin' git ovah dat, neider. 'Peah to me, missy, like he done had a vishum er he own soul when he come an' look down at dat young man layin' on de grass las' night."

The old fellow bent his back before her in a solemn bow, as a feudal retainer in allegiance to the heir, but more in deference to the sorrow written upon her and respecting its magnitude. With no words of comfort, for he knew she wanted only to be alone, he moved away, with infirm steps and shaking head, toward the rear of the house.

Miss Betty threw herself upon the bench again, face downward in her arms. And still the house lay in silence under the sunshine.

An hour had passed, and the shadows slanted strongly to the east, when the stillness was broken by a sound, low and small at first, then rising fearfully, a long, quavering wail of supreme anguish that clutched and shook the listener's heart. No one could have recognized the voice as Fanchon's, yet every one who heard it knew that it was hers and that the soul of Cralley Gray had gone out upon the quest for the Holy Grail.

Miss Betty's hands clinched convulsively round the arm of the bench, and a fit of shuddering seized her as if with the grip of a violent chill, though her eyes were dry. Then she lay quiet.

A long time afterward she became aware of a step that paced the garden path behind her, and turned her face upon her arm so that she saw, but made no other motion. It was Tom Vanrevel, walking slowly up and down, his hands behind his back and his hat pulled far down over his eyes. He had not seen her.

She rose and spoke his name.

"He turned and came to her. "Almost at the very last," he said, "Cralley whispered to me that he knew you thought him a great scamp, but to tell you to be sure to remember that it was all true about the stars."

CHAPTER XX.

It was between twilight and candlelight, the gentle half hour when the kind old sandman steals up the stairs of houses where children are, when rustic lovers stroll with slow and quiet steps down country lanes and old bachelors are loneliest and dream of the things that might have been. Through the silence of the clear dusk came the whistle of the evening boat that was to bear Tom Vanrevel through the first stage of his long journey to the front of war, and the sound fell cheerlessly upon Miss Betty's ear as she stood leaning against the sundial among the lilac bushes. Her attitude was not one of reverie, yet she stood very still—so still that in the wan shimmer of the faded afterglow one might have passed close by her and not have seen her. The long, dark folds of her gown showed faintly against the gray stone, and her arms, bare from the elbow, lay across the face of the dial with unrelaxed fingers clinching the cornice; her head drooping not languidly, but with tension, her eyes half closed, showing the lashes against a pale cheek; and thus motionless, leaning on the stone in the dusk, she might have been Sorrow's self.

She did not move; there was not even a flicker of the eyelashes, when a step sounded on the gravel of the driveway, and Vanrevel came slowly from the house. He stopped at a little distance from her, hat in hand. He was very thin, worn and old looking, and in the failing light might have been taken for a tall, gentle ghost, yet his shoulders were squared and he held himself as straight as he had the first time she had ever seen him.

"Mrs. Tanberry told me I should find you here," he said hesitatingly. "I have come to say goodby."

She did not turn toward him nor did more than her lips move as she answered, "Goodby," and her tone was neither kind nor cold, but held no meaning whatever, not even indifference.

There was an interval of silence. Then, without surprise, he walked sadly to the gate, paused, wheeled about suddenly and returned with a quick, firm step.

"I will not go until I know that I do not misunderstand you," he said, "not even if there is only the slightest chance that I do. I want to say something to you if you will let me, though naturally I remember you once asked me never to speak to you again. It is only that I have thought you did that under a misconception or else I should still obey you. If you"—

"What is it that you wish to say?" Her tone was unchanged.

"Only that I think the hardest time for you has passed, and that"—

"Do you?" she interrupted.

"Yes," he returned, "the saddest of your life. I think it has gone forever. And I think that what will come to you will be all you wish for. There will be a little time of waiting"—

"Waiting for what?"

He drew a step nearer, and his voice became very gentle. "Cummings and I reach our regiment tomorrow night, and there in the camp is a group of men on the way to the war, and they all go the more bravely because each one of them has you in his heart—not one but will be a better soldier because of you. I want you to believe that if all of them don't come back, yet the one whose safety you think of and fear for will return. For, you see, Cralley told me what you said to him when—when he met you here the last time. I have no way to know which of them you meant; but—he will come back to you! I am sure of it, because I believe you are to be happy. Ah, you've had your allotment of pain!

"After all, there is so little to regret. The town seems empty without its

Fruit-a-tives

OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS"

Fruit-a-tives will cure the worst case of Chronic Constipation and Biliousness.

Because Fruit-a-tives are the true liver tonic. They strengthen and invigorate the liver—make the liver give up enough bile to move the bowels regularly. The bile is nature's laxative.

Fruit-a-tives are the finest Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the world.

Fruit-a-tives reduce inflammation and congestion—relieve the over-supply of blood—enable the kidneys to rid the system of waste—and thus prevent the formation of uric acid. Fruit-a-tives take away that pain in the back—and quickly cure irritated Bladder.

Fruit-a-tives completely cure Headaches and Rheumatism.

Headaches and Rheumatism both mean poisoned blood. Either the skin, kidneys or bowels are not ridding the system of waste matter. Fruit-a-tives invigorate and strengthen these organs—start up healthy, normal action—rid the system of poisons—and purify and enrich the blood. That means away with Headaches and Rheumatism.

Fruit-a-tives are the ideal tonic for everyone.

Fruit-a-tives build up, strengthen, invigorate. They sharpen the appetite—steady the nerves—enable one to sleep well—and keep the whole system in perfect health. They are fruit juices, concentrated and combined with tonics and internal antiseptics.

young men, yet you may rejoice, remembering how bravely they went and how gayly. They will sing half the way to Vera Cruz. You think it strange I should say there is so little to regret when I've just laid away my best friend. It was his own doctrine, and the selfish personal grief and soreness grow less when I think of the gallant end he made, for it was he who went away most bravely and jauntily of all. Crailey was no failure unless I let what he taught me go to no effect. And be sure he would have told you what I tell you now, that all is well with all in the world."

"Please!" she cried, with a quick intake of breath through closed teeth.

"I will do anything in the world to please you," he answered sorrowfully. "Do you mean that"—

She turned at last and faced him, but without lifting her eyes. "Why did you come to say goodby to me?"

"I don't understand."

"I think you do." Her voice was cold and steady, but it was suddenly given to him to perceive that she was trembling from head to heel.

An exclamation of remorse broke from him.

"Ah, you came here to be alone! I"—

"Stop," she said. "You said goodby to me once before. Did you come to see—what you saw then?"

He fell back in utter amazement, but she advanced upon him swiftly. "What is that?" she cried.

The unfortunate young man could make no reply and remained unable to defend himself from her inexplicable attack.

"You have not forgotten," she went on impetuously. "It was in the crowd just before they gave you the flag. You saw—I know you saw—and it killed me with the shame of it! Now you come to me to look at the same thing again, and the boat waiting for you! Is it in revenge for that night at the Barcauds'? Perhaps this sounds wild to you—I can't help that—but why should you try to make it harder for me?"

From the porch came a strong voice, "Vanrevel!"

"God knows I haven't meant to," said Tom in bitter pain. "I don't understand. It's Cummings calling for me. I'll go at once. I'd hoped, stupidly enough, that you would tell me whom it was you meant when you spoke to Crailey, so that I could help to make it surer that he'd come back to you. But I've only annoyed you. And you were here—away from the house—avoiding me and fearing that I"—

"Vanrevel!" shouted William. (Mrs. Tanberry had not told Lieutenant Cummings where to find Miss Betty.)

"Fearing? Yes?"

"Fearing that I might discover you." He let his eyes rest on her loveliness once more, and as he saw that she still trembled he extended his hand toward her in a gesture of infinite gentleness, like a blessing, heaved one great sigh and, with head erect and body straight, set his face manfully toward the house.

He had taken three strides when his heart stopped beating as an ineffable touch on his sleeve, for, with a sharp cry, she sprang to him, and then, once more, among the lilac bushes where he had caught the white kitten, his hand was seized and held between two small palms, and the eyes of Miss Betty Carewe looked into the very soul of him.

"No!" she cried. "No! Fearing with a sick heart that you might not come!"

Her pale face, misty with sweetness, wavered before him in the dusk, and he lifted his shaking hand to his forehead. Her own went with it, and the touch of that steadied him.

"You mean," he whispered brokenly, "you mean that you"—

"Yes, always," she answered, rushing through the words half in tears. "There was a little time when I loved what your life had been more than you. Ah, it was you that I saw in him! Yet it was not what you had done after all, but just you! I knew there could not be any one else—though I thought it could never be you—that night, just before they gave the flag."

"We've little time, Vanrevel!" called the voice from the porch.

Tom's eyes filled slowly. He raised them and looked at the newly come stars. "Crailey, Crailey?" he murmured.

Her gaze followed his. "Ah, it's he—and they—that make me know you will come back to me!" she said.

WILL BUILD BRITANNIA II.

His Majesty Again to Take Up Yacht Racing.

For ten years past, remarks The London Standard, it has been the practice of those directly interested in the highest developments of yacht racing in British waters to refer to the seasons in which the famous old Britannia led the racing fleet round the coasts as typifying the high-water mark of the sport in Britain. There is little doubt that the magnificent sport enjoyed during these seasons owed much to the direct interest and participation of the then Prince of Wales, and there have been those who held stubbornly to the opinion that the same keen interest and enthusiasm would never be reached again unless the King returned to his first love among the sports, and enrolled himself again among the racing owners.

Whether the revival initiated so successfully this season by Mr. R. M. Young of the Nyria and Mr. Myles B. Kennedy of the White Heather, would have developed far enough in another season to have falsified this opinion remains an open question. In the meantime, the universal feeling in yacht racing circles is one of absolute satisfaction that the matter has been put beyond doubt by the decision of His Majesty to hoist racing colors again to the truck of a first-class cutter.

This decision—or, rather, the negotiations which preceded it—gave rise to a variety of rumors, mainly conflicting, and wholly premature, and the result is that those who have followed the matter with the closest interest are most mystified as to the exact position in which the matter now stands. It may now be stated that, although the negotiations have not reached the point at which the proposal to build becomes an actual contract, they have advanced so far as to put it beyond all reasonable doubt that there will be a new royal cutter in the class which will lead the racing fleet through the regattas of next year.

In the lifetime of the late Mr. Geo. L. Watson, the most eminent of British yacht designers, he was the authority to whom the King turned for expert advice on all matters pertaining to yachting, and the cutter Britannia, which he designed for the King when Prince of Wales, was easily the most consistently successful racer ever built in the first class. On the death of Mr. Watson, the business passed—under the provisions of his will—to Mr. J. T. Barnott, his chief draughtsman and assistant. It is with the same firm, therefore, Messrs. Geo. L. Watson & Co., that His Majesty has been in negotiation for the building of the new racer, and whether the new craft repeats all the success of her predecessor or not, there are circumstances which will mark her an epoch-making vessel.

The keenest desire of the framers of the new international rule of rating was that the change might do something for the encouragement of international sport among the yachting countries of Europe, and the fact that the first important racer to be built under that rule will be for the use of King Edward gives the best reason for believing that this hope will be fulfilled. In the sketch plans which have been made the definitions of the framers of the new rule find definite expression.

Britannia II., unless some great and unexpected alteration is made in the plans, will conform to the latest fashion in the building of racers by avoiding altogether the extremes which began to creep in when designers were a little hard pressed to find a means of checking the victorious career of the previous Britannia. On the measurements suggested she will rate so closely to the rating of the first-class cutters, Nyria and White Heather, that the measurement allowances due between them will be of a very trifling description.

This goes with the spirit of the new rules; but even more valuable support to their provisions is the fact that the new vessel will be of exactly the staunch and useful type which it is specially desired to cultivate. There will be nothing of the "freak," or of the extreme racing machine in the design.

London's Infant Slaughter.

John Burns, the English Labor member and Cabinet Minister, the sixteenth member of a family of eighteen children, nine of whom survived, said to the national conference on infantile mortality in London:

"I believe I am well within the mark when I say that there are roughly 100,000 lives sacrificed in some form or another every year, not to man's inhumanity, but to neglect, carelessness, thoughtlessness and ignorance. It is pathetic to know that in some districts from 30 to 60 per cent. of the total children born die under five years. Wealth has increased, but the infant has not shared it. Physical comforts have increased, and yet the weakest and the smallest bear an undue share of the burden of death. It seems as though material progress is hitting the child too hard."

Affected the Verdict.

"You see, gentlemen," said the counsel for the defendant complacently—it was a compensation case—"I have got the plaintiff into a very nice dilemma. If he went there seeing that the place was dangerous, there was contributory negligence, and, as his lordship will tell you, he can't recover. If he did not see it was dangerous, neither could my client have seen it, and there was no négligence on his part. In either case I am entitled to your verdict." The jury retired. "Well, gentlemen," said the foreman, "I think we must give him £300." All agreed except a stout, ruddy gentleman in the corner, who cried hoarsely, "Give him another £50, gemmen, for getting into the dilemma!" Verdict accordingly.—London Graphic.

Kitchener's Sarcasm.

During Lord Kitchener's recent visit to the Indian frontier defences he inspected a new fort. He was astonished to find that it had been so placed as to be commanded by a nearby hill. The officer who had chosen the site was present with the party, and Kitchener called him forward. Instead of the outburst that the staff expected Kitchener merely held out his hand and said: "I congratulate you, Col. ——. What a capital place for a fort! When do you begin to remove the hill?"

Man In Blue Coat Stands Guard

LONDON AS SEEN THROUGH CANADIAN SPECTACLES.

All Sorts and Conditions of Men and Women to Be Observed in World's Metropolis — The Official and the Layman, the Neat and Spry and the Tawdry and the Homely — An Ally Sloper Crowd That Surged.

I have not yet decided who is the greatest man in England: King Edward or the Man-in-Brass-Buttons who stands guard at the portals of London offices. The policeman might well be entered in the competition for greatness, for who can measure the power and authority of this stern controller of the metropolis? British law and order are indeed personified by his uplifted hand, and the traffic of London is thereby regulated. But even this pillar of the empire must fall back before the "commissioner." Though not born to be a prince or a lord, he is satisfied with the proud position of porter at the door. An imposing figure is this gentleman, in blue uniform and brass buttons, with the carriage of an Iron Duke, the strength of face of a Napoleon, and the penetrating eye of a Sherlock Holmes. The ordeal commences when the Buttoned Dignity opens a small sliding door on the first landing and demands, in icy tones, your name, address, business, religious belief, political tendencies and length of time last served in prison. His unsympathetic eyes say: "Are you a burglar, a murderer, or a mere company promoter? You certainly look like a ticket-of-leave man or a peddler of shoelaces." The strongest man will flinch before his penetrating gaze and grow smaller than ever in his own estimation, apologizing at last for living, and only asking that the sentry will allow him to escape unscathed. If submissive enough, the autocrat of the hallway may consider your application to see the editor or the manager, the Minister of War or the railway magnate, securely fastened in his den up many stairs. In course of time—long time, it seems—word comes from the unknown that an interview is granted, a shock-headed boy is summoned to act as guide, the fateful door is knocked upon—and one is ushered into the presence! Then the unexpected happens. The great man shakes hands in a human way, he smiles, and by the gods, he invites one to have a seat! He listens to the visitor's tale, and at the conclusion startles him with a cordial farewell. The heart is uplifted by the experience until, descending the stair, the final necessity comes of passing the terror in blue serge, who is cross-examining another poor victim.

If the stranger in London wants to see an aggregation of homeliness, tawdriness and all untidiness, he only needs to travel with a London crowd to the Crystal Palace on a bank holiday and view the stream of pleasure-seekers pouring into that great British institution. A gathering of foreigners, whether they be short and broad Hollanders, slow-moving Germans, homely Swiss or swarthy Italian, possesses certain elements of the picturesque, but the bank holidayers from the mighty Babylon do not flatter the Anglo-Saxon race; they do not provide good models for artists, neither do they exhibit good teeth, good taste or good manners.

There were exactly 57,864 of us, according to the turnstile record, forming a distinctively Ally Sloper crowd that surged in human waves over the terraces and sward. And weren't we all bloomin' 'appy? Such hugging, that must have called for strong ribs and stronger lungs to stand the pressure. One Tommy to two 'Arriets was the rule. No tedious waiting for the hour of gloaming to arrive, so that love-making might be carried on privately, but when Tommy, in a delirium of bank holiday delight—and beer—had both arms occupied in encircling two bigh-hatted and tousel-haired damsels, the lonely sightseer did well to make way for their unsteady progress. And such kissing! Making a day of it, indeed; such a day as can only be had in that popular family resort of London town, with its bewildering array of attractions—bands in abundance, jugglers and acrobats, trained ants and harnessed fleas, balancing elephants and leaping monkeys, the organ music, the fireworks, the pop, the sandwiches. Oh, the unspeakable glory of it all—the indescribable aroma, the never-to-be-forgotten mass of submerged tenthers; and, finally, the struggle for life on the homeward 'ourney!

Then there was the little mad Frenchman who wandered into the British Museum. Faded coat, buttoned close and tight around his thin little frame, a high hat without its original gloss, a dangling eye-glass, swaying to and fro as if in a panic on its own account. A Frenchman, when well-groomed, is not to be despised, but when he ignominiously collapses between two stalwart London policemen, a little Frenchman cuts a very sorry figure. Poor undone creature, who had strayed from the other side of the Channel into this un-Frenchy structure. Struggling, kicking, gesticulating with as much of his arms as were free—crazy as the worst Bedlamite on the Surrey side of the river! After asking many incoherent questions of the officers the remarkable one was heard: "Es thess Hawkins' sausage shop? I vant Hawkins' sausage shop!" Poor, insane, starving straggler from the land of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity; the idea of asking such a question in the staid, sane and funereal British Museum, of all places, and as the undignified figure was haled away out of sight the stillness of death again took possession of the corridors and galleries of London's curio shop.

The dirty, noisy little penny steamer was crowded to the uttermost inch of space. Passengers hugged the smoke-stack and blocked the gangways; fellow-travelers were compelled to take their stand on their fellow-travelers' toes, and the captain was the only man on the ridiculous craft who was able to swing his arms around without pushing a human being into the river. Two men stood in the one spot all the way from Waterloo Bridge to Kew, and they took up the smallest possible amount of deck space because of their attenuated figures. One was tall, the other short, but both were thin to the point of transparency if their frame had been freed from the rusty clothes that hung limply from their bony framework. The short man was as insignificant in looks as in size, and so I pass him by. But his companion was the most remarkable specimen of the race that I had seen in all London. For verily here was a green man by way of a change. After all the varied tints observable on the human countenance, from the bronze of an Indian to the pallor of a seasick woman, this picture in green was a fascinating horror. All the other passengers were forgotten; the green one mesmerized me. True, the hat was as pitifully faded as his long frock coat, on which you could see the indentation made by years of brushing in the effort to rub respectability into its threads; the shoes were poverty-stricken, and as for the anatomy of the wretched creature, it caved in as if empty for all its years of anything in the nature of food. But that green face, the green eyes, shading off into a discolored marble brow! And I speak the truth that this nightmare in color laughed—repeatedly laughed, a noiseless, shrinking process that spread over the whole wrinkled surface of the green visage, disclosing teeth so discolored as to take the shade of green as well. They both laughed as the short one tossed a remark up into the ear of the long one, and when that smile would fade away into the green again the tall one would drop a jest down to the short one. Thus, in spite of one's doubts, there was occasional evidence that the green passenger was alive.

The inmates of East London as a rule keep to their own world of sordid streets. Two, however, strayed up Fleet street way one night, looking like starving animals. I was wrestling with a disconcerting British chop in a dingy restaurant—the only customer, it so happened, waited on by a surly brute who looked as tough as the meat he served. Even the pangs of a deep-seated hunger failed before the unappetizing meal, the last mouthful had been taken, the napkin flung aside and the bill picked up, when my eye caught sight of a wild-looking face at the window. A moment afterward a tall, gaunt woman with dishevelled hair and an apology for a dress opened the door, rushed to the table and fairly hissed in my ear: "Please, sir, won't yer give me what's left over?" and as she flung the question at me her long thin fingers grasped the remnants of the meal. As the apparition hurried from the room the waiter rushed after her with a torrent of abuse. It only took up the briefest moment of time, but like a flash-light there had been produced a picture of the underworld life in old London. Old, ragged, bent, shrivelled, the woman was starving! Passing out a moment afterward, the wretched creature was dividing her poor spoils with a derelict of a man who had been waiting on the curb.—Frank Yeigh in Toronto Globe.

Artificial Birds.

In very early times men began to experiment with a view to making artificial birds and animals that would imitate the motions of living creatures, and if we are to believe the records, some of the artists in that line were remarkably successful.

Archytas of Tarentum, who lived in the year 400 B. C., constructed an artificial pigeon that could fly, but which was not able to resume its flight after once alighting.

John Muller, a German of great mechanical skill, constructed an artificial eagle, which on the entry of Emperor Maximilian into Nuremberg flew out to meet him, and, returning, alighted on the city gate to await his approach.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH A COMPLICATION OF PELVIC DISEASES.

Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Pe-ru-na.

Read the Letters of Gratitude From Women Who Have Been Benefited By Dr. Hartman's Advice.

A Multitude of Such Letters Are Received Every Year.

A TYPICAL LETTER.

Mrs. Carry Peduzzi, Linstad, N. Dak., writes:

"I take pleasure in telling you that through your wonderful medicine I am entirely cured of catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs.

"I was so rundown on account of my illness that I could no longer attend to my housework. I could not eat or sleep and had terrible pain in my back.

"I took Peruna and in five months I was well. I have not felt so well for a long time.

"I wish everyone who is sick would take Peruna and thus recover their health.

"I have Peruna in the house continually. I thank you for all that you have done for me."

A Medicine of Merit.

Miss Katie A. Washer, 1706 Prentice street, Louisville, Ky., writes:

"As my experience has been so favorable from the use of Peruna, I unhesitatingly state that I believe that it is a medicine of unquestioned merit for all the ills that we women suffer from.

"I find that it strengthens and infuses new life into the system, and whenever I feel rundown or over-tired, a few doses of Peruna will strengthen me again."

Found a Friend in Need—Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Florence Aitkens, 1104 Front St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"Peruna cured me of catarrh of the uterus. I took about four bottles when I noticed an improvement and five bottles cured me.

"I do not know what I would have been like to-day had I not obtained Peruna, for I was in a terrible state.

"I had pains all over and was cross and irritable. I was losing hope of ever being well again.

"I am to-day a well woman after suffering for nine months. I cannot tell you how happy I feel, but you will know.

"Peruna is the best medicine on earth.

"My husband is now taking it and I will always keep Peruna in my house.

"Peruna is the best friend I ever had. It cured me."

America is the Land of Nervous Women.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of pelvic catarrh.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, who will give their letters prompt attention, without charge.

Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain street, Providence, R. I., writes:

"I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me.

"I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna.

"I got a bottle of your Peruna and after a week's use of it I began to feel better. I could not eat, sleep, or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that will cure me is Peruna."

THE SILENCED GRUMBLE.

[A tragedy in two tumbles.]

There was a humble bumble bee,
Who grumbled while he bummed,
But his grumble soon was humbled
By the tune he humbly hummed.

After rumble and much mumble
Was his humble grumble dumbed,
For "I Want You, Mah Honey,"
Was the tune he humbly hummed.

A Golf Rule.

"Keep your head still" is the first rule in golf, and Binks means to do so. —Punch.

Unconscious Vociferation.

"No, sir; I never yell at a baseball game. It savors too much of barbarism."

"Why, my friend, you were yelling like a wild Indian just a moment ago."

"Who was?"

"You."

"Me yelling?"

"Yes, you!"

"Was it when McGoogle made the three bagger?"

"Yes."

"There goes another—oh, wow, wow, wow, whoopee, yow, yow, yow, hi, hi, hi, whoop, whoop, whoop! Kill 'em an' eat 'em up! Rah, rah, rah! Look out there; he's got the ball! Yip, yip, yip! He's tied the score, he's tied the score! Hooray, hooray! I'll bet you didn't hear me yell!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sea Water Evaporated.

Every ton of Atlantic water, when evaporated, yields 81 pounds of salt; a ton of Pacific water, 79 pounds; Arctic and Antarctic waters yield 85 pounds to the ton, and Dead sea water 187 pounds.

Bombay.

In 1803 Bombay was visited by a fire which destroyed buildings to the value of $3,000,000. The Indians regarded the visitation as a mark of the anger of the god Siva the Destroyer, and penitential offerings were made while the fire was in progress to stay his vengeful hand.

OVER FORTY GROWING YET.

Strange Disease Causes An Enormous Development of the Bones.

Among the out-patients of the Manchester Royal Infirmary is a man who after attaining normal development cannot stop growing. He is suffering from a disease known as acromegaly, which means an enlargement of the bones, and most obviously of the bones of the skull, hands and feet.

It is an exceedingly rare disease, and the case is particularly interesting to medical men, and the patient has been the subject of a clinical lecture at the hospital.

The man is 42 years of age, and the disease was diagnosed about seven years ago, during which time he has developed enormously. In appearance he is not a pleasant sight. His figure is becoming somewhat curved and misshapen as the disease affects the long bones. His jaws are leonine in character. The lower jaw has assumed vast proportions, the lower teeth spreading out and projecting far in front of those of the upper jaw. His face is shaped somewhat like an egg with the large end downward.

The nose has broadened considerably and the ears are nearly as big as an ordinary person's hand, and apparently the cartilages of the larynx have thickened, as at times it is difficult to distinguish his speech. The eyes, too, are growing bigger. He has also developed a peculiar species of blindness known as hemianopsia.

He has enormous hands in comparison with an ordinary man. The fingers are not growing in length, but thickening, and the palm is getting wider. He cannot well spread out his fingers, and the tendency is to cause the hand to resemble a rounded spade. The upper parts of the arms are shrunken, as are the upper parts of his legs. So thick have his feet become that walking is a difficulty.

Noses.

It is a somewhat singular fact that the rarest of all noses is that found where one would naturally expect to find it, in the middle of the face. Taking 100 heads at random, one will not find on an average more than three in which the bridge of the nose descends perpendicularly from a straight line drawn exactly between the eyes.

Baby Camels as Pets.

Baby camels are great pets in South Africa, and are nursed and tended and even carried about by their attendants. During the first few months they weigh no more than an ordinary dog.

Ancient Incubators.

It has been proved beyond a doubt that incubators were in successful operation among the ancient Egyptians. These original hatching machines were about nine feet high and were arranged with galleries for holding the eggs, which were heated from a central oven. About 400 incubators have been discovered in Egypt.

Babylon.

Babylon was burned by Cyrus when taken B. C. 538, but the city was rebuilt with greater splendor than before. Its final destruction was by fire after a siege and capture.

SOME HINTS ON SWIMMING ART

Mr. H. F. Strickland contributes the following letter on swimming to the Toronto Globe:—

In response to many inquiries, and in view of the remarkable number of sad drowning fatalities already this year —in fact, any year—I beg to offer some suggestions and the result of my own personal experience in swimming, which I feel, if acted on would be sound to reduce drownings to some extent.

That the number of lives lost annually by drowning is alarming is a fact conceded by everyone, and, when it is considered that its record is worse than that of many diseases, amongst others, I believe, smallpox, it is time something was done. It matters little to those sad wives and sisters who are left behind whether it is drowning or smallpox—the loss is just as great.

The first point I wish to emphasize is that there appears to be nothing whatever done to find out what "so-called" drowning really were. If a sudden epidemic of disease appeared that struck down one-half the people annually that drowning does, the Government would at once set to work to chase up the "germ", or try and cope with it. In drownings medical inquiry seems to me to be conspicuous by its absence. I know for a fact that a large percentage of so-calcd cramps are nothing of the kind. Why do not our coroners hold inquests and examine drowned subjects to see what physical conditions exist? Cramps are no such danger to a good swimmer as they are given credit for, but the average man is so saturated with terror from the very word "cramps" that he is panic-stricken at the first sensation of them.

Must Teach Swimming.

There are thousands of dollars spent in vaccination to save the lives of our school children from smallpox yet little, if anything, is done to save their lives by teaching them how to swim at a trifling expense. Let our schools see that every boy and girl must swim before they enter the high school; make it a law that every pupil must swim at a certain age; make it absolutely compulsory, and see the drowning fatalities decrease. There is no use bewailing the sad annual harvest of deaths by drowning and doing nothing to stop it. Let the press cease to say people took a "cramp" at every drowning, and thereby magnify the danger, but let the authorities take the trouble to ascertain what was the matter with the subject. This point is one that, I believe, requires attention and is worthy of consideration.

True, many swimmers drown, and this is the next point I wish to discuss. However, before going into this phase of it, I wish to state that, with swimming as a compulsory measure, we have at least one-half the battle won. I know of only one boys' school where swimming is part and parcel of the curriculum, and that is "The Grove", Lakefield, the preparatory school to Trinity School, Port Hope, at one time conducted by Mr Sparham Sheldrake, now by Rev. A. Mackenzie. As a boy I attended this school, and boys all learnt to swim there. I haven't yet heard of a Sheldrake boy drowning.

Cramps "Overworked."

The second part of my discussion is on things that are likely to go wrong while swimming. Having done considerable long-distance swimming, I wish to illustrate my points from experiences I have had, and the result, and what would have happened if I had not been in a position to overcome what might have been "drowning". I feel quite convinced that many tolerably good swimmers drown from causes which have been erroneously attributed to cramps. In the first place, let me allude to "faintness." There is at times such a thing as a complete "collapse", "faintness" or "syncope", that comes over one while in the water. This has been experienced by the writer, and I know of many strong swimmers who have experienced the same thing. This faintness is not due to fatigue, as I have experienced it after swimming for only a quarter of an hour, and even less than that, while I have swum four or five hours and experienced little or no fatigue. No doubt my learned doctor friends can put it into bigger and more formidable language, but I can only say that, from some physical cause, this faintness is liable to come over one in the water. There is a form of indigestion that causes a fluttering of the heart, call it what you like, but the effect is that the heart goes out of business for a few seconds, yes, I believe sometimes for keeps.

How to Treat Faintness.

If a good swimmer be half a mile from shore and suddenly sees bright yellow stars floating before his eyes and shortly a feeling of weakness creeping over him, he gets frightened and makes a wild dash for shore, and the result is that he collapses, yes, perhaps for only a few seconds, but that's enough. He drowns (and "cramps" are credited with his death. Would not a post-mortem reveal this? What did I do when this happened? I went into the lake much too soon after a hearty meal. I only intended to stay close to shore, but we are all fools some way, and, although the water has no terrors to me, I know I do wrong in going so far out from shore, often swimming a mile out into the lake and remaining out there an hour. It was on just such an occasion as this, though possibly not over a quarter of a mile from shore, and after having, as I said, gone in too soon after eating, that I felt this form of indigestion creeping over me. Well, I did not make the least effort. I turned quietly over on my back and lay perfectly flat thereon and took in steady breathe through my nose and made as little movement as possible. In about five minutes it left me completely. I verily believe that many a time such an experience has been the lot of good swimmers, and they have been drowned from heart failure, augmented by panic. Then, again, heart failure may be induced in many fair swimmers through "fatty degeneration," nicotine and by being generally "out of shape". They haven't been in swimming for a year and plunge in and tax the heart beyond its limit and down, and again "cramps" get the credit for it.

To Overcome Cramps.

Lastly, let me say a few words re cramps. I learned to swim at the age of eight years, and have kept at it steadily all my life and have had cramps in both legs at once and didn't drown. I dare say I should have if I had not been once swimming with a good swimmer, and I got a cramp in my gastrocnemius, commonly called the calf of the leg. I yelled at my companion that I had a cramp, and to my utter surprise he said, "Don't pay the slightest attention to it". Those who have had a cramp know that it is a pain not to be lightly regarded. However, it seemed to give me a feeling of confidence in myself and my friend, and he told me to turn on my back and rub my calf on the knee of the other leg, and I did so, when the cramp left at once. I hadn't gone far before the other calf did the same, and under the same treatment it quickly left. I have, as I say, bathed and swam all my life and have seen drowned people pulled out and have been amongst all kinds of bathers and have never seen anyone with a cramp anywhere except in the toe, the calf and the triceps of the arm. I have heard of people getting them in the stomach, but have never seen a case of it, and doubt if such ever happens.

Criminal Neglect.

I find a man with a good layer of fat makes the best "water dog". Let the "skinney" man keep near shore, as he never will make a long distance swimmer. I should advise swimmers to practice the art of swimming minus various limbs, so that they will be able to navigate comfortably minus any one limb, and if necessary any two. Swimming is a grand sport, and in view of all the drownings does it not look sad to see the old tank at the Technical School dried up and being used for a clay modelling room, when a little city water would again fill up and put into commission a good swimming bath, where your humble servant and many others have had many a dandy swim. It is a disgrace that this fine bath is unused while hundreds of students are upstairs being crammed full of knowledge, all getting ready to go away in the summer and get drowned.

Wake up, citizens, and get some good swimming baths and spend some vacation money on teaching our children to swim.

General Directions.

In a few words I would advise those interested to swim on an empty stomach and have the bowels in good order. I believe this is a very important factor. Don't be chilly or even cool on entering the water; don't be in a violent perspiration, but be comfortably warm. A good brisk run just before a swim is good, and don't go in and out of the water, but stay in till you are through and go tout and stay out; frequent going in and out is inclined to chill. Don't try long dives or holding the breath under water; it is bad for the heart and wind. Avoid alcohol at all times, and tobacco, in fact all forms of drugs, stimulants and stimulating or irritating foods, and by plenty of practice in the water, I believe the chances of drowning reach the vanishing point. Finally I might add that I have been in Lake Ontario in every month of the year and have never experienced a cramp except in the warmest water. I have gone from warm water into a sudden change to very cold and felt no physical evil, but in going from the cold back to the warm have got cramps. I only mention this fact and can offer no explanation therefor.

Let young people learn the correct strokes and not acquire the burlesque strokes like many swimmers acquire, which to a good swimmer look like the absurd strokes adopted by many paddlers seen in canoes on these waters.

Loon Lake Has Many Visitors

This Popular Resort Visited by Numerous Americans.

Loon Lake, August 18.—"Loon Lake", the latest thing in Kawartha summer resorts, is fast gaining popularity. The bass fishing is excellent, while the lake, with its pretty wooded islands, and picturesque glimpses of mainland, is a delight. Amusing Ways Of Advertising Wares

Brewer Paints Name of His Beer in White on Negroes' Chests—Freight Cars Now Used as Signs.

It there is any limit to the ingenuity of the advertiser it is quite clear that it has not been reached yet, for every week it takes some novel and startling form.

A few weeeks ago 100 fat porkers were driven through the streets of Chicago, each piggie bearing on his expansive side the legend: "——'s pork sausage defy competition;" while last winter an enterprising shoe dealer of Quebec, with every pair of shoes purchased at his shop, presented a pair of overshoes with an advertisement stamped in relief on the soles, so that, as eeach wearer progressed, every footprint he made left this legend in the snow: "——'s rubber goods go to any length."

More original, still, perhaps, is the device of Mr. Pink, a Samoan hotel keeper, who advertises his beer in white letters on the chests of dusky natives and on the soles of boys feet, so that when they dive for coppers alongside the visiting mail steamers the conspicuous words, "Pink's Beer," are read on their vanishing feet; or the method adopted by a firm of carriage manufacturers at Ottawa, Canada, who engaged three very bald men to attend meetings, theatres, and so on, and to sit in a prominent position with an advertisement painted on each hairless cranium.

A firm of whisky sellers in Ceylon not long ago engaged an aeronaut to make a series of balloon ascents, and during his aerial journeys to drop sample bottles of whisky far and wide, attached to miniature parachutes; while an ingenious tailor of Bostop, Lincolnshire, has placed in his window ten large tortoises; on the back of each is painted one letter of his name, and he offers a money prize to anyone who chances to see the tortoises so arranged that the letters on their backs spell his name.

That was a clever device, too, of the New York theatrical manager who distributed cheeks with a lavish hand, together with this message:—'Dear sir,—Assuming that your income is 15,000 a year, and that you appreciate the fact that 'time is money,' we inclose our cheque for 4 cents in payment for two minutes of your time at that rate, to be employed in carefully reading a brief and honest statement of a few of the many original, new, novel, applause-winning features to be found in the new three-act musical farce to be produced for the first time in New York on Monday evening."

It was in New York streets that the following curious spectacle might be seen a short time ago. First there marched an enormous bottle labelled "Stagg's Columbia Relish," the motive power of which was a man concealed within the capacious interior, bearing aloft a banner with the words: "I lead the way." Behind followed a gigantic cruet stand on wheels, with four bottles, one of which was empty; and the rearguard of this singular procession consisted of two boys trotting in a couple of small bottles, labelled, "Other people's sauce — we catch up."

More ambitious is the scheme, also American, of painting striking advertisements on the sides of thousands of freight cars—"wandering birds of commerce," as the advertising agent poetically calls them—so that, as the luggage trains wind their way in all directions over the vast continent, the settlers may read from afar the virtues of "Blank's Pills," "Dash's Chewing Gum," or "W——'s Whisky."

A MOTHER'S STORY

She Tells How Dr. Williams Pink Pills Saved Her Daughter.

Anaemia is the doctors' name for bloodlessness. It is an ailment that affects almost every girl in her teens. Womanhood makes new demands upon her blood supply that she cannot meet. Month after month her strength, her very life, are being drained away. No food and no care can do her any good. No common medicine can save her. She needs new blood. New blood is the one thing—the only thing—that can make a healthy woman of her. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. That is why they never fail to cure anaemia. That is how they save from an early grave scores of young girls whose health and strength depend upon their blood supply. Mrs Anson Clark, Arden, Ont., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a great blessing in my family as two of my daughters have used them with marked success. When my eldest daughter was about seventeen she began to fail in health. Her blood seemed to have turned to water. She was troubled with headaches and dizziness; the least exertion would cause her heart to palpitate violently and she could not walk up stairs without stopping to rest. She doctored for upwards of a year, and the doctor said she did not have as much blood in her body as an ordinarily healthy person would have in one arm. The doctor's treatment did not do her a particle of good. She seemed slowly fading away. Then she became afflicted with salt rheum and her hands were almost raw. About this time a neighbour advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she began taking them. After using the pills for a few weeks we could see an improvement, her appetite began to improve and a trace of colour came to her cheeks. She continued taking the pills until she had used thirteen boxes when she was as well and strong as ever, every trace of both the anaemia and salt rheum had disappeared and she has since enjoyed the best of health. Later on my youngest daughter aged fifteen began to lose her health, but thanks to our experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills we knew where to look for a cure and after using four boxes of pills she was all right again. I have also used the pills myself for nervous troubles with complete success."

Rich, red blood is the secret of health—Dr. Williams Pink Pills is the secret of rich, red blood. They actually make rich, red blood, that is why they cure anaemia, headaches and backaches, indigestion, nervous prostration, heart palpitation, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatia, St. Vitus' Dance and the ailments that make the lives of so many women and growing girls miserable. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brokville, Ont.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Sadie Martinot has been engaged to play in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram."

Blanche Bates has opened her season in New York with "The Girl of the Golden West."

Richard Carle will play "The Spring Chicken," an English musical success, in New York, this season.

Martin Harvey, the English actor, is to make an elaborate revival of "The Corsican Brothers."

Clarence Handyside will play the leading role in one of "The Vanderbilt Cup" companies this season.

Rudolph Aronson has acquired the American rights of "The Abode of Love," an operetta by Jacobwski, the composer of "Erminie."

Marguerite Silva, heard here in musical attractions, has been studying in Paris. It is said she will shortly make her debut in "Carmen" at the Opera Comique.

Henri De Vries will appear in New York this autumn in a four-act play by Lee Arthur. Mr. De Vries will play an up-to-date detective, assuming 11 disguises.

Harrison Grey Fiske's announcement that he would this season star Bertha Kalichin an English version of the Yiddish play, "The Kreutzer Sonata," has caused something of a row in New York, as Blanche Walsh's managers also claim rights to the English version.

Paul M. Potter has completed his adaptation of "Le Bonheur Mesdames," which has been re-christened "Barbara's Millions." To support Lillian Russell in the play, H. Reeves-Smith and C. Herbert, standing have been engaged. Miss Russell's debut as a dramatic star will be in Chicago.

Wilton Lackaye swears he will have a permanent stock company in New York in another year, and he is willing to play old men or leading character. He does not like the road, although he has made a fortune with "The Pit," and is now fairly established as the "Real Thing" from the box-office standpoint.

Henrietta Crossman will make her first professional appearance in London in the fall of 1906. It has been definitely decided that she will play a London engagement at one of the leading theatres, but no decision has been reached as to the plays she will present. It is likely, however, that she will appear in repertoire.

Dot Stephens, a well-known English comedienne, who played Edna May's part in "The Belle of New York," provincial company, met with a terrible accident in England. While in a railway carriage she tried to open the window in the door. The door was unlocked and she fell out into the tunnel below. She has had one leg amputated, and is in a critical condition.

Richard Mansfield's production of "Don Carlos" is so extensive that he requires every inch of space and every resource of the largest stage for his dress rehearsals. As he cannot secure an empty stage in New York, and as the stage of the Grand Opera House, Chicago, where the Schiller play is to be given on October 30, is occupied, Mr. Mansfield has bought the lease of the spacious Valentine Theatre, in Toledo, O., for five days, and will move his company of 117 people and the entire production of "Don Carlos" there for a series of dress rehearsals, and a public performance of the play will be given there on Friday, October 27.

Except in regard to some matters of detail, H. B. Irving has now settled his plans for the tour he is about to undertake in a few of the leading provincial cities and towns—beginning with Manchester—before crossing to the United States. Stephen Phillips' "Paolo and Francesca" will figure prominently in the America, as well as the British repertoire, but when he opens at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, Mr. Irving means to essay an experiment which playgoers in England would probably like to see repeated later on in their country. It is nothing less than his appearance in a number of parts identified with his distinguished and lamented father, among them the dual roles of Dubosc and Lesurques in "The Lyons Mail" as "Louis the Eleventh," as "Charles the First," in W. G. Wills favourite play, and possibly as the conscience-stricken Burgomaster in "The Bells." This last, if successfully achieved, will be a notable dramatic feat indeed. Several members of Sir eHnry's famous old company, will accompany Mr. Irving on his tour.

"Ben Hur" will begin its eighth season at the Olympic Theatre in St Louis on Sept. 24th, the same date on which the companion drama, "The Prince of India," will receive its New York Premiere. Since November 29, 1899, when the first performance of "Ben Hur" took place at the Broadway theatre in New York, 1968 performances have been given, and the play presented and witnessed by more than 3,000,000 people. More people have seen "Ben Hur" than constituted the entire population of the thirteen original states at the outbreak of the War of the Revolution. "Ben Hur" was also presented 122 times at the Drury Lane Theatre, London. After two weeks in St. Louis and one week in Indianapolis, "Ben Hur" will be presented for a long run at the Auditorium in Chicago. The 2000 performance of this play in America will take place at the Auditorium, Monday evening, Oct. 22nd. "Monk," the famous thoroughbred race horse that has always run as the "down stage horse" on Ben Hur's chariot, is the only remaining member of the original cast of "Ben Hur."

MRS. HUNTER'S STORY

Says She and Her Husband Agree Perfectly—Both Quite Well Again.

MRS. I. HUNTER

Mrs. I. Hunter, of 111 Raglan Road, Kingston, Ont., has written for publication a statement of her case as follows:

"I have suffered with kidney and liver trouble and chronic constipation for some time. I was subject to dizziness, bilious headache, nervousness drowsiness, pains in the back and side, and a tired, weary feeling nearly the time.

"I tried almost every remedy, was treated by doctors and druggists with little or no benefit.

"Finally, a friend advised me to try Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, and the results have been truly wonderful.

"My husband has used Anti-Pill for rheumatism and was benefitted greatly We agree that Anti-Pill is a most wonderful medicine and heartily recommended."

This is a very strong recommendation. Anti-Pill is undoubtedly the greatest of family remedies. All druggists, or the Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. 504

Wear a Rose in Your Hair.

So long as a woman clings to the rose or the bow in her hair she has not lost her sense of poetry, and so long as a woman keeps her sense of poetry just so long does she hold man in the hollow of her hand.

A sense of poetry is a sense of beauty. It is so closely akin to beauty itself that it is often mistaken for the much desired gift.

Few of the world's greatest actresses have regular features, but they have a sense of beauty which prompts them to graceful motions, artistic dressing and the daintiness which is so potent a charm. Little touches of coquetry in a woman's dress are more dangerous to a man than the features of a Greek goddess.

Obvious.

Growing Boys and Girls

While it is very gratifying to parents to see their boys and girls grow rapidly, it should not be forgotten that this is a very critical period. There is danger that they may outgrow their strength; there is also danger that the development may not be uniform, that one part of the system is being built up at the expense of the rest, that the bone may not be developing properly, that nerve and brain may lack tone or the muscle may be soft and flabby.

To ensure proper, all round development it is absolutely necessary that the food should be entirely suitable and contain the elements necessary to develop every part of the system.

The ideal food for this purpose is which contains, in proper proportions, the very essentials of life and development, viz: Fat, Iron and Phosphorus. Fat to develop flesh and muscle; Iron for the blood; Phosphorus for the bone, nerve and brain.

If you want your boys and girls to have strong lungs, robust frames, well developed muscles, strong nerves, vigorous brains and rosy cheeks give them FERROL. They will like it, and FERROL never fails.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Lock and Dam" St. Andrew's Rapids, Red River, Man., will be received at this office until the 10th day of September, 1906, for the construction of a concrete Lock and Dam at St. Andrew's Rapids, Red River, Province of Manitoba.

Port Arthur's New Way Of Doing Business

CANADIAN TOWN WHICH NEEDS NO TAXES TO RUN IT.

Washington Correspondent Gives Some Luminous Figures Showing What Port Arthur Is Doing to Make Public Ownership a Success—Mayor Expects to See Day When Citizens Will Get Profits in Individual Cheques.

With what emotions would a property holder receive an official statement from the assessor's office that he would not be required to pay taxes thereafter? asks a correspondent of The Washington Star writing from Port Arthur, Canada. And the same citizen would probably not survive the shock of later being requested to call at the district building to receive a cheque as his share of the profits of the Municipal Government. This state of affairs is about to be realized in Port Arthur.

Every stranger who drops into this hospitable little city at the head of Lake Superior, on the Canadian side, is forced to become familiar with the town's method and manner of doing business before he can make any sort of headway at all in any other direction. He may not be interested, but that matters not a whit. He must listen! Every citizen of the town is loaded to the guards with information about municipal ownership and carries around with him the last quarterly statement of the railway and light commission. He knows to a cent just how much profit there was in the operation of the waterworks and can tell you to a mill the profits of the last quarter from the telephone system. Incidentally he will explain between grins and chortles that the rival town of Fort William, six miles away, is helping to pay the taxes due on Port Arthur's real estate, because the street railroad which connects the two towns of approximately the same population is owned by the municipality of Port Arthur. Therefore, when a Fort William resident pays five cents to the street car conductor he contributes a mite to every individual taxpayer in the rival town. That fact seems to tickle the Port Arthurians to death. If you are with a Port Arthur resident for half an hour and he doesn't mention the above conditions thirteen times it is considered remarkable by the natives.

Cheap 'Phones.

Although the street railroad doesn't give the citizens any reduction in car tickets which other cities do not enjoy, the telephone service is much cheaper. The enthusiastic advocate of municipal ownership in this town—and every citizen is in this class—will not forget to explain that the Bell Co. used to charge $36 a year for a business telephone which is now supplied for $24, and that a residence telephone now costs only $12 a year. He knows, too, that Port Arthur is the only town on the American continent which owns and operates all of its utilities, and is very fond of explaining how all this came about.

The most conspicuous citizen of this town is a member of the railway and light commission. The membership of the commission is restricted to three, and one member is elected each year. It is by far a greater honor to be a member of the commission than it is to be a mayor or alderman. As member of the board the citizen who has been so honored by the municipality must serve without pay.

Nobody rides on passes in this town, and perhaps that is one of the reasons why municipal ownership is possible; but there are even better reasons than that, for the falls of the Current River are almost in the city itself, and all the power necessary for electrical operation of any kind, including manufacturing, is supplied by this kindly and convenient stream. The city has appropriated everything and the manufacturer must do business with it, but the terms are easy and no one seems to have a kick.

Serve Without Pay.

The controlling officials, serving without pay, saves all of the salaries which go to eat up the profits of public utilities elsewhere, and because of these and other reasons one would hardly be justified in pointing to this town of 10,000 people as proof positive that municipal ownership is justifiable in all American cities.

One-half of the taxes of Port Arthur are paid from the revenues derived from its waterworks, lighting plant, street railway and telephone. The total investment by the municipality was $150,000, and last year the net income was $36,000. Of course it would be impossible to continue these proportional figures if the city should grow to a larger population, and it would be likewise impossible in a city where millions were involved to have the officials devote their entire time to enterprises without compensation. Just now the members of the railway and light commission meet only after business hours and perhaps not oftener than twice a week.

Port Arthur and Fort William are the lake shipping points for the western Canada wheat belt. Each has a magnificent harbor and gigantic elevators. Port Arthur and the Canadian Pacific Railway have been for years and are now at war with each other. If there had never been a quarrel between the two there would never have been a story to tell about municipal ownership under a Port Arthur date line.

Both at Fault.

Disinterested persons say that both the town and the road were at fault and that a hot-headed and chesty person of importance to each made their differences grow and finally become irreconcilable. Port Arthur concluded that the railway was trying to dodge the payment of taxes on property the title to which was under dispute, and a very self-assertive mayor caused a passenger train to be attached and held—like the elephant of the bankrupt circus—until payment was enforced. This little courtesy naturally made the Canadian Pacific Railroad officials feel kindly toward Port Arthur.

Sir William Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific, is pretty quick on the trigger anyhow, and his wrath on this particular occasion was something wonderful to see. After the power of speech had returned Sir William is reported to have waved his carefully maintained Smithfield over his head and declared that he would "make the grass grow in the streets of Port Arthur." The development of the rival town of Fort William began with a rush, and for a while it looked very much as if Sir William would make his threat good.

But the good folks of Port Arthur are not of the Micawber family. They began to sit up and take notice. They had a harbor, an ideal location for a city and a splendid waterfall just outside the city limits. If the railroad would not bring its tracks to Port Arthur they were determined to make their town getatable by means of an electric railway, and so the municipal ownership proposition had its inception. From the very beginning the system was enough of a success to demonstrate that ultimately it would be a pronounced success, and the story which tells the tale most eloquently is the statement of income and expenditures issued by the corporation of the Town of Port Arthur. It shows that from the street railroads the gross income was [illegible] $40,000, the cost of administration $2,800 and the profit $10,180; from the electric lighting plant the same relative figures were $36,228, $2,100 and $11,840, and from the telephone system $8,571, $1,100 and $2,301.

The figures given under "cost of administration" include the salary for superintendence and the clerical staff required for the operation of these industries. The street railroad is carrying charges on some $156,000 worth of bonds. Of these $12,000 were devoted to improvement of the Current River. The lighting and telephone systems are bonded proportionately. The Mayor of Port Arthur received the figures for me and remarked.

"I expect to see the day when the property-owner of this town will walk up to the auditor's office and receive a cheque as his proportional share of the profits from the operation of our public utilities."

LITTLE DEED OF KINDNESS.

How Two Brokers' Clerks Helped a Boy With Sore Foot.

An example of real human kindness and true philanthropy was witnessed on Colborne street, near Yonge, on Tuesday when a barefooted seven-year-old newsboy crippling along calling his wares between sobs was stopped by John Flannery, a clerk in the employ of Lorne Campbell & Co., says The Toronto World. Mr. Flannery, noticing the little fellow suffering and sobbing, coaxed him into Wm. Watt's office at No. 8 Colborne street, where the superfluous dirt was washed from the lad's foot and the head of a big rusty pin revealed to view. The ball of the foot was swollen and inflamed and the newsboy pleaded with them not to touch it.

"It's too sore, mister, don't touch it, will you?"

Gently soothing the foot with the fingers Flannery worked closer and closer to the ugly pin till soon he got his fingers in position to grasp it in a clinch, then, with a quick hard jerk he extracted the inch and a quarter poisonous sting much like a dentist pulling a four pronged molar. The little fellow let a shriek of pain escape him, and then a stream of blood spurted out carrying with it much of the fast forming pus. The two men then bathed the wound, and Mr. Watt tied his handkerchief around the boy's foot gave him some money and directed him to a drug store with a note for an antiseptic to apply to the afflicted part.

"But I has to sell my papahs," sobbed the lad.

"Go and get this first and then you can sell your papers," urged the two young men.

"All right, it feels better now. Tanks, mister."

And the little fellow brushed the tear-stained face with his dirty hand, rose, and hobbled off with only the heel of the injured foot touching the ground. And in his puerile mind there was then and there implanted a gratitude which in itself will beget pity and true charity for those in distress with whom this young man meets in years to come. Here in a simple form was the milk of human kindness imbued into the heart of a boy in a manner that can never be forgotten, and the kindly acts of the two young men will surely be recorded on the pages of their souls' history.

Would Change the Name.

The people of Western New Ontario, not satisfied with having transformed Rat Portage into Kenora, now want to change the name of Rainy River to the Queen River. As a matter of fact that was the stream's original name. The intrepid French explorer, who first penetrated the wilderness in that section, called the stream "La Riviere Reine." That, in course of time, was Anglicized into River Rainy, and so into Rainy River. It is claimed that the present name gives a false impression to the outside world, in that the district is more apt to be associated with the raising of umbrellas than with the raising of crops. As a matter of fact the rainfall along the Rainy is less considerable than in many other parts of the province, and that a crop failure has never been known in this district is the best evidence of the kind of weather that is served out there. The death rate, too, is one of the lowest in the whole country. But these facts are not known, owing to the desultory manner in which the Ontario Government has advertised the district. The changing of the name is a question which could well be taken up on this side of the river (says The Fort Frances Times), and then if the legislators at Toronto could be induced to do some real advertising in spreading the simple facts concerning the district, a wonderful change would soon take place.

Ellis Island Restaurant.

There are some pretty big restaurants in New York, and some of them feed as many people in a day as would make up the whole population of a small town, but it is doubtful if any restaurant serves more meals the year around than that on Ellis Island, which caters to everybody from the commissioner down to the poorest immigrant who, for lack of cash, is awaiting deportation. On an average 6,000 meals a day are served on tables, to say nothing of the hundreds of meals packed in boxes to be carried away by immigrants going to the interior. And there are no deadheads. Every meal served except to the restaurant help is paid for. The commissioner and his chief aids have a special dining room, with silver, china, glass and linen that no hotel would be ashamed of.—New York Sun.

SELECTIONS

STUDY FOR SCULPTORS.

Modern Discus Thrower Strikes a Graceful Attitude.

"If any of our sculptors are seeking for a new subject," remarked an artist who was sitting through a set of athletic games at which Martin J. Sheridan was giving an exhibition of his skill at throwing the discus, "there is the man for them to study. Just watch him the next time he throws the thing from my point of view and see if you don't think they would be rewarded for their study."

The spectator to whom this remark had been addressed kept his eye on the hero of the Greek games from the viewpoint of his sculptural possibilities, and this is the impression he received: A tall young man in a white, sleeveless jersey, running trunks and black spiked shoes stood quietly out in the middle of the field while a smart summer shower dampened his black hair until it was streaked down over his low forehead. His chest was unusually broad and deep, his shoulders square, the muscles of his legs having their greatest development in their long sinews rather than in circumference. His repose was the most striking thing about him after his muscular development, for he rarely moved, talked little and laughed or smiled less. It was plain he took his work for the moment seriously.

Nor when it came his time to throw the discus did he alter his manner, except to grow more intense, if anything. Grasping the circular disk of wood and metal, he made one preliminary and wide sweep of his body and arms, the movement being noticeably slow, and then as he gathered the necessary momentum he twirled with almost incredible speed twice around on his toes, the second revolution carrying upward until it seemed as if he must necessarily leave the ground and fly up into space, so full of the suggestion of flying was the tense, beautifully graceful figure.

As he rose on his toes in one of those revolutions of his body his figure had more grace than that of the classical "Discus Thrower" and suggested flying more than does Diana on her tower or the angel fluttering before Sherman as he marches to the sea.

Any sculptor who can create that effect in bronze is likely to be ranked among the masters of his kind and will do something far and away above the tinkling golf players or football warriors that so far represent the highest flights of our sculptors in works in the field of sport.—New York Press.

THE PRO-TIGER.

Man-Eater's Friend Pleads Before British House of Commons.

To the long list of pro-Zulus, pro-Boers, pro-Mahdis, and pro-Leopolds must be added the pro-tiger, says London Express.

Mr. Rees has appeared in the House of Commons in the role of "the tiger's friend." He cause some amusement by asking the Secretary for India to refer to the Government of India the question of the indiscriminate offer of rewards to gain which professional slaughterers destroyed these animals. Mr. Rees mentioned that man-eaters were rare exceptions among tigers, and that others of the species caused no loss and danger to human life.

"Pity the poor tiger," is the cry which it is feared will never be properly appreciated by the natives of India. Even Mr. Morley could not decide to champion the tiger. "I cannot imagine," he said, "to address the Government of India in the sense suggested by Mr. Rees, nor do I expect that they would share his views as to the preservation of the tiger."

Mr. Rees, however, explained to a representative of The Express that "no well-conducted tiger ever thinks of attacking a man."

"The natives just 'shoo' them off," he continued with the air of a man who had frequently taken part in the "shooing."

"Man-eaters are comparatively very rare, and their habits, their lairs, and all their movements are known to every villager. As I have more than once insisted, the tiger in India is the agriculturist's friend. The tiger slays the deer and wild pigs that destroy the crops. Providence balances all these things.

"What I wish to see put down is the slaying of tigers for rewards. The system of paying thirty rupees for an ordinary dead tiger and 100 for a man-eater has resulted in the springing up of a class of professional slaughterers. One ordinary dead tiger will keep a whole family for a year."

Mr. Rees did not mention the possibility that an ordinary live tiger might also possibly wipe out the cattle of a whole family in a single night.

Tragedy of a Lost Shell.

The Natal Mercury (South Africa) tells the story of a Boer farmer named Moolman, who found a 4.7 naval shell lying on the veldt unexploded and took it home to his sister. She wanted the shell for decoration purposes and began to dig out the lyddite, and to soften it poured cold water upon it. The lyddite and water began to effervesce, and the girl went indoors and from the end of the passage watched the shell, which lay upon the doorstep. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, and Miss Moolman fell dead, struck in the breast by a piece of shell. The whole house was wrecked, every pane of glass, every window frame and every door being cast to the ground and most of the furniture being upset and smashed.

The First Pins.

Thorns were originally used in fastening garments together. Pins did not immediately succeed thorns as fasteners, but different appliances were used, such as hooks, buckles and laces. It was the latter half of the fifteenth century before pins were used in Great Britain. When first manufactured in England the iron wire, of the proper length, was filed to a point and the other extremity twisted into a head. This was a slow process, and 400 or 500 pins was a good day's work for an expert hand.

HONORABLE JOHN COSTIGAN

New Brunswick's "Grand Old Man" comes out strongly in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Who has not heard of the Honorable John Costigan? He is to-day one of the most powerful, as well as one of the oldest, figures in Canadian politics. He was one of Sir John Macdonald's ablest lieutenants, and for nearly 20 years held various portfolios in the cabinet.

To-day at the age of 71, he is the idol of the electors of New Brunswick, and a power to be always reckoned with in Parliament.

His rugged eloquence—biting sarcasm—and ready repartee—make him at once the dread of his opponents and the delight of his confreres.

When a public man of the Hon. John Costigan's position voluntarily testifies to the marvelous cure effected by "Fruit-a-tives," it is bound to carry convincing weight with the whole Canadian people.

OTTAWA, ONT.,
232 Cooper St., Jan. 8th, 1906.

You know what fearful trouble I have had all my life time from constipation. I have been a dreadful sufferer from chronic constipation for over thirty years and I have been treated by many physicians and I have taken many kinds of proprietary medicines without any benefit whatever. I took a pill for a long time which was prescribed by the late Dr. C. R. Church, of Ottawa. Also for many months I took a pill prescribed by Dr. A. F. Rogers, of Ottawa. Nothing seemed to do me any good. Finally I was advised by Dr. Rogers to try "Fruit-a-tives" and after taking them for a few months I feel I am completely well from this horrible complaint. I have had no trouble with this complaint now for a long time, and I can certainly state that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine I ever took that did me any positive good for constipation. I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to the public as, in my opinion, it is the finest medicine ever produced.

(Signed)
JOHN COSTIGAN.

Was ever medicine put to a severer test than this?

Here was a great Public Official, who had suffered for more than 30 years with Chronic Constipation. The leading physicians of Ottawa prescribed for him without affording any permanent relief. Finally, as a last resort, "Fruit-a-tives" were ordered. And in THREE MONTHS, Mr. Costigan WAS WELL.

"Fruit-a-tives" did in THREE MONTHS, what doctors and drugs failed to do in THIRTY YEARS.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the most perfect combination known to medical science. They are fruit juices, concentrated and combined with tonics and internal antiseptics.

Unlike liver pills, anti-bilious pills and all preparations containing calomel, cascara, senna, licorice, etc.—"Fruit-a-tives" act like fruit DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER. They arouse this organ to vigorous health—strengthen it—and increase the flow of bile. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which enters the bowels and makes them move.

Unless the liver is active and excretes sufficient bile to move the bowels regularly and naturally every day, there is bound to be Constipation. And the only remedy that will cure Constipation is one that puts the liver in a healthy, active condition as "Fruit-a-tives" do.

Do you suffer with Chronic Constipation?
Are you bilious?
Is the liver inactive?
Is the stomach out of order?
Does the head ache?
Do your kidneys trouble you?
Is the skin disfigured with pimples?
Is the appetite poor?

Take "Fruit-a-tives." They sweeten the stomach—regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels—clear the skin—and build up, strengthen and invigorate the whole system.

One box will prove their value. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIMITED, OTTAWA.

IN TORONTO'S GHETTO.

Queen City Has the Only Jewish Bank In the Dominion—Forms Printed In Yiddish.

There is one Jewish bank in Canada and Toronto is the proud possessor, says a writer in The Montreal Standard.

Its home is at the corner of Chestnut and Agnes streets. Situated in the heart of the Ghetto it is typically Jewish, and is greatly appreciated by the thrifty Russian, Polish and other Jews who have made Toronto their home.

In order that its customers may experience no difficulty in the depositing or withdrawing of money, the deposit book, slips and draft forms are all printed in Yiddish. The manager, Mr. Joseph William Gurofsky, is himself a well-known Hebrew, who previous to his accepting the management of the first and only Jewish bank in the Dominion, held a responsible position for several years in the assessment department in Toronto's civic palace, and is very popular with his clients, who relish nothing better than having a chat with the Yiddish-speaking manager, who is at all times ready to make out their deposit slips and help them in divers other ways.

Bank Open Some Evenings.

For the convenience of the Jewish workingmen who are employed during the day, the bank is open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, and it is a curious and interesting sight to watch these former subjects of the Russian Czar hand in their books and money to the teller, who, though unable to speak Yiddish, understands the international Jewish language. Russian, Polish and German are languages with which the officials of this institution are also familiar, and they have no difficulty in spelling the jaw-breaking names that are borne by the majority of their patrons. One of the most important features of the bank, and which appeals very strongly to the foreign population of the city is the ease and cheapness of sending money to friends and relatives in Russia through its agency.

Money Sent to Russia.

Manager Gurofsky said that since the opening of the bank, which took place on Dec. 11 of last year, the sum of $30,000 was sent to cities and towns in Russia. Most of this money was to enable the survivors of the Russian massacres to come to Canada. Another result of the opening of the bank, which all the Hebrews point to with pride, is that it has stimulated the buying and selling of real estate in the Jewish quarter, many of the bank's best customers being large holders of real estate.

What surprises the Hebrew visitor from other Canadian cities is that in spite of the metropolitan city in Canada having a Jewish population of three times as great and influential as that of Toronto, it cannot yet boast of having a similar institution.

Depositors Are Increasing.

The number of the bank's depositors notwithstanding its brief existence, runs into four figures, and already the chief officials are talking of increasing the already large staff and enlarging the building. That it is filling a want which no other bank can fill has been admitted by its competitors, many of whom are mourning the loss of some of their best accounts.

Next to the bank there is a sub-post-office, the postmaster of which is also another well-known Hebrew, in the person of Mr. Louis Gurofsky, who has the honor of being the only Jewish postmaster in Canada.

MOURNING GARB.

Menace to Health, Through Retaining Heat, Says Montreal Doctor.

The danger to health of mourning garb is pointed out by Dr. Stenson Hooker, says The Montreal Standard. Sunshine and fresh air are essential to health, and any clothes which prevent a due supply of fresh air from reaching our bodies, and absorb the sun's rays, thus preventing these from reaching our bodies also, exert a pernicious effect upon the general health.

Black intercepts the sun's rays. In other words, it "retains the heat"; so that by covering ourselves in black we not only absolutely keep out the sunlight—that is all there may chance to be in this uncertain climate—but also give ourselves unnecessary discomfort by the retention of the heat — which heat, when excessive, is particularly exhausting.

Then we have also the depressing effect upon the system generally caused by seeing ourselves or others all in black. The system is very responsive to such influences, and is very considerably lower in tone, thus making us an easy prey to cold-catching, with its sometimes fatal results. Depressing clothing also causes depressing thoughts all around us, for "thoughts are things," and fly from one to another just as easily as the messages fly from point to point in the case of wireless telegraph, and nothing lowers the standard of health so much as depression.

Manslaughter Charged.

Sherbrooke, Aug. 11.—Marcel Custeau and Gaboie Custeau appeared before Judge Mulvena Thursday evening, each on a separate warrant issued by the coroner, charging them with manslaughter in connection with the death of Moise Custeau.

Some Of The Interesting Things Enormous Sharks Do

"One of the most interesting denizens of the water", said the natural history collectoer, "is the shark. It is found in all seas and occupies a prominent place in the mythology, folklore, religion and domestic economy of all countries bordering on salt water.

"The shark is undoubtedly a dog with a bad name, but it really does not deserve half the bad things said of it. While an unmitigated nuisance and expense in many ways, especially to fishermen, yet it subserves a most necessary purpose, namely, that of scavenger of the seas.

"Like the goat and ostrich on land, the shark will swallow almost anything that comes its way, be it man, a horse, feathered fowls, bottles, tin cans, rope or pieces of wood. The species known as man-eaters have been known to attack human being, but they rarely do so unless driven to it by extreme hunger, or if the person be floating on the surface or slowly swimming along. A vigorous movement on the part of the swimmer is very apt to scare away any shark.

"The shark family consists of many members, there being 40 distinct species in North American waters alone. Many of these bear peculiar common names, as: Frilled, cow, dog, bullhead, cat, nurse, requiem, hammerheaded, thresher, basking, man-eater, mackerel, bramble and angel. While many are comparatively small, others attain a great size.

"A man-eater was captured in Monterey Bay, Cal., a few years ago which measured 32 feet in length, another caught near Soquel, Cal., was about 30 feet long and had a young sea lion weighing about 100 pounds in its stomach.

"In 1904 an Italian fisherman caught a shark 20 feet long and weighing 3,500 pounds, in a net, in San Francisco Bay. In its stomach were six large porpoises which the animal had swallowed whole.

"I helped to open up one in Honolulu fish market a few years ago, and found in its stomach the body of a man, complete from the waist down with the exception of one leg, also some ducks, tin cans, etc. The body was identified later as that of a man who had disappeared about 10 days before while bathing off Koko Head. The shark was 20 feet long.

"In order to give an idea of how easy it would be for a man-eater to swallow a full-grown man, I prepared the skeleton of a 14-foot man-eater, and after the jaws were dried separately and propped open I was able to crawl through them without the slightest difficulty.

"The most remarkable shark ever caught was secured by Fred. Miller, of Tacoma, in 1901. It was eight feet long and had two heads and two tails on the one body.

"It is in the South Seas that the shark attains its greatest pre-eminence. Here it was formerly worshipped as a god, and even now it does not take much to stir many of the natives back to shark worship, if they have ever really given it up, as the christian religion sits easy on many of them.

"In the Hawaiian Islands shark worship was at one time almost universal. This worship was not confined to an unseen, idealized form, but was often centered in some living specimen which frequented a certain range along shore. Most of the natives believed in the transmigration of souls, and frequently cast their dead, and also their living babies into the sea to be devoured by the sharks, believing that their souls would ever after animate those fishes and incline them to respect the bodies of the living members of the family. Each shark god had a special keeper, or Kahu, responsible for its care and worship.

"The largest and most celebrated of the shark gods of the islands was Kahaimoana, a male, whose mouth was said to be as large as an ordinary grass house, and whose bulk was so great that it could not navigate the channels between the islands and was forced to remain in the open sea. Second in size and power was Kamohoalii, elder brother of the terrible volcano goddess Pele.

"In the Solomon Islands sharks are supposed to be the abode of ghosts. Men will before their death announce that they will appear as sharks, and afterward any shark remarkable for size or colour which is observed to haunt a certain shore or rock is taken to be some one's ghost, and the name of the deceased is given to it.

"On many of the South Sea Islands the eating of shark meat was tabooed to women, and it meant death if they disobeyed the taboo. The men, however, had no compunction about eating a shark, provided it was some other man's god.

Do Men Prefer Beauty Or Brains In Women?

Students of human nature say the difference between man and woman is an incontrovertible fact that the great majority of men infinitely prefer beauty to brains in a woman. Not even clever men, as a rule, care especially for women whom they consider intellectual. It is the women who are pretty and bright, in the sense of gayety, who ensnare the hearts of men, even grave and reverend seigneurs, who in most cases love them all the better because of the frivolity which is such a contrast to their own gravity.

The really strong man, of strong body, strong will and strong intellect, objects rather than otherwise to any display of similar strength upon the part of a woman. He does not demand brains in his sweetheart. He is himself the illuminant, and asks only that the woman of his choice shall shine with reflected glory, rarely realizing the truth that a satisfactory reflector must not be dull. Nor does he perceive the need of brains until some day his wife comes short for lack of them.

He likes a bright woman who entertains him, who amuses him and makes him laugh, but he will brook no assumption of superiority on her part. "Woman is the weaker vessel", and his preference is for the clinging, dependent sort whose inferiority serves as a background for his own wisdom and strength. Man is a creature of slow growth. "Heir of all the ages," with deeply-rooted prejudices, he is hampered by the traditions handed down through countless generations of forefathers who guarded and provided for their womankind and domineered over them as well.

Yet there are few mistakes in life more fatal to happiness than that of the marriage of a clever man with a fool, says Helen Oldfield in the Chicago Tribune. "Folly as it flies" is not infrequently a fascinating object of pursuit; but folly captured, domesticated and stationary is froth and soapsuds, if it be not dust and ashes upon the tongue; as disappointing as was the purchased puppet of the old tale. The error is one far more disastrous, usually, to men than to women, nor are women so likely to commit it as are men. A man, as all men will bear witness, may be more or less a fool, and yet succeed fairly well in business; may, moreover, be steered straight through the shoals of social life by the hands of a clever woman; but the foolish women whom men like are silly rather than stupid, and as such are helpless.

What happiness can a man of broad views and high ability find with a narrow-minded creature, utterly incapable of even dimly comprehending the value of the subjects which occupy him? A commonplace woman need not be silly; many such a one has made a good wife for a man of genius.

Frivolity is not always folly. If all play and no work makes mere toys of both Jack and Jill, so also all work and no play converts them into dull clods. But there must be sympathy between man and wife, else there can be no deep and lasting love. "Be ye not unequally yoked together."

A Girl Pitcher Who Created Sensation

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 22.—What do you think of a twirler who is a girl and really pitches big league ball?

? Perhaps some day Cy Young and Christie Mathewson will give way to a pleasant faced young lady who will proceed to make the batters puncture the air with holes and simply froth at their inability to solve her delivery.

The prodigy of the season is Miss Carrie Moyer, who recently accomplished the remarkable feat of pitching eight innings for the Moxies and shutting out the strong Temperance team. Miss Moyer allowed her opponents but two hits.

Eight thousand people cheered as inning after inning good batsmen struck out or popped little flies to the infield. A deceptive out curve and drop ball proved their undoing.

Boys As Policemen Solve A Problem

"When you show a boy that you trust him and place upon his shoulders a sense of responsibility, you will rarely be deceived as to the result."

This remark was made by Chief Richmond, of the police force of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who, as a result of careful study of the juvenile character, has been making some interesting experiments in preserving the peace through the agency of boy police.

As in other cities, the boys of Council Bluffs consider certain holidays all their own, and malicious mischief is often combined with vigorous enjoyment of the Fourth of July, Hallow E'en, New Year's Day and other gala occasions. Not only are city ordinances broken, but serious accidents and destruction of property result as well.

Like the flash of an inspiration, a remedy suggested itself to the chief. Why not explain to the boys the need of moderation in sport, of regard for the law, place them upon their honour and enroll a number as temporary members of the police force?

This experiment was tried on the Fourth of July, and gratifying success followed. Twenty-five boys were the stars and legal authority of special policemen, and Council Bluffs never had a quieter, more orderly Fourth.

It is probable that Hallow E'en night and New Year's Day will also see boy policemen proudly patrolling the streets, orderly themselves and maintaining order among their fellows.

ing aloft on a pole a barley bannock and salt herring, and followed by the elected Cornet for the year, with some sixty horsemen, then perambulated certain streets and the steep sides of a neighbouring hill, the party being refreshed with bannocks, herrings and whiskey. On their return [illegible] several hundreds of children carrying heather besoms joined the procession, and a monster Scotch [illegible] was borne aloft.

A man who was said to be eighty-three years old told an extraordinary story at the Glasgow police court recently. He stated that he had been found unconscious in the street, conveyed to a hospital, and thence to a workhouse infirmary, where he was pronounced dead. He lay three days in the mortuary, he said, before he revived. His purpose in narrating the circumstances was to learn how to get the benefit of a pension from a society of which he is a member. The rules, he said, that no one who has been in a workhouse is entitled to a benefit. But the old man said the trustees declared that his involuntary detention in the infirmary invalidated his claim.

The runaway marriage of a couple who eloped in 1844 and, escaping to Berwick, were there made man and wife by a "border priest" named Henry Collins is to be legalized. The son of the couple applied recently to the Sheriff Court of Berwickshire for a warrant for the registration of his parents' marriage. Evidence of the facts was read, and a grand-daughter of the "border priest" produced a record of the marriage entered in a book of her grandfather. A minister of Ayton also produced session records to show that the couple had been "sessioned" for contracting an irregular alliance, and the application was at once granted.

The search for the treasure of the Armada galleon Florencia has been proceeding vigorously in Tobermory Bay for a fortnight, and the salvors are encouraged daily by their finds. During last week they came across part of the rigging of the sunken ship. Among many interesting relics brought up were two stone cannon-balls 6 1-2 inches in diameter, one iron shot of about two inches in diameter, and a blunderbus with an inch bore. The divers have come across large quantities of wood in all directions and other unmistakable signs that they are close on the hull of the Florencia.

IRELAND

Mr. Justice Barton, sitting in the Dublin Chancery Division, recently sanctioned a new scheme in connection with a remarkable bequest made by Thomas Christy, a member of the Society of Friends, who died in 1780. Christy left an annuity for the purpose of promoting the marriage of young females among his co-religionists, but the demands during the whole period since his death have never in any one year equalled the available amount, so that the Irish Commissioners of Charitable Donations have considerably over a thousand pounds of unclaimed money. The new scheme approved by Mr. Justice Barton provides that the surplus funds, after matrimonial obligations have been met, shall be applied to the education of poor girl Friends in the town of Lurgan and as donations to Quaker females to enhance their matrimonial attractions. A condition imposed by the judge is that only £10 a year be granted for purposes other than matrimonial or educational.

Intense excitement prevails in the Keadue district, Co. Roscommon, on account of the emphatic action of the parishioners of the locality, who refuse to recognize the right of the parish priest, Father Meehan, to appoint a teacher to the Creaghnafarnagh National school. Some time ago, Father Meehan, as manager of the school, appointed a stranger, against the wishes of the people, who wanted the son of the former teacher, Gaffney, to fill the position. They said they should have a voice in the matter, and as the priest refused to comply with their request, scenes of violence ensued. Graves were dug outside the residence of Father Meehan and the teacher, and the latter has had a police escort to and from school.

During a local Government Board inquiry into alleged irregularities in the Lisburn Workhouse, Co. Antrim, recently the master of the workhouse admitted that he had formed the opinion that one of the contractors was swindling the guardians, but he had never stated his belief when asked for an explanation. He marked in his book, he said, that 650 yards of cloth had been given out when only 250 yards had been given out. About 350 yards of tweed were ordered to make suits for 50 boys, although there were only about six boys in the workhouse, but each of those boys received three or four suits a year. He had found two webs of cloth in a store, where they had been hidden, but did not report the matter.

Much interest has been aroused in Ireland in the discovery of gold in the west. The discovery was made during quarrying operations at Boho, near Castlerea, in Co. Roscommon. Workmen found between two layers of rock, a lump of virgin gold, said to be about the size of a goose's egg. A Dublin analyst has confirmed the fact that the nugget is composed of the precious metal. Such a sensation has been caused in the district by the discovery that people are flocking to the spot from all parts.

A number of the Connaught Rangers, when returning to their camp at Finner from the town of Donegal a few days ago were set upon by a crowd of supporters of the Irish movement known as "Sinn Fein" (Ourselves Alone"), pulled from their bicycles, made to go down on their knees, and curse the King of the British Constitution, and promise not to enlist again once their term had been completed. The police have taken the names of 20 men in connection with the attack.

No fewer than five widows have claimed an Irish harvester who was killed in a tramway accident at Halifax, as their husband. Mrs. Kelly, of Dublin, first came forward with her claim. She was followed by Mrs. Macartney, of Basford, and now three other women, one from Ireland, have made unfailing claim. The body has been buried unidentified, but all the five widows are confident that the officially unknown man is their husband.

Whilst the remains of a merchant named Nesbitt were being carried to the hearse at Newtownhamilton, Co. Armagh, recently, his widow threw herself upon the coffin in a fit. The funeral was delayed, and a doctor was sent for. When he arrived he pronounced life extinct.

GreenSickness or Chlorosis

Just at the threshold of womanhood, that trying period when the whole system is undergoing a complete change, many a girl falls a victim of chlorosis, or green sickness.

Her disposition changes and she becomes morose, despondent and melancholy. The appetite is fickle, digestion is imperfect, and weariness and fatigue are experienced on slight exertion.

Chlorosis is much like anaemia because it arises from poor quality of blood. Iron and such other restoratives and blood builders as are combined in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, are demanded by the system.

The regular and persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cannot fail to benefit any girl or young woman suffering from chlorosis, anaemia, or weakness and irregularities which result from poor blood and exhausted nerves.

Fishing Gets Good Now At The Rice Lake Ports

Some Good Catches Are Reported From Keene.

Examiner Special.

Keene, Aug. 21.—Dr. James Campbell is attending the Medical Convention in Toronto.

Miss Clara Campbell spent a few days last week in Peterborough the guest of Mrs. W. J. Main.

School commenced Monday.

Mr Jas. Kempt left Tuesday for Toronto, where he has secuured a position with the Capewell Nail Company.

Mr. Charles Bell is visiting relatives in Port Hope.

Quite a number of farmers in this vicinity are finished harvesting.

Mr. John McIntyre, Jr., is moving into the house lately occupied by Mr. Wm. Read.

Mrs. (Dr.) Harold Kindred who has been visiting in Havelock returned home Friday.

The fishing in Rice Lake which for a long time this summer was very poor has been very much better lately and some good catches have been made recently. Especially worthy of mention is the catch of an eighteen pound lunge by Mr. Norman Purser, of Cobourg, who is camping on Grape Island.

Mr. Amos Shearer, of Alnwick, was in Keene Saturday.

Miss. J. L. Dodds is visiting friends in Madoc.

Mr. W. D. Laing who has been spending his holidays in Keene, left for Toronto Saturday.

Miss Bell, of Campbellford, has been engaged as teacher for Mathers' Corners' public school and commenced duties Monday.

MISS ROSA McAHAN OF BUTTE

How After Two Years She Found a Remedy for Dandruff.

Miss Rosa McAhan, of 211 West Quartz street, Butte, Mont., says: "Herpicide has thoroughly cleared my scalp of dandruff with which it was entirely covered; and it has stopped my falling hair. I have tried many different preparations in the past two years but none of them took effect except Newbro's Herpicide." As dandruff is a germ disease and Herpicide is an infallible destroyer of the germ. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Kill the dandruff germ. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It is a delightful dressing; stops itching, and restores hair soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for a sample to the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich.

More Harvest Help Wanted

Although all the provinces in Eastern Canada have contributed a large number of labourers to assist in harvesting the tremendous wheat crop of Canada's western provinces, there is a great demand for more labourers.

With the improved machinery, and the men already sent the crop will be cut, but the demand is for labourers to assist in the threshing and the movement of the grain to the elevators.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 labourers have gone west; 5,000 to 10,000 more are required.

There will be a low rate labourers' excursion from south-western Ontario on September 5th, from the north-western section on September 7th, and from the northern and eastern sections on September 8th.

Through second class tickets are sold at $12 to Winnipeg, and on arrival there the labourer is met by Government representatives of the farmers, and when he has contracted to work he is furnished by the railway with a free ticket to the nearest station to the farmer he is to work with. On arrival at that station he deposits his ticket with the agent, and when he is ready to return after he has been working 30 days, the farmer he has been engaged with makes a verification to that effect on his certificate, and the agent issues ticket from that station back to the starting point, at the rate of $18.

It is expected a very large number will take advantage of these excursions to spend a few weeks in the West and acquaint themselves with the conditions in that country. This is an opportunity to have an outing, and make something besides expenses.

Anyone wanting further information write to the C. P. R. Passenger Department, Toronto. 2d14

Another great fire occurred at Dundee a few days ago involving damages estimated at £80,000. The outbreak was in Malcolm, Ogilvie & Co.'s jute works, one of the largest establishments of its kind in the town. A fireman named Inverarity had a narrow escape. He just jumped back from a falling wall in time to avoid injury. Another fireman named Heenan fell through the roof-light of the building in which the fire was raging. Fortunately he had the presence of mind to catch hold of the casements of the window, and so scrambled back on to the roof.

CORRECT FOOTWEAR.

Black Suede Pumps Are Extremely Fashionable at the Moment.

If a limited income must be consulted the best plan is to decide upon one style of shoe and keep consistently to that. There are many shoes and slippers which one might like to possess, but are unnecessarily extravagant. Black suede pumps, for example, are extremely fashionable at the moment, but they do not wear well, are difficult to keep in order and are as yet very expensive. Then there are the colored canvas and kid slippers, which are nice to have for a change, but would not be well to wear constantly. For town or traveling the smartest shoe is a high cut pump or tie of dull finished kid with a small kid bow instead of the flat ribbon pump bow of last year. This shoe is equally smart in black and russet leather. For the country a white buckskin pump is most popular, but canvas is cooler and less expensive, and both styles are correct. The buckskin pump is finished with a little bow of the same leather. For evening wear the black slipper most in demand is of patent leather, with a tiny steel buckle and no bow. The heels are but medium height, the exaggerated French heel being out of favor at present. If patent leather is not comfortable a beaded or plain French polished kid slipper may be worn instead.

Shoe Trees For Every Pair.

Far more important than to have an extra pair of shoes is it to have trees for each pair, which are kept always in the shoe except when it is on the foot. This is absolutely necessary with all shoes, but with patent leather particularly the slippers will keep in shape just twice as long if proper care is taken of them.

STEAMER LETTERS.

Fun and Fancies For the Ocean Traveler.

"Steamer letter" has come to have a peculiar significance in the language of travelers. The scope of such a letter is as wide as the ocean to which it belongs, for in its development it means anything from the gigantic baskets of fruits and flowers which, crowding the saloons on sailing days, are a burden to every one but the honored recipients, down to the humble postal card without even a picture, which has been scribbled by some enthusiastic friend, crammed in a post box and comes on at the last moment by the supplementary mail.

If one's object is simply to give a friend pleasure there is nothing that can accomplish this more surely than to send a package of letters to the purser of the steamer, asking him to deliver one each day during the voyage. After the first day out, when no postman makes his daily rounds, when the only news the wireless telegraph brings is that some actress has again lost her jewels or some great house at Newport has been burglarized, a personal letter, with the least touch of home feeling in it, will appreciate in value every second. Therefore if one is a good letter writer and can write a seemingly spontaneous letter for each day there is nothing that will give the absent voyager more pleasure. But, unfortunately, the talent of good letter writing is bestowed on few and those to whom fate has denied it must devise something else as a substitute for daily letters.

Where amusement alone is desired in a steamer letter the best way perhaps is to have for each day of the voyage a verse with some nonsensical accompaniment. For example, in one box a lemon, with a stick of candy through which it was to be imbibed, had this verse:

If a body feel the motion sailing o'er the sea,
If a body take a notion very sick to be,
Then a body needs a lemon. Here is one for you.
May it prove a strength and comfort, as 'tis said to do.

A box for a college girl had for the first day a tintype of three of her chums waving handkerchiefs in farewells, marked "To be opened on leaving the pier." A package of gum or a bottle of clam bouillon, both of which are said to be specifics for seasickness, will sometimes please those who "feel the motion." A "Jackson ball" can be sent as an "entire voyage souvenir." A collection of funny pictures about the sea or traveling adventures can be made from old copies of Life or Fliegende Blatter and will never come amiss. A clever story of the ocean or of travel cut from an old magazine and bound by itself in a piece of heavy wall paper will surely give pleasure.—Good Housekeeping.

Don'ts For the Business Girl.

Don't speak in a listless voice.
Don't wear long skirts to the office.
Don't affect an untidy style of hairdressing.
Don't bring your home troubles to the office and air them there.
Don't wear overtrimmed and fussy clothes. Wear plain clothes with appropriate blouses.
Don't try to be mannish either in dress or manner. The mannish business woman is out of fashion, fortunately.
Don't complain of your health. If you are too ill to work, say so and go home. So long as you are able to work keep silent about your ailments, and you will gain more sympathy and admiration by your courage than by any amount of groaning.

Wedding Superstitions.

The bridegroom who carries a miniature horseshoe in his pocket will always be lucky.

The bride who dreams of fairies on the night before her wedding will be thrice blessed.

Never give a telegram to a bride or bridegroom on the way to church. It is a sure omen of evil.

Marriages on board ship are considered unlucky. If you can't be married on dry land remain unwed.

The finding of a spider on the wedding gown by the bride is considered a sure token of happiness to come.

FASHION FORECAST.

CHANGES THAT ARE PREDICTED IN THE MILLINERY WORLD.

The Bandeau Doomed, Killed by Too Much Popularity—The Latest Parisian Models In Chapeaux Minimize or Ignore the Tilt.

A change is slowly but surely creeping over the aspect of the fashionable chapeaux, and the exaggerated bandeau is already doomed. Like so many good modistic things, it has been killed by a too great popularity, for so surely as a vogue is taken out of the hands of the elect it becomes vulgarized and caricatured until it ceases altogether to be the gracious detail originally smiled upon by la mode.

And very particularly is this the case with the bandeau or cache peigne. Allied, with all taste and discretion, to a chic little model, it presented itself as the epitome of grace and in perfect harmony, moreover, with a carefully dressed coiffure.

But—and it is a very large but, too—when it is adjusted in Brobdingnagian size and quite indiscriminately it becomes at once not only undesirable, but positively grotesque.

It is quite a pathetic sight to Camilla and me to see the vain endeavors of some women to adjust these extravagant chapeaux at a becoming angle, quite forgetting that the main object is to effect a happy combination with headgear and coiffure. The latter must of necessity bear out the required silhouette, and possibly the average English mind has failed to grasp the important fact with sufficient stability to carry off the exaggerated cache peigne.

Be the reason, however, what it may, the fact is quite incontrovertible that the latest Parisian models evince a decided inclination to minimize or else completely ignore the presence of the bandeau. There is a great feeling for a neat little toque of second empire persuasion. Sometimes this will be a completely round turban and at others of more boat shape character, strongly reminiscent of Leech's pictures.

These minute chapeaux are usually of some fine quality straw, the fronts left plain or simply bound with ribbon velvet and the backs literally smothered with ostrich plumes. Here is one we met the other day: Silver gray "paille d'Italie," banded with iridescent moonlight blue velvet and piled high at the back with shaded moonlight blue ostrich feathers. It was lovely and so original!

Again will these small shapes be trimmed with large loop ribbon bows after the style of the one illustrated here. We have selected this as a very pleasing example of the new vogue, which will certainly be warmly welcomed by the girl who regrets the departure of the becoming little polo hat. The model pictured is of fine straw trimmed at each side of the back with large loops of shaded green ribbon. A single quill adds an ornamental completion. AMY VARNUM.

A Hint About Old Gloves.

Old kid gloves or kid slippers may be utilized for making kettle or iron holders. Leather being a bad conductor of heat, these holders are much more effective than flannel ones. Squares of the kid should be cut out, joined and covered with felt or flannel, the edges being bound with braid or strips of thin leather.

Drooping—Tired—Weary

You Feel Depressed, Dragged Out, and Sort of "All Gone"—Shake Off That Tired Feeling, Get Well and Strong, Fortify Your Nerves, Nourish Your Blood.

FERROZONE

You are getting pale and thin. You're dragged down with a "don't care" feeling that makes life most unhappy. Your strength is fleeting away, and weakness is creeping in. Every day your chances for cure becomes smaller.

Trouble is you don't assimilate your food, consequently the body is poorly nourished. The blood is thin, lacks those red corpuscles that denote health.

You can only prevent a total collapse by building up all the powers of the body with Ferrozone, which will surely make you well. Ferrozone creates tremendous appetite, increases the power of digestion, and insures perfect assimilation. Everything you eat is at once converted into nourishment.

FERROZONE makes rich, pure blood, a surplus of energy, new life for the nerves and all over-strained organs. Robust health will glow on the cheeks, jovial spirits, increased weight, and a clear, active brain will evidence a few of the benefits that follow Ferrozone.

The effect of Ferrozone is instant, yet permanent. For upbuilding and invigorating the listless and depressed it has no equal. It's the concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone that makes it so beneficial. We guarantee it contains no opiates, no alcohol, nothing but the most strengthening qualities known in medicine. Won't you use Ferrozone; it will surely make you well.

GAINED 15 POUNDS.

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

OATMEAL
—A BARREL OF IT—
IN A DROP

Employee of the American Cereal Company Injured, Though Not Seriously.

Barrel of Oatmeal Fell on Him While Trucking Product Into a Car.

Yesterday afternoon a man named Kopple, a stranger in the city, was injured at the American Cereal Company's mills, though it is not anticipated that his injuries will result seriously. He was engaged trucking barrels of oatmeal into cars standing on the siding. The car that he was filling stood on the second track from the warehouse, and he had to pass through another car to reach it. In some way he fell off the gangway connecting the two cars, and the barrel fell on him.

The services of a physician were called, and it was found that he had sustained no serious injuries, a bad shock being about their extent, outside of some bruises. He will be at work again in a few days.

Two Port Perry Persons Who Left Their Homes and Went to Lindsay.

Woman Deserted Two Children—They Are Arrested and Sent Back Home.

A Lindsay despatch says: — Last week Constable McKnight, of Port Perry, wired Chief Nevison to arrest Mr. Wm. Bloomer and Mrs. Honeyborne, who were supposed to be located in Lindsay. The Chief, after making enquiries found out that the couple were employed by Mr. John Maunder at the Central hotel—the man as hostler and the woman as domestic servant. He arrested and wired the Port Perry official, who arrived and guarded the couple back to Port Perry, where they were arraigned before Magistrate Purdy. Bloomer was charged with enticing the woman away from her husband and family, and she was charged with deserting her two children. Bloomer was committed to Whitby jail to await trial, while Mrs. Honeyborne was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Mr. Bloomer is a man of about 35 years of age, while his lady friend was about twenty-six or more.

Misses Pickard's Narrow Escape

Two Young Ladies Related in The City Have Exciting Experience.

The two ladies referred to in the following from the Newcastle Independent, are related to residents in this city, who will learn with pleasure of their escape from what was apparently certain injury. The Independent says:—

"As Mr. Penny and Misses Lily and Pearl Rickard were returning home from choir practice Saturday night, their horse took fright when opposite James Clarke's and began to get up such speed that Lily resolved to climb down behind, and none too soon, for in striking the hill the horse broke the cross-bar, and in trying to get away pulled the driver over the dash, thereby smashing it and throwing Pearl out. Mr. Penny was dragged for quite a distance but had to finally let go his hold. When an inventory was taken life and property were found to be intact, with the exception of the buggy which can be made so."

One Month For His Interference

Young Man Who Tried to Prevent an Arrest Punished.

Fred. Baker appeared at police court this morning on a charge of having in his possession three pairs of spectacles which he knew were stolen. It is said that Baker was trying to sell them. He pleadrd not guilty to the charge and elected to be tried by the magistrate. The case was enlarged until Wednesday.

A young man was charged with interfering with P. C. Newnall, while that officer was arresting Baker. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge and was at once sentenced to one month in gaol with hard labour. The magistrate remarked that he wanted people to learn to mind their business.

LARGE GATHERING AT JUBILEE POINT

The Employees of Peter Hamilton Co., Ltd., Enjoyed Their Annual Outing There Friday.

Some Interesting Facts Concern-Long Service of Many of the Employees of This Firm.

During the summer months the employees of most of the principal manufacturing industries of our city have had their annual outing and enjoyed a day off at some of the favourite resorts in the vicinity. Yesterday the employees of the Peter Hamilton Company had their day off. It was their eleventh annual excursion. It was a clear, bracing day, and the number in attendance must have been over 300. It had been very considerately arranged that the wives and families of the employees were invited to attend, and this fact helped to considerably increase the social pleasure of the occasion. The excursion was to Jubilee Point, for which the committee had chartered the staunch little steamer Water Lily and palace barge to make the trip, so that the comfort of all was assured. The steamer left the Wolfe street wharf a few minutes past 8 o'clock, with every available seat filled and the standing room all taken up. After locking through, the commodious barge was brought alongside, relieving the crush, and when everything was made safe against accident, the steamer started down the river at a few minutes to 9 o'clock.

The sail was doubly refreshing because of the delightful cool change from the intense heat of the previous days. The cool breeze proved a delightful tonic after the relaxing heat, so that the dancers began to get busy, and mirth and animation became contagious. Mr. P. Kane, the popular violinist, and Mr. Robert Maxwell, the employees' own gifted life player, made a good orchestra for dancing. The floor manager, Mr. Charlie Skates, soon had partners for a reel in position, and then on

CRICKET CLUB, 19 YEARS AGO

An Interesting Picture Which Is Appropos in View of Revival of Cricket Here.

Only Two of The Team of That Day Still Residing In This City at Present Time.

REVIVAL OF CRICKET.

The Old Colts' Cricket Club, From Picture Taken Nineteen Years Ago

In view of the fact that there are prospects for the revival of the good old English game of cricket to be held in Peterborough, the picture published in the Examiner to-day will be of special interest, and will be timely.

In the palmy days of cricket the Colts Cricket Club was a well-known organization, and brought considerable fame to the then town. The picture published on this page is made from a photograph of the Colts Club taken outside the old P. A. A. A grounds, where some great games of cricket were played, and where Chief Rutherford in his younger days used to drive the ball over Libsett's Hotel and out on to the street.

It is about nineteen years since the picture reproduced here was taken, and of those whose faces are shown only two are at present residing in the city, viz., R. A. W. Hay and Frank Wise. They are barely recognizable. The names of those in the picture, reading from left to right standing, are H. Day, (pro.) R. A. W. Hay, Ed. Pearson, George Hodge, William Hamilton, Chas. Allison, Kenneth Kincaid, Frank Wise and George Boucher. The three boys sitting, also reading from left to right, are: "Beechy" Boucher, Lee Dunsford and "Billie" Pearson.

It is understood that the prospects for the revival of the game in Peterborough are good. There are a number of enthusiasts in the game, who, while they might not take an active part in the game, would give it their support, and it is believed that there is the material in the city to develop a club which will be able to achieve a success equal to that of the team pictured here.

Mr. Frank Wise owns the picture from which the cut shown on this page was taken.

Oddfellows Still Praise Local Press

The opinion among the Grand Lodge officers of the I. O. O. F. that the last meeting of the Grand Lodge in this city was the most successful in the history of the Order in Ontario, seeems to be pretty general. A few days ago Col. Miller received a letter from Mr. King, the veteran Grand Lodge Secretary, who stated that no where had they enjoyed themselves more, or had there been more complete provisions for their entertainment than in Peterborough. Mr. King also had a good word to say for the press, which he said had given better reports of the sessions than in any other town in which the Grand Lodge meetings had been held.

THE BRICK
—IN HOUSE OF REFUGE—
ALL LAID

The Work of Laying 250,000 Brick Will be Completed by Tuesday at Latest.

J. J. MacPherson, the Contractor for This Work, Has Made a Good Record.

Mr. J. J. McPherson, who has the contract for the brick work of the new County House of Refuge at Lakefield, was in the city last night and stated to The Examiner that this portion of the work would be completed by Tuesday at the latest. This is a very creditable record, indeed, since it is less than six weeks since bricklaying was commenced. The contract called for the wrok to be completed by six weeks, and the contractor has beaten out his time by some days. The quantity of brick laid in this work is about 250,000, and in consideration of the fact that it has been no easy matter to secure bricklayers, Mr. McPherson's achievement is looked upon as most satisfactory.

He has not decided yet what work he will take on next. He has received a number of offers of work among them the brick work on the large new opera house to be erected on Queen street, Ottawa, this fall, but he has not yet decided to undertake it. He has also been offered, as a sub contract, the brick work on the new King Edward School.

Will Rush Construction.

With the brick work at the House of Refuge practically completed, the other branches of the work will proceed apace, and the carpenters will no doubt in a short time have the roof on the structure. The promise to have the building ready for occupation this fall seems likely to be redeemed.

Flower Sunday At Park Street

To-morrow Special Services Will Be Held.

Flower Sunday will be observed to-morrow in the Park street Baptist church. This being the eighteenth anniversary of the organization of the Park street Baptist Sunday school special services will be held.

In the morning Pastor Brace will preach to the parents and members of the school. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be an open session of the Sunday school. A short history of the school will be given and a farewell address to two of the members who are leaving for Woodstock College. The children are requested to bring flowers.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had the whooping cough last winter, and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so distressing and dangerous an ilment" —Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

Mr. W. Bunton Returns From a Trip and Reports that Prospects Are Good.

The Steel Rail Mills Turning Out Hundreds of Tons of Rails a Day.

Mr. W. Bunton returned last night from a week's trip to Sault Ste. Marie, where he was called on a personal matter. While he was in that city Mr. Bunton was an interested visitor to the mammoth steel mills of the Algoma Steel Company, where he saw the steel rails in process of manufacture. The product being turned out by these mills at the present time is in great demand, and this fact is attributable to the excellent quality of the rails being turned out. The mills are running night and day at full capacity, and difficulty is being experienced in filling the orders for rails which are fairly pouring in as a result of the the great activity in railway building operations in Canada.

The "Soo" has taken a new lease of life Mr. Bunton states, and the people of that city are feeling in a satisfied state of mind, as a result of the better conditions prevailing. Rents have gone up and there are few, if any, houses to rent.

The tourist traffic to the "Soo" is on the increase, and this summer all the steamers carrying passengers to that section are crowded, especially those of the Northern Navigation Company, which take the trip along the north shore and through to 30,000 islands of the Georgian Bay.

Mr. Bunton while he was away secured some goods samples of ore for the cabinet which he is collecting. An especially good piece of quartz carrying gold and silver at the same time. The mining operations in this part of the country are being carried on in a satisfactory manner. The nickel mines of the Copper Cliff section are busy and this industry is rapidly developing into one of the most important in the province.

Mr. Bunton returned last night.

Inspect Piers On Keene Bridge

County Council Committee of Roads and Bridges Make Reports.

The Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council yesterday visited, on a trip of inspection, the new bridge over the Indian River at Keene, it being the object of the inspection.

The following members of the committee were present: Messrs. Moloney, Stinson, Carey, Buck, and the warden.

They were accompanied by the County Engineer and the committee inspected the piers of the bridge, which they found to be quite satisfactory. The work, which was performed by Messrs. D. Conroy & Sons, was well done, and the contractors were relieved of any further responsibility. The steel work, it is expected, will be commenced in the near future, though the contractors, the Hamilton Bridge Works Company, have until September 15 to complete the work.

FIFE WHEAT IN CANADA.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID FIFE,

Celebrated as the Originators in Canada of Fife Wheat.

In view of the fact that the farmers of the North-west expect to reap 90,000,000 bushels of wheat this season and that this is all Fife wheat, the accompaning photograph of Mr. and Mrs David Fife, the former of which was the first who introduced this variety of wheat into Canada, from Dantzic or the Baltic sea, will be apropos, and should prove of general interest.

correspondent has sent the Examiner the following history of the Fife wheat:—

The late Mr. David Fife, Otonabee, Peterborough Co., wished to see the quality of Canadian wheat improved and for this purpose sent to Scotland for samples. Some were sent to Port Hope and lay there in a store house during the fall and part of the winter. Three dollars storage was paid. The wheat was sown but came to nothing. Mr. Fife then wrote again to his friend Mr. Struthers, clerk in a grain store, Glasgow, for the second supply of wheat. Mr. Struthers noticed a new kind, an excellent sample brought by ship direct from Dantzic, and thought it would be just the kind to meet the conditions in Canada and sent two samples, one of fall and the other of spring wheat.

This was sown in the year 1841 after remaining in a Cobourg storehouse during the fall and part of the winter. Both samples were sown in the spring, but the fall wheat came to nothing. The spring variety, however, proved superior to any other sown. Out of it only three

Site Selected For The Normal School

The Hilliard Farm Likely to be Chosen for the New Institution—Result of Committee's Visit to Toronto.

The Normal School will in all probability be erected on the Hilliard property. As a result, the North Ward School will have to be enlarged proably to the capacity of a twelve-roomed school.

In brief, these are the results of the visit of the deputation of the City Council to Toronto to confer with the educational authorities yesterday. The members of the deputation are naturally quite jubilant over the successful issue of their journey, and the citizens generally will be delighted with the prospects of having the difficult problem settled so easily and satisfactorily.

Peterborough's deputation consisted of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mayor Best, Ald. Mason, Johnston, Duncan, McIntyre, and City Clerk Armstrong.

The only new site explained to Mr. Colquhoun and Dr. Seath was the Cox property in the west end. This was considered, but for a short time. The authorities regarded the property as a very desirable site, but the fact that it is not large enough was a drawback sufficient to prohibit any thoughts of erecting the Normal School there.

There was no question of there being not enough land in the Hilliard property, about which practically the only discussion took place. The authorities expressed themselves as being very much impressed with the property. They were offered as much land as they wanted there, and it is probable will take five acres for the Normal School, all of which will be kept in splendid condition. The only objection to the property was that the North Ward school was not large enough to serve as a training school for the students of the Normal. The authorities were informed that this difficulty could be overcome by enlarging the school if necessary, to twelve rooms. Of course, to do this, the co-operation of the Board of Education is required but no difficulty is anticipated on that score.

Mr. Colquhoun and Dr. Seath will visit Peterborough next week, probably on Monday, and will go over the Hilliard property. Some improvements in the way of opening up new streets and extending the sewer system will be required.

Ald. Johnston and City Clerk Armstrong returned to the city last night, while the other members of the deputation remained in Toronto for the purpose of inspecting the new lighting system in operation in North Toronto. They will return to-day.

"GENTLEMEN," he began, "you have all told stories of close calls in the great forests of the North, but I think my yarn will eclipse them all. Would you believe that I was once treed by one of the most ferocious bull moose that ever walked the woods? Well gentlemen, I was, and, to make matters worse my ammunition gave out. As I thought of the loved ones at home tears came in my eyes, rolled down in the palm of my hand, and froze hard as marbles. A happy thought flashed through my mind. Taking the frozen tears, I rammed them in my gun, blazed away, killed the moose, and then, gentlemen, and then"—but just then the picture of Ananias fell off the wall.

MODERN DEATH.

In his militant polemical career the late Dr. Langtry may, in a controversial sense, have fathered opinions which failed of acceptance in many quarters, but there must be a general agreement with the sentiment that dictated directions for the utmost simplicity at the burial of his remains. He has always strongly objected to vain ostentation in connection with the burial of the dead, having, doubtless, had its folly demonstrated in his parochial experience, in regard to others, especially those of limited means. In respect of the ultimate disposal of his own body, the venerable archdeacon specifically instructed his son to provide a coffin to cost not more than $25, and that the other expenses should be on a scale of modesty that would make the total of funeral expenses only $35. His casket was to be without ornament other than a simple form of the emblem of the Christian faith, the cross. While opinions may differ in regard to the specific nature of simplicity of burial as directed by Dr. Langtry, there is not much room for doubt that human vanity leads to too much ostentation under circumstances, in which it would, he thought, there could be no room for considerations of the most extreme triviality in comparison with the sad and solemn fact of death and all it means to both the dead and the living. In the most solemn and momentous happening in human experience it would be thought that the petty vanity that takes cognizance of the details of funeral millinery, and competitive triumph over some neighbour's recent attempt at mortuary ostentation, would sink into insignificance alongside the grave, which hides for ever the forms of beloved ones, and blots their dear presence from our lives like a quenched candle, and be swallowed up in the deep grief which death, and its consequences to dead and the living, naturally causes. Conditions change, and there seems to be no more death, as far as the realization of it in the heart, is concerned, as was the case in former days. In times past, not far removed, death was a solemn thing, representing a real loss, to be mourned in the heart, and not alone in the "trappings and the suits of woe," and in gorgeous, if meritricious, magnificence of casket, in elaborate millinery, and "fetching" funeral attire. Time was when death meant grief, deep and assuageless, except at the hands of the great healer, Time. Now, death comes more as a matter of moment to the object, than of real concern to the bereft. The too often demeanour of the world towards death in these days is that of a passing flurry of stormy grief, followed, like a summer shower, by the light and easy relapse into the common ways of life, the distractions of society and the pursuit of pleasure. The too common general demeanour of the world towards death, illustrates, in relation to grief for the departed, the truth of Dr. Young's lines—

As from the wind, no scar the sky retains,
The parted wave no furrow from the keel,
So dies in human hearts the thought of death.

True, the world is for the living, but it is a cruel and coarse materialism which regards death as the severance of all ties; and a cruel and coarse sentimentalism that regards death chiefly as an opportunity for vain display, and gives heartmourning a scant share of interest in the event.

THAT SECESSION MOVEMENT

The Whitney Government entered upon its career with a tremendous flourish of trumpets, a formidable programme of grand achievements—reform in methods, Aristidean exactitude of just administration, a complete cleansing of the Augean stables, a thorough course of political disinfection, a general sweetening of the highways and byways of public life. It was a most promising beginning — promising — that was all. For a time, a very little time, the Government did fairly well, but this did not last long. Last season, a fearful and wonderful mining law was enacted, more in the interests of grafters than in the interests of the public, and indifferent, not to say corrupt, administration, has only intensified its evil features. The administration of the mining law, the gross favouritism exercised at the expense of provincial interests, and the Government's general lax and inefficient administration of their trust ,has not only aroused the indignation of those naturally opposed to the Government, but has provoked the outspoken condemnation of some of the Government's strongest supporters. Misgovernment and maladministration have wrought havoc with Russian conditions, and so intense has the dissatisfaction with the Whitney Government's administration of New Ontario affairs become that even prominent Conservatives are leading the van of a secession movement, and demanding the erection of New Ontario into a separate province. The Liberals had to, fight strenuously against the Conservative party, and Government influence, to keep Ontario together territorially. Now little over a year of Conservative administration has suffered to bring about conditions that justify, to the minds of supporters of the Government, a demand for secession as a means of relief from the misgovernment to which they themselves, in the exercise of a too blind faith, contributed. Even the Ross Government which, according to their successors, were everything that was bad, never provoked a demand for so radical a form of relief as that implied in separation. If the Whitney programme of promise had been in the slightest degree realized, would the good Conservatives at the "Soo" be leading a secession movement? That such a movement may lead to nothing, is neither here nor there. The evil lies in the conditions that give it origin.

IGNORING RESPONSIBILITY.

Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, seems to have a very flabby sense of his responsibility. There is now no properly constituted Provincial Board of Health, the term of the members having expired on Aug. 21st, nearly a fortnight ago. Mr. Hanna has taken no steps to appoint Board; he says there is no necessity of appointing a new Board, and that no interests will suffer from a few days' delay. The interests of the public health are of supreme importance, a fact that we have had recently strongly emphasized. The past week the very air of Toronto has been vibrant with the appeals and demands of the most eminent medical savants in the world—the members of the British Medical Association — made in the interests of public sanitation. They have crossed oceans and covered thousands of leagues to confer upon, and promote public sanitation, such as is confided to the Provincial Board of Health. Yet Mr. Hanna, officially charged with responsibility in this regard, practically gives the British Medical Association the lie in the teeth, by nonchalantly and indifferently declaring that the public health is not of sufficient importance to warrant his taking urgently demanded action, and, in regard to the public health, he echoes the sentiments of the philosophic Mr. Toots—"It's of no consequence." Mr. Hanna may loll in the luxurious leather of his office chair, and say it is of no consequence that convicts and criminals are by the action of himself, and the Government, permitted to be enslaved in the making of goods to compete against honest labour; he may say it is of no consequence that in the absence of a Provincial Board of Health, the sanitary safety and salvation of the public is neglected; but a Minister, seized with a sense of his responsibility, would do something to do it, when needed, instead of adopting an attitude of drift and laissez-faire. He will learn before long, unless he mends his ways, that the people, in respect of himself, will be inclined to adopt the motto — laissez aller — let him go out of office, if he won't "go" in office.

WITH THE SMALL FRY

The woods to the north of Sandy Flat is besieged the last couple of weeks by berry pickers; they come from every direction, big, little, medium size; some early and so avoid the rush. If you have any friends in Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Winnipeg or Vancouver, send them word also.—Warkworth Journal.

The rubber tired run about has been seen going in the direction of C'ford quite often lately. Who is the charming person in that direction. Will?—Meyersburg correspondent to Warkworth Journal.

There's too much fast driving on our streets, especially at night, and Constable Jones says that he is going to try to put a stop to it—and we wish him luck. The majority of the offenders are young men from the country, who own what they think are fast horses and who are afflicted with an almost irresistible propensity to "show off" when they come to town. We have seen some of them whirling their rigs around the corner at the junction of Colborne and Francis streets at a pace that was really dangerous. Go ahead Mr. Constable, and see what you can do towards preserving the lives, limbs and baby carriages of the community.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

The whole town, with a good rural representation from Orono and Clarke, as spectators, went up on the Turbinia last Friday, to give that Ocean Liner instructions on dredging Whitby harbour, and will no doubt receive their reward from the Minister of Railways, Steamboats and Canals, for the efficient work performed at the expense of one night's repose only; but as for the spectators, they have their reward already for they had to put up with none of the inconveniences of sleep as they arrived home just in time to milk the cows and get and give the morning repast. And then as for Sunday? But sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof!—Newcastle Independent.

A car of parkers left our depot in the sweltering heat, on Tuesday, for a trip down the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal, but we warn our readers 'gainst extending their pearls of sympathy over hogs that we shall see no more, to the disadvantage of those we have still sojourning with us.—Newcastle Independent.

Revs. Wilson and Brown were passengers to Toronto last Friday, by the Turbinia, but neither of them got back that day—the one got back Saturday morning; the other, Saturday evening—and on Sunday they exchanged pulpits at both services to the edification of their respective congregations.—Newcastle Independent.

Mr. John Bound has attached a new wind stacker to his threshing machine this season, and now Chan won't work any other place than in the straw.—

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Premier Whitney's journey to Scotland seems superfluous. He can get Scotch nearer home—say, Napanee.

Premier Whitney, now touring in the Eastern Hemisphere, intends visiting Ireland and Scotland before returning home — perhaps to gain pointers as to the best means to deal with Murphy when he comes home.

Is Mr. Hannah, in staving off the appointment of a Provincial Board of Health at the same time staving off the rush of the Conservative office-seekers? Perhaps not; there is not much "graft" in the office, the members only getting a nominal salary.

Bad luck dogs Russia. The crop of assassinations, murders and miscellaneous outrages, is more abundant than the grain crop, whose failure adds to the woes of that unhappy and revolution-ridden country. The scarcity of bread and povender, is almost directly due to the disturbed political conditions, so that the troubles of Russia are of their own making, so that indirectly the autocracy is responsible for the additional suffering of the people due to scarcity of food.

History Of The Fife Wheat

heads were saved. This was on the farm of the late David Fife now occupied by his son, Sylvester Fife.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Fife, who took special charge of the wheat, it was not sown until after the other wheat was above ground. At harvest time it was found that the Siberian wheat was badly rusted while the new variety was not affected in the least.

This crop was gathered by Mrs. Fife and son David, in a sheet and carefully stored away. They had now realized a quart of seed which was sown the spring following by Mrs. Fife and son, producing half a bushel at harvest time. From the produce of the half bushel the neighbours were supplied and the country benefitted by the introduction of Fife wheat. Among other neighbours Mr. Henderson bought a bushel and from the second sowing of the Fife wheat reaped 300 bushels part of which he carried to Keene and turned into the Agricultural Society for $3.00 per bushel, wrongly calling it Glasgow wheat. It never grew in Scotland but was imported direct from the ship. They are still living those who can testify to this statement being true.

The Hands Of Ball Players

A New York writer remarks: "Mordecai Brown made the Giants look like Bush leaguers. And he did it with only three fingers; what would he do to us if he had four?"

Just what the great Chicago National pitcher could do with four fingers is what many followers of the game are wondering. Brown himself, however, makes the startling statement that he could not pitch as well.

The loss of his one finger gives him a wider stretch for his other fingers and thereby permits him to grip the ball more firmly than the average hand is able to grasp it.

Brown is the sensation of baseball this year. He is to the season of 1906 what Christy Mathewson was to last year. The team that wins the American league pennant will have to solve the curves of this man to win the world's honours if the Cubs continue their gait as easily as they have for the past month.

Brown's work has aroused other interesting comment on the hands of ball players.

It is not generally known, but there is a man on the Detroit team crippled in the same way. He is Capt. Bill Coughlin. The fore finger of Coughlin's hand is gone, and yet it is with that hand that he makes those sensational stops that have won him a position this year by the side of Bill Bradley and Jimmy Collins as a third baseman.

Bill Bradley is probably the better all-around third baseman. He can hit better and is smoother in getting in after bunts. Jimmy Collins in his best days was probably a flashier and more spectacular player. But on real hard work, no one at third has it on Coughlin. No man knocks down the fine drives that look good when they start for extra bases the way he does.

And yet he has but three fingers.

Baseball players' hands afford an interesting study. Some are harder than the moulder's or farm hand's. Others are soft as a woman's.

Coughlin's hands are as hard as wood and he has a grip of iron.

It is all in the way the player takes the ball. The reason some players are invariably hurt or have lame hands is because they fight the ball. They do not know how to handle a hot grounder, or, rather, cannot acquire the knack of handling it so that it will not hurt them.

Charlie Carr, whose disposition prevented him from being one of the best first basemen of the American league, probably has the knack of handling a hard thrown ball or a drive from the bat down to a finer point than any other player.

To shake his hand one would think him a ribbon counter clerk. When an infielder threw a man out at first, Carr would reach for the ball. As soon as the ball touched his hands he drew his arms back, so that the ball stopped gradually.

Kid Elberfeld fights the ball and gets away with it just about as well as any other player.

He comes in after every infield hit and snatches it up. You never see the "Kid" waiting for a ball to come to him. He goes right after it, spears it, and throws his man out. Oftimes, if he waited for it, the runner would be safe. If Charlie O'Leary would come in faster he would be a greater shortstop.

Elberfeld, however, has the trick of fighting the ball, and yet giving just so much with it that he does not hurt himself greatly. His hands, from his long years at play, are seared and calloused.

The outfielders' hands are usually soft, and a pitcher's hand does not need to be hard. George Mullin, in good form, has probably the best curved ball in the game, and yet his hands are comparatively soft.

The catchers are the real men to suffer. Jack Warner's fingers are as gnarled and twisted from foul shoots as those of Charlie Bennett, who played in the days when there were no mitts to protect a man.

The third baseman, catcher and shortstop really have the most work to do with their fingers. And as a general rule their hands show it.

Derailed Cars Delay Traffic

Two Cars Left Tracks at Cereal Company's Switch.

Vehicular traffic across the Hunter street bridge was blocked for a short time this morning by a run-off which occurred at the switch of the American Cereal Company's mills. Two cars one loaded with molasses and the other with coal, consigned to the Cereal Company, left the track because of the rails spreading, and for a time the traffic across the bridge was stopped. The train was cut, however, and the congestion of traffic relieved. It was some hours, however, before the cars were replaced on the tracks. No damage was done to the cars or their contents.

Rebekah Lodge For Peterborough

Local Oddfellows Are Endeavoring to Arrange This.

At a meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., held on Thursday night, a committee was appointed to act in conjunction with a similar committee from Otonabee Lodge to arrange for the immediate formation of a Rebekah Lodge in Peterborough. This will be much appreciated by the ladies. Another committee was also appointed to act with Otonabee Lodge in seeing that Peterborough will be strongly represented at the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in Toronto, in September.

Both these committees will attend the meeting of Otonabee Lodge next week.

Look out for the announcement of the City Grocery Store, which will appear in the Examiner of next week. Mr. Kelly is going out of business and will have cut rate sale. Watch for prices Wednesday.

It is urgently requested that all members of the committee should be present as important business is to be discussed. The Non-Coms. are making elaborate preparations and their outing promises to be a great success. Refreshments will be provided free of charge for the ladies on board.

LACROSSE

Uxbridge Journal:—A Siloam sport is anxious to know how many simon pure Beaverton men were on the Checkers line-up when they played their recent championship game in Uxbridge and has applied to The Journal for information. Below we have endeavored to comply with the request by giving the residences of the players before landing in Beaverton for the lacrosse season or for a single game or several games. While we cannot swear to the accuracy of the list, we think it will be admitted by friends of the Beaverton twelve that it is just about correct. We may err in the exact post office address of some of the outside men, but we are certain that Cave and Jacob are the only bona fide residents of Beaverton who played. Of course, according to the rules of the C.L.A., these men are all eligible to play with Beaverton. A man may live anywhere and play anywhere with an intermediate team, provided he plays with but one team and receives no remuneration for his services. And whoever heard of an intermediate player being paid? Byrne, Toronto; Dillon, Peterborough; Regan, Orillia; Cornett, St. Catharines; Dercher, Peterborough; Jacob, Beaverton; Wamirer, Stouffville; McDonough, Orillia; Riley, Lindsay; McGrath, Port Hope; Cave, Beaverton; Anderson, Uxbridge.

* * * *

The knowing ones are figuring on seeing a good game of lacrosse tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m., when the Peterborough and Toronto Junction Juniors meet in a sudden death semi-final game. As both teams are well balanced, the enthusiasts expect to see no one-sided game, but a real good nip and tuck contest.—Lindsay Post.

* * * *

Beaverton Express:—9-1 in favour of Peterborough, was the result of the lacrosse match in Lindsay Saturday when time was called, closing the match for the Junior Championship. Beaverton men went to the front armour clad and presumably invulnerable to even the modern methods of the lacrosse field, but alas! crutches, canes and bandages have been in evidence ever since.

WRECK OF THE DOWD.

Gale Drove Her Ashore at Toronto Island—A Heroic Rescue.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Forsaken by her crew, who had been bravely rescued by a volunteer life-saving crew, the coal schooner Reuben Dowd lay all yesterday off Ward's Island, wedged deeply in the sandbar just west of the eastern gap, to be pounded and battered to pieces, 400 yards from shore by the relentless fury of the ponderous waves. She is now a total loss.

Gale Snaps Big Cables.

The gale which drove the Dowd aground also carried the gigantic clam-shell dredge of M. J. Haney, the contractor, before it, snapping two of her big steel anchoring cables and dragging at the ends of three remaining, two huge rocks, estimated to weigh 5 tons each, and landing her among the boulders alongside of the breakwater which protects the south shore of Ward's Island.

Driven Ashore at 4 a. m.

The Reuben Dowd was driven ashore and wrecked on the Island about two hundred feet west of the eastern channel about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in probably the fiercest gale that has swept over Lake Ontario this season. The Dowd was on her way up from Fair Haven and had a cargo of 725 tons of hard coal for the Conger Coal Co. The schooner is a complete loss. She was jointly owned by Capt. Joyce, the master of the vessel, and the Conger Coal Co. She was valued at $15,000 and the cargo at about $4,000. It may be possible to save much of the latter.

A heavy sea was running, and for over four hours the occupants of the schooner had a thrilling experience in the rigging or other parts of the vessel not directly exposed, and there they remained combating exhaustion until the rescuers arrived.

The Rescue.

The plight of the Dowd was watched by many island residents, among whom was Capt. Ward, and the Government lifeboat was manned by Capt. Ward, his sons, F. and E. Ward; William, Thomas and Harry Ramsden, John Montgomery and Thomas and Hector McDonald. Then all their experience and ingenuity were brought into play, and they finally succeeded in their nervy mission. The captain's wife was taken off first; then his 15-year old son; and three men of the crew followed, and the captain was last. It took three-quarters of an hour to get the seven aboard, with a few personal effects. The rescued ones were taken over by the launch Lillian and transported across the bay.

Those rescued were Capt. John Joyce, Bronte; Mrs. Joyce, cook; J. W. Joyce, captain's son; A. Hinton, mate of South Bay; Harry Williamson, seaman; William Smithson and A. Pearson, Toronto.

Three May Be Drowned.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 25.—It is feared that Mr. and Mrs. George Dewitt of New York, and R. W. Wenborn of Cape Vincent were drowned Thursday night during a squall on Lake Ontario. Mr. Dewitt, who is a broker in New York, and wife have been stopping in Cape Vincent for the past two weeks, and had not returned home from their wedding journey.

WAS IT INCENDIARY?

Haileybury Merchant Questioned Pointedly Concerning the Blaze.

Haileybury, Aug. 25.—The evidence brought out yesterday in the investigation of the big Haileybury fire goes to show that the fire originated in a very suspicious manner. The first witnessed called. J. A. Deservau, said he met a man running from a lane in rear of the Atkinson block. He looked as though he was in a hurry to get away. This was about ten minuates before the fire was discovered.

Mr. Myles, Dr. Jackson, Mr. Brydan and P. Roberts, testified that they noticed a small fire under the warehouse of McCabe & Stinson's at about half-past eleven in the evening, and had put it out, and Dr. Jackson further stated the fire broke out almost in that identical place about 3 a. m. and had gained considerable headway before anyone saw it, and the alarm was raised.

Assigned Since Fire.

W. H. Stinson of McCabe & Stinson was afterwards called, and admitted that their business was in a bad way, and that they had tried to sell out to different parties. The bank had shut down on them, and drafts had to be returned during July, though expenses had considerably exceeded the business done, so that they were practically running at a loss, and since the fire they had made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors.

Several other witnesses were called, but nothing further of any account was brought out.

The investigation was adjourned till to-day at 9 o'clock.

The Watt line steamship Twickenham, of 2,638 tons, laden with raw sugar from Java for the Vancouver refinery, in a dense fog yesterday morning ran on a bad line of rocks, extending out from San Juan Island, where she still hangs in a dangerous position. The accident occurred at high tide and it is feared the ship will break before she can be lightered.

HENRIK IBSEN.

How the Scandinavian Dramatist Impressed an Observer.

William Archer tells how Henrik Ibsen impressed him when he met the Scandinavian dramatist in Rome in 1881: "In glided an undersized man with very broad shoulders and a large leonine head, wearing a long black frock coat with very broad lapels, on one of which a knot of red ribbon was conspicuous. I knew him at once, but was a little taken aback by his low stature. His natural height was even somewhat diminished by a habit of bending forward slightly from the waist, begotten, no doubt, of short-sightedness and the need to peer into things.

"He moved very slowly and noiselessly, with his hands behind his back—an unobtrusive personality. But there was nothing insignificant about the high and massive forehead, crowned with a mane of (then) iron gray hair, the small and pale but piercing eyes behind the gold rimmed spectacles, or the thin lipped mouth, depressed at the corners into a curve indicative of iron will and set between bushy whiskers of the same dark gray as the hair.

"The most cursory observer could not but recognize power and character in the head, yet one would scarcely have guessed it to be the power of a poet, the character of a prophet. One would rather have supposed one's self face to face with an eminent statesman or diplomatist."

THE GULF OF MEXICO.

America's Mediterranean and Its Promise For the Future.

The gulf of Mexico is a sea 1,000 miles long from the straits of Florida to the harbor of Tampico and 800 miles wide from the mouth of the Mississippi river to the mouth of the Coatzacoalcos.

This Mediterranean of the west is surrounded by countries of extraordinary richness in the fertility of their soil, the geniality of their climates, the vastness and value of their forests and the variety and extent of their mineral endowments.

All these countries, capable of sustaining hundreds of millions of people, are inhabited by nations and races who live under republican forms of government and cherish and maintain free institutions. The northern coast line of this important sea is in the great republic of the United States of North America. The southern half is in the next greatest American republic, that of Mexico, while on the east are the important islands of the West Indies, with Cuba at their head. The region around this most important sea is destined to be far richer, more powerful and more distinguished in the history and affairs of our globe than were ever those that bordered the ancient Mediterranean of the eastern hemisphere, not even excepting Egypt, Greece and Rome.

Band Rendered Fine Programme

Big Crowd Heard Them Play Last Night.

One of the largest crowds of the season heard the 57th Band under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, render a delightful programme in Victoria Park last night. The music was for the most part of a popular nature, and was greatly enjoyed. Among the numbers were selections from the comic operas, "The Explorers" and "The Yankee Consul." Other enjoyable selections were the "Happy Heinnie" two-step and the "Jolly Coppersmith." The grandest number of the evening was Godfrey's descriptive nautical fantasia, "A Voyage in a Troopship." The selection, which takes thirty minutes to play, gives the incidents in the voyage of a troopship to India, introducing a very realistic storm at sea. The splendid number was very cleverly rendered by the band.

A VERY GRAVE OFFENCE

A Trade Mark Which Is Infringed By Many Dealers.

(From Montreal Gazette, August 15, 1906.)

The despatch from London, Eng., telling of the tailor who was sent to jail by a police magistrate for misrepresenting some tweed and infringing the Trade Mark Act, brings home the criminal conduct to retailers, (who repeatedly deceive their customers. In this case it was found out that the tailor was advertising suits made to order from Harris tweed. He did not have a yard of Harris tweed in his store.

In Canada some dealers are lax in their morals in this respect. The Slater Shoe, which is the shining mark in the commercial world, is perhaps the favourite choice of the infringers. The Slater Shoe Company receive letters every day from many receive letters every day from people who say they bought Slater Shoes from dealers who never had a Slater Shoe in their store. The new customer wants a new pair of Slater Shoes for these worthless imitations. One can conceive their indignation at the deception practiced upon them. All sorts of subterfuges are practiced.

Some dealers surely do not appreciate the gravity of the offence. The real Slater Shoe has the Slater Slate trade mark plainly marked upon each pair. The good nature of the company is taxed to its limit when some of these letters are received from the victims of substitutors and imitators.

Fenelon Fall's Sunday Fishers

Those Guilty May Soon be Prosecuted.

We hear that there is almost as much fishing done in our local waters on Sundays as there is on other days; and we also hear that steps are about to be taken to prosecute the offenders. It is illegal to fish on Sunday, and those who will not obey the law will have to take the consequences.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

Look out for the announcement of the City Grocery Store, which will appear in the Examiner of next week. Mr. Kelly is going out of business and will have cut rate sale. Watch for prices Wednesday.

went "the bright fantastic toe" with great spirit, which was kept up continuously until Jubilee was reached at a quarter to twelve o'clock.

The efficient committee was composed of Messrs. John Law, of the moulding shop; Mr. Chas. Brine, of the blacksmith shop; Mr. Wm. Savigney, of the paint shop; Mr. Thos. Distin, of the machine shop, and Mr. D. Barber, of the wood shop. So well did they discharge their duty that everything passed off very pleasantly and without a hitch. It was a "clean cut," and no metal was wasted.

After leaving the second bridge at Bonsfort wharf, Mr. Robt. Logan, one of the company's oldest foremen, took the wheel and steered the steamer to within a short distance of Jubilee. He was complimented for his good work, which his long familiarity with the river enabled him so successfully to accomplish.

At one part of the down trip, Mr. Maude, foreman of the machine shop, was inquiring from Capt. White about the number of buoys which marked out the channel, when he was heard humourously to remark: "Captain, why don't they put down some girls to mark the channel as well as buoys?"

The captain, with a merry, mischievous twinkle in his eye, answered: "Because they would go off with the first swell."

Dinner was enjoyed by a large portion of the excursionists under the cool shade trees of the park, where the employees with their wives and families sat round the rustic tables and partook of the fruits of their labour from well-laden baskets. Fully seventy-five also took dinner at the hotel, where Mr. Gilman the proprietor, had made extra preparations for the party. The bill of fare was pronounced very satisfactory, and in abundant quantity. Mr. Gilman has 15 permanent guests at his house at the present time, and quite a number of others are still slated for future dates.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in dancing, playing quoits, baseball, etc. A canoe race was to have been a principal event, but this was called off because of the high wind which prevailed.

The following events were run off:

Girls' race, under 6 years — E Skates, H Peters, J Peters.

Boys, under 6 — L Adlum, E Brady, R Turner.

Girls, 6 to 10 — M Barrie, P Peters, K White.

Boys, 6 to — J Murray, H Hatcher, S Taylor.

Girls, 10 to 14 — A Murray, E Pairie, V Collison.

Boys, 10 to 14 — J McGrath, T Hartie, T Hatcher.

Young ladies' race — L Murray, S Collison, T Sebrook.

Boys' race — C Skates, N Barrie, R Thompson.

Married women's race — Mrs Adlum, Mrs Thomas, Mrs Peters.

Married men's race — T Starr, C Skates, G Barrie.

Quoit match—Won by J L Maude and Jas Booth.

A baseball match between the moulders and a picked team from the shop resulted in a score of 17 to 3 in favour of the moulders.

Teddy Andrews, the star mouth-organ player, entertained the excursionists with some excellent exhibitions of his skill. Frank Turner also displayed his musical skill on the same instrument, and was favoured with repeated encores. Bob Maxwell, the cupola man of the moulding shop, also assisted in enlivening the day with his fife, and when he led off with "The Girl I left Behind Me," or some stirring 12th of July tune, there was no holding the boys and girls.

Master Harold Hatcher, a pretty little boy of about 12 years, and son of Mr. Jas. Hatcher, a moulder, sang several songs with sweet melodious effect, for which he was heartily applauded.

Interesting Facts.

Among the workmen present at this excursion, there were quite a number of veteran employees—not old men, but men who have served an unusually lengthened period with the firm. The following list gives the names of some of those obtainable and the number of years since they entered the service of the firm. In some cases a break of a short period may have occurred in the continuity of service:

Roll Call of Oldest Employees.

	Years.
Alex. Gillespie	44
George Minorgan	35
William C. Barrie	35
Robert Drury	35
Thos. Hickey	34
Jas. Gillespie	33
Robert Logan	31
John S. Logan	30
Joseph Craig	29
Thomas Distin	25
William Savigny	23
George Milne	23
Dixon Best	20
David Harper	17
Jas. L. Maud	16
John Law	15
Frank Turner	15

It is quite probable that this list does not include the names of all the employees who have been in the employ of the company for a period of fifteen years and over, but it is sufficiently suggestive of the peace and harmony which must exist between employers and employees, and the contentment and attachment which the men must have for their positions.

It is also interesting to mention, what is vouched for by Mr. George Minorgan, the respected foreman of the moulding shop, that at the time time when he entered the firm, 35 years ago, there was only one moulder in the shop, and that then they only cast once a week. At that time, too, the present head of the firm, Mr. Peter Hamilton, was accustomed to taking off his coat on casting day and helped the men to pour off the metal.

At that time only ten men figured on the pay roll. Now the foundry must cast every day of the week, and the pay roll has grown until it has been swelled to over 130 men.

About 4.30 the steamer with its party left Jubilee, on the return trip and arrived home at 8 o'clock.

Historic Interest In Old Methodist Church

First Church in Canada Erected by This Demonination—Still Stands at Hay Bay—Some Interesting Historical Facts in Reference to This Old Structure.

By Maud Benson.

The Bay of Quinte district has aptly been called "the birthplace of empire." Rich are its points and inlets in historical associations, but unfortunately one after another, the old landmarks of the Loyalists have disappeared until but very few remain. Certainly the most interesting of the ones that are left is the old wooden building that served the purpose of the first Methodist Church in Canada. This cradle of Canadian Methodism stands on south shore of Hay Bay, a branch of the Bay of Quinte, and is in a fairly good state of preservation. A short distance away is Adolphustown and the old Loyalist burying-ground, where many of the "Empire founders" are resting from their labours.

The first itinerant Methodist preacher to visit Adolphustown was

First Methodist Church in Canada at Hay Bay

Rev. William Lossee, who came to Canada from the States in the year 1790. Playter says of him:—"Lossee was a Loyalist, and knew some of the settlers in Adolphustown before they left the United States. He desired to see them and preach to them. It was well for him that he was a Loyalist, coming as he did from the States, among British subjects who had forfeited all save honour in the cause of the mother country, for their feelings against all citizens of the new republic were very bitter; and who would blame them?

However much to-day we boast of Anglo-America influence throughout the world, and regret the ill-judged measures of the English Government which forced the American colonies to revolt, we revere nevertheless the staunch men and women, who, although hoping against hope that the people would secure a redress of their grievances by constitutional methods, remained true to the mother country through good and ill repute. These men and women readily opened the doors of their log cabins to Lossee, who entered on his new field of Labour Feb., 1791. Immediately he set himself to work to form classes, and on the third concession of Hay Bay, at Paul Huff's house, he established his first class. Lossee is described as being a plain and powerful speaker and his congregation increased so fast that Paul Huff's house became too small. Accordingly a subscription was taken up to build a church; the list bears date Feb. 3, 1792, and is still in existence. Timber was collected during the remainder of the winter, a part being brought from the north side of the bay on the ice, and in the spring the building was commenced.

There is an old account book in the Bay district in which Robt. Clarke carpenter, credits himself with 12 1-2 days work on the chapel at 5s 6d per day. Among others who subscribed towards the erection of the church were Paul Huff, Peter Frederick, Elizabeth Roblin, W. Casey, Daniel Steel, Joseph Ellison, Wm. Green, Wm. Ruttan, Solomon Huff, Stophel German, John Green, Peter Ruttan, Joseph Copp, John Biminger, Conrad Vandusen, Arra Ferguson, Daniel Defoe, Andrew Embury, Henry Davis and T. Hetchson. Paul Huff gave the land on which to build and ten pounds sterling. Peter Frederick was a blacksmith and helped in many ways about the building. Conrad Vandusen gave the largest amount, fifteen pounds. He had been keeping a tavern on the Bay of Quinte shore, and when converted by Lossee took and axe and chopped down his sign. The second largest contributor was Elizabeth Roblin, who gave twelve pounds. She was the widow of Philip Roblin, who was one of the first of the Loyalists to die after reaching Adolphustown. Mrs. Roblin was a brave and grand woman. She is the ancestress of Premier Roblin of Manitoba, and grandmother of the late John P. Roblin of Prince Edward, who was for many years a prominent member of the old Reform party in the Upper Canada Legislature. Many of Mrs. Roblin's descendants are honoured residents of Canada to-day, and, with the exception of Premier Roblin, all belong to the old Reform school. The two Ruttan brothers were liberal subscribers to the church building fund. Peter gave four pounds, and William ten pounds.

The Hay Bay district was a haven of rest for the circuit riders, and the old church was always crowded by men and women who had travelled many miles through the woods, often carrying their children in their arms or on their backs in order that they too might listen to the "word of life." They were earnest Christians and so also were their children after them. They are all gone now, only their memory, influence and the old church remain.

"Not here! Oh, yes, our hearts their presence feels.
Viewless, not voiceless, from the deepest shells
On memory's shore harmonious echoes steal;
And names which in the days gone by were spells
Are blent with that soft music. If there dwells
The spirit here our country's fame to spread,
While every breast with joy and triumph swells,
And earth reverberates to our measured tread,
Banner and wreath will own reverence for the dead."

Norwood School Board Engages New Teachers

An Important Meeting of the Board Held This Week.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, August 23.—The Board of Education met on Monday evening, the following members being present: Messrs. J. L. Squire, chairman; C. W. Waters, E. P. Cuffe, Dr. Robertson, J. F. Elliott, J. A. Finlay and Wm. Webster.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following communications were read:

From Miss Brighty, stating that her sister would be unable to resume her duties on account of her health, and offering her services to the Board.

Mr. Squire stated that he had consulted several members of the Board and had, on their recommendations, accepted Miss Brighty's offer.

Miss Kirkpatrick asked for a month's leave of absence.

The chairman stated that on account of the above request he had interviewed Miss Howson, and her consent was given to assume Miss Kirkpatrick's duties for the time required.

Moved by Dr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Finlay, that the Board approve the action of the chairman and accept the arrangements made by him.—Carried.

A report of the cadet inspector, giving a satisfactory report of the cadet corps, was received.

It was moved by Mr. Cuffe, and seconded by Mr. Webster, that the above report be accepted and published.

Report of inspection of the steam boilder by the insurance company was read. It showed the boiler in a generally satisfactory condition, but required a few minor repairs, which had been seen to by the janitor.

Moved by Dr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Elliott that the report be accepted.

Mr. McNichol, representative of the Dominion Radiator Co., Toronto, addressed the Board, giving an estimate of the cost of installing a steam heating plant to heat the two schools.

Mr. McNichol thought that if the Board contemplated the outlay of two or three hundred dollars for a hot air furnace, that on account of the economy of steam heating, it would pay the Board to install a plant which would not cost more than $1,000, and guaranteed to heat the two schools to 70 degrees in zero weather with from two to four pounds of steam. He would estimate that the coal consumed would not exceed from 30 to 35 tons per year.

The chairman pointed out that last year the cost of fuel was $425. With the new system it would cost not more than $275. He thought that any action would have to be deferred for another year.

Moved by Dr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Elliott, that in view of the information given, it is resolved that any action be deferred till next meeting of the Board.

Regarding seats for the Public School, Dr. Robertson said quotations had been received from several firms.—Left with Property Committee.

The following accounts were presented:

W. Montgomery, repairs to boiler, brick work, and plastering, $4.00.

R. Nicol, coal, $179.90.

Moved by Mr. Cuffe, seconded by Mr. Webster that the two accounts be paid.—Carried.

Mr. Finlay said the floors had been completed in the Public School rooms. Some members thought the floors should be oiled.

Board adjourned.

Severe Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. George Lawson, Consecon, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured me of constipation, rheumatism, stomach troubles and a very severe kidney trouble, after years of suffering. I am now 68 years of age, and very grateful for what Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have done for me."

Respected Lady Laid To Rest

Late Miss Bella Fair's Funeral Yesterday Largely Attended.

Examiner Special.

Millbrook, August 24. — A great news of the death of Miss Isabella Mario (Bella) Fair, which took place at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Wednesday, August 22. Within the short period of five years, our good fellow-townsman, Mr. William Fair, was bereaved of his wife and four children. In the month of May, 1900, Miss Annie Fair died; in July, 1900, Mr. George Fair died in consequence of an accident; in September, 1903, Miss Sarah Fair passed away, and in November of the same year, Mrs. Fair died after a short illness.

Miss Bella Fair took sick last fall, after having nursed her sister, Miss Ida, through a serious illness. All that medical skill could do and devise was without result, and after much suffering, patiently borne, she passed away on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The body was taken to Millbrook that night, and the funeral took place yesterday from the residence of her father to St. Thomas church, thence to St. Paul's cemetery, Cavan. The Rev. Wm. C. Allan, M.A., rector of Cavan, took the service at the house for the members of the family. At the church a large congregation was present. The coffin was received at the church door by the rector, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, who also assisted in the service. The hymns sung at the service were chosen by the departed, and the whole service conducted in a quiet manner, according to deceased's wishes. While the congregation sang "Nunc Dimittis" the body was taken out of the church and interred at the cemetery in the family plot beside her sister, who preceded her at death in 1903. Rev. Wm. C. Allan officiated at the grave. The pallbearers were four cousins, Messrs. Jas. Wood, Jas. McCamus, Wilfred Brown, William Campbell, and two representatives of St. Thomas choir, Messrs. Harry Allen and Charles Needler. Many beautiful floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the departed was held. Miss Fair was a graduate nurse of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and had been engaged in private nursing for several years. Wherever she was known she was admired for her strength of character, kindness of heart and sympathetic nature. In Millbrook she was a great favourite because of her excellent qualities of heart and mind, and genuine sorrow is felt at her death. To the bereaved aged father, the surviving brother, Mr. Robt. Fair, and sister, Miss Ida, the hearty sympathy of the community is extended. Several friends from a distance attended the obsequies, among them from Peterborough being Mr. Harry Rush, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Mr. Hugh Waddell and Mr. William Davidson, and a deputation of the employees of Mr. Fair's establishment.

Boy Fell And Broke His Arm

Painful Injury to Eleven-Year-old Geo. Bain.

Mrs. W. G. Menzies and Miss Isabel Menzies, 291 Rubidge street, left on a visit to Toronto this morning.

Mrs. Ald. H. Lehane returned home to-day after spending a week visiting Mrs. P. Boland, of Asphodel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy returned last night from a two weeks' trip down the St. Lawrence. They visited Quebec and the Saguenay.

Mr. A. Murty, Peterborough, was in town yesterday on business ..... Mr. A. Miller, Peterborough, visited town yesterday on business.—Lindsay Post.

Miss Maud Donnelly, of Toronto, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. D. Craig at Upsidon, Stony Lake, for the last three weeks, is spending a few days in the city before leaving for home.

Miss Florence Adlam, daughter of Mr. Seth Adlam, 63 Bolivar street, celebrated her eleventh birthday yesterday by giving a very enjoyable party at which some fifteen of her young friends were present. The evening was most pleasantly spent in games and singing, and delightful refreshments were served.

Few Farmers At The Market

Vegetables and Small Fruits Were However, Pletiful.

The fact that the farmers are very busy in the harvest fields was shown by the small attendance at the market this morning. On the outside market nearly all were market gardeners. The produce offered for sale, like last Saturday, was composed of vegetables and fruit, for both of which there was a big demand. Housewives are commencing to do their preserving and consequently a large quantity of plums were sold. Tomatoes at 30c a peck were also a feature of the market. Prices showed but little variation from last week.

Following are some of the prevailing figures: Green gages, 10c per quart; Lombards, 10c per quart; thimble berries, 2 boxes for 25c; Astrachan apples, 25c per peck; other varieties, 20c peck; tomatoes, 30c peck; green corn, 10c per dozen; musk melons, 5c and 10c; ducks, $1 per pair; chickens, 60 to 90c per pair; eggs, 17 and 18c per doz.; butter, 25c per lb.

Insurance Men Form Association with the distrust which often exists between Agents, by bringing them into closer contact and forwarding in every possible way the interest in good life insurance.

Mr. Milne stated they had organized Associations all over the Dominion and at the present time the American Underwriters Association were doing excellent work among the Life insurance men of the United States and he thought the time was not far distant when the Canadian and the United States Associations would be amalgamated.

The meeting adjourned at 5.30 p. m. after tending a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Milne.

Lindsay After Hockey Players

In Anticipation of Fast Team for This Season.

The Lindsay Post offers the following advice to the hockey enthusiasts of that town:—

Now is the time for our Hockey Club to get their spectacles in shape and size up the material for a championship team. If it isn't here, get it. With so many young fellows going West, there should be no difficulty in getting good, steady and permanent positions for any that are required.

Epidemic Follows On Earthquake

Threatens Valparaiso If Rain Continues Much Longer.

BARREL SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

San Francisco, Made Sympathetic by Similar Suffering, Sends $35,000 to Relief Fund of Valparaiso—Chilian Government Has Authorized No One to Collect Funds in Its Name—700 Already Buried.

Valparaiso, Aug. 25.—There were two slight earth shocks here Thursday night.

Rain began falling again yesterday morning, increasing the sufferings of the thousands who are living in tents.

Many of them sought refuge from the rain in houses whose walls are in a dangerous state of ruin.

It is believed that if the rain continues much longer a serious epidemic is sure to break out here.

Find Child Alive in Barrel.

About 10,000 workmen are employed in clearing away the ruins here and in searching for the bodies of those who lost their lives during the recent earthquake and fires. In the ruins of a house yesterday workmen found a child, alive, in a barrel, which had protected it from harm.

The sale of articles of food by merchants here is strictly supervised by the city and Government officials, in order to prevent any abuses in the direction of increases in prices.

Merchants detected in the act of selling food about the fixed prices are compelled to close their stores [illegible]

'Frisco Sends $35,000.

In addition to money received here from various parts of Chili for the relief of the sufferers, $35,000 has been received from San Francisco, California. The Government of Chili in reply to cable messages received from Chilians abroad, offering to collect funds for the relief of the sufferers has thanked them, but has not given them an authorization to collect money in the name of the Government, as Chili has sufficient resources to care for the homeless.

A committee composed of engineers has been appointed to examine all the buildings now standing, and to report upon their condition, so that those which are in a dangerous state may be pulled down.

Shoot 150 Robbers.

Santiago, Chili, Aug. 23.—(10 p. m.)—(Delayed in transmission.)—The news received here from Valparaiso continues to confirm the worst impressions formed of the situation there.

As a result of the strong measures taken to preserve order, at least 150 robbers have already been shot.

Bodies are still being taken out of the ruins, and thus far about 700 have been buried.

It is said that an epidemic is almost certain to occur at Valparaiso as a result of the unsanitary conditions existing there.

The houses here are being more and more damaged by the continuing earth shocks. In addition to the one which occurred at about 10 o'clock this evening, there was another shock this morning.

WILD WIND FOR RIFLEMEN.

Still O. R. A. Men Made Some Very Good Shooting.

Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Aug. 25.—A young gale frolicked on the ranges nearly all day of the last matches of the Ontario Rifle Association this year, yesterday, but there was remarkable shooting considering the conditions. The Gzowski match, which was the last one, provided the spectacular feature. It is a skirmishing and quick-firing competition, covering nearly all distances on the ranges, and is named after the late Col. Sir Casimir Gzowski. The teams went in two relays and the result showed the 13th Regiment of Hamilton in front, with 44 points. The first team of the Grenadiers was next, followed by the Queens' Own and [illegible] between the Ottawa Foot Guards and the fifth team of the Grenadiers.

The militia aggregate goes to Corp. McGregor G.G.B.G., 345 points, with Sergt. Armstrong next at 342.

The team prizes in the Tait-Blakey match will not be announced till to-day, as they are very close and the statistical officers had to go over them again.

Sergt. P. Armstrong, R. G., won the "all-comers' aggregate" with a score of 252, and secures the O. R. A. silver medal. Staff Sergt. Simpson won the Lord Tenn[illegible] match.

BOMB FOR ALFONSO.

Resulted In Twenty-Five Being Killed and 109 Wounded.

Madrid, Aug. [illegible]—The newspapers of this city Thursday printed the report of the examining magistrate in the case of the coronation bomb throwing.

The police maintain the charges against Senor Ferrer, director of the model school of Barcelona, and Haming, who assisted in the escape of Morales.

To persons who suffered damage to property by the explosion the magistrate awards $3,970 damages.

The report of the magistrate adds that by the explosion twenty-five persons were killed and 109 wounded, of which latter number fourteen are still convalescing.

The report says that the evidence proves that Morales sent bombs from Barcelona to Paris to be used in an attempt on the life of King Alfonso while he was in the latter city.

Sultan Orders Withdrawal.

Paris, Aug. 25.—Private despatches say that the Sultan of Turkey has ordered the evacuation of the Tripolitan Oasis of Dyanct, pending the result of the negotiations between Turkey and France, which will continue at Constantinople.

Mrs. Limberger's Suicide.

Chatham, Aug. 25.—Mary Limberger, a maiden lady, who was brought here from Duart last July and placed in St. Joseph's Hospital, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by drowning herself in the Thames. She was despondent.

The emigration from Russia this year exceeded a quarter of a million persons.

MEETINGS ENDED.

British Medical Association Just Ceases Work—Falls To-day, Then a Week of Canadian Travel.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Only one or two previous meetings of the British Medical Association have exceeded the present one in point of attendance, and that only to a slight degree, while, considering that those had been held in London, the present gathering beats all records.

Yesterday afternoon, when the registration lists were closed, nearly 2,900 names had been enrolled, and the ladies who accompanied their relatives are estimated to bring the number up to not less than 3,000.

The main object of the meeting was the furtherance of the great aims of science and philanthropy. In this respect the general testimony was to the high character of the papers and addresses, and the valuable nature of the subsequent discussions in all sections.

A few points have been emphasized, and indicate the tendency of professional interest. One of these is in regard to cancer. But on this subject no statement will be made officially until the whole question has passed beyond the experimental stage.

On several occasions during the meeting the use of alcohol as a drug was tht subject of discussion. There is an undoubted difference of opinion on this point. There was no difference on its use as a beverage.

The work of the meeting closed yesterday with the adjournment of the several sections. There was no formal closing ceremony.

Dr. C. P. Lusk, secretary of the excursion committee, stated yesterday that it had been decided to amalgamate the two excursions to Niagara Falls to-day, one of which was to go by boat and the other by train, and both parties will go by G. T. R., leaving the Union Station at 9 a.m.

BOMBS AND ROBBERY.

Russia's Internal Troubles Are Not Easing Up as Yet.

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—Revolutionists Thursday night attacked the railroad station at Gtwock, killed an employe and escaped, with $400.

The troops arrested eleven suspects, but yesterday when the train carrying the prisoners approached Warsaw, fifty armed men stopped it.

Ten soldiers fired on the highwaymen, killing one, and wounding one, and arrested another.

The others fled to a neighboring forest.

In the crowded waiting-room of the railroad station at Smiela, five men armed with revolvers attacked the station master yesterday. Three bombs were exploded, and a number of persons were injured, but not fatally. The brigands got off with $500.

The superintendent of a factory belonging to M. Sahunisky, a member of the Council of the Empire, was waylaid and robbed of $5,000 yesterday.

Sappers Mutiny.

Odessa, Aug. 25.—The eleventh and twelfth Sapper Battalions encamped at Morzovka, near Odessa, mutinied Thursday night.

They met and passed a resolution not to fire on the revolutionists if called upon.

Officers of the battalions who tried to break up the meeting were beaten by the soldiers.

Robberies and murders having become more frequent here the citizens have petitioned the Governor-General to double the police force and compel every proprietor of a house to maintain three, instead of one armed porter.

A U. S. PROPOSITION.

Negotiations With Canada May Be Opened Up—Cabinet Called.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—The forthcoming Cabinet meeting is reported to have been summoned for the purpose of considering an important proposition from the United States, having for its object the settlement of differences between the United States and Canada.

It has long been known that Sir Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador at Washington, has been anxious to make a reputation for himself by taking up questions outstanding between Canada and its neighbor to the south, and making a clean slate.

Then it is patent to everybody that the Campbell-Bannerman Government are anxious to remove all possible causes of friction with the United States. The Balfour Administration were eager to do this, and the present Government are apparently even more bent upon such a consummation.

Within the past few days Sir Mortimer Durand has visited Quebec and Murray Bay, ostensibly to enjoy a vacation. But the British Ambassador does not usually take his vacations in Canada. Newport is much more accessible to diplomatic quarters in Washington and moreover, attracts the cream of United States society. The inference, therefore, is that Sir Mortimer did not come to Canada for his health, but to place himself in direct personal intercourse with the Governor-General and the Prime Minister of Canada.

Following the British Ambassador's visit comes the call for a Cabinet meeting on "important business."

Italian Uses a Knife.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—The Italian and his knife got busy shortly after midnight at Simcoe and Queen streets. Tony Genetto, 323 West Adelaide street, was there with his pushcart. Harry Roseman, 193 West Adelaide street, came along and purchased 5 cents' worth of peaches. While Genetto was counting out the fruit, Roseman took a peach off the cart and started to eat it. This angered Genetto, who drew a knife and opened it with his teeth. Roseman ran a few feet and was caught by the Italian and stabbed in the left side. But were mixed up on the pavement when P. C. Wilson came along and placed them both under arrest.

Clerk Gets Nine Months.

St. Thomas, Aug. 25.—Bert Bridle charged with stealing $42 from the Southwestern Traction Co., the proceeds of tickets, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to nine months in the Central Prison by Police Magistrate Glenn yesterday afternoon.

Sailboat Ashore.

Oakville, Aug. 25.—A sailboat, 22 feet long, 8 foot beam, with the mast broken, came ashore yesterday morning opposite the Gooderham farm, east of Oakville.

Two Trains Collide With Fatal Results

Between Wabash and C. P. R. Engines Has Fatal Results.

2 ARE DEAD; OTHERS HURT

C. P. R. Engineer Scalded to Death and Baggageman Is Mortally Crushed—The C. P. R. Fireman, Terribly Scalded, May Pull Through—Railway Dispute Blame, But Signalman Bears Out C. P. R.

St. Thomas, Aug. 25.—A side-on collision took place at 6.20 yesterday morning between the C. P. R. passenger train as it was leaving for Toronto and a Wabash passenger train coming west into the city at a crossing protected only by semaphores just outside the city limits, one mile and a half from the C. P. R. station.

The passengers, numbering between 300 and 400, all escaped injury.

The engineer, John MacKay, of the C. P. R., died within an hour after being taken out of the wreck, being terribly scalded.

Alex. Wiley, baggage man of the C. P. R. train, is fatally injured, his head being terribly crushed. He is not expected to recover.

S. Patterson, C. P. R. fireman, is also terribly scalded, and is not likely to live.

The engineer and fireman of the Wabash escaped injury.

Railways Dispute Blame.

The officials of the C. P. R. claim they had the right of way, and the semaphore was against the Wabash passenger train. The Wabash claim the fault lies with the C. P. R.

The Wabash engine struck the C. P. R. between the cab and tender, and both engines are total wrecks. The escape of the passengers was miraculous.

The C. P. R. conductor, Peter Stewart, received an injury to his head, and is badly shaken up. Manse Borbridge, Dominion express messenger on the C. P. R. train, escaped injury by holding on to a rope in the car.

John MacKay was 32 years of age, and only lately came here from London. He leaves a wife and two children. Alex. Wiley was 60 years of age, and he used to be conductor on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad. He was an old employe of the C. P. R.

Later—Mansfield Borbridge of St. Thomas, Dominion express messenger, who was supposed to have escaped injury and helped to rescue the other injured men, suddenly became delirious and on being examined found his back and side were severely injured.

James Potts, Wabash fireman, St. Thomas, had both wrists badly sprained.

Peter Stewart, the veteran C. P. R. conductor of St. Thomas, has slight injuries to left hip and arm and a bruise on the forehead.

The signal man at the diamond, Wm Hall, bears out the C. P. R. crew story that they had the right-of-way, and the signal was against the Wabash.

An inquest was opened at the Court House before Coroner Luton, who empanelled a jury, viewed the remains of the dead engineer, John MacKay of Toronto Junction, and adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Ottawa Man Killed.

Cornwall, Aug. 25.—The man whose terribly mutilated remains were found on the G. T. R. between Summerstown and Lancaster on Thursday morning, has been identified as John Cavanaugh of Ottawa. Mrs. Cavanaugh, who is left with three small children, recognized the remains.

Arm Caught Between Rollers.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—D. R. Droy, 63 Yorkville avenue, an employe of Smith Bros., 219 East Front street, had his arm badly lascerated and broken yesterday afternoon. He was working at a carding machine, and the arm caught between the rollers. He was taken to the General.

FIELDING ELECTION TRIAL.

Counsel For Petitioner Appeals to the Supreme Court.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 25.—In the Fielding election case, the counsel for the petitioner has given notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the ruling of the election court, excusing Mr. Fielding from answering questions put for the purpose of securing evidence to prove the personal charges against the respondent.

The question was as to the amount of money which Mr. Fielding had admitted he paid Hon. E. M. Farrell in connection with the election of 1900, and the election court upheld him in his refusal to answer. It is from this ruling that the appeal is taken.

BURGLARS GET A HAUL.

Professional "Job" at Ridgeway Postoffice Thursday Night.

Ridgeway, Aug. 25.—Thursday night burglars pried open the front door of the postoffice here and blew the safe up, taking about $200 worth of stamps and about $90 in cash. No damage was done to the building, but the safe was badly wrecked.

I. L. Pound also missed his horse and buggy yesterday morning, and communicated with the chief of police at Fort Erie, and received word that his outfit was there. It is supposed that the burglars drove to Fort Erie and crossed over to Buffalo.

Insurgents Scattered In Cuba

Are Being Scattered By the Loyal Government Troops.

RETAKE SAN JUAN MARTINEZ

Rebel Leader Guerra States the Object He Has In the Revolution and Why He Desires to Peacefully Occupy the Towns—Meanwhile There Is No Rush of Recruits to Government Standard at $2 Day.

Havana, Aug. 25.—Reports from the country districts say that the people generally have been influenced by the Liberal leaders, and are inclined to distrust the motives of President Palma's Government. Therefore, they readily sympathize with the cause of the insurgents.

In the cities there is much more approach to genuine patriotism but the Government's offer of two dollars pay a day for all recruits meets with slow response. Many men are interested in the crisis, as onlookers, but a genuine, general desire to fight for the Government is lacking.

Insurgents Are Scattered.

The first encounter in Santa Clara Province occurred yesterday morning. A detachment of Rural Guards attacked an insurgent band, commanded by Manuel Gonzalez, between Santo Domingo and Colon. The insurgents were scattered, and some of their arms and ammunition were captured.

The Government regards Guerra's movement on Guanes as being a retreat before the forces sent against him from the City of Pinar del Rio.

Guerra declared, previous to his departure from San Juan de Martinez, that after occupying Guanes and getting accessions, he would return and surround and capture Pinar del Rio without the shadow of a doubt.

Object of Rebel Leader.

Pino Guerra, who Thursday captured the Town of San Juan de Martinez, Province of Pinar del Rio, following his capture of San Luis the day before, says that his policy is to occupy the towns as peacefully as possible, to continue the local authorities in office for the present, and to change the officials gradually, and compel the Government to annul the last elections and hold new ones.

A letter received here from a reliable correspondent, who visited Pino Guerra at San Juan de Martinez, says that the insurgent leader's force amounts to 2,000 men; that all the people in that part of the country are Liberals and sympathizers with the insurrection, but that Guerra has not sufficient ammunition either to take Pinar del Rio or sustain a prolonged fight.

Town Retaken.

A force of Government artillerymen under command of Capt. Pujol yesterday occupied San Juan de Martinez without resistance. This town was taken Aug. 23 by a band of insurgents operating under Pino Guerra.

At San Antonio de los Banos, Havana Province, a detachment of rural guards yesterday encountered a band of insurgents. Of the latter two were killed. Their comrades were dispersed.

Theft Charge Falls Through.

Walkerton, Aug. 25.—R. I. Henderson of the Henderson Roller Bearing Co., who was arrested in Toronto last Saturday and brought here to answer to the charge of stealing $1,300 from Henry Peppler of Hanover, received a preliminary trial before A. W. Robb and James Tolton, J. P.'s yesterday. The theft charge fell through, but today the Magistrates will go into a case of obtaining money under false pretences, if a charge is laid.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 25.—Stocks made new high records to-day. Union Pac. and Southern Pac. were the leaders with Atchison selling up to 107, a new high price for that issue. St. Paul, which sells twenty points ex-rights and dividend early next week touched 198 about the highest ever known for Paul and held the gain. Activity was confined mostly to the above-named issues, but the Steel stocks went fractionally higher than before and Rock Island was strong.

The Bank statement was not quite as bad as expected, but after its appearance the general market sold off, closing a large part of the early gain. St. Paul and Atchison alone holding up. The close was active and irregular.

BOOMS SPELLING REFORM.

Roosevelt In Accord, and Public Documents Will Adopt "Thru."

Oyster Bay, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt has endorsed the Carnegie spelling reform movement.

He issued orders yesterday to Public Printer Stillings that hereafter all messages from the President and all other documents emanating from the White House shall be printed in accordance with the recommendation of the spelling reform committee, headed by Brander Matthews, professor of English in Columbia University.

This committee has published a list of 300 words, in which the spelling is reformed. The list contains such words as "thru" and "tho," as the spelling for "through" and "though."

The President's official sanction of this reform movement is regarded as the most effective and speediest method of inaugurating the new system of spelling throughout the United States.

ARRESTING OLD AGE.

Modern Life and the Lengthening Period of Youth.

It may seem strange to us, though the fact nevertheless remains, that the veterans of the grand army of Napoleon, weighed down by age and glory, were men of whom few had passed their thirty-fifth year. It was a time of rash and short living, with an early age and no overtures of real youth—a time when we find Thackeray ridiculing Du Florac for holding claims on being still a young man at the age of thirty-five! The unmistakable tendency of our time to rejuvenate life and to prolong or, rather, to vanquish age, is placing its stamp on every event of individual existence. The average man today carries the spirit and power of youth into an age which a century ago was regarded as bordering on the shady side of existence. The buoyancy and vigor characteristic of our present middle aged man make it in most cases extremely difficult to approach any fair degree of accuracy in determining the age of a person passing along the ascension scale between forty and fifty-five. And what is said of man refers, of course, in equal if not in still more accentuated degree to woman. One of the causes of this remarkable arrest of old age lies undoubtedly in the increasing indulgence of our time in healthy outdoor sports, with their care free and worry free abandon. The occasional freeing of the mind from the "strenuous life," the determination for a longer or shorter time to force business and routine interests to the wall and give up oneself without scruple or narrow minded conventional restraint to the spirit of the sport, undoubtedly tends to liberate forces of original pristine strength.—Dr. A. E. Gibson in Medical Brief.

A FAMOUS DANCER.

Sir Christopher Hatton Won Royal Honors by His Grace.

In Queen Bess' time Sir Christopher Hatton won his way to the lord chancellorship by his ability or agility in terpsichorean lines. He first attracted the notice of Queen Elizabeth by his graceful dancing in a mask at court. He henceforth became a reigning favorite, and his promotion was rapid.

He was successively made a gentleman of the queen's privy chamber, captain of the board of gentlemen pensioners (the bodyguard), vice chamberlain and a member of the privy council. This delight of the queen to honor him caused much envy. Complaints were uttered that under the existing government nothing could be obtained by any others than "dancers and carpet knights, such as the Earl of Lincoln and Master Hatton." On the death of Lord Chancellor Bromley the queen offered Hatton the great seal. Even while chancellor Sir Christopher exhibited his skill in dancing. Attending the marriage of his nephew and heir with a judge's daughter, he was decked, according to the custom of the age, in his official robes, and when the music struck up he doffed them, threw them down on the floor and, saying, "Lie there, Mr. Chancellor!" danced the measures of the nuptial festivity.—St. James' Gazette.

A Tongue Twister.

Try it yourself, very slowly and carefully until you can say it easily; then pass it along to your friends. Here it is:

"She stood at the gate, welcoming him in."

Teh to one a person trying to pronounce the sentence for the first time will fumble it laughably. Tongue twisting sentences, however, are good elocutionary exercises. They give you control of your vocal organs so that you can enunciate properly, just as finger exercises on the piano or organ give control of the fingers. What an immense amount of mechanical practice does it require to establish anything like a close sympathy between the brain and the physical organs!

Elasticity of Spiders' Webs.

Did you ever watch a spider's web on a windy day? If so, you will notice how wonderfully it accommodates itself to the swaying of the twigs to which it is attached. It is in fact elastic of the very finest quality. Were it not for its elasticity the poor spider would not long survive. The first breeze would rend the silken meshes of the web to atoms and the owner's stock of new material would very soon be exhausted in repairs and renewals. Besides its elasticity, the spider's web is very sticky, a property which accounts for the ease wherewith it holds insects when once caught.

Very Polite.

The politest man has been discovered. He was hurrying along the street the other night when another man, also in violent haste, rushed out of a doorway, and the two collided with great force.

The second man looked mad, while the polite man, taking off his hat, said: "My dear sir, I don't know which of us is to blame for this violent encounter, but I am in too great a hurry to investigate. If I ran into you, I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it."

And he tore away with redoubled speed.

Dunkirk's Fete of Lanterns.

One of the quaintest of the numerous yearly fetes still in honor at Dunkirk is the fete of lanterns, instituted many hundreds of years ago in honor of St. Martin, bishop of Tours, who died in 390, and who was one of the prelates by whose efforts the early inhabitants of these parts were converted to Christianity. As soon as dusk sets in the celebration commences, and all the urchins of the town congregate in the main thoroughfares. Each one bears a paper lantern, some of which are of considerable proportions, being shaped in the form of a ship or a flower. With lanterns in hand and blowing lustily on horns and trumpets, the crowd of youngsters parades the streets.—London News.

LORD HALSBURY.

Begins Codifying England's Laws at 80 Years of Age.

At 80 years of age Lord Halsbury, who has been three times lord high chancellor of England, has undertaken a gigantic task—the compilation, in well arranged form, of the whole law of England. For this work he has secured the co-operation of some of the most eminent lawyers of the day. It will extend to eighteen or twenty volumes of from 500 to 600 pages each. There is no man in England better qualified for the supervision of such a colossal job. He knows the law from A to Z. Despite his four score years he retains all the vigor and elasticity of mind and much of the physical vigor of his prime. The advent of the Liberal party to power deprived him of his high office and the salary of $50,000 a year which goes with it. The persistency with which he stuck to the woolsack under the Conservative regime caused him to be known as the Cabinet barnacle. Only two men in the whole history of England have been lord chancellor for a longer period. His three terms covered sixteen and a half years, and in that time the pay he received from the treasury amounted to $825,000. He had substantial reasons for not yielding to the clamor of younger men that he should resign.

LORD HALSBURY.

Time Occupied By Dreams.

The time occupied by a dream is one of the marvels of sleep. In the work entitled "The Philosophy of Mystery" we read of a man who dreamed that he had enlisted as a soldier; that he had joined his regiment and traveled to a foreign country; that he finally deserted on account of the harsh treatment he had received at the hands of his superior officers; that he had been apprehended and carried back to his regiment; that upon arriving there he was tried by court martial, condemned to be shot and was led out for execution. At this moment the guns of the executioners exploded, and the sound awoke the dreamer. It was clear now that a loud noise in an adjoining room had both produced the dream and awakened the dreamer almost at the some moment.

Sleeping Out of Doors.

Outdoor sleeping, which is such a fad in this country, is by no means unknown in England. A writer says: "I have encountered a baby, born last summer, who was set to sleep in a Chelsea garden during the hot weather. When the temperature dropped, the careful parents brought the baby into the house at night. But the infant was restless; could not sleep. And now, throughout the winter, the child has slept peacefully in the garden. It is well wrapped up, and a tarpaulin guards it from snow or rain. But it is a fine and healthy child, and a compliment to the fresh air that London can provide at night."

When He Would Find Out.

A story is told in the London Tribune of a witty Irish priest, Father Healey, of Bray. On one occasion he had a long argument with a Protestant minister about purgatory. As is the way with such argument, neither disputant was convinced, when the Protestant minister remarked. "Well, I've lived sixty years in this world, and I haven't found out the difference between a good Protestant and a good Catholic yet." "Oh, haven't you?" replied Father Healey. "Well, you'll not be sixty seconds in the next world before you find out."

Faith Cure Elephants.

The temple elephant in southern India is the object of great respect, for physical contact with him is supposed to do more good to the human body than the best medicine. Adult men and women warily feel his legs with their finger tips and press them reverently to their eyes, and ailing children are for a small consideration carried on his back the distance of a few strides that they may be cured.—Madras Mail.

He Understood.

"Walk right in, dear. Your supper's ready, your slippers are right where you can find them easily, and your pipe and tobacco are on the writing desk, handy for you."

"All right, Molly," groaned the tired, suspicious husband. "You can get that new dress tomorrow."

Knowledge.

Properly there is no other knowledge but that which is got by working. The rest is all yet a hypothesis of knowledge, a thing to be argued of in schools, a thing floating in the clouds, in endless logic vortices, till we try to fix it.—Carlyle.

St. Alban and His Teacher.

By some strange irony St. Alban, the martyred but possibly mythical Roman soldier, whose festival falls on June 22, has quite overshadowed his probably historic instructor, St. Amphibalus, whose anniversary comes on the following day. About Amphibalus we know that he was a native of Caerleon, which the golden legend expresses by dubbing him "a prince's son of Wales in grete araye." He was buried at Redbourne, but "translated" to St. Alban's abbey, where his cup was preserved, "which they of the common sort call St. Affabelle Bolle." In former times children were frequently christened with his name, and Affabell Partridge was goldsmith to Queen Elizabeth.—Westminster Gazette.

THE BLUEBEARD STORY.

It Has a Mythical Rather Than a Mythological Origin.

The fascinating story of Bluebeard has a mythical rather than a mythological origin. No one has found his prototype in the Vedas or in the old Greek or Roman authors. The story is supposed to be of French origin, and it has even been suggested that Bluebeard was no other than the much married Henry VIII. There is, however, better reason for believing that the original was Giles de Laval, lord of Rias, who was marshal of France early in the fifteenth century. He was a brave soldier whose exploits in the wars between England and France are recorded in history. According to Miseray, he murdered his wives as soon as he tired of them, and was himself eventually strangled in 1440.

The story of Laval has, however, not many points of resemblance, for there is no mention of a key, and Giles de Laval, moreover, used to entice persons of both sexes to his castle for the sake of their blood, which he wanted for certain incantations he indulged in. Nor, indeed, does the story fit in with our own Henry VIII., and we are left to believe that, whatever the origin, the key and Sister Ann were added for the sake of effect. A variant of the story of Giles de Laval is told by Holinshed, in whose version the name is Giles de Retz, Marquis de Laval, who lived in Brittany, and was strangled and burned for the murder of his seven wives. Dr. C. Taylor, it may be added, regarded the story simply as fiction, a satire on or type of the castle lords of the days of knight errantry.—London Globe.

OAK AND PINE.

The Value and Usefulness of These Classes of Woods.

Though generally assumed that oak is the wood capable of being put to the greatest variety of uses, it is known, as a matter of fact, that the pine is really the most used, on account of its great abundance. Nevertheless, the timber of the oak combines in itself the essential elements of strength and durability, hardness and elasticity in a degree which no other tree can boast, unrivaled as a material of shipbuilding, also superior in architecture, cabinetmaking, carving, mill work, cooperage and innumerable other purposes, while the bark is of great value as furnishing tan and yielding a bitter extract in continual demand for medicinal purposes.

But of uses for the pine details would be well nigh endless. The timber is invaluable in houses and ship carpentry; common turpentine is extracted from it in vast quantities and immense supplies of tar, pitch, resin and lampblack. In the manufacture of matches, and, above all, paper pulp, thousands and tens of thousands of acres of pine forests are cut down every year, and, briefly, the timber of this tree, constituting as it does the chief material of English and American builders, may be said to be more used than all other kinds of wood put together.

Tried the Effect of a Title.

Among the neighbors who annoyed Carlyle none perhaps gave him so much trouble as the boys who played about near his house. They made no secret of their dislike of the philosopher and stood in dread of his stick when he went abroad. James Waylen, who did a great part of the research for the "Cromwell," and who was at Carlyle's house almost daily, was one morning standing on the doorstep of the house in Cheyne row waiting to be let in when one of these young urchins came up to him in a deferential manner, and, touching his cap said: "Please, sir, would you ask Lord Carlyle to give me my top? It's tumbled down his airey." During the morning's work Carlyle and Waylen chuckled together over the conciliatory title which the lad had created for his enemy.

An Uncanny Plant.

On the shores of Lake Nicaragua is to be found an uncanny product of the vegetable kingdom known among the natives by the expressive name of "the devil's noose." Dunstan, the naturalist, discovered it while wandering on the shores of the lake. Attracted by cries of pain and terror from his dog he found the animal held by black, sticky bands, which had chafed the skin to bleeding point. These bands were branches of a newly discovered carnivorous plant, which has been aptly named the "land octopus." The branches are flexible, black, polished, without leaves, and secrete a viscid fluid.

Where Total Eclipses Are Rare.

It is a fact well known to astronomers that the average number of total and partial eclipses in any one year is four; that the maximum is seven and the minimum two. Where only two occur they are always both of the sun. There are a great many more eclipses of the sun in the course of a year or a hundred years than there are of the moon. This fact notwithstanding, however, London, the metropolis of the world, seems to be a place where such obstructions to the sun's light seldom occur.

A Better Match.

Briggs—That was a narrow escape Bildergate had, wasn't it? You know he was just about to marry a girl when he found that she spent $2,500 a year on her dresses. Griggs—Yes, but he's married all the same. Briggs—True, but he didn't marry that girl. Griggs—He didn't! Who did he marry, then? Briggs—Her dressmaker.—London Mail.

COAST DEFENSE FORTS.

A Scheme That Will Make New York Practically Impregnable.

"Very new and modern are the almost automatic forts," writes C. M. Sullivan in Technical World Magazine, "so modern, indeed, that the installation of comparatively few of them has been completed. But so complete is the confidence of all the experts in their inviolability that $50,000,000 is to be spent at once by the United States alone in the perfection of its coast defense. Of this amount at least $1,000,000 will be expended at Forts Hamilton and Schuyler, guarding the barbor of New York.

"In coast defense work the first necessity is to be always prepared for attack, never to be caught napping. With this idea in view small ships of a new type and great speed are being built for scouting purposes. Telephone systems, supplementing the telegraph, are being built along the whole coast line, each station connected with the nearest fortress. Coast guards and lookouts are being furnished with portable searchlights, and each observer will carry with him a portable telephone, the receiver clamped to his ear so that he may be in constant touch with the officer in command of the fire control station. More remarkable still is the flying 'periscope,' a scientific combination of telescope and camera, which will automatically take snapshots showing the details of everything visible on land and water within a distance of ten or even twenty miles.

"In practice it has been found possible to locate a target five or six miles away, make the necessary calculations, aim and fire a gun and drop a shot exactly on the specified spot, all within three or four minutes."

Americanization of Guanajuato.

Guanajuato! Fix that name of a state in Mexico in your mind. It is a name you will see constantly in print and hear frequently on the lips of investors from now on, for Guanajuato is today what California was in 1849 and what the Klondike was in 1897 and a little more, for Guanajuato is a gold and silver mining region of known enormous production. It is the application of Americanism in this district, however, in the shape of newly invented machinery and the most up to date methods in mining, that makes this a new El Dorado.

Cecil Rhodes in his last public speech before his death declared that the "richest mining country in the world is Mexico." "The consensus of opinion of scientists," added the gold mine king, "is that Mexico will furnish gold and silver for the whole world from the mines of the Aztec country."—Gilson Willets' Mexico Letter in Leslie's Weekly.

Houses of the Nations.

Most civilized countries take a very reliable census of the number of buildings within their dominions. Thus we find that Russia heads the list in respect to the number of houses in any country. She has 11,436,000, or as many as the United Kingdom and Italy combined, for we have but 7,100,000 and make a poor second to France, with its 9,080,000. Germany has about 6,000,000 houses and Holland 729,000. But in point of value we are a long way ahead of any European power. Houses in the United Kingdom are worth £2,424,000,000, while Russia's are only valued at £701,000,000. France's building property is worth £1,704,000,000, being about £500,000,000 more than Germany. The United States is very rich in property, the value of her 11,400,000 houses being set down as £2,850,000,000.—Answers.

"The great requisite for playing cards or the horses," remarked Mr. Everwise, "is nerve."

"Yes," answered young Mr. Torkins, "it must take a great deal of nerve to enable a man to come home as often and tell his folks that still further economy will be necessary."

BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

Build for the future, firm and grand,
Upon the everlasting Rock,
Securely then, thy house will stand,
Amid the earthquake's rudest shock,
Place all the blocks with greatest care,
And let them be of the finest mold,
Fashioned and shaped that they may bear
The stately temple's treasured gold.

Build for the future! There will come
Days wild with storms, when tempests beat
Around this vast eternal home
That thou art striving to complete.

Work swiftly on, for age and time
Will steal youth's roses from thy way,
Which, sweetly, love and hope entwine
Around thy life-path for to-day.
—Mrs. H. M. Holt.

Lesson IX. August 26.—The Rich Young Ruler.—Mark 10:17-31.

GOLDEN TEXT.

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me.—Matt. 24.

NOTES.

The narratives of the Synoptists, Matthew, Mark and Luke, come together again at the blessing of the little children. Matthew and Mark, however, preface this incident with a discourse about divorce. In all the accounts the blessing of the children is followed by the incidents in this lesson.

Place.—Probably in Perea, on the way to Jerico, though there is no definite statement as the locality.

Time.—Not long before the passover, in the year of Rome 783—that is A. D. 30. Certainly in March, probably near the close of that month.

CRITICAL NOTES.

Verse 17.—Was going forth: Probably from "the house" (v. 10). Into the way: Or, "on his way". The way to Jerusalem is indicated in verse 32.—Kneeled to him: Both eager and reverent.—Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life? Compare Luke 10:25, where the same question is asked by a "lawyer", with the parable of the Good Samaritan in the reply.

Verse 18.—Why callest thou me good? In Matthew, according to the correct text, "Why askest thou me concerning that which is good?" There may have been two questions and two answers or two answers to the two parts of the question as given by Matthew,—that is, "do not ask about a good thing, but about the one good Person and the relation to him.—None is good save one, even God: The consequent dilemma as regards Jesus himself is obvious enough.

Verse 19.—Thou knowest the commandments: Jesus meets the young man on his own ground,—namely, that of doing (v. 17).—Do not defraud: Probably answering to the tenth commandment. Only duties to men are referred to, since in those the young man failed.

Verse 20.—Observed from my youth: Literally, "guarded". A truthful answer from his wrong point of view. Matthew adds, "What lack I yet?"

Verse 21.—Looking upon him loved him: Peculiar to Mark. The human heart of Jesus recognized what was lovable in the young man. But there is no indication of spiritual response.—One thing thou lackest: Matthew, "If thou wouldest be perfect." Sell whatsoever thou hast . . . treasure in heaven: Earthly treasure was the obstacle in his case.—Come, follow me: Continue to do so. "Take up thy cross" is not well attested. Following Christ is the main point.

Verse 22.—His countenance fell: Peculiar to Mark. His face showed his feelings, and his feelings showed his failure to stand the test.

Verse 23.—Looking round about: Doubtless a look of sadness.—How hardly: That is, "with difficulty."

Verse 24.—Were amazed. The material view of the kingdom of God expected all the citizens to be wealthy.—How hard is it for them tha ttrust in riches: Yet it is difficult to have wealth without trusting in it.

Verse 25.—A camel to go through a needle's eye: Figurative statement of impossibility, and so understood by the hearers (vs. 26, 27). But two attempts have been made to evade this sense: one, by changing a single Greek letter so as to read "hope" instead of "camel"; the other, by explaining "needle's eye" to mean the smaller side-gate of Eastern cities.

Verse 27.—Looking upon them: The first look (v. 21) was one of affection; the second (v. 23), one of sorrow; the third (here) one of hope.—With men it is impossible: Not only in their judgment, but with their power.—All things are possible with God: Not only is God omnipotent, but his power is essential in regeneration—a thought permeating the New Testament.

Verse 28.—Have left all, and have followed thee: Matthew adds, "What then should we have?" He also gives a special promise to the apostles (Matt 19 28).

Verse 29.—There is no man: This makes the promise universal, and the context suggests that Peter's question involved the notion of priority including superiority. "Or wife" is poorly supported here.—And for the gospel's sake: Peculiar to Mark.

Verse 30.—Now in this time: Or "season", that is, in the present life.

Verse 31.—But many that are first shall be last; and the last first: Preeminence in position does not depend on priority in time. The parable of the labourers in the vineyard (Matt. 20: 1-16) is an expansion of this statement. —S. S. Times.

Mr. Finlay To Build Walks For Norwood

He Offers to Construct Granolithic Sidewalks at 7c. Per Square Foot — Council Accepts—Other Business at Regular Meeting of Norwood Village Council.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, August 24. — At the last meeting of the village council, the following members were present: Reeve A. Breault; and Councillors B. W. Squire, A. B. Greenbank and R. S. Patterson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. John Finlay appeared before the council in reference to the sidewalk on Cedar street, which, he said, was in a very dilapidated condition. Mr. Finlay offered to build a concrete walk from the factory to Queen street, 192 feet long by 4 feet wide, at 7c per square foot.

Moved by Coun. Squire and Greenbank, that the offer of Mr. Finlay be accepted, walk to be built according to specifications used by Clement and Leal, and to be paid for in the year 1907 after taxes have been collected.—Carried.

A communication from Mr. E. H. Scott was read requesting a rebate for poll tax, as he was assessed for a lot on Queen street. The council decided to take no action in the matter.

A communication was also read from Mr. John E. Roxburgh, treasurer, asking for an increase in salary.

Moved by Councillors Squire and Greenvank, that no action be taken in respect to Mr. Roxburgh's request.—Carried.

The reeve informed the council that he had been served with a garnishee for money due Mr. Little for lumber.

Moved by Couns. Squire and Patterson, that after the lumber purchased from Mr. Little is culled and measured, that an order be drawn on the treasurer for the amount, and that the same be paid into court to cover guarnishee. — Carried.

The following accounts were then read by the reeve:

Dominion Sewer Pipe Co., tile	$81 90
Geo. Hatherley, painting and kalsomining lock-up	7 75
J. Jotcham, 2nd quarter's salary as S. I.	5 00
R. H. McLaughlin, work on streets	3 68
R. T. Scott, drawing tile	1 50
C. P. R. freight on tile	18 00
Fred Woods, work on streets	21 76
Geo. Peters, work on streets	13 35
Wm. Taylor, work on streets	5 25

Moved by Coun. Greenbank and Patterson that the above accounts be paid, and orders drawn on the treasurer for the same.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

An official return shows that in 1905 there were 1,300,507 plaints entered in the county courts of England and Wales. The gross amount received to the credit of suitors was $10,337,875.

Why Wear Glasses?

Just why do your Neighbors—or You—wear Glasses? To see clearly and easily—whether reading, sewing, writing, conversing or walking along the street. Perfect vision, without strain or discomfort, is possible only with perfectly formed eyes. An imperfect eye may see perfectly by exerting great effort. If then you are conscious that you are not seeing easily, your eyes are at fault—and, if you are already wearing glasses, they, too, are at fault.

Grain Thieves Plunder The Central Mill; Leave Footprints In The Flour

Entrance Forced Through Window—Many Bags of Grain Emptied—Oats and Peas Were Mixed—Robbers Were In Their Teens—Police Working on the Case—An Important Clue.

Juvenile footprints among the flour and grain in the Central Milling Company's mill this morning showed that Sunday did not pass by without its usual robbery. The depredations which the youthful perpetrators of the deed left in their train testified that the spirit of devilry is working fast within them — a spirit which deserves an immediate check.

The young thieves entered the mill some time between its close on Saturday evening and re-opening this morning by a window in the south side of the building. All conditions tended to an easy entrance, and one that scarcely could be discovered. A lengthy freight train was side-tracked parallel with the mill, thus forming a screen to their criminal motions, which were propagated unmolested. A high platform just beneath the window with a small ladder attached to the side of it afforded a splendid access to the unfastened window, which was easily raised and lowered.

Grain Bags Upset.

The spectacle that met the gaze of the employees of the mill this morning was somewhat unique. A dozen bags containing peas had been emptied of their contents and strewn over the floor. A quantity of oats and other grains had been mixed with these to increase the character of their mischievous act. A large quantity of grain was also dumped out of the window, and, fearing capture, the young miscreants left it lying beside the track. Some was carried away in bags, as oats and peas could be traced farther up the track towards Wolfe street. Apparently a larger load than could be comfortably smuggled away had been taken, so that the robbers were compelled to lighten their burden, made heavier by the fear of discovery and the distance it was carried.

The Small Footprints.

That the thieves were young is unquestionable. In their tour of exploration through the mill they left their prints everywhere in the flour and dust on the floor, and, judging from these, they could not have been over thirteen or fourteen years of age. Every bin and box was inspected, and things were generally turned upside down.

No attempt, so far as could be seen, was made to enter the office, where the papers and a little money were kept. Their attention was wholly confined to the milling department.

Police Notified.

The police were notified of the affair this morning and investigated the damage done. Some boys were inquiring the price of oats last week at one of the Aylmer street grocery stores, stating that they had some for sale. This may form an important clue to the identification of the youthful marauders, a class rapidly increasing in population throughout the city.

Butchers' Sons In A Pugilistic Encounter

Ill-Feeling Existed Between Them Over Their Respective Routes—Police Court Case the Result—Boys and Their Fathers Finally Shook Hands and Became Friends Again.

An interesting case occupied the time of the court this morning. Cornelius Hamilton charged another young man named Harry Dunning with inflicting grevious bodily harm the offence having taken place in front of the hotel in Cannifton yesterday morning. The young men are rival butchers, at least they drive and deliver meat for their fathers, and it appears that recently there had been some ill-feeling between them owing to the fact that Hamilton had resumed the route which he had given up for some time.

From the evidence of Hamilton it appears that the witness was just coming out of the hotel at Cannifton after delivering some meat when he met Dunning. The latter said to Hamilton. "So you are the one who can lick me," and then he gave him a couple of punches in the face. The witness had a badly cut nose as well as a swollen lip, and his teeth were badly injured. Dunning claimed that Hamilton took off his coat and was in a fighting attitude when he struck him.

Several witnesses were heard on both sides, but their evidence was of not much importance.

The matter was finally settled between the parties when both the boys shook hands and promised to be good friends again. The fathers of the boys were also present and they also shook hands.—Belleville Ontario.

His Hands Were Severely Burned

Sunday Morning Fire at Local Hotel Consumes Couch.

A fire occurred yesterday morning about 10 o'clock at the C.P.R. Hotel which, though small, had the effect of calling out the fire brigade only to find that the flames had been extinguished before its arrival.

It appears that Mr. Dobson an employee of the Canadian General Electric Works, and a guest at the above public house was having a quiet rest and smoke in one of the parlours of the hotel when the fire from a lighted match accidently caught among the ornamental fringe of the couch upon which he was lying. The blaze immediately made its presence known and Mr. Dobson in his haste to smother the fire had his hands rather severely burned.

Help quickly arrived and the fast consuming furniture was thrown out the window where a few pailsful of water extinguished the flames. Mrs. Bowman the proprietress of the hotel estimates her loss at about $25, which is fully covered by insurance.

OBITUARY.

GLADYS MURIEL THOMAS.

This morning at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Booth, 62 Chamberlen street, the death occurred of her grandchild Gladys Muriel Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, at the age of seven months. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o-clock from Mrs. Booth's residence, to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

What Scared Her.

ALVAH WHITTIER, a few years years since, was the manager of the C.C. Morse & Son auction house at Haverhill. One afternoon while appraising a lot of furniture for a woman, her little girl, 4 or 5 years of age, was rather noisy, and irritated Mr. Whittier. He finally said to her: "My little girl, what does your mother do to punish you when you are naughty?"

The little girl turned to her mother and said: "Mother, take out your upper and lower teeth and show Mr. Whittier how you scare me when I am a bad girl."—Boston Herald.

Miss Errett Honoured By St. John's Auxiliary

Made the Object of a Complimentary Tea and Address.

The St. John's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, did a graceful and well-merited act of recognition of faithful service on Saturday afternoon. Miss Errett, who has been for fifteen years, the painstaking and faithful secretary of the local Auxiliuary, as well as an active and zealous participant in every form of church work, was the guest of the other members at a complimentary tea given in St. John's grounds on the occasion of her departure from the city to take permanent residence in Toronto.

During the afternoon, in addition to personal expressions of appreciation of Miss Errett's services, and regrets at her departure, the following address was read:

Dear Miss Errett,

In the life of each one of us there comes a time when old associations are broken and old ties severed. Such a time has come to us—the members of St. John's branch of the Women's Auxiliary. For many years you have been a valued Officer and we have all felt that we could not say good bye without telling you of our sincere and loving appreciation of all your good work, which should indeed be an incentive to us all.

As a slight expression of our good wishes for your future happiness we ask you to accept a life membership in the Women's Auxiliary, for which you have done so much.

In conclusion we would pray that our Heavenly Father will bless your outgoing and incoming from this time forth and even for evermore.

The address was signed on behalf of the Women's Auxiliary, by Mrs. Beatrice Eardley-Wilmot, President.

Mrs. S. J. Nesbitt,
Mrs. H. Dutton.
Miss M. Emma Peck,
Mrs. H. Bell,
Mrs. W. F. Best.

Peterborough, 25th August, 1906.

The address was read by the president, Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, and the presentation of the certificate of life membership and an accompanying artisle of jewelry, was made by Mrs. Best. Miss Errett made a suitable acknowledgment.

As remarked, such a recognition is well deserved, it is only a partial recognition, and from only one source of the faithful, valuable, unobtrusive, but effective, services, Miss Errett has for years given in promoting the interests of St. John's church, and the regret of the congregation, and of social circles, will be keen at the loss of Miss Errett's presence in Peterborough, and the best of good wishes will follow her and the family to their new home. Miss Errett and Mrs. Errett leave to-morrow morning for Tornto, where they will hereafter reside, at 85 Isabella street, by the way one of the most desirable residence quarters of the city.

The American Cereal Company Changed Its Name To-day.

The American Cereal Company, of Peterborough, is no more. Hence the company which has borne that name for the past few years will be called the Quaker Oats Company. The change in the name took effect to-day.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Here In October

Will Take the Services at St. Luke's for That Day.

Yesterday at the service at St. Luke's, the rector announced that the Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, will spend a Sunday with the congregation during October. Dr. Symonds, being a former rector of St. Luke's, will be gladly welcomed to Peterborough again, not only by St. Luke's congregation, but by many others.

Wheel Stolen From Bicyle

Robbers Entered Shed at Night and Carried It Off.

Among the many delicate and daring thefts perpetrated in the city recently was that of the front wheel of a bicycle stolen from Mr. J. H. Hewson of the Central Milling Company. Mr. Hewson always left the wheel in the shed at his residence on the corner of George and McDonell streets and it was there that the robbers got in their work.

Mr. Hewson has not since heard of his stolen property and never expects to now. It will cost him over $8 at least to replace it.

WHO MAKES MEN'S STYLES?

One Journal of Tailoring Says That Actors Have to do With It.

That actors originate styles is the tacit admission of the Sartorial World, the Chicago journal of the custom tailors. This is hardly correct. New styles are originated rather by gentlemen of leisure who are continually striving after a distinct individuality of dress. The actors may help to spread the desire for a new style by appearing in summer scenes in the winter, but the changes in style are rather created by the man who wants some distinctive touch which is not too loud a departure from the prevailing vogue, but is still original. In the Semi-ready tailor shops the extreme styles are tabooed, and yet there is always a distinctive touch about a Semi-ready garment. The Semi-ready Wardrobe is a permanent exhibition of garments which are correct in style, and cultured in every part of their creation. A W Cressman, agent for Peterborough.

LOYAL COMMON SENSE.

Earl Gray has administered a stinging slap, albeit with a hand encased in a velvet glove, upon the expansive cheek of the Jingoist, who is fond of demanding that Canada shall turn aside from the peaceful and profitable pursuit of empire-building, to help build up the British navy. Speaking on the occasion of the Canadian presentation of popular plate made on board the British battleship named after the Dominion, Earl Gray, in the course of his remarks, said:

"I trust it will not be considered that there was any covert allusion in my statement that the people of the United Kingdom pay for H.M.S. Dominion, while the contribution of Canada to this battleship is confined to providing a captain and a name. That was very far from being my intention. Nothing has pleased me more since I became Governor-General than the evidence which is continually reaching me from every side of the desire of self-respecting Canadians to contribute their share to the support of a common Imperial burden. I am aware that to some the idea is well nigh intolerable that the Old Country should be allowed to carry for a single day for Canada a load which Canada may be able to carry for herself. Ladies and gentlemen, I rejoice whenever I come across the existence of this manly, honourable, self-respecting sentiment, which is characteristic of Britons all the world over, and worthy of Canada. But I would point out to those who are impatient to give their assistance to the British navy in some more direct and visible form than is at present considered desirable, that the first duty of Canada to the Empire, of which she is every day becoming a more important part, is to make herself strong, and when I see works postponed for prudential financial reasons, which I believe to be required to perfect your system of transportation east and west, and to make Canada an even more important link in the chain of Empire than she is at present, then I say there is other work to be performed which may be of even greater importance than an immediate contribution to the fleet. And I feel satisfied, from the existence of the healthy, manly, self-respecting spirit, which revolts from the idea of being a parasite on the trunk of Empire, and which I have encountered on every side, that I am right in believing that Canada may be safely relied upon as soon as the times are ripe, to do her duty, aye and more than her duty, towards the fleet, which protects her commerce, and which surrounds her as with a wall, and guards her as with a moat, against the envy of less happy lands."

There is a deal of sound sense in what our distinguished Governor-General says, and his opinion is shared by other eminent men. The same idea was expressed by one of the prominent visiting members of the British Medical Association, speaking at a banquet in Toronto. His sentiments will be subscribed to by all British statesmen, and by all Canadians blessed with reflective minds. The British navy is commonly regarded as the bulwark of the Empire, and the chief element in is greatness. It is at the same time a cause and a consequence. Without Britain's navy, and all its past implies, there would be no Empire, as we have it now; there would be little reason for its maintenance, if we had not the colonial elements of the Empire, which have assumed so important a place in the imperial economy, that their maintenance and development are the only warrant for the maintenance of a powerful navy. Canada, in developing her resources, in building up a Greater Britain on this continent, in preparing herself for becoming the granary of the Empire, is doing a better service to the Empire, than if she built and equipped a first-class battleship every year. It would be sorry statesmanship, that would counsel, as Lord Gray points out, desertion of the work of Canadian development for warship building. The extension and improvement of our transportation systems is a work of far more Imperial importance than contributing to the building of the British navy. Even the completion of the Trent Canal, which would cost less than half a battleship, would represent a far greater present and prospective benefit, than adding another first class unit to the navy. When, by development, Canada comes approximately to what she is capable of becoming; when she has firmly laid the foundations of nationhood; when her wealth is not so insistently demanded for internal development; when she has become the granary of the Empire, then we may well talk, and afford to talk, of contributing to the building of the British navy, as we are in duty bound to do. In the meantime, Canada stands ready, as she has demonstrated her willingness to do, to help the Empire in time of need. It has not been often that Great Britain has had to call upon her colonies, but she has always found Canada, as well as the others, ready to respond to the call. At present there is no need of special help, and there may not be need for years to come. Is it not better for Canada to bend her energies to the work of building up her own greatness, and adding to her own strength, in a way that will contribute more to the building up and strengthening of the Empire, than the building of half a dozen battleships, which the advance of naval construction and armament, might render obsolete before they were completed, and which would absorb enough of our capital to build a franconstinental railway, way, or build, or re-build, a canal. Loyal sentiment is good, but loyal common sense is better, such loyal common sense as Lord Gray has shown — loyalty to his vice-regal responsibility, as well as loyalty to the Empire.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

President Roosevelt, the man with "the big stick," is becoming the man with the "big head." He is fond of spectacular performances and in this regard is becoming a rough-rider replica of the Emperor of Germany. His latest freak is an attempt to "reform" the spelling of the English language by issuing an order that certain words in state documents shall hereafter be spelled in accordance with the freak ideas of certain self-constituted spelling reformers. The English language like the British constitution is a growth, not a creation, and President Roosevelt's ukase will not have much force beyond the limited circle of influence covered by the revolution of the cranks who advocate the "reformed" spelling. Things have come to a very pretty pass when the world of the grandest literature known to human history is asked to take its orders from a cow puncher, as to the proper mode of spelling. An ironmonger and cow puncher do not constitute a very striking literary court for the settlement of orthographic practice or the establishment of orthographic precident.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

10. Small-mouth black bass, caught August 9, in Belmont Lake, by Geo. H. Jones, Toronto.
11. Small-mouth black bass, caught August 16, in Trent River, within boundaries of the town of Trenton, by Francis Young, Trenton.

Conditions.

1. The fish must be caught with rod and line in Ontario waters, on or before September 15.
2. The fish must be properly weighed, and exact weight, length and girth, together with date, place and name of person who caught it, forwarded by letter to the Toronto Daily Star within two weeks of the catch.
3. The fish must be a small-mouth black bass — not yellow or wide-mouth — and two witnesses must sign the statement, giving addresses, so that they may be seen or communicated with as to the facts of the case.
4. Tourists from the United States or elsewhere, are eligible to win the prize, or to act as witnesses.
4. The winner may, if he desire to do so, select the rod, reel and line to suit himself.

The prize is a fine split bamboo bass rod, worth $15, with a silver plate, suitably inscribed.

It will be noted that so far there is no entry from the Stony Lake district.

INDUSTRIAL FAIR PROMISES WELL

A director of the Peterborough Industrial Fair is authority for the statement that the prospects of a most successful exhibition are excellent. Considering the late hour at which the work of reconstruction was begun this is most gratifying. There is no reason except inaction, why the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition should not be the best in the province outside the large centres. It is to be hoped that all who are interested in the exhibition will rally to the support of the directors and make the exhibition the success which, with reasonable co-operation, and energy it can be made.

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

How a Spider Rung a Bell.

—A remarkable story of how a spider rang an electric bell comes from Hanley.

While a North Staffordshire policeman was on duty the other night he heard an electric alarm bell ringing violently in a shop on his beat. He suspected burglars, and a watch was set while the manager was summoned.

Then the premises were entered, but nobody was discovered, and still the bell kept ringing.

At last, when the bell was examined, it was discovered that a spider had so spun its web from the bell to the battery that a circuit was established, and the bell at once began to ring, continuing to do so until the web was broken.

"Dubbie" Shea Was Badly Injured At Brantford

Former Peterborough Short-stop Had Two Ribs Broken in a Ball Game—Serious Internal Injuries Feared—He is Now in Hospital.

The following despatch from Brantford will be read with regret by the many friends of Dubby Shea, who will be extremely sorry to learn of his accident, and who will join in hoping for an early recovery. Dubby played short stop for Peterborough last year, but this spring went to Brantford.

Brantford, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Geo. Shea, formerly of Peterborough, who is the catcher for the Dufferin Rifles baseball team this season, met with a serious accident in a league ball game here Saturday. The Dufferin Rifles and the Cockshutt Plow Company teams were engaged in a match, on the result of which the championship depended. At a critical juncture of the game one of the opposing players, in endeavouring to score on a close chance, collided with Shea at the plate, driving his knees into the side of the catcher just as he secured the ball. Shea fell in a semi-conscious state. Examination showed that two ribs on the left side in the region of the heart were broken. Internal injuries of a serious character are also feared. Shea was removed to the hospital. The game resulted 10 to 3 in favour of Cockshutts, who are now nominal champions of the City League, although they still have a couple of matches to play.

Caught Suspected Murderer.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 27.—Thomas Collins, suspected of killing Mary Ann Macaulay at New Ireland, Albert County, was caught in the wood Saturday 12 miles from St. George. He was making for the United States border. Collins admitted having been to the house, but denies the imputation of the murder.

Deseronto Has Had Visit From Destructive Fire

Town Threatened With Destruction For a Time.

RATHBUN CO. DOCK BURNED

At One Time 18 Residences and the Episcopal Church Were Ablaze—Napanee Fire-Fighters With Their Two Engines and Hard Work by Citizens Got the Fire Under Control In Nine Hours.

Deseronto, Aug. 27.—In a fire which raged here from 4.45 Saturday afternoon to 2 o'clock Sunday morning the trestle dock of the Rathbun Co. with sheds and thousands of feet of lumber, and a large amount of cordwood were burned.

Eighteen houses were more or less damaged, three of them entirely destroyed, and St. Mark's Episcopal Church was also slightly damaged. The fire originated at the big trestle shed dock owned by the Rathbun Co., and inside of few minutes the whole structure was a mass of flames.

There was a strong south wind blowing towards the town and it was soon evident that everything was doomed if aid was not procured at once.

Aid From Napanee.

Two fire engines and crews were brought from Napanee and every person available was pressed into service to help keep down the blaze.

The big trestle, refuse boilers, thousands of feet of lumber and cords of hardwood, and fourteen dump cars belonging to the Rathbun Co., and three houses were entirely destroyed.

The wind shifted towards the bay, and the fire was apparently under control, but later in the evening the wind veered again, and carried the sparks in the direction of the town.

These sparks ignited 18 houses and the English Church, but the good work of the firemen saved most of the buildings.

How the fire originated is a mystery. This is first serious fire that has taken place since 1896, when the whole town was wiped out, the fire at that time starting from a fire cracker.

THROUGH WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS.

M. Kane Loses His Life—Strong Swimmer McGarth Saves Himself.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Tossing about in the whirlpool of the lower Niagara River is the body of Martin Kane of this city. Riding bottom upwards on the water is the boat in which he sat as he was swept into the rapids.

Kane was drowned Saturday morning while in bathing with a companion, Gerald McGraw. Both were employes of the New York Central Railroad Co. They worked nights, and Saturday morning on their way home went down to the old Maid of the Mist landing for a swim.

They went out in a small boat, and in sporting in the water did not note the fact that they had been carried down stream dangerously close to "Swift Drift," where the rapids begin.

Both got into the boat and tried to paddle ashore. The current was too great.

On Kane's suggestion they leaped into the water to swim for it.

McGraw made the American shore in an exhausted condition, but Kane failed, and went through the rapids to his death.

McGraw is prostrated. Both men were of the same age, 24 years. Kane leaves a sister and a brother in Buffalo.

MURDER OF GEN. MIN.

Girl Fires Five Shots and Is Held by Her Victim's Wife.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Gen. Min, commander of the Seminovsky Guard regiment, who suppressed the riots at Moscow last December, was assassinated at Peterhof last night.

Gen. Min was at the railway station with his family when he was killed.

The deed was committed by a young girl, who fired five revolver shots into his back, killing him instantly.

Madame Min seized the assassin by the hand and held her until the police arrived. After her arrest the girl showed the police a bomb lying in the station, telling them to beware.

On July 18 last it was reported that some of the soldiers of the Seminovsky Guard at Krasnaye-Selo had served notice on Gen. Min that they intended to kill him at the first opportunity for forcing them to murder their fellow-citizens in the Moscow revolt and that Min, in fear of his life, had fled the camp.

This Bomb Was Premature.

Odessa, Aug. 27.—Late Saturday evening a girl dropped a bomb in the Nicholas Boulevard, 50 paces from the palace of Governor-General Kaulbars.

No one was injured except the girl who dropped the bomb, whose hand was shattered.

It is supposed the bomb accidentally fell from her hand before she had reached the entrance to the palace.

Russian Train Robbery.

Moscow, Aug. 27.—Twelve armed men Saturday held up the Ivanovo passenger train, about fifty miles from here, and robbed the railway cashier of $2,500 and escaped to the forest. Subsequently two of the robbers were arrested.

Depositors Are Paid $150,000.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—More than $150,000 was paid to depositors in the Stensland Bank Saturday on the 20 per cent. dividend, first disbursements of which were made Friday. About 1,500 persons passed through the doors.

Government Will Rebuild City.

Valparaiso, Aug. 27.—The Government intends to give assistance to the plan for rebuilding the Almendral the portion of the city suffering the worst from the earthquake.

Cuts Legs Off Horse.

Gladstone, Man., Aug. 27.—Saturday morning some person broke into the stables of Dr. Bowman, V. S., and chopped the hind legs off his horse, a valuable animal.

The only failure a man ought to fear is failure in clearing to the purpose he goes to be best.

A CHILD can clean house with "SURPRISE" Soap. It loosens up the smoke and dirt and fly-specks on woodwork and paint so that no hard rubbing is necessary.

Simply take a cloth and some hot water, make lather of "SURPRISE" Soap, and then rub the doors and window-sash very lightly. It will surprise you to see how quickly and easily the dirt comes off.

"SURPRISE" Soap is the best to clean everything washable. It never injures anything or makes the hands sore or rough.

Experimental Tests Of Autumn Sown Crops

Interesting Results of Work at the Ontario Agricultural College Experimental Farm.

Last June The Examiner printed the results of a visit to the Agricultural College, Guelph, on the occasion of the Institute's excursion, and reference was made to the important experimental work conducted, and to its important bearing upon the practical interests of the farmer. Below is an official bulletin detailing the results of the College experiments. The success of these experiments, it may be premised, were affected by the conditions resulting from the deficient snowfall and alternation, thawing and freezing:

About two hundred and fifty varieties of winter wheat have been tested at the college within the last seventeen years. In all cases the varieties are given a thorough test for five years, at the end of which time the inferior kinds are discarded and only the more promising ones retained for further experiments. During the past season sixty-one varieties were grown; twenty-nine of these have been under test for the past five years, and fifteen of the twenty-nine for the past ten years.

The following table gives the average weight per measured bushel, and the average yield of straw and grain of each variety, for ten years.

Dawson's Golden Chaff, white,	59.7	54.0
Imperial Amber, red	60.5	52.2
Early Genesee Giant, white,...	59.7	50.7
Russian Amber, red	60.7	50.4
Egyptian Amber, red, ...	61.2	49.6
Early Red Clawson, red	58.9	49.5
Tasmania Red, red	61.5	47.7
Rudy, red	60.8	47.1
Tuscan Island, red	61.0	47.0
Geneva, red	62.2	45.9
Bulgarian, white	60.5	45.1
Turkey Red, red	61.1	44.8
Kentucky Giant, red	61.0	44.6
McPherson, red	62.0	44.2
Treadwell, white	60.4	44.2

The first column of figures gives the weight per bushel and the second the bushels per acre.

Among the sixty-one varieties grown this season, the Abundance stood first in yield with 50.4 bushels per acre, and the Prize Taker second with 50.2 bushels. These are both white wheats, very closely resembling the Dawson's Golden Chaff in all respects. The Abundance also gave the highest yield among all the varieties grown in 1905, and is a promising variety, although not of the very best milling quality. It is interesting to note that this year two of the comparatively hard red wheats—Russian Amber and Imperial Amber—have come up to second and third places in yield and grain with 49.8 and 49.4 bushels per acre respectively. All four varieties mentioned above were over the standard in weight, the Imperial Amber being the heaviest, and weighing almost 63 lbs. per bushel. The five varieties giving the heaviest weight per measured bushel in 1906 were Northwester, Geneva, McPherson, Economy and Auburn; these, however, were all rather low in yield with the exception of Auburn, which was fifth in weight per measured bushel and sixth in yield of grain per acre among the sixty-one varieties grown. Generally speaking, the white wheats yield more grain per acre, possess stronger straw, weigh a little less per measured bushel, and are slightly softer in the grain than the red varieties.

The results of twelve separate tests made at the college show an average increase in yield of grain per acre of 6.8 bushels from large as compared with small seed, of 7.8 bushels of plump as compared with shrunken seed, and of 35.6 bushels from sound as compared with broken seed. Seed which was allowed to become very ripe before it was cut produced a greater yield of both grain and straw and a heavier weight of grain per measured bushel than that produced from wheat which was cut at any one of four earlier stages of maturity. In 1897, and again in 1902, a large amount of the winter wheat in Ontario became sprouted before it was harvested, owing to the wet weather. Carefully conducted tests showed that an average of only 76 per cent. of the slightly sprouted and 18 per cent. of the badly sprouted seed would grow and produce plants. Surely he is the wise farmer who will sow none but large, plump, sound, ripe seed of good vitality.

In each of seven years, experiments have been conducted in treating Winter Wheat in different ways to prevent the development of stinking smut, and the results have been very satisfactory. In the average of the past three years, untreated seed produced 4.4 per cent. of smutted heads, while seed which was immersed for twenty minutes in a solution made by adding one pint of formalin to forty-two gallons of water produced a crop which was practically free from smut. Not only did the formalin treatment effectually prevent the development of the smut in the crop, but a considerably larger yield of grain was obtained when the treatment was applied. The average yield of grain for the three years from untreated seed was 38.7 bushels, while the crop grown from seed to which the formalin treatment had been applied yielded 45.6 bushels per acred. This indicates a gain of about seven bushels per acre in favour of the treated seed. Several other methods of treating seed for the prevention of smut were tested, but the formalin method herein described was the cheapest and most practical of all, as well as being effectual.

Many tests conducted at Guelph indicate the importance of sowing about ninety pounds of Winter Wheat per acre on an average soil. This amount might be increased for poor land and decreased for rich soil. If the land is in a good state of cultivation it matters but little whether the seed is sown broadcast or with a tube drill, but if the land is dry or lumpy, that which is sown with the drill is likely to give the best results. The highest yields per acre have been obtained from sowing between the 26th of August and the 9th of September.

Mr. J. Holmes Home From Northern Treasure Lands

Was Accompanied by His Brother and Mining Expert From Buffalo—Has Located Three Claims—Mining Booms in Northern Ontario—Good Farming Land in That District—Some Impressions of His Long Journey.

After a five weeks' tour among the treasure fields of Northern Ontario and Quebec, Mr. John Holmes, the well-known North Monaghan councillor, returned home last week. Mr. Holmes was accompanied by his brother, Mr. W. O. Holmes, and Mr. Martin Hilts, both of Buffalo, the latter being a prominent mining expert of that city.

These gentlemen made their headquarters at Tomstown, a place about thirty miles to the north of New Liskeard. Mr. Holmes is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of these rugged but rich lands of the north, and has now become an interested owner of a part of them.

Three Claims Located.

Mr. Holmes was interviewed by The Examiner to-day and told in part some of his experiences while in these great but partly unexplored regions—experiences which he says could never be realized except by a trip to that section of the country. While there he and his brother located three claims, consisting of forty acres each. From one of these he brought home an excellent sample of ore which he intends to exhibit in one of the city stores. This claim will be developed as soon as possible. As an example of the richness of this district, Mr. Holmes said that the owner of the adjoining claim was offered $250,000 for it. A company consisting of capitalists between here and Buffalo will be floated at once.

"There's going to be millions of dollars taken out of there within the next year," remarked Mr. Holmes, "the only trouble is the lack of capital by the many who locate the claims."

Eight years ago a gentleman bought 160 acres of land in the section at 50 cents an acre, and last week he sold the whole for $25,000. Many such booms in land are constantly occurring, and the early bird catches the early worm.

An Interesting Story.

Mr. Holmes told of how the hidden treasure was first located in that country. A blacksmith who owned a shop in the neighbourhood of the great Timmins mine at Cobalt, was eating his lunch one day beside a large tree near the door of his shop. A fox came along, anxious to share in the mid-day meal, but was scared away by the throwing of the smith's hammer, which fortunately missed its mark, but took a chip off the surface of the rock and disclosed the valuable rock. The blacksmith sold half his interest shortly after for $15,000, and later the remainder for $30,000.

Recently $15,000,000 was offered and refused for the Timmims Mine, which is worth in the neighbourhood of a million a day.

Some Excellent Farms.

Mr. Holmes was surprised and interested by the character of the farms there, which are in good condition and composed of the best of soil. He saw fields of oats where a person standing up could not see anything but the blue sky above.

Many Peterborough people were among the farmers around New Liskeard and Mr. Holmes says, all are doing well. He met Mr. Leslie Murray, formerly of the C.G.E., Mr. Jas White, and Mr. Geo. Tighe. The latter has as fine a crop as he has ever seen. Mrs. Tighe recently left for Buffalo where she will undergo an operation on a limb which she injured some time ago.

The Haileybury Fire.

On the night of the Haileybury fire Mr. Holmes and party were encamped a short distance away. From a hilltop they watched the devouring flames eating through the almost doomed village which is the spot where all the prospecting business is transacted. The next morning they saw the black path which the flames left in their wake, many of the best buildings being totally destroyed.

A Few Impressions.

A surprise to the party was the first-class condition of the hotels in the mining district and the reasonable rates offered.

Miners' wages in the Cobalt district range from $2 to $3 per day, but carpenters' wages are very low.

Among the places visited in the tour were Cobalt, Lake Temiskaming, New Liskeard, Ottawa River, Haileybury and Tomstown. Mr. Holmes and party did some fishing and hunting while on their trip. Pike, Pickerel, sheep's head and shad are somewhat plentiful, while moose, caribou, bear, deer, fox, partridge and duck can be found in abundance.

A great railway business is being done at North Bay. Passenger trains leave there every day with three engines drawing them.

Mr. Holmes will go to Buffalo next week in the interests of the formation of the new company and the work of developing one of the mines will be commenced as soon as possible.

Sad Death Of Mrs. J. E. Oles

Was Widely Known in This City —Funeral on Tuesday.

Circumstances of peculiar sadness surrounded the death of Ethel Elsie Brodigan, wife of Jame Everett Oles, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of her uncle, Dr. aCldwell. Mrs. Oles, who was little more than a bride — next Saturday being the second anniversary of her wedding — was stricken suddenly about last Christmas season. She had been practically confined to her bed ever since, and for months had been so low that her life was daily despaired of.

Mrs. Oles was very well known in the city, where the greater part of her life was spent, and was universally loved by all who knew her. Of a most loving and lovable nature, she was untiring in her unselfishness and affectionate devotion to her family and friends. She is the only daughter of Mrs. Robert Brodigan, and was born in Brantford, but through her childhood and young girlhood made her home with Dr. and Miss Caldwell, to whom she was all the most loving daughter could have been. A few years ago she left town to be with her mother in Toronto, and was most heartily welcomed back to the city after her marriage with Mr. Oles, who is a member of the firm of A. W. Cressman & Co.

Besides her mother and husband, and Dr. and Miss Caldwell, deceased is survived by her only brother, Chas. A. Brodigan, now of Toronto. The funeral will take place to-morrow, Tuesday afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery, and will be private.

Yesterday In City's Churches

CHARLOTTE STREET

The services at Charlotte street yesterday were conducted by the Rev. Mr. McCamus. In the evening he preached a very helpful sermon on "God is Love." Miss Clara Belleghem sang "Hold Thou My Hand," by Briggs. Miss Eva Bradd in the absence of Miss Clarry, presided at the organ and her work elicited much praise from the congregation.

ST LUKE'S.

The choir rehearsals will begin next Thursday at 8 o'clock. All members of the choir and others who wish to join are requested to attend. The Harvest Festival Music will be prepared.

The Sunday School will hold its session hereafter at 3 o'clock in the afternoon instead of in the morning at 10 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Dawson sang last night "A Dream of Paradise" in excellent voice.

ST. JOHN'S.

The services at St. John's on Sunday were bright and hearty. At Matins, Mrs. H. B. Stowe's "Still, Still With Thee" to music by Gerrish, was sung by Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Seward, Mr. G. Chandler and Mr. Allen, without accompaniment. The voices blended well, all the words being distinctly heard, and sung with expression. The Evensong was choral; the Psalms were chanted, and Mr. Firth sang Torrington's "Abide With Me," excellently, at the offertory.

The Isolation Hospital Again

Joint Committee Will Discuss Question To-night.

The Isolation Hospital question, of which nothing has been heard publicly for some little time, will come up again to-night, when there will be a meeting of the Isolation Hospital committee, composed of members of the Board of Health, and the Finance Committee of the city Council. The problem has been engaging the attention of the committee for a long time, but it is thought that to-night some steps will be taken towards going on with the work.

Architect Blackwell prepared plans some months ago, which may be discussed to-night.

Pugilists Met At The Bridge

Were Watched by a Large Crowd Returning to Work.

A little bout at the Hunter street bridge shortly after dinner had the effect of attracting a large crowd of interested spectators in a very few minutes. The pugilists were both working men and from their actions had apparently imbibed too much of the "life saving" fluid. It was impossible to discover just what the cause of their strained relations were, but they were finally reconciled and parted friends.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 27.—The bears had the best of the argument in Wall Street to-day. St. Paul made a new high in the early trading but later on lost it all. There seemed to be a steady pressure of long stocks throughout the day. Atchison was lifted above its previous high at one time and Copper made active at higher figures in an effort to keep price up but those tactics were useless.

Prices reacted faster in the afternoon showing good sized losses all along the line. St. Paul lost 4 points without a rally and Smelters broke sharply. The close was active and weak near the low for the day.

AROUND WINDMILL SHAFT.

Nine-Year-Old Girl's Hair and Cheek Torn Off.

Hamilton, Aug. 27.—An appalling accident took place near Ryckman's Corners, about four miles from here, on Saturday afternoon, when Edna Myers, nine years old, had her scalp and a portion of her cheek torn off as a result of her hair becoming entwined around the shaft of a windmill. The youngster was playing about a barn on the farm on which her father worked and got too near the shaft which was revolving at a high rate of speed, when, her hair catching, she was suspended in the air. Her cries brought assistance, and after being taken from her perilous position she was brought to the city hospital where Dr. Cummings performed an operation on her in an endeavor to graft the flesh on. The child's father and several of the patients in the hospital consented to have flesh taken from their bodies for the purpose of grafting. The youngster's condition is serious, but it is possible that she may recover. At any rate it is expected she will linger for some time.

Killed at Port Perry.

Port Perry, Aug. 27.—Watson Hodgson, an old resident of Port Perry, aged about 75 years, was killed Saturday by the G. T. R. train. He was driving into town from the country and attempted to cross the track at Kellett's crossing ahead of the 11.30 express. The train struck the buggy and the old man was thrown against telegraph post, striking his head, which was badly cut, death being instantaneous.

"Man Overboard."

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 27.—The Black Diamond liner Cacouna arrived here Saturday from Montreal with Second Officer Eugene Rochelle, aged 23, and unmarried, missing. He was seen on board shortly after midnight on Thursday morning last, just as the steamer was leaving her dock at Montreal. A few minutes later Rochelle could not be found.

All Saved But One.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 27.—A night ferry boat, taking a load to the Michigan Soo Friday night, was swamped. George Hessinger, employed as a butcher with Mitchell & Co. here, was drowned. The other occupants were saved. Hessinger was about 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and child in the Michigan Soo.

Motorman Fatally Injured.

Hamilton, Aug 27.—Fred Barnes, a motorman on the Burlington and Oakville line, was fatally injured early Saturday morning as a result of a head-on collision north of the piers at the Beach. The accident was caused Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had the whooping cough last winter, and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so distressing and dangerous an ilment" —Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, ont.

Safe Home-Coming Of Trans-Atlantic Tourists

Mr. and Mrs. S. Dickson Hall and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stratton Returned in Safety From British and Continental Tour.

Globe trotting is these days so common an incident that a journey half round the globe is not a more unusual event than a merchant's journey from Peterborough to Montreal half a century ago; but when this journey is taken by two of our prominent young business men, with one eye on pleasure and the other on business, it acquires a special local interest.

In a few minutes' interview with Mr. A. H. Stratton, of A. H Stratton & Co., of the Peterborough Bookstore, it was learned that the journey throughout was a most delightful one, and incidentally, from a business point of view, a profitable one.

MR. A. H. STRATTON, Proprietor of the Peterborough Bookstore.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton crossed on the steamer Majestic from New York, and returned by the Virginian of the Allan Line, and without national prejudice, travelling was far more pleasant by the Canadian steamer. The turbiner was much steadier, less noisy, and the appointment more luxurious. In all respects the Canadian steamer appealed more strongly to a Canadian. The first objective point was London, where a fortnight was spent, a time that passed by like two days, so infinite were the resources of sight-seeing in the world's metropolis—something of interest at every turn. While in England the party saw the Henley Regatta and the Warwick Pageant.

Mr. A. H. Stratton's Itinerary.

The Continental tour lasted eight weeks and the countries visited were France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. In Paris Mr. and Mrs. Stratton met Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Hall, Dr. Edwy and Mrs. Stratton—residents—Mr. Fred Armstrong and others. Paris is the mecca of travellers and it is almost impossible to go out without encountering somebody one knows. Among all the places visited Rome was the most delightful, next to London. Included in the pleasures of the visit to the Eternal City was an audience with his Holiness the Pope, something without which tourists consider they have not seen Rome. A visit to the Carnival in Venice and to Vesuvius and Pompeii and a peasant's dance—the Tarantella—were among the pleasures of the Roman holiday.

But Mr. Stratton's visit was not confined to sight-seeing. He made it a point incidentally, to investigate the business methods of the countries visited and at the same time to make direct purchases in the interests of his large clientele of customers in Peterborough. He purchased in London large supplies of staple stationery and books. In Paris the purchases comprised fancy goods and novelties for the Christmas trade in Peterborough and in Germany, an extensive list of similar goods were purchased, and later the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of these purchases in the most complete and beautiful lines of Christmas goods ever shown in the Peterborough Bookstore.

Mr. Stratton was much struck with the difference in business methods, in London buying was difficult and slow, for this reason. Business there is closely specialized, and one can, as a rule, buy only one line of goods in one store. Retail business is different, too, the shops being so close to a base of supplies that the latter can be, and are, renewed every day. But business methods are vastly superior in England and Scotland, to those of the Continent. In the former business is reduced to a system. The purchaser is quoted a price, and that is the price — there is no departure from it. On the contrary, on the Continetn, in France and Germany, the only system is one of haggling. A price is quoted, there is perpetual departure from it, and the purchaser never knows where he is at. The British system makes buying easy, the buyer has confidence that the merchant or dealer is not trying to extort the highest possible price. Mr. Stratton considers that he did a large amount of profitable buying in the old world for his business in the new.

After the return from the Continent, Mr. and Mrs. Stratton spent all the time — one week — that remained to them in Scotland, visiting in that time as many of the noted scenes and points of interest as possible. Time did not permit of a visit to Ireland, which was only seen from the decks of the Virginian as she touched at Queenstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton return to Canada after a most delightful journey, yet they never saw any place that was so dear and so good a home as Canada. There was no place in the Old World visited which could begin to offer to young men the opportunities for business success and a happy home, as dear old Canada gives.

Mr. Dickson Hall's Route.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Dickson Hall returned to Peterborough at noon on Saturday, after a ten weeks 'trip to Europe, in which Mr. Hall combined business and pleasure, securing a large amount of drygoods, laces, novelties, etc., from the leading European centres, for the firm of Richard Hall and Son. The trip was a very enjoyable one, involving, as it did, visits to the most famous centres of the old World, as well as a delightful trans-Atlantic voyage, taken at the most propitious season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall left Peterborough on the 14th of June, sailing for Liverpool on the White Star Liner Oceanic. The voyage across the Atlantic was marked by favourable weather, and the passengers were able to fully enjoy the journey. Reaching Liverpool Mr. and Mrs. Hall went to London, where two or three days were spent in sightseeing.

Then leaving London they went to Berlin by the Creambury and Flushing route. At Berlin, where ten days were spent, Mr. Hall succeeded in securing a large amount of German dress goods of high quality. The various lions of the city were also visited before Mr. and Mrs. Hall returned to London.

On their return to England, they took a trip through the well-known manufacturing cities of England, where Mr. Hall purchased large quantities of select goods for the Peterborough store. They visited Nottingham, famous for its hosiery and its laces, Leeds, noted for its wonderful woollen goods, Bradford, the celebrated otton manufacturing city. Manchester was also visited, and some fine dress goods were secured there. Mr. and Mrs. Hall crossed over to Belfast, Ireland, and there a quantity of the famous Belfast linen was purchased.

Scotland was also visited and Mr. and Mrs. Hall will have many pleasant recollections of the land o' cakes. After visiting Glasgow they passed on to Edinburgh, spending several days in that picturesque university city. One of the most pleasant side trips, from a scenic point of view, was that made through the beautiful Trossachs, made famous by Sir Walter Scott.

On their return to London Mr. and Mrs. Hall passed over to Paris, where ten days were pleasantly spent. Here Mr. Hall was successful in securing a large number of novelties from the leading Parisian wholesalers and manufacturers. These are a very high class line of trade, and are the most modern in the market.

They set sail for home on August 15th, and reached New York, after a very pleasant voyage on the 23rd. The Baltic, on which the voyage was made, is the largest ship of the White Star Line, and is certainly a monster, as her dimensions prove. The boat is 726 feet long, in length equivalent to the distance between Charlotte and Brock streets, which will give some idea of the gigantic dimensions of this leviathan.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall wasted no time in leaving New York. The thermometer was showing an inclination to hover around 92 degrees, and the heat was too much after an ocean voyage.

The aftermath of Mr. Hall's trip will be seen in the large amount of new and fashionable goods he has secured his establishment, which will keep the store up to its present high standard.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Fatal Russian Bomb Kills Thirty Persons

Dastardly Attempt to Assassinate Stolypin.

PREMIER'S DAUGHTER KILLED

Wounds Himself in Face and Neck and Also His Three-Year-Old Son—Dead Include Many of High Rank as Well as Two of the Assassins—Thirty Prominent in Social and Official World Were Injured.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Twenty-eight persons are dead and 30 others wounded as the result of the dastardly attempt to assassinate Premier Stolypin with a bomb while he was holding a public reception at his country house at Aptekersky Island. The Premier was slightly wounded on the face and neck by flying splinters.

Among the dead are:

The Premier's 15-year-old daughter, who had both legs broken by the explosion and subsequently succumbed to her injuries.

Gen. Zamaetin, the Premier's personal secretary.

M. Khovosteff, former Governor of the Province of Penza.

Col. Federoff, chief of the Premier's personal guards.

Prince Nakashidge.

Court Chamberlain Davidoff.

Court Chamberlain Veroain.

Aide Doubassoff, and Four women and two children; a police officer and several guards and servants.

The wounded include M. Stolypin's three-year-old son, who is seriously, though not fatally injured, and a number of persons prominent in the social and official worlds.

Two Conspirators Killed, Two Wounded

Of the four conspirators who engineered the outrage, two were killed with their victims, while the third, who acted as coachman for the party, and the fourth, who remained inside, the carriage, were badly wounded, and now are in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress.

Whether the assassins, who entered the crowded reception hall, threw the bomb or accidentally dropped it probably never will be known as all the immediate eye-witnesses were killed.

The tremendous force of the explosion absolutely blew out the front of the premier's residence and carried away the ceilings above, and the floors beneath and the walls of the adjoining rooms.

Persons literally were blown to pieces. Those who were not killed instantly were horribly maimed or lacerated and all the others present were prostrated by the shock.

Miraculous Escape.

The Premier's escape was miraculous, for only a moment before the explosion he had stepped inside his study at the rear of the salon to speak to Prince Shakovsky. Although he was but slightly injured, he is completely prostrated by the calamity.

Later details show that the authors of the outrage drove up to the Premier's residence after the list of visitors had been closed. The servants refusing them admission, after which they attempted to force an entry to the house. A struggle ensued at the entrance to the anteroom adjoining the reception room, and during the course of which the terrorist disguised as a gendarme dropped a bomb, which exploded, destroying the anteroom, the adjoining guardroom, part of the reception room, and also the balcony of the first floor. The Premier, who was receiving visitors in a private room, was not injured, but his daughter and son, who were sitting in the balcony were wounded. The principal loss of life occurred in the anteroom.

Came From Moscow.

As a result of the enquiry it was learned Saturday night that the man who threw the bomb came here from Moscow via Warsaw. They took lodgings in Morskala street, and Saturday hired a carriage in which they visited one of the open air summer theatres prior to going to Premier Stolypin's. The chief of the assassins, whose body is now guarded by troops, is apparently about 25 years of age. He wore a brand new uniform, beneath which he had on a civilian vest of very dirty linen.

Two or Three Explosions.

At the moment of the explosion, M. Stolypin was closeted with two marshals of the nobility, who declare that there were two or three explosions.

M. Stolypin's first question was for the members of the family. He himself freed his children from the piled up debris with which they were covered. Later in the evening he visited them twice in the hospital.

The havoc wrought by the explosion is indescribable. Bodies were so torn or mangled as to make identification impossible, some of them headless, armless or legless lying among the blood dripping wreckage.

Bodies Converted Into Public.

When the Associated Press Saturday evening succeeded in securing permission to pass the cavalry guarding the approaches to the house, the dead and wounded already had been removed to a neighboring hospital, but by the light of flaring torches the police still were picking out from the wreckage bits of flesh and placing them on towels for transportation by ambulance to the morgue.

At the hospital the correspondent saw frantic attendants trying to arrange the shattered bodies into some semblance of human form for identification by weeping and wailing relatives outside.

The terrorist who carried the explosive into the house was literally converted into pulp by the force of the explosion. Inside the gendarme officers' coat, which he had on, was found the death sentence of Premier Stolypin that he had tried to execute.

The police refuse to make public the contents of this document. With what was left of the revolutionists three revolvers, two of them automatic pistols, were found.

A Dynamite Bomb.

According to statements of the survivors, none of the overpowering fumes accompanying the use of melinite, lyddite or pyroxaline, were noticed after the explosion, and it is thought the bomb was charged with camphor and dynamite, which are extensively used in loading the revolutionists' bombs, and which explosive was employed in the assassination of Alexander II. Among its advantages is the fact that it is safer to handle than ordinary dynamite, and it is also more powerful.

The tragedy created a tremendous sensation here, and extra editions of the newspapers were sold in the streets until midnight. In the clubs where officials and officers gather the most intense indignation prevails, and the prediction was freely made that the revolutionists would pay dearly for such senseless crimes, and no doubt was entertained that their only effect would be to drive the Government to more severe methods of repression.

Part of War of Retaliation.

From information obtained from the revolutionary sources, it is certain that the crime was committed by the fighting organization of the Social Revolutionists in retaliation for the war which the Government has been waging against them. Since M. Stolypin's accession to the Premiership over 1,000 of their numbers have been arrested, 400 in St. Petersburg alone, and many of these have been deported.

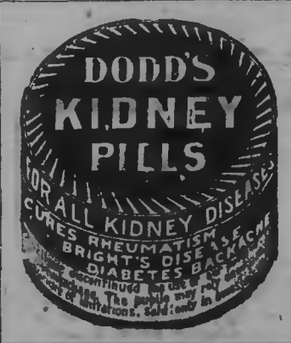
To fight this crusade the fighting organization, which is composed of a wing known at Maximists, and who believe in setting up a purely socialistic state upon the ruins of the autocracy, have deliberately entered upon a duel with the Government, such as that which characterized the famous fight of the Nihilists in the late seventies, and which ended in the assassination of Emperor Alexander II. All the members of the organization had due notice that Saturday's attempt on the Premier would be made and went into hiding.

Was Saved 10 Days Before.

It has become known that an attempt upon M. Stolypin was frustrated ten days ago by the discovery of the beginning of a subterranean passage from the wall of the Grenadier Church adjoining his residence. The mining of palaces and residences formerly was a favorite method of the Nihilists, but has not been used of recent years.

Emperor Nicholas, when apprised of Saturday's disaster, sent his personal congratulation to Premier Stolypin on his escape, and the Cabinet Ministers and many members of the diplomatic corps tendered expressions of sympathy. News received here from Peterhof is to the effect that feeling runs high against the revolutionaries in court circles.

When M. Stolypin accepted the Premiership, he was perfectly conscious of his personal danger. One of his remarks at a recent interview was: "I have no doubt that attempts will be made upon my life but I hope that order will be restored and stability established in Russia before they are successful."



WE NEED NOT FEAR.

Strathcona Thinks Reorganization of "High Jointers" Will Be Unnecessary.

London, Aug. 27.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Strathcona informed the representative of The Standard that he did not think the reorganization of the joint high commission would be necessary.

"From what I know the imperial Government is anxious that all outstanding disputes should be settled, as is the Dominion Government; and the Canadian people may rest assured no action will be taken on this side that does not consider their best interests. Any action Lord Elgin may take will be based on the view of those best qualified to represent the interests of Canada."

Use But Little Alcohol.

London, Aug. 27.—The resident medical officer of University College Hospital says the amount of alcohol prescribed by hospital doctors is steadily diminishing in quantity. The official of Guy's Hospital says in 1905, when there was 3,626 in-patients, the expenditure for malt liquor was only £9. In 1896, with 6,500 in-patients the expenditure was £17. At one time beer was considered an ordinary part of a patient's diet. That idea now has quite disappeared.

Palma Is On The Still Hunt For More Troops

What the President of Cuba Offers Volunteer Recruits.

OFFERS AMNESTY TO REBELS

Notable Rebel Accessions—Mayor, Police, Councilmen, Officials and Rural Guards of Las Cruces Have Joined the Insurgents — Guerra's Force and Where It Is—Fighting, But Government Has No Reverses.

Havana, Aug. 27.—President Palma has officially called for volunteers to compose a national militia of infantry and cavalry and to co-operate with the Government forces under the command of the chief of the rural guards.

The pay of chiefs of battalions and regiments will be $200 a month, adjutants $125 a month, captains $100 a month, and soldiers $2 a day.

All volunteers disabled will receive full pay during the period of disturbance, and in the event of their death the money will go to their dependent heirs.

Shipload of Arms.

New York, Aug. 27.—Arms and ammunition for the Cuban Government were shipped from this city Saturday for Havana on board the Ward line steamship Mexico. The steamer had stowed away in her hold 15,000 Remington repeating rifles, 300,000 rounds of ammunition and six gatling rapid fire guns for the use of President Palma's forces.

The steamer Kansas, which will sail next Thursday, will carry 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 5,000 Remingtons for the Cuban Government.

The Associated Press is informed that the Government had decided to issue Sunday an amnesty of thirty days, under which those persons now bearing arms who return peaceably to their homes will be pardoned.

Notable Rebel Accessions.

Havana, Aug. 27.—A despatch received here from Las Cruces, Santa Clara Province, says the mayor, the police, nearly all the councilmen and officials of the town, together with all the rural guards stationed there, and 300 citizens, have joined the insurgents.

Senator Frias of Cienfuegos has received a telegram reporting a similar state of affairs at Trinidad.

Where Guerra's Force Is.

The force under Guerra is concentrating among the Bolondron hills between San Juan de Martinez and Guanes, in Pinar del Rio Province. In the meanwhile hundreds of families accounted to be friends of Guerra peacefully are working their rice and tobacco fields in that region. The inhabitants of the district who have not belligerent inclinations do not appear to care whether Guerra or Col. Avalos, the commander of the rural guards, eventually prevails.

Rodriguez says he is not aware of the exact numerical strength of Guerra's force, but he does not believe it totals anything like 2,000 men. He apparently is confident that the present campaign will result in disaster to Guerra.

No Reverses.

The Government has not suffered a reverse of any consequence, and Saturday it chronicled further victories. The principal of these came as a result of an attack by 150 mounted rural guards under Major Gomez upon Reinoso's band of 200 insurgents at Cascajale, near Santa Rosa. This engagement came at the end of a three days' pursuit of the enemy.

A forced march brought the Government forces suddenly upon the revolutionists. After the first exchange of shots the rural guards chased the enemy, who dispersed and fled and inflicted severe punishment with machetes. A report of this occurrence, received by Gen. Rodriguez Saturday night, says at least twenty of the revolutionists were killed or wounded.

Preston Appeals.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—An appeal in the Port Arthur and Rainy River election case will be taken by W. A. Preston (Liberal). He protests against Judge Teetzel striking out the votes cast by aliens and infants (those under 21), who were on the voters' list. The election trial is due at Port Arthur Oct. 8, and the appeal will be heard probably during the first sitting of the Court of Appeal, which begins on Sept. 17.

Rhodes Scholars.

London, Aug. 27.—(C.A.P.)—Among the newly-elected Rhodes scholars are R. C. Read, Ontario; Arthur Moxon, Nova Scotia; A. G. Cameron, Prince Edward Island; Ralph Freeze, New Brunswick; A. R. Macleod, Quebec; Austen Rothwell, Alberta; J. J. Penny, Newfoundland; Stuart Beech, Manitoba; H. R. Bray, British Columbia.

The Haileybury Fire Inquest.

Haileybury, Aug. 27.—Investigation into the cause of the recent fire here was continued Saturday, and, though carried on well through the day, very little new evidence was brought out. The court adjourned till Sept. 14 to give the authorities time to collect more evidence.

Sergt. E. J. Bowen Dead.

Belleville, Aug. 27.—Sergt. E. J. Bowen, for twenty-one years a member of the old 100th Canadian Regiment, and who was with it in Malta, Gibraltar and other places, is dead, at Frankford. He was also a veteran of the Northwest rebellion.

To Contest Sage Will.

Albany, Aug. 27.—Revel C. Sage, a grand-nephew of Russell Sage, is to attack the Sage will on the ground that there is a private paper separate from the will which directs Mrs. Sage how to dispose of the estate, and he claims that "if the provisions of that private paper had been incorporated in the will itself it would lay the will open to doubt as to the testator's testamentary capacity."

Potato Blight In Ireland.

London, Aug. 27.—The Manchester Guardian's Dublin correspondent confirms the report of potato blight in Western Ireland. There is no doubt that its ravages are serious and widespread. The blight was first noticed in the Moycullen district, and in Galway. The disease has struck the crop everywhere during the severe rains of the last fortnight.

ynopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Shamrocks Winning Pace Stops Short Of Championship

Hard Luck—Shut Out by Toronto Junction—Close Score of 4 to 3—So Near and Yet So Far—A Disappointment.

The Shamrock lacrosse team sustained a defeat in Lindsay on Saturday after an exciting contest which resulted in a score of four goals to three in favour of the Toronto Junction Shamrocks. As a result of this game the boys are now down and out of the running for the junior C.L.A. championship.

There was a large crowd present, including about 300 from Peterborough, and it was probably the largest one that has graced the Lindsay grandstand with their attendance this season. The Peterborough people had go up to see their team win, and at the finish there was more than one face that bore an expression of disappointment. Indeed, to many the outcome came as a bolt from the blue. Scarcely a single Peterborough enthusiast anticipated such a result, for the Electric City bunch had the best of the play nearly all the way, but were unable to score, and the coterie of spectators who made safe prophecies as to the result were objects of wrathful scorn.

The atmospheric conditions could scarcely have been more favourable to good lacrosse although the sun was shining brightly, it was not intensely hot, as there was a cool breeze blowing across the field.

The match was a good exhibition of Canada's great national game nd the two teams could scarcely have been more evenly matched, there was not much to pick between them, but it anything Peterborough had a little the better of the play, and it was anybody's game until the final whistle was sounded. Had the issue been lost by a larger margin it could have been more easily tolerated by the team's supporters. But when it is considered that the team had all the play in the last quarter, and that the number of shots that was rained in onto the Junction citadel, it was nothing more than a case of real hard luck, and the disappointment caused could scarcely have been keener.

At half time few would have given any serious thought to the prediction that the Peterborough twelve would lose, for then they were one goal ahead and had nearly all the play their own way. Even at the close of the third quarter when the score stood 1 to 3 in favour of the Junction, it was generally thought among the many of the most unprejudiced that the locals would make it a victory. How they failed in the last quarter will always perhaps remain somewhat of a mystery, but many are of the opinion that it was Fred Waghorne who saved the game for the Junction, but whether he did or did not, he certainly had a great deal to do with it. It may be safely said that with "Wag" off the field the Junction would have been tied in knots. "Wag" has refereed nearly all the local's games, and knew all their plays and good men, and acted accordingly. It was the opinion of many that it was another case of where the best team lost. The local Shamrocks had every bit as good a team as the Junction and in a number of departments had their opponents outclassed. They played better combination than did the Junction and they had a far better field than the winners.

The Junction team played in rare form; they covered their men in wonderful fashion, and it is safe to say that Saunders, Dobson and Bassett were never more closely watched than on Saturday. This fact in a measure must be attributed to attributed to Waghorne, who knew all the stars of the local twelve. Again their defence worked most harmoniously, and its organization was well nigh perfect, as was proven in the last quarter. In many ways the locals' defeat is difficult to explain. Two of their goals were netted from long shots, which were very lucky to go in. In fact they would be regarded as due in quite a degree to luck. The Junction defence excelled in breaking up combinations, and their goal tender was well nigh impregnable. At every stage of the match, however, his fellows accorded him the very best of support, and made the most strenuous efforts to safeguard every loophole through which the ball could have landed in the nets.

For the locals, Gilman in the flags, tended goal in great style. He was never in better form, and stopped numerous shots that looked almost impossible. The defence all put up a stellar article of lacrosse, and the pick of the bunch were Dusty and Seymour. The latter who was put on to take Feeney's place played in rare form. Time and again he relieved the pressure on the locals nets with a pretty run. He has the makings of a strong defence player. "Buddy" Tucker, the Johnnie Currier of the locals, played his usual good game. He worked like a Trojan, and had the legs run off the Junction field. On the home all the players put up an excellent article of lacrosse, but a few of the home men did not get much of a chance to shine, as they had them well covered. Jimmy McNichol was the most conspicuous player of the bunch.

Referee Jeff O'Brien had an easy time of it, the game being an easy one to handle. He meted out only a small number of penalties, and these were largely for minor offences.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.	Toronto Jct.

Gilman	Kinsman

The Game.

First Quarter — Tucker drew the rubber and passed to Saunders, to Dobson, to Bassett, who scored for the locals in half a minute. It was the prettiest play of the day, the ball never touching a Toronto stick. Score, Junction 0; Peterborough 1.

A few minutes after the face off Dobson and Johnston were given a rest ticket for having an altercation. The Junction team pressed hard and after twelve minutes of fast play Wallace evened up the score on a side shot. Score, Junction 1; Peterborough 1.

The Junction scored again in 3 minutes. Wallace's shot was blocked by Gilman, but King batted the rubber in before they could clear. Score Junction 2; Peterborough 1.

Saunders evened up the score in four and a half minutes after carrying the ball the length of the field Score, Junction 2; Peterborough 2.

J Second Quarter. — The ball was in the Junction territory all the quarter, but the locals were unable to score more than once, Saunders scoring after a pretty combination run. Score, Junction 2; Peterborough 3.

Third Quarter. — The play in this quarter was about even, but the Junction team evened the score and got one ahead, which they were able to hold. Wallace scored the first on a pass from Greig in six minutes. Score, Junction 3; Peterborough 3.

Wallace again scored, putting his team in the lead. Time six minutes. Score, Junction 4; Peterborough 3.

Bassett was benched for five minutes for slashing.

Fourth Quarter. — In this quarter the play was all Peterborough, but they were unable to score. They shot time and again, and many of the shots hit the goal posts, and it was simply a case of pure hard luck that that the score was not tied.

Lakeviews Won In Fast Game

Defeated Independents Saturday By Score of 8-6.

In a good game of baseball at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday, the Lakeviews defeated the Independents by the score of 8-6. The pitching honours were about even, Carson getting better support. The teams were:—Lakeviews—Carson, p.; Menzies, c.; Wilson, 1b.; J. Pilling, 2b., Foley, s.s.; Theobald, 3b.; Doherty, r.f.; Kennaelly, c.f.; Henry, l.f. Independents—Kendry, p.; Billington, c.; P. Weatherstone, 1st b.; W. Weatherstone, 2nd b.; B. Hawkins, s. s.; McMillan, 3rd b.; B. Johnston, r. f.; Russel, c. f.; R. Pilling, l. f.

LACROSSE

The Peterborough Shamrocks are out of the running after being defeated in a hard battle in Lindsay on Saturday. No lacrosse championship will come to Peterborough this year, but the Shamrocks have made a desperate bid for the honours, and are deserving of the greatest credit for the splendid showing they have made this season, which marked their debut into the C. L. A. ranks. They were young and light but played the right brand of lacrosse at all times. They did not receive the best of treatment at the hands of the C. L. A., but have accepted the hardships philosophically and have never thought of defaulting. The fact that they have played three sudden death games to reach the second round of the semi-finals, shows that they did not receive much favour from the C. L. A. Their record this season is a good one and although defeat comes hard, the Shamrocks have the satisfaction of knowing that their good playing has been an advertisement to Peterborough and a credit to themselves.

MANLINESS IN SPORT.

A Rhodes scholar from Wyoming, in giving his impression of Oxford, speaks of the manliness of the Oxonian, especially as shown in sport. The players do not wrangle among themselves nor with the referee. If a decision seemingly unfair is given, there is no roar of protest. A player may think the decision is wrong, but he goes ahead and plays the game. If beaten he consoles himself with the fact that he did his best and lost fairly. If he wins, he knows he has won fairly and in a gentlemanly way. He plays the game as hard as he can, but never stoops to "dirty work" in order to win. He has no desire to win at all costs. His object is to win by hard work and fair play, if he can. If he cannot win on his merits, the next best thing is to lose in fair play, after a hard-fought struggle. He admits frankly when he has met his superior and makes no excuses for himself when beaten. The English athlete plays a clean, hard, honourable game.

Commencing on this, the Ottawa Citizen admits that in some branches of Canadian athletics a win without honour is preferred by some to an honourable defeat. "The main thing is to win, fairly, of course, is possible; but if necessary (and the referee is not looking) unfair means will answer the purpose. It does not augur well for the future of Canadian sports, in its true sense, that this spirit should obtain in many of our contests, not only with the players, but in a large measure with the spectators. This is greatly to be regretted. If the public encourages this spirit, improved ethics in sports will always be conspicuous by their absence. But a proper and thorough correction of this condition will come only through education. If the boy at home and during his school days were inoculated with a genuine sense of honour and fairness in sport, he would be free from the temptation in after life to take an unfair or unmanly advantage of an opponent."

It may be remarked that the difference is in games as much as in nationalities, Canadian players of cricket, golf, bowls, or curling, show the spirit described by the Rhodes scholar. Yet here the question of nationality, comes in again, for it is in the distinctive Canadian and American games—lacrosse, hockey, and baseball—that foul play and violence, quarrelling, and ruffianly language are found. We admit that they are strenuous games, and a game of lacrosse, even fairly played, is as good an imitation of an actual battle as can be found in sport. But to account for the evil is not to justify it. The grater the temptation, the greater the need for resistance. And a distinction must be made between unavoidably rough play, such as the shock of two men meeting in their struggle for the ball, and "dirty play", such as tripping and deliberate striking. Nor is there anything in the strenuous nature of the game that can justify players whining over a decision, insulting the referee, or the use of ruffianly language by spectators.

We are struck with the truth of the Citizen's remarks that teaching honour and fairness in sport to the schoolboy would make him a fair-minded man, who would not take an unfair or unmanly advantage of an opponent. Note, for instance, how many of the faults of a bad politician are the faults of a bad sportsman. He treats his opponent like a personal enemy. He is ruffianly in his language. He is unfair in his methods. He whines and curses when he is beaten. He is not ready to say cheerfully: "I was beaten because the other fellow had more votes." In all his actions he shows the lack of training in manliness, courtesy, fairness, and the other qualities of a good sportsman.

End Of Season In Sight At Kawartha Lakes

Traffic up to Stony Lake Not as Heavy as Usual on Saturday—Some of the Cottages are Already Closed.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Stony Lake, Aug. 27.—That the end of the season is at hand at Stony Lake is evidenced by the falling off of the up traffic. This was especially noticeable on Saturday, when the week-end visitors were not nearly as numerous as they were in other weeks this summer. A number of cottages have already closed, and this week will see the majority deserted for the season. The coming of September marks the end of the summer resort gayety for this year, though a large number will likely spend Labour Day at the lake. The afternoon and night boats on Saturday, although well patronized, did not present the crowded appearance characteristic of the mid-season rush.

Dr. Gibson, Lakefield, spent Sunday at the lake.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was at Ballyraggit for Sunday.

Miss Laura Beairs, of Norwood, is spending a few days at Crowe's Landing.

Mr. W. Prest, Norwood, spent Sunday at the lake.

Dr. Morrison spent Sunday at the lake.

Mr. Jas. Dounel was at Kilkenny for Sunday.

Mr. Clarence Baller spent Sunday at Stony Lake.

Mr. Herb Hamilton went down from the lakes this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hamilton, of Sturgeon Falls, spent Sunday at Ishpeming.

Miss Fife, who has been spending a week at Wauwinnet, went down this morning.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox spent Sunday at the lake.

Miss Vieva Hunter spent Sunday at Strathormond-on-the-Lake.

Hon. J. R. Stratton came up to Strathormond-on-the-Lake on Saturday.

Mr. G. M. Roger was at the lake for Sunday.

Mrs. Stewart and family, Norwood, who have been spending several weeks at the lake, returned this morning.

Miss Ella Mathieson, Peterborough, is to guest of Miss Mary Nichol at Doon Brae.

Prof. Ray, Washington, has sold his cottage to Mr. Rogers, of Toronto. Mr. Ray and family go down from the lake Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent went down from their cottage this morning.

Mr. J. W. Carey and family have returned to the city after a pleasant holiday at Eagle Mount.

Judge Hudspeth, of New York, with a large party, is occupying Kawartha Lodge.

Mr. J. J. McBain spent Sunday at Bona Vista.

Messrs. E. S. Clarry and W. S. Davidson were the guests of Hon. J. R. Stratton at Strathormon-on-the-Lake Sunday.

Mr. Sandford Hall, of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Toronto, returned after spending a two weeks' vacation at Winonah, the summer home of his father, Sheriff Hall, at Stony Lake.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum was at Cairndhu for Sunday.

Mr. R. E. Layfield went down from Ishpemming this morning.

Mr. C. Young spent Sunday at Juniper Island.

Mr. Henderson, of Toronto, came down from the lake this morning.

Peterboro' Lady Presented With Handsome Umbrella

Interesting Summer Resort Incident at South Beach—Departure of American Actress—Bass Fishing Continues Good—Young People Having a Hilarious Time—Latest News From This Popular Resort.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Park Hotel Summer Resort, South Beach, Aug. 25.—A very pleasing incident took place here Monday evening, when Miss M. McCabe, the popular pianoforte teacher of Peterborough, was presented with a gold-headed silk umbrella. Miss McCabe has been a guest at the house during the past week, and having shown such willingness to contribute to the pleasure of the guests by her efficient services on the piano on all occasions, it was decided to recognize her kindness in a practical manner. A committee of ladies interested themselves in the matter, with the result that in a short time a sufficient amount was voluntarily donated for their purpose. A telephone message was at once sent to Mr. Harry Adams' ladies' furnishings store, requesting several of the best silk umbrellas to be forwarded to South Beach. Thursday evening, when all the guests were assembled in the reception room, Mr. Justice, of Buffalo, made the presentation to Miss Cabe, in a very felicitous manner, conveying to her the unanimous desire of the guests to mark how her services had been appreciated. So embarrassed was Miss McCabe that she was unable to voice her thanks, and requested Mr. Howe, of Rochester, Pa., to reply in her behalf. This young gentleman returned thanks in a humourous speech, which provoked the hearty applause of everyone present. The umbrella was a handsome, gold-headed rain-shedder of pure silk, fitted with the latest attachments.

American Actress Leaves.

Miss Bongtello, the American actress and her party left here on Friday after spending a delightful vacation. She was greatly pleased with the waters, the scenery, and especially the fishing attractions around Clear Lake.

The bass fishing continues to improve. Some exceptionally fine catches have been made within the past few days The black bass are biting better every day, and more muskinonge come in with the results of each day's sport. Mrs. Justice, who made some record catches last year, has been very successful again this season. She and her husband are adepts with rod and line, as well as the trawl.

Alderman Hicks is spending a few days here with Mrs. Hicks, glad to be able to get a short respite from the strenuous work of keeping a watchful eye on the public works department of the city council, as well as his own business.

Rocks Were Discovered.

There was a hot time here on Friday afternoon when the boys came in from a fishing expedition. It appears that a bunch of the merriest of the young ladies had undertaken to sew up the pyjamas belonging to a number of jolly young Americans, who had made themselves particularly agreeable since their arrival at South Beach. A reprisal the young men succeeded in quietly stowing away a number of good sized rocks under the sheets of the beds occupied by the ladies. One of the cutest of the fair ones, who had come up to rest for a short time previous to retiring for the night, discovered the rocks the minute she attempted to lie down. She immediately tumbled to the trick, and cautioned the rest of her chums to make no alarm, as the young fellows were lined up outside anxiously awaiting to hear the result. There and then a caucus of the ladies was held and deep laid plans on an extensive scale for getting back at the boys were evolved. Well by some fine manoeuvring, on the part of the ladies the young fellows were all induced to go out fishing the following forenoon. No sooner were they gone than the fair pirates took possession of the young men's rooms, and on the return of the boys the scene of indescribable confusion which presented itself fairly beggers description. These are only a few of the pranks they committed: — Clothes lines were stretched across the rooms, and the night robes and shirts of the young men were all sewn at the bottom and tops, and then hung on the lines and labelled "Laundry taken in here!" The sheets on the beds were all sewn down to the mattresses, after first having spread a coat of rough gravel under the sheet. Neckties and kerchiefs were knotted and tied to the lines. Four pairs of masculine trousers were closely stitched at the bottoms. Suit cases were strapped to the bed posts with the boys' belts; pillows were labelled with humourous tags; the alarm clock set going, and many other indescribable things done, which only the genius of a lively female imagination could have suggested. Well, when the boys came home and got a glimpse of their rooms, perhaps, there wasn't a hot time around South Beach for the rest of the afternoon.

Exodus From Lakes Has Commenced

Majestic Carried 128 Passengers This Morning.

The exodus from Stony Lake has commenced and this week will witness the departure of at least half of the summer colony. The Majestic on her down trip this morning carried 128 passengers, a large part of them being American visitors on their way home. A party of twenty boarded the boat at South Beacoh this morning. They were all sons and daughters of Uncle Sam, who had spent their vacation at this beautiful resort.

COME OUT BOLDLY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have noticed the letters printed in the Review by somebody signing himself "Merchant". I have no respect for a man who shelters himself behind an assumed name to attack individuals in the press. If the man who masquerades as "Merchant," will summon courage enough to come out and make his charges over his own name, so that we can know with whom we're dealing—whether a responsible citizen or a nonentity—or preferably if he will lodge a formal complaint over his own signature and send it to the Board of Health, he will know that that body is not "defunct", but very much alive. Investigation will then take place. So long as I occupy the position I do, matters which the Board of Health is competent to deal with, will be dealt with, and so far as possible the public Health will be guarded, but no attention will be paid to anonymous scribblers.

Yours truly,
WM. EYRES,
Chairman Board of Health.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out. Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Isolation Building Will Not Be Expensive

Will Not Cost at Present Over $6000—Subject to Extensions--This Was the Isolation Hospital Committee's Decision Last Night--Joint Meeting of Board of Health--"City Has Metropolitan Ideas With Village Means," Says Ald. Ball.

City Architect Blackwell will be asked to prepare plans and specifications for the erection of a $6,000 Isolation Hospital which will be capable of extension as necessity may demand. This was the outcome of the joint meeting of the Isolation Hospital Committee and Board of Health held last night in the city clerk's office to consider the plans for the proposed building.

At the last meeting of these bodies Ald. Mason and Mr. Eyers were appointed a committee to wait upon the authorities of the two local hospitals with regard to erecting isolated buildings for contagious diseases near each of them. Both hospitals stated that the law did not permit of this arrangement and their proposals met with refusals so that other steps had to be taken with regard to the matter.

The members of the Finance Committee present were Ald. Mason, chairman; Ald. McWilliams, Ball, Wilson and Elliott. Mr. Eyres, chairman of the Board of Health; Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, and Architect Blackwell, were also present.

The chairman pointed out that the meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the Isolation Hospital question. The chairman of the Board of Health, he said, was in the possession of a report from the Provincial Health Department, containing their views on the various plans and asked Mr. Eyres the substance of the report.

Dr. Hodgetts' Report.

Mr. Eyres said he had submitted the three plans to the Provincial health authorities and had received a letter from Dr. Hodgetts regarding the matter. The latter, he said, stated that a substantial building could not be erected for $3,000 or $4,000. The Provincial men could not improve upon the plans prepared under the supervision of the Medical Association of the city—costing in the neighbourhood of $10,000. This plan met with the approval of the authorities with the exception that they advised that the kitchen be placed on the top of the building instead of in the basement to allow of all smells to be carried away without being dispersed among the various wards.

The Chairman, Ald. Mason, suggested that the most economical plan would be to erect a substantial building which might be enlarged upon in future. He recommended starting on the first plan, which was the cheapest—$6,000— and enlarging the building gradually until it acquired the attainments of the third.

Ald. McWilliams said he was in favour of erecting a building which would be satisfactory and yet cost the least possible amount. In case of an unusually large epidemic of disease in the city a temporary building or tents might be erected for the occasion. He suggested that a frame building be erected.

Ald. Wilson thought that a brick structure, if the hospital was to be a permanent one, ought to be built, as boards would have a greater tendency to hold disease germs.

City Has Big Ideas.

Ald. Ball thought that two hospitals in a city the size of Peterborough was plenty, and did not approve of an Isolation building at all. In England he said these hospitals had proved failures. He thought that the city had metropolitan ideas with but village means. If there must be a new hospital he approved of having as cheap a building as possible.

Mr. Eyres asked Ald. Ball if he was casting any reflections upon him for interfering with the hospitals, for if was, he pleaded not guilty.

Ald. Ball stated this was not his intention at all.

Ald. Wilson considered that the cheapest building that would satisfy the purpose intended ought to be erected.

On account of the scarcity of infectious diseases during the last few years, Ald. Elliott considered a cheap hospital would be adequate to meet the demands of Peterborough, and favoured the ideas of the other members of the committee.

Smith Interfered.

Dr. Bingham also thought that the city hospitals should have been left alone as they were doing well enough.

"Who interfered with them," was asked. "A man called Smith, from Toronto," was the response.

The general opinion of the different members of the Isolation Hospital Committee was therefore that a cheap building be erected subject to extensions and it was moved by Ald. McWilliams and Wilson, that Mr. Blackwell be authorized to prepare detailed plans and specifications for an isolation hospital, the total cost of which, with equipment will not exceed $6,000, and to be capable of extension.—Carried.

Stony Lake Cottagers Hold Annual Meeting

New Officers Elected and Committees Appointed---Mr. Jas. Acton, Toronto, the New President--Mr. Knapman Re-elected Secretary---Financial Statement Shows Good Surplus.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 28.—The annual meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association was held in the Juniper Island Pavilion on Saturday afternoon.

The following members were present: Messrs. R. B. Rogers, J. S. Knapman, Hon. Lawrence Grahame, W. H. Meldrum, S. Henderson, R. B. Rice, George Guilett, James Acton and H. Sutherland.

Mr. R. B. Rogers occupied the chair.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved.

The financial statement, although not complete, will show a surplus of about $15.

It was moved and carried that the balance of the Sunday collections for the years 1905-1906, less expenses for pavilion, etc., be paid to the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough.

The election of officers and committees, which resulted as follows, was held:

Hon. President, Senator Cox.
President, Jas. Acton.
Vice-President, S. Henderson.
Secretary, J. S. Knapman.
Treasurer, H. Sutherland.
Executive Committee—
R B Rogers, R B Rice, W H Meldrum, L Grahame, C Guliett.
Property Committee—
Wm Irwin, John Nugent, S Henderson, R B Rogers, H Sutherland, Jas Acton, S Henderson, J S Knapman.
Church Committee—
H Sutherland, Jas Acton, R B Rogers, Sheriff Hall.

Mr. Jas. Acton, the newly-elected president, was then escorted to the chair and the new business dealt with.

The question of better transportation arrangements was discussed, and the following committee appointed to look into the matter: R B Rice, W H Meldrum, H Sutherland, S Henderson.

It was resolved that the members of the Property Committee be appointed to take charge of pavilion and wharves, and that they be instructed to supply association badges for use of those who use the wharves and pavilion.

The Committee of Regattas and entertainments for next year is composed of the following, who have power to add to their numbers: Jas. Acton, S Henderson, R B Rogers, J S Knapman.

It was considered advisable to revise the constitution, so the following committee was appointed to do the same: Jas Acton, S Henderson, J S Knapman, R B Rogers.

The thanks of the association was tendered to the retiring president and other officers, and also to the secretary, who was re-elected.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at Tawasentha Cottage on Friday evening, August 31, at 7.30 p.m.

The Forgetful Saurian.

A COLOURED preacher took some candidates for immersion down to a river in Louisiana. Seeing some alligators in the stream one of them objected.

"Why, brother, urged the pastor, "Can't you trust the Lord? He took care of Jonah, didn't He?"

"Y-a-a-s," admitted the darky; "but a whale's diff-rent. A whale has got a mem'ry; but of one of dem 'gators wus ter swaller dis niggar, he'd jes' go ter sleep dar in de sun and ferget all 'bout me!"

The House That Jack Built.

THE story of a suit for damages recently decided in a German village reads like a revised version of the "House that Jack Built." In this case a cat was chased by a dog, and ran into a stable and jumped on the back of a cow, that was being milked, and the cow was frightened and kicked the milkmaid off her stool, and the milkmaid's feelings were hurt, and she sued Captain Schorn, owner of the dog, and Herr Von Dorn, owner of the cat, and her employer, the Dairyman, Herr Kameler, owner of the cow, for damages, and the court awarded her $30, and each defendant had to pay one third.

The Superfluous Pilot.

AMONG the passengers on an Atlantic liner, when she left New York recently, was a charming young woman from St. Louis, who was making her first trip abroad. The vessel had not proceeded far when the fair passenger approached the captain and said:

"The ship appears to be stopping, captain. Why should we stop here?"

"We stop here to let the pilot off," was the reply.

"To let the pilot off?" exclaimed the young woman, in a tone of polite incredulity. "Do you mean to say that the pilot doesn't cross the ocean with us and direct the course?"

"I mean just that," answered the captain.

The fair passenger pondered for a bit. Then smiling as if a bright idea had occurred to her, she added—"Oh, I suppose after he has set the rudder pointing in the right direction that there is nothing left for him to do, so he goes."

Where Are The Boots For Brigade?

Firemen are Complaining at Present of Footgear.

The members of the fire brigade are complaining because their new rubber boots have not arrived. They say that the articles of footwear at present in use are in a very dilapidated condition. As one man expressed it, "We are walking around barefooted." The committee, at a meeting held some months ago, accepted a tender for the boots, but since then the members of the brigade have not heard anything of them and are getting uneasy.

Inspector Will Be Appointed

To See That Pollution of Upper Lake Water Will be Stopped.

Last night at the joint meeting of the Isolation Hospital Committee and the Board of Health, Mr. Eyres, as chairman of the Board, drew the attention of the committee to the fact that no inspector had yet been appointed to enforce the law respecting the pollution of the waters of the upper lakes. The Provincial Board of Health, he said, expected the municipality to look after this, and he considered it the duty of the city council to look into the question at once.

Mr. Eyres will at the next meeting bring the Board's attention to the matter and a proposition will be submitted to the council with a view to the enforcement of the important law.

Negotiations are under way with the City Council with a view to securing a free site and fixed assessment for the company's buildings.

If the company locate in Peterborough they expect to be in full operation by December 1, employing 25 skilled mechanics, and with an output of 100 dozen bits per day.

Liquor Found In Lakefield Hotel

Inspector Stewart Makes Discovery—Police Court Case.

License Inspector Joseph Stewart seized a quantity of liquor in the bar of the Lawless & Spellman House, Lakefield, on Friday night and as a result the case will be heard before Police Magistrate Dumble on Friday morning. Mr. Stewart, hearing that the Local Option bylaw in Lakefield was not rigidly adhered to, drove there on Friday evening and was refused admittance to the bar. Forcing his way in he found glasses on the counter, some empty and others partly filled with lager. A couple of cases of ale, a keg of lager and some whisky was obtained and brought to Peterborough. This will be produced in the evidence for the prosecution on Friday.

The lowest fine for selling liquor without a license is $50 for the first offence and the maximum penalty $100. The second is imprisonment in Gaol for four months and for the third offence the penalty is six months incarceration.

Boys Accepted Stolen Money

Pleaded Guilty and Will Receive Their Sentence on Thursday.

Robbed of his pocket book and money on the night of August 7th, Mr. John Sullivan was responsible for the appearance of three small boys at the police court this morning, one of whom had to answer to the charge. He pleaded not guilty, and from his evidence, and that of the others, it appears that another boy took the mother, amounting to $5, and not $12, as the loser stated.

In giving evidence, one of the youths stated that on the night of August 7th, he with four others went to sleep in the bus in the National Hotel yards. He had gone with the rest because his father and he had "had a fight." About two o'clock in the morning Sullivan came in and displayed a pocket book with $5 inside, which one of the boys took from him. The money was changed and divided among the five the following morning.

Informations were then made out against the prisoners for having accepted stolen money, knowing it to be stolen. All pleaded guilty and will receive their sentences on Thursday, when the remainder of the quintette will appear before the magistrate.

THE BALANCE OF POPULATION

The Examiner has frequently referred to the fact that, while the West is growing at a rapid rate, a great deal of this growth is being made at the expense of Ontario. Is it not a fact that the best young blood of this province is, by a process of transfusion, being injected into the veins of the lusty West? We have not the slightest objection to surrendering our surplus population to the West, but when it comes to robbing Peter to pay Paul, the situation changes. Complaint is made of the tendency of drift from the farm to the cities, or other urban centres. This tendency is by no means confined to young and ambitious men, but an increasing number of farmers, of advanced years, it is true, but still able for active work, are selling or leasing farms, and taking residence in urban centres. This is not because the farms have become less fertile, or farming a less paying industry, but the difficulty, and in some cases, the impossibility, of securing farm labour, is the provking cause. The sons are either gone to the cities or to the West, and have left the farmer to depend upon hired help, which cannot be obtained, owing, among other things, to the drafts made by the West, or by the demands of other departments of labour, industrial or otherwise. We all know by experience in this district and city, that the scarcity of labour is a real drawback to prosperity. All sorts of enterprises are, to a certain extent, handicapped, and even commercial activity is affected. On Saturdays, and other market days, there is not the usual influx of farmers. The scarcity of labour compels them to keep busy on their farms, and prevents their visit to the city. They have to do without many things which they would come to the city to purchase, if they had the time to spare from their crops and herds, which they would have, if they could obtain help.

Some sections of our country are practically becoming depopulated. In some of the northern townships of this county there are whole concessions with only one or two of the former residents living there — the others have flitted West; and similar conditions prevail in almost every other township. These are serious conditions, and it is time that somebody was giving some attention to the solution of the problem thus created. Are our parliamentary representatives, both provincial and Dominion, paying attention to this serious matter? As representing this county, they are charged with responsibility in regard to the welfare of the district they represent. As politicians, they are also personally interested, for, with the process of deportation proceeding, there will be, according to the law of supply and demand, an increased value given to the votes that remain.

The great need of Canada is population, and Ontario shares that need to a large extent. Of the some one hundred and twenty-eight millions of acres in the province of Ontario, only twenty-one million acres are occupied, and of these only thirteen million acres are improved, and under some sort of cultivation. There is therefore a boundless field for occupancy still unused, and though, perhaps, the conditions are not as alluring as in the West, there is, perhaps, in this province an opportunity of making a living from the land with less initial hardship and privation, than in the much vaunted West. There is abundant room for the activity of the public men of this province in promoting its interests, by taking some measures to maintain an equilibrium of population, as between the East and the West, and prevent the conflict of interests that now obtains.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It can easily be believed that San Francisco will spend three million dollars in rebuilding, when wages are said to be $2.25 per day for labourers, and $6 for lathers, carpenters and plasterers. This does not call for any special rush to the Golden Gate—everything else, living, etc., will be proportionately expensive.

It seems that, if New Ontario wants to secede it can afford the luxury—can pay its way. When they find in Nipissing chunks of silver weighing 800 lbs. and boast of veins of practically solid silver, five feet wide, New Ontario can easily be regarded as able to stand alone financially, anyway. With hillocks of silver, lashins of cobalt, stacks of copper and nickel and mountains of iron ore, New Ontario can afford to talk up to Premier Whitney and his Government and intimate that "graft" mining concessions and umbrageous town site transactions are among the exotic resources of that region that can be very conveniently dispensed with.

Mr. John Finlay, M.P.P., East Peterborough, is either a philanthropist or content with small profit, or, possibly he may have a corner on cement. His offer to put down pavement in Norwood at 7 cents per square foot is perhaps within the limit of reasonable profit, and being an important property holder and having a material interest in the village, he is willing to benefit the public, and through it, himself, by doing necessary work at a reasonable price. The very fact of this offer being made is a sort of revelation. Seven cents per square foot is at least fifty per cent. cheaper than concrete was put down in Peterborough less than ten years ago. It is possible that in Peterborough the corporation is, when conditions are favourable—not too much filling—laying pavement this season at as cheap a price. As it is Mr Findlay has set a figure that will, to a certain extent, form a precedent.

NICKEL AND MICA.

In two mining products at least, Canada can hold its own with any other part of the world. These are nickel and mica. India is Canada's chief competitor in mica, but cannot for many years more continue to be a serious opponent, owing to the fact that the surface deposits of Bengal are being gradually exhausted, and deep mining would place the mica industry of that large province on practically the same plane as it is in Quebec. At present, the cheap women and child labour of India gives that country an unhealthy pull as compared to our more advanced views.

New Caledonia, the convict island in possession of France, is Canada's chief competitor in the production of nickel, but since the wonderful development in the Sudbury district, New Caledonia has had to take second place. The Sudbury district is today the only portion of the Dominion in which nickel is being worked on a large scale, but a study of the Geological Survey reports makes it clear that there are great possibilities of other rich nickel deposits being discovered.

This useful metal which, owing to its increased use in the manufacture of armour-plating, is being more eagerly sought after day by day, is likely to have another boom due to a very different cause. The Government of India have, for some time, been considering the possibility of substituting nickel for copper coins. Last summer the master of the Calcutta mint paid a visit to the Sudbury mines and has, it is understood, reported favourably on the suggested conversion. What the Indian Government has decided to do in this matter is not definitely known, but to judge from the Indian newspapers, there seems a strong probability of the copper coins being very largely withdrawn.

Any new deposits of nickel must therefore attract more than ordinary interest and such interest is certainly inspired by reading of the discovery lately made in the Fraser River.

In working the material obtained in dredging for gold some two miles below Lillooet, B.C., it was found that a fine, heavy grayish sand, with a metallic aspect, remained after the clean-up.

A sample of this sand was sent to Dr. Hoffman, chemist of the Geological Survey, for examination, and was found by him to consist essentially of an iron-nickel alloy with scales of platinum, grains of the rare metal iridosmine, gold, magnetite, garnet and quartz.

The nickel alloy and platinum were nearly in equal proportions and constituted about 90 per cent. of the whole.

This nickel-iron alloy is especially peculiar owing to the large amount of nickel it contains, namely, over three-quarters of the whole.

Only two occurrences of similar minerals are known, one in New Zealand and the other in Italy; it is proposed to call this new mineral souesite, after Mr. F. Soes, who sent the sample for identification.

The large amount of platinum in these sands and the ease with which th neickel alloy may be separated by dissolving in nitric acid, leads to the hope that we have here a new source of this valuable metal. — Finance Chronicle.

Mr. R. B. Dawson's Hospitality Enjoyed

Entertained Guests at Lakeview House in Many Ways.

Examiner Special.

Young's Point, August 28th.—During the past two weeks the Lakeview House has been honoured by the presence of Mr. Richard B. Dawson, of San Francisco, who is a general favourite on account of the many kind acts shown to former friends as well as the many pleasant entertainments he has given the guests of the Lakeview. One was tally-ho drive to the regatta at Chemong last Thursday. The party on stopping at the Chemong Park Hotel gave the Lakeview cry. After viewing the yacht and canoe races, Mr. Dawson entertained the party at dinner at the hotel, after which they enjoyed a pleasant drive home. Other guests at the hotel are Mr. John Dawson, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. King, and Mr. and Miss Graham, of Rochester, N. Y.; the Misses Loretta and Gertrude Hanrahan and Lillian Preston, of Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Chatney, Messrs. Charles Thornton, James Ward, Judge Weller, Miss Lillian Hurley, Messrs. C. Gordon, H. M. McClennan, A. C. Meldrum, W. H. Hamilton; Misses Smythe, Carr and Kittney, of Peterborough; Mr. Charles Carr, of Montreal; Mr. L. A. Benoist and sons, of Natchez, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnston, Messrs. James Watson, and Harold Kidd and Miss Josephine Phelan, of Lakefield; Mr. Q. McKeown, Lindsay; Miss E. Coughlin, Hastings and Major Henderson, of Toronto. A clever comedian and pianist, of Montreal, Mr. Joseph Hopkirk, entertained the guests of the Lakeview, Young's Point, while he was a guest during the past week. The Misses Kearney, of the Lakeview House, entertained their guests with several shore dinners, which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED

Excesses and indiscretions are the cause of more sorrow and suffering than all other diseases combined. We see the victims of vicious habits on every hand; the sallow, pimpled face, dark circled eyes, stooping form, stunted development, bashful, melancholic countenance and timid bearing proclaim to all the world his folly and tend to blight his existence. Our treatment positively cures all weak men by overcoming and removing the effects of former indiscretions and excesses. It stops all losses and drains and quickly restores the patient to what nature intended—a healthy and happy man with physical, mental and nerve powers complete.

For over 25 years Drs. K. & K. have treated with the greatest success all diseases of men and women.

If you have any secret disease that is a worry and a menace to your health consult old established physicians who do not have to experiment on you.

We guarantee to cure Nervous Debility, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN, 148 Shelby Street, Detroit, Mich.

A Natural Laxative

Inward cleansing is as necessary as outward bathing. To keep the bowels free and regular is of even greater importance than to keep the skin-pores from becoming clogged. The neglect of either invites disease. Everyone needs a natural laxative occasionally, to free the bowels of accumulated impurities. For this purpose take the greatest boon ever offered to those who suffer from the ills that follow constipation. For over fifty years Beecham's Pills have been famous as a Stomach corrective, a Liver regulator and Bowel laxative. They never gripe nor cause pain. Powerful purgatives are dangerous. Avoid them. Use Beecham's Pills. They give relief without doing violence to any organ. Their action is in harmony with physical laws. Take them regularly and the necessity for their use becomes less frequent. They are a natural laxative and a positive cure for Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache and Dyspepsia.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, Eng.
Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

How to Save Baby From Being Sick

BY A MOTHER WHO KNOWS

Every mother should avoid the possibility of sickness befalling her children in this season. And, of course, most mothers do honestly try to avoid such possibilities, but many do not appreciate the one great essential.

Feed the little folks good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and there need not be any fear.

For many years physicians have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, is easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood, is especially beneficial for children and it is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the little ones always welcome its appearance on the table.

Mrs. Miles McCormick, of South Bend, Ind., says: "We had almost despaired of finding something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully and is entirely cured of constipation."

Malta-Vita, all grocers, now 10 cents.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN GRANT.

This morning at 6.15 o'clock Jane Taylor, wife of the late John Grant, of Warsaw, passed away at the Nicholls Hospital, at the alloted age of man—three score and ten. Death was due to general debility after a somewhat lengthy illness. Mrs. Grant was well known in the city, as well as in her native township of Dummer. She was a Methodist in religion, and while in Peterborough was a consistent member of the George street Methodist church. She is survived by four sisters: Mrs. Jas. Hall, 768 Water street; Mrs. W. Taylor, 31 Dennistoun avenue; Mrs. Samuel Smylie, Chaplain, Sask.; and Mrs. J. J. Crowe, Warsaw. She is survived by one brother, Jas. Taylor of Dunmer, and one son William James, of Lakefield. Her husband predeceased her some nine years ago.

The funeral will take place at 1.30 o'clock on Thursday, from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Hall, Water street, to St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw. Friends are requested to kindly omit flowers.

The Kidneys and Uric Acid.

Uric acid is the name given by medical men to the poisonous matter which the kidneys filter from the blood.

When the kidneys are weak, inactive and diseased they fail to perform their functions as filters, and the uric acid poison remains in the blood to find lodgment in the weaker organs and produce the most painful and fatal diseases.

In view of the frightful risk which you run in neglecting kidney derangements and the undoubted efficiency of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a cure for diseases of the kidneys, it remains a duty for you to apply the remedy and be cured.

In every town, village and township of Canada there are people who can testify to the extraordinary merits of this great medicine. Ask your friends and neighbours about it, and then prove its merits in your own case. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE MAKING OF A MILLIONAIRE

A lad about seven years of age today began early in the race for distinction as a capitalist. He stole the delivery express wagon used by an Examiner parcel boy, and sold it to another lad about 10 years old, the consideration being the sum of 15 cents. The proceeds were at once invested in sugar stock. The deal was discovered by the victim, the vehicle was returned, and legal proceedings are pending to recover the purchase price.

Southern Hotel License Question

Hotel May Get License if Satisfactory Improvements Are Made.

If the Southern Hotel is remodelled and renovated to the satisfaction of the License Commissioners of West Peterborough, the question of granting a license to that publichouse will be considered. This was the result of a meeting of the Commissioners last night, held in Dr. Morrison's office, at which were present, Dr. Morrison, chairman; and Messrs. Jas. Kendry and H. LeBrun and License Inspector Stewart.

It was first decided that the question of granting a license to the Southern Hotel be opened. A motion carried, that the Board will not entertain the idea of giving a license to the hotel until it is satisfactorily remodelled and renovated.

Mr. Nixon, of Manitoulin, who has good recommendations, will probably secure the license providing the above improvements be carried out and also that an addition be built to the hotel.

Bell To Fly With Wireless Wings

Prof. Graham Bell's Airship Operated by Wireless Electricity.

Brantford, Aug. 26.—Dr. Alex. Graham Bell's wireless aeroplane, which is attracting the attention of Canadian and American scientists, assembled here, was given a preliminary test to-day. Captain Anglemire of Chicago, the navigator, succeeded in raising to a height of 200 feet, turning a complete circle, and alighting safely a few feet from the starting point, with the wireless motors working perfectly. Dr. Bell's flying machine is operated by wireless electrical energy supplied from the earth.

If the flight next Tuesday from London to Toronto is a success scientists predict that wireless locomotion will solve the problem of aerial flight.

Many Are Still Enjoying The Evening Dances

Stony Lake Traffic Gradually Waning--Some Big 'Lunge Catches Recently Reported--Interesting Personal Items --A Few Will Remain During September and October for the Duck and Partridge.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 28.—The season of 1906 is rapidly drawing to a close, and it is only a matter of a week or two when the Kawarthas, "the bright waters and happy lands" will be once more left in the hands of the natives. A few will remain during September and even October to enjoy the delightful autumnal weather in quiet, and a few sportsmen will come for the duck and partridge shooting.

While the attendance at the dance at the pavilion is gradually becoming smaller, yet those who are left heartily enjoy themselves, and some very pleasant evenings were spent there last week.

The season which is about to close will be remembered by fishermen as an exceptional one. Even to this time there has not been the usual falling off in the catch. Large catches were brought in to the Victoria House each evening last week, and on Wednesday Miss Westwood, of Toronto, who, with her brother, Mr. Percy Westwood, spent a week at the Victoria, and who are now guests at Rockport, captured two lovely 'lunge, one of which weighed six pounds, and the other 12 pounds, 5 ounces.

Mr. Harry Sutherland, of Ingleslane, entertained a party of twelve to a sail in his dinghy, Zigalong, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall spent Sunday at The Anchorage.

Mrs. C. D. Richardson and Miss E. H. Stephens, Pittsburg, Pa., are guests at Glen Oak.

Mr. Harold D. Shipley, Toronto, is a guest of Mr. H. Sutherland at Ingleslane.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Goldey, Toronto; F. W. Fisk, Montreal, and G. H. Fraser, Hamilton, are at Forest Home.

Dr. John Van Doorr, Marion, N.Y., is a guest at Rathbourne.

Mr. E. G. Joy, Toronto, is visiting at Kilunt.

Miss Edith McClennar, Peterborough, and Miss Clara E. Lewis, of Brampton, came up to the lake on Saturday.

Mr. D. Aykmer and Mrs. G. H. McClellan, Peterborough, are at Kathalugh.

Mrs. W. J. Green and Mrs. T. O. Rush, Peterborough, who have been guests at Strathormond-on-the-Lake, returned home Saturday.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson spent the week end at Syndicate Island.

Miss Strachan, Toronto, who has been at Edithona for a couple of weeks, returned home to-day.

Mrs. DeLaney and Miss Mildred DeLaney, Cleveland, who have been guests at Ivanhoe, returned home on Friday.

Miss G. McClelland, of Peterborough, is a guest of Miss Kathleen Wallis at Juniper Island.

WAS BALD SIX YEARS

Three Months of the New Scientific Treatment Restored His Hair.

Baldness is caused by dandruff, which is caused by a germ. Kill the germ and it is almost certain that hair will grow again, if the follicle has not been totally destroyed. Nels Peterson of Lime Spur, Mont., says: "I had been bald six years, and had tried all kinds of 'cures,' but without any benefit whatever, until I tried Herpicide. November 16, 1899 I began using Herpicide, and in three months a fine growth of hair covered my head completely." Ask your druggist for Herpicide. Everybody can have luxuriant, glossy hair, if Herpicide is used thoroughly. Take no substitute. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

John, Where Did You Get That Money?

Montreal Herald.

"HERE'S a Chicago man returns after an absence of 31 years, hands his wife 50 $100 bills and requests that she ask him no questions. Strange case, eh?"

"Very. It will be even stranger if his wife complies with his request."

Wedlock Lure For Summer Guests

Large Number There at Present —Fishing Reported Excellent.

Wedlock's, on the River, about two miles from the mouth of the stream, is gaining in popularity as a summer resort, there being at times as many as twenty-two guests. The situation is delightful, the fishing good and meals excellent.

Mr. Wedlock knows how to cater to his guests. He has a fine steam launch, and every time he goes out, he toots his whistle to call all the guests for a spin around the lake.

Mrs. W. J. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin and Master Wilbur, who have been spending the past ten days at Wedlock's, returned home last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Lancashire and Master Harold, after spending a pleasant week returned on Friday last.

Mr. A. R. Plummer and Miss Ethel Plummer, of Toronto, who have been guests at Wedlock's, returned to their home this morning.

The following is a list of the guests at present at Wedlock's:—Mr and Mrs Chas Mitchell, and three children, Montreal; Mr and Mrs Jas Thompson and Miss Charlotte Harris, Cold Springs; Mr and Mrs Chas Webster and three children, Cobourg; Miss A M Alt, Detroit; the Misses O'Brien, Port Hope; Mr. A Lee, Toronto.

Fishing in the vicinity of Wedlock's at present is good and some fine catches were made during the past week.

TELEPHONE IN THE COUNTRY

The Bancroft Times says: The Bell Telephone Company have installed several farm telephones south of Tweed at a cost of $20 per annum. to the farmers within a limited area. The need of better communication was made very apparent at the Brockville meeting last week, when patrons could not always make the sales nor be reached within a short time. Many people live several miles from a telephone. These things ought not to be so.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Presentation To Departing Base Ball Manager

Mr. N. E. McMilliams Given Handsome Smoking Set and Address.

The faithful work of Mr. N. E. McWilliams, manager of the Charlotte street Baseball and Hockey Clubs, was pleasantly recognized at his home on Sherbrooke street last night when he was surprisedff by a coterie of members from the two clubs and presented with a handsome smoking set and address on the eve of his departure from the city. Mr. McWilliams has worked long and faithfully for the success of the club which he represented as manager and it was with a deep feeling of regret that his friends were forced to bid him farewell last night.

The presentation was made by Mr. Ed. Carr and an address of appreciation for past services was read by Mr. Fred Roddy after which a few pleasant hours were spent in a social way.

Mr. McWilliams who was widely known as Mr. F. A. Clarke's effficient clerk left to-day for Toronto where he intends entering the grocery and provision business for himself. He carries with him the sincerest wishes of a host of friends for his good health and prosperity in the Queen City.

Ancient Equine Laid To Rest

Faithful to the Last, He Dies Doing His Duty.

The death occurred this morning on George streeet of an old gray horse which had evidently passed the alloted span of winters of the equine race. Early in the morning the animal was plodding his weary way down the long city street when, without a moment's warning, he sank in fatigue, never to arise again in an earthly state at least.

The health of the beast could scarcely have been of the best during the later years of his lengthy life, judging from the condition of this frame, part of which was exposed to the mercy of the weather. His inability to rise from the dusty road attracted an officer of the law to the melancholy scene and the horse in a few moments sacrificed his life's blood to moisten the city street. He was taken to unknown regions followed by a single mourner and laid to rest without even a slab to mark the resting place of the faithful brute.

Of his life little is known. It was rumoured, however, this morning that recently the owner was offered $200 for him, but the Examiner is not in a position to confirm this report. A pool of crimson blood still marks the spot where he fell, faithful to the last, and from the red stains by the road side, the street looks like the remnants of a battlefield, or a Russian Grand Duke's bed chamber.

Barbers Will Close Up Labour Day

All Union Shops Will be Closed For the Holiday.

There was not a quorum at the meeting of the local Barbers' Union last night, and so it was not possible to transact any business. The barbers, however, have decided to close their shops all day on Monday next, which is Labour Day, and the public generally are asked to bear the fact in mind that no union barber shop will be open at all on that day. The barbers do not get many holidays, but they must have Labour Day.

The Taylor Relief Fund Turned Over To Trustees

Provision Made for Making Willie Taylor Self-Supporting —Mr. Pringle's Generous Offer.

As announced in a recent issue of The Examiner, a committee was appointed to deal with the Taylor Relief Fund—the fund created by the generosity of the public, in the interests of the lad, Willie Taylor, who lost both legs as the result of an accident upon the Canadian Pacific Railway last spring. The committee met last night in The Examiner office to decide upon the disposition of the fund. There were present Messrs. Geo. Cochrane, R. E. Layfield, J. H. Burnham, Adam Hall and F. R. Yokome. Mr. Burnham was appointed chairman of the committee.

A communication was received from Mr. Glover, accountant of The Examiner, stating that the amount of The Examiner Fund was $288.40. Mr. Hall stated that the fund raised by the Canadian Cordage Company amounted to $108. This, with an additional contribution of $5 by The Examiner, and $1 by Mr. Wm. Pringle, brought the total up to $402.40. Disbursement on behalf of the lad of $7.50 reduced the total to $394.90. Of this amount Mr. Hall stated that $200 would be required to procure artificial limbs for the lad, leaving a balance of nearly $200 available to be devoted to making him self-sustaining.

It is proposed that the boy be allowed to attend the Public School for one year to improve his general education. At the end of that time it is thought he will be fitted to enter upon the acquirement of a business education.

In this connection, a most liberal—it is a pleasure to say, characteristically liberal—offer of Mr. Pringle, principal of the Peterborough Business College, was received. When Willie Taylor completes his Public School course of one year Mr. Pringle will give him a Business College complete course, without charge, including the necessary books and stationery.

This splendidly liberal offer left the committee, after providing for the artificial limbs, about $200 to be devoted to the benefit of the lad, and, on motion, this fund was entrusted to a committee composed of Messrs. Burnham, Cochrane, Yokome and Glover, the latter to be secretary-treasurer, the money to be chequed out to the lad, Willie Taylor, as need may arise. If, however, as is expected to be the case, the boy will be maintained at home during his two years of educational training without drawing upon the fund except in case of some possible emergency, the fund, with accumulated interest, will be available as the boy's capital to assist him in his entering upon an independent and self-sustaining career.

It is further proposed to foster a spirit of independence by providing Willie Taylor with a news stand equipment. The Sons of England have proposed the co-operation of Court Langton Foresters in carrying out this suggestion.

It speaks well for the liberality and sympathy of the public of Peterborough that their ready contributions have served, to so large a degree, to break the terrible force of the calamity that lost Willie Talor his limbs, and will help to make him self-sustaining and independent.

To Be Arrested On Charge Of Arson

High County Constable Cochrane Will Execute Warrant To-day.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, High County Constable, left the city on the midnight train for Norwood. From there accompanied by a constable, Robert Scott, he will proceed to North Dummer, where he will execute a warrant for the arrest of William Saunders on a charge of arson — consisting in having fired the house of Mr. —, Wallbridge, about the 1st of July. Mr. Cochrane returns with his prisoner to-night on the 5.15 train.

Benson Street Out On Strike

Repudiates the City and Revert to Statute Labour.

A gentleman living on Benson street gives the Examiner the information that the residents of that nominal thoroughfare, despairing of having the city council do anything to make the street useable, have revented to the old statute labour system, and Mr. Gray is the first to complete his share of the stunt. He has begun by raking the loose stones off the street on his "beat," and it is expected that the other residents will follow suit. It is also stated that the street, though containing many fine residences which contribute considerable taxes, has had nothing done to it by the corporation since it was a street. It is furrowed with rain gutters and littered with loose stones, fragments of vehicles broken in trying to use the street, and with heaps and chunks of coal shaken from coal wagons by the roughness of the way. The residents feel that they can't afford to pave the street with coal at $7.50 per ton. Some of them are inquiring whether it is possible that the chairman of the Board of Works has an eye to increasing his coal sales. The residents have a few personal and family needs which makes access to other parts of the city desirable. Seeing that the street is impassable and since the flying machine has not been perfected for practical use, they have taken the fable of "the lark and its young" to heart and, since the city won't look after the street they have resolved to do it themselves. However, it is proposed by some of the more truculent of the residents to save a few stones and a few hard chunks of coal, to use upon aldermanic candidates when they come round soliciting votes.

Tennis and Tea On Labour Day

Tournament by the St. John's A.Y.P.A. Tennis Club.

An effort is being made this week to arrange for a tennis tournament among the members of the St. John's A.Y.P.A. Tennis Club, to be held on Monday of next week, Labour Day. Everybody seems to be growing enthusiastic over the idea and it is likely that a big day in tennis circles will be the result. It has been proposed that prizes be offered for the winners and that three competitions be held, comprising Gentlemen's Singles, Ladies' Singles, and Mixed Doubles. As the members of this club have been playing a good deal of tennis since the formal opening of the club on May 24th, these events should provoke considerable interest.

In the event of the tournament being carried out as now proposed—and everything points that way—it will be arranged for the members to take tea at the Oval, where their courts are situated.

The enthusiasm of the players which marked the opening of the season, has continued unabated throughout the summer, with the exception, perhaps of a week or so in the extreme hot weather of mid-summer, when the courts were left to a few of the more persistent and energetic players. Lately, however, the cooler atmosphere is serving to stimulate the interest once more, and several nets are to be seen in use each evening, and it is expected that when the season closes, it will be with many regrets.

Everybody interested in the club, whether members or not, are asked to be at the Oval on Friday night next, when final arrangements will be made for the tournament.

Journalist May Change Business

Electric Supply Business Looks Good to Him.

It is rumoured that the energetic newsfinder of a great family journal intends entering the electrical supply business in the near future. It is also stated he has the contract for supplying one of the George street tobacco stores with electric fans, but it is yet uncertain whether he will obtain this contract or not.

Stomach Cramps. COLIC.

THESE are very painful, and their attacks are often sudden and sometimes fatal. The principal seat is in the stomach and bowels, producing severe twisting, cramping pain, and often accompanied by vomiting. If you are troubled in this way, there is only one remedy to cure you, and that one is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has a record of cures extending over 60 years and we have yet to hear of it failing to either relieve or cure.

MRS. M. SECORD, Bristol, N.B., writes: "I was terribly troubled with cramps for some time and had several doctors attend me, but their medicine did not do me any good. I got two bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and they completely cured me. I would not be without it in my house."

Welland Thanks Local Company

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons Complimented For Their Work.

The followin gletter of thanks to Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons shows how this progressive establishment has met the approval of the citizens of Welland in the work of decorating the town for the Old Boys' Reunion:

Welland, Ont., Aug 24th.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—We wish to voluntarily extend to you our thanks for the efforts made in decorating the Town of Welland during our Re-union. We certainly received better results for the small amount of money expended than we could possibly have secured under any other system. We heartily endorse your scheme of decorating and recommend it to all persons or municipalities interested and you are at liberty to use this letter as you so desire.

Yours, respectfully,
B. J. McCORMICK,
Secretary.

Hotelman Fined $10 For Assault

Action for Damages Will be Brought Against the Accused.

A local hotelman was charged this morning at the police court with assaulting one of his guests. The latter stated that on Friday last he was accused by the proprietor of having broken an electric light bulb, which he explained he did not do. He was struck three or four times in the face and emerged from the mix-up with a badly spoiled eye. The accused did not appear in court, but pleaded guilty of the charge, and was fined $10 by the Magistrate.

The witness stated that he intended to bring an action for damages against the hotelman as he had lost several days' work on account of the assault.

Navigation News Of The Present

Local Boats are Kept Busy With Passengers and Freight.

The Wolfe street wharf was a very busy spot last night and this morning, several crafts small and large having anchored there.

The steamer Rainbow arrived in port last night with a load of lumber for the Peterborough Canoe Company, from Birdsalls and Dunnet's Landings, Rice Lake.

The Beaver and two barges loaded with slabs for the Mann planing mill came down from Lakefield yesterday.

The McDonald steam tug with a scow and cookery also tied up at the wharf last night.

This morning the Water Lily went down the river with the St. John's Choir excursionists on board.

The Rob Roy carried the Crowe family who are holding a reunion in the city this week, down the Otonabee to-day.

Death Followed Overdose of Opiate

David Marshall, of Millbrook, Took an Overdose of Laudanum.

On Saturday afternoon David Marshall, an upholsterer in the employ of Mr. J. E. Gillet, furniture dealer, died from an over-dose of laudanum taken for the purpose of inducing sleep. It is said that the man took the opiate on Saturday afternoon and death resulted on Sunday at 1 o'clock. It is stated that no inquest will be held.

WEDDING BELLS

FREDERICK-MUIR.

A wedding of much local interest took place at Montreal yesterday morning, when Dr. Ernest Victor Frederick, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Miss Nina Ethel Muir, daughter of Dr. J. C. Pollock Muir, of Ladbrooke Grove, Notting Hill, London, Eng. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John M Almond in the Church of the Holy Trinity. The bride arrived from England last week, and has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Rhys-Roberts, of Montreal. Dr. and Mrs. Frederick will spend a short honeymoon on the St. Lawrence before returning to Peterborough, where they will reside at 191 Brock street.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Aug. 28.—After a fairly strong opening the market see-sawed to-day with the bear party finally securing the best results in its operations, heavy selling in the last hour bringing the lowest prices of the day with declines of 1 to 3 points in many of the active issues. Standard rails, as well as the high-class industrials were quite weak, altho the support on the down turn was of good character, and outside buying was notable at various times especially in Atchison and the low priced stocks of the Penna. group, as well as in the equipment issues. Canadian Pacific was in very strong demand both here and in London, bull pool operations being attracted by the extra dividend prospects. This stock, Athison and otce. Securities scored new high points, while St. Paul and U. P. were very strong early in the day. The bears were helped by a report of difficulties in respect to a failure of a trust company in Phila, and the disappointment felt in some quarters over the failure of the Sugar management to announce anything but the regular dividend.

Rebekah Lodge To Be Formed

Committee Appointed to Look After the Organization.

At the joint meeting of the Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I. O. O. F., last night, it was decided to organize a Rebekah Lodge, and a committee was appointed to look after the general organization. A joint committee was also formed to arrange for an excursion to the Sovereign Grand Lodge meeting in Toronto, on September 18, 19 and 20.

A meeting will be held on Thursday night, when the organization committee will report.

BAND IN JACKSON PARK TO-NIGHT

Ex-Ald. Batten Suggests Site

Corner of Park and McDonel for Normal School.

Ex-Ald. Batten in conversation with an Examiner reporter to-day suggested as a site for the new Normal School, the property lying near the corner of Park and McDonel streets in the triangle formed by the G.T.R. line and Park street, north. This lot contains about five acres belonging, part to Mr. D. W. Dumble and the rest to Mr. G. M. Roger, which Mr. Batten thinks could be purchased at a reasonable amount.

The reason Mr. Batten considers this site a good one is that it is situated close to the West Ward School and near the Radial Railway line. The ground forming the triangle is smooth, high and dry and in a part of the city which is progressing rapidly in beauty.

"It would be a splendid site for the new Normal School," concluded Mr. Batten, "and I don't think it could be improved upon."

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixed with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

Ask your local dealer to show you the Pandora range, or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

Rugby Prospects Bright; Team Should Be Strong

Nearly All of Last Year's Champions Available—The Absence of Shaw and McDonald Will be Felt—An Early Meeting.

The rather cool weather has been stirring the blood of the rugby enthusiasts and they are discussing the chances of the team for this season. It is quite probable that a meeting will be called very soon as the team is anxious to make an early start. The chances are bright although the local have lost two good men in Doc Shaw and Geo. McDonald. Shaw's kicking last year was magnificent and aided by aggressive wings did much to win the championship. McDonald was a plucky and speedy wing man, his tackling making him invaluable. With these two exceptions, however, last year's champions are intact. They have Capt. Hurtubise, Crowley, Meagher Regan, Dillon, Gilbert, Gillespie, Ford, Mulhern, and Ross Craig. Easton last year with Brockville is in the city and should prove a source of strength to the team. Lou Leclaire an old Brockville stalwart may be induced to get into line again and help the team win another championship. If a good kicking centre half can be developed the team will be as strong in every department as it was last year.

Capt. Hurtubise will call a meeting at a very early date.

Well Played Game Was Lindsay's Verdict

Junction Team Were Superior in Weight and Stature—Toronto Twelve Best in Combination, Says The Post.

The Lindsay Post in its account of Saturday's game, says, in part:

It was a well played game—Toronto Junction v. Peterborough, and the majority of the 300 spectators who watched it had to admit that the better team won. The game resulted in a win by 4 to 3 goals in favour of the Toronto Juniors, but it was an interesting contest all the way, both teams playing a tug of war game; the team that had the down grade in the different quarters went the hardest. A game full of pitty pat fluctuations of fortune and speculation that kept the crowd in bewilderment as to the final outcome of the game and even in the last quarters wagers were offered like 5 to 8 on Toronto and the Peterborough supporters covered it every time stully confident till the last. It was anybody's game and proved to be an altogether different brand of lacrosse than that furnished on the two previous week-end days, and the fair-sized crow went away satisfied with the quality furnished. Both teams played a good brand of the Indian game but while Peterborough was perhaps ahead in the individual playing the Toronto twelve put it over their opponents in the article called "com." They furnished some real pretty work and were neat in their stick handling.

When Waghorne's team appeared on the green it was quite noticeable that they were much superior in weight and stature. They were all good husky lads, while Peterborough had two or three small lads in "Daddy" Tucker, Jimmie McNicholl and Gilman. The Torontos must assuredly looked like winners before the game started, from the spectators' inspection, but when the teams got playing it was also evident that their superior weight wasn't going to bother the Peterborough bunch to any extent, except in their defence. In the Toronto point the Peterborough bunch met a regular stonewall. Gilbert staved off many a good looking "sure score" stunt. He is a stout lad and can play lacrosse at that.

The match was a strenuous struggle yet there were only two men penalized during the whole contest and these two in the first quarter, but this is not really denying the fact that there should have been more penalties. Referee O'Brion of Orillia, wasn't very strict in the penalty line and he missed seeing one or two little fisticuffs and mixins. If anything, Peterborough was the worst offenders.

Tim Alert's Mishap At Bay City, Mich., Races

Fell in the Second Heat and Driver Powell, of Orillia, Had His Arm Broken—Claim That American Horseman Drove Into Canadian Animal.

Mr. Chas. Martin, city, owner of Tim Alert, the speedy horse which won so handily at Dufferin Park, has received word from Bay City, Mich., that the horse met with a bad accident in the second heat of the 2.23 pace there on Thursday of last week. Tim Alert was driven into a pocket, and fell, throwing his driver, Jim Powell, out, and painfully injuring him. Powell had his right arm badly broken, which, of course, puts an end to his driving this year. Mr. Powell was in the city last night on his way home to Orillia.

Tim Alert won the first heat of the race and had the field trailing badly. It is said that the American drivers resented seeing a Canadian horse win so easily, and that they drove into Tim Alert deliberately in the second heat. The horse escaped unhurt and will be kept in Michigan for the balance of the races. His owner, Mr. Martin, leaves to-night for Bay City to look after him.

Frost Trophy In Semi-Finals

Three More Aspirants to be Disposed of and Then Comes Tug-of-War.

The splitted contest for the beautiful nine-handed Frost Cup, which has been progressing the green for the past ten or twelve days is drawing to a close. It is now in the semi-finals. The game between McIntyre and Cox last evening was a splendid exposition of the game. This contest must be completed by Wednesday evening so as to allow the game in Scotch Doubles to proceed. The play last evening resulted as follows:—

B A Lillie	R Wescott
A Talbot	R Davidson
S Sharpe	R Sturgeon
E W Cox, 12.	J McIntyre, 17.

The results of Singles played last evening:—

Doan and Cubitt versus Wightman and Budd.

Green and Wood versus Talbot and Gowan.

Mark and Switzer versus Lillie and McClellan.

Burnham and Bagshaw versus Morris and Graham.

The play of skips and vices in the preliminary shall be completed by Friday night next. The preliminary and first round of the seconds and leads shall also be completed on the same evening.

Anxious wife—No, "Scotch Doubles" doesn't mean the absorption of Scotch till the players see "double". It means that rinks are composed of two players. It is called "Scotch" because the game was first played at Napanee.

WAS PETERBOROUGH CROWD GUILTY OF THIS CONDUCT?

The Lindsay Post says: A somewhat disgraceful and shameful episode occurred at the G.T.R. station on Saturday evening, when the Peterborough contingent of lacrosse supporters, who were feeling blue over the defeat of their pets, began to revive their spirits by teasing and tormenting Mr. Jasper Lacombe. They got him on the platform, and by shoving him around and bullying him, the crowd seemed to be amusing itself immensely. It was a shame to see the treatment he received, and the poor old fellow chased the crowd around the platform, and on being further goaded he drew out a jack knife and was prepared to knife anybody that came near him. Even that did not pacify the unruly crowd. The actions of the crowd were very ungentlemanly towards a blind man, but it is evident that the station authorities are very lax in their authority in allowing such conduct to be carried on.

Normal School Question Still Problem Of The Day

Education Authorities Visited Sites Yesterday But No Decision Was Arrived At—Board of Education Oppose Enlarging North Ward School.

The Normal School question still remains the great problem of the day in Peterborough, and at present the securing of a site that will meet the requirements of the Department of Education, seems as unsettled as it did when first taken up. The situation has grown more serious. The city has to find a suitable site at once, or there is a possibility that the school will not be built here at all. It is said that Dr. Seath intimated yesterday that while a good site was necessary, it was by no means necessary to have it in Peterborough, and that if a site were not secured before next week, they would not want it at all.

The Settlement of Difficulty.

Contrary to expectations, the visit of Mr. Colquhoun, the Deputy Minister of Education, and Dr. Seath, Superintendent of Education, did not bring about a settlement of the difficulty of site, it only seems to make matters more complex, and to render the problem with which the city council is wrestling, still more difficult to solve. It was thought after the visit of the Peterborough deputation to Toronto, that the Hilliard property would be selected. On paper the proposition looked reasonable to the authorities. They were to be given plenty of land—five acres, if they wanted that much, and the North Ward school was to be enlarged to the capacity of the Central school. This seemed to meet the requirements of the Education Department, and the deputation returned to Peterborough rejoicing in the opinion that the vexed question had been settled satisfactorily to all parties.

There were difficulties in the way, however, as the officials found during their visit yesterday. In the first place the Board of Education regarded the spending of money to enlarge the North Ward school as absurd, as the school is large enough to accommodate all the pupils of that section, and is by no means crowded. It would be almost impossible to fill a ten or twelve room school there.

Hilliard Property Not Approved Of.

The site itself did not seem to please Messrs. Colquhoun and Seath, when they went over the ground yesterday. They were accompanied on their round of inspection, by His Worship Mayor Best, Ald. Mason and Elliott, Mr. Duncam Walker, public school inspector, Mr. M. O'Brien, Separate school inspector, and Messrs. W. H. Hill and W. Pringle, of the Board of Education.

The objection raised by the Commissioners, was that the Hilliard property was too far away from the main portion of the city. They pointed out that pupils would not attend an institution where they would be so far away from boarding houses and from the centre of the city. They would soon learn of the fact that the school was away on the outskirts, and would go to some other place where the conditions would be far more comfortable.

Set Back To Council.

This attitude of the authorities was somewhat of a set-back to the council, as after the consultation on Friday, they had seemed to regard the site as being a desirable one.

Other sites visited also failed to come up to the standard set by the authorities. The Dickson piling grounds on the river bank was one of the sites visited, and while for some reasons it favourably impressed Messrs. Colquhoun and Seath, the fact that there is so much noise going on around the power house, and other places, makes it impossible, according to the authorities, to have the school located there. Otherwise it would make a very desirable site.

Sites Were not Large Enough.

Several of the sites visited were thrown out of the running at once because they were not large enough. The department requires plenty of land, two acres at least, and some of the properties shown did not meet the requirements in that respect. The property belonging to the late Aaron Cox estate was looked upon as an ideal site, but it was too small, and the department could not think of building there. The property on Murray street west of the Y.M.C.A. was also passed over, because it was not large enough to meet the views of Messrs. Colquhoun and Seath.

Too Far From School.

The Dickson Park site, in the north-west end of the city, was also visited, and while it met the requirements as far as size was concerned, there was the unsurmountable objection that it was too far away from a large public school to be of any utility as a Normal School site. An absolutely necessary requirement for the Normal School is that it shall be situated in close proximity to a ten-room public school, which can be made use of by the pupils of the Normal School, in gaining practical knowledge of teaching.

The Rogers property on Park street north was also inspected, and, while satisfactory in some respects, some serious objections were raised, one of which is that it is too close to a railway, something which the department intend to avoid, if at all possible. Then it would be perhaps necessary to tear down the present West Ward school, and build a new and a larger one near the Normal.

Sites not Suitable.

As the situation now stands, none of the sites visited yesterday will suit Mr. Colquhoun and Dr. Seath. They still cling to their old love, the Central Park, which they consider is the only site which would be entirely satisfactory.

The city has a very knotty problem to handle, and its solution seems to be by no means sure.

Key to the Solution.

There is one way out of the difficulty, however, and the key is in the hands of the military authorities. The proposal has been made that they give up the lots in the Central Park to the Education Department, and build their armouries instead on the Dickson Company's property. It is said that they would gain by this transfer, as they would have for their own use about four acres of land, and the property is only two blocks away from the site they now hold. Whether they will do this or not is another matter, but it hardly seems reasonable to suppose that they will.

Dr. Seath and Mr. Colquhoun left on the 5.15 train for Toronto.

Officers Unwilling to Give It Up.

The proposal has been made in reference to the Normal School site question, that the officers of the 57th Regiment should give up their lots on Central Park and build their armouries on the Dickson property. The Examiner interviewed Col. Miller this afternoon and found that nothing official had been done about the transfer of lots, although he had heard it talked about. Col. Miller intimated that the military authorities would not think of giving up their site. As to the Dickson property he thought that it would be used to better advantage for a normal school than for an armoury. It seems evident that some other way will have to be taken to secure a normal school site.

Toronto Youth Strayed Away

Supposed That Peterboro' Was His Objective Point.

Where is little eight-year-old Walter Hughes? This is a question that his mother, who resides at 890 Yonge street, Toronto, wishes to know. Mr. Wm. Martin, of Lang & Maher's clothing store, and a cousin of the lost boy, received a telegram to-day from Toronto stating that the little fellow strayed from home on Monday and has not been heard of since. His mother was under the impression that he had come to Peterborough, as this was formerly his home.

The Chief of Police was notified of the affair, so that any information of the boy's whereabouts, left at the station, will be acceptable.

City Grocery Store Closing-Out Sale

Mr. Kelly Going Out of Business —Store Must be Vacated 15th September.

The announcement is made in another column of the retirement from business of Mr. C. A. Kelly, proprietor of the City Grocery and liquor store, 341 George street.

Only a limited time has been allowed for selling out the stock as the store must be vacated by the 15th of September. The stock of groceries, ales, wines and liquors is quite large and well assorted, and must be cleared off quickly at cost price and under. This is a rare chance for the public to buy first class goods at about wholesale prices.

The lease of the premises has been secured by Mr. F. J. R. MacPherson, for his plumbing, electrical and bicycle business who will move from his present store as soon as Mr. Kelly vacates.

Otonabee Trip Of St. John's Choir

Excursion Was a Delightful Affair in Every Respect.

All St. John's choir members who could take in the trip with an invited friend spent a jolly day yesterday on board Captain White's steamer Water Lily, which was placed at the disposal of the choir by the wardens, Messrs. Chas. Mitchell and R. Fair, on behalf of the congregation. At 9.15 a.m. a start was made for Jubilee Point, and the weather being lovely, a most enjoyable time ensued. Twelve o'clock noon found the party disembarking and proceeding to a picnic lunch at Jubilee, to which ample justice was done. At 2 p.m. the party crossed to Gore's Landing, and visited the old church, or friends rambled about for an hour, when, again embarking, the next stopping place, Idyl Wyld, was visited. Here aquatic sports, running races, egg and spoon contests and swinging occupied some time, until Mr. Goodacre appeared on the scene with his white table cloths and freshly-made tea. The ladies excelled themselves with the excellence of the good things they provided, the necessary proof being quickly in evidence. At 7 p.m. a start was made for home, and a memorable day terminated in the singing of "God Save the King" and "Auld Lang Syne."

The organist and choirmaster, Mr. R. J. Devey, was responsible for the whole of the arrangements, and, with Mr. Goodacre, carried them through, leaving nothing to be desired. Mr. H. Long sent down ice cream, Mr. Stroud the tea, Mr. Bell the milk and sugar, and everything combined to produce a really happy day.

Band May Give Sunday Concert

Programme Will be Composed Entirely of Sacred Music.

The suggestion has been made that the 57th Band should give a Sunday afternoon concert in the park, and it is quite probable, Mr. Gliddon informed the Examiner, that this will be carried out on a Sunday in the near future. The programme would be an entirely sacred one, and will be played between four and five-thirty, in order not to interfere with the Sunday schools.

NO PHYSICIAN HAS BEEN APPOINTED

A meeting of the C.G.E. Mutual Benefit Society, was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. to discuss the election of a physician for the Society. There was a large attendance, with the president, Mr. R. E. Harding occupying the chair. The question of appointing a physician was not decided and had to be left over. Several other matters of minor importance were also taken up.

Mr. Michael Crough's Barns Were Burned

Disastrous Fire in Ennismore Township—This Season's Crop Destroyed—Building Was Insured.

Ennismore was visited yesterday afternoon by one of the most disastrous fires in its history, and as a result the barns and outhouses of Mr. Michael Crough, sr., are this morning in ruins. The fire took place yesterday about three o'clock in the afternoon, and as far as can be learned the origin is unknown. Mr. Crough's property lies near Chemong Lake, yet the blaze could be seen almost all over the township. The building was filled with this season's crop, so that at no other time could it have been more valuable. The owner was just making preparations to thresh this week.

The buildings, it is understood, were insured, but it is not probable that this will cover the total loss and Mr. Crough will be a heavy loser.

Peterboro' Safe As Far As Losing School Is Concerned

Despatch From Toronto Denies That the City is to Lose New Normal Because of Failure to Get a Site.

The rumour that Peterborough is to lose the Normal School because of the lack of a suitable site, is apparently unfounded and need arouse no anxiety on the part of Peterborough people, judging by the following despatch from Toronto:

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Superintendent Seath denies that Peterborough is to lose the new Normal School for want of a site for the same. Several locations are being considered by the Board, and one must be chosen by September 1.

Trade Is Prosperous Throughout Canada

Mr. John Tweed, Organizer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Has Encouraging Reports—Peterborough Conditions Good.

Mr. John Tweed, of Toronto, the organizer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, was in the city on Monday and addressed a meeting of the local union in the evening. There was a large attendance, and Mr. Tweed's remarks on the benefits and needs of organization were interesting and should prove helpful to the local union carpenters.

Speaking to The Examiner, Mr. Tweed said that the organization was in a most prosperous condition and has now a membership of 200,000. The condition of the trade all over Canada is good; everywhere Mr. Tweed found that the carpenters were waking up to the benefits to be derived from organization. In Peterborough he was particularly pleased and impressed to see that the bosses and men work harmoniously together, as they should do.

Speaking of the amalgamation of the Brotherhood and amalgamated societies, Mr. Tweed said that on July 20 a vote had been taken and a majority of 10,000 was found to be on the side of amalgamation, which will come into force in 1907.

Mr. Tweed, who is the organizer of the order throughout Canada, reports that the condition of the country all over seems to be prosperous. There is a dearth of men, and the condition is likely to last for some time. There will, of course, be a falling off in the winter, but at present labour is in great demand. The number of immigrants coming into the country has an effect upon the building trade, as it is necessary to erect new houses for the majority of these people.

During the last three weeks Mr. Tweed has succeeded in organizing local unions in Guelph and Ingersoll. He left to-day for Lindsay, where he will endeavour to induce the carpenters to form a union.

Local Contractor Will Build Ottawa Theatre

Mr. J. J. MacPherson is Now in the Capital Looking After the Work—An Important Contract—Big Demand for Him in the Province.

The fame of Mr. J. J. MacPherson as a brickwork contractor has evidently spread throughout Ontario since he had supervision over the Peterborough theatre which he finished so rapidly and satisfactorily last year. He has now got the contract for the brick work on the proposed magnificent Queen street theatre of Ottawa.

Mr. MacPherson was wired by the company last week regarding his terms of contract and left on Friday night for the Capital where he secured the contract without tendering, although it had been let verbally to another party. He returned on Saturday and on Monday morning was back in Ottawa with all necessary appliances and 30 men ready to begin the work.

The new theatre which is being erected at a cost of $50,000 will be one of the finest in the province. The brick work alone will amount to more than the half of this so that Mr. MacPherson's contract is no light one. The building will be constructed between Sparks and Queen streets and will be used for vaudeville performances.

Mr. MacPherson also received a telegram last week to go to Brantford to construct the brick work of the new theatre in that city but on account of already pressing business was unable to do so.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Just a Liner.

"I WONDER what that man is doing up that telegraph pole?" queried a man, who was after information.

"He's after fruit," said the jocular resident.

"What kind of fruit can be got up there?"

"Electric currents."

A Solution.

"NOW, in order to subtract," exclaimed a teacher to a class in mathematics, "things have always to be of the same denomination. For instance, we couldn't take three apples from four pears, nor six horses from nine dogs." A hand went up in the back part of the room. "Teacher," shouted a small boy, "can't you take four quarts of milk from three cows?"

A Technical Objection.

AN IRISH couple were awakened in the middle of the night by a terrific thunderstorm. After a particularly heavy crash, the wife cried, "Och, Pathrick, hiven help us; it's the day of judgement that do be upon us! We'll all die, shure."

"Shut up, ye fool!" said Pat; "How can the day of Judgement come in the night time?"

HAVING arranged with his wife to make a long promised call a faithful husband arrived home in the afternoon only to find his better-half out, and no message left to explain her absence.

Finally the husband inquired of the trusty handy man.

"Oh, Billy," he said, "can you tell me anything of my wife's whereabouts?"

"Well, I don't know, sir," said Billy, respectfully, "but I suppose they are in the wash."

William Saunders Not Arrested

Was Not at Home When County Constable Called.

William Saunders, who was charged with the burning of a building in Wallbridge, about July 1st, was not arrested by High Constable Cochrane yesterday. A few days ago he had left North Dummer to work for the Rathbun Co., and will therefore not appear on the charge for some time.

Mr. Cochrane learned on his trip that Saunders did not burn the building but it is claimed that he set out a fire with the intention of doing so.

Mr. Frank Wise Returns Home

Attended American Association of Cemetery Superintendents.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wise returned home last night from an eight days' trip—business and pleasure combined — after visiting Detroit, Saginaw, Brown City, Port Huron and Toronto.

While in Detroit, Mr. Wise attended the five sessions of the American Association of Cemetery Superintendents' meetings, and obtained a great deal of information respecting cemetries.

The convention was held in the Hotel Cadillac, the largest public house in Detroit. A number of outdoor sessions were also held in Woodmere, Woodlawn, and other cemetries oft he city. These, Mr. Wise states, are made on the park system and have not the terraces which adorn our city of the dead. In point of size the Detroit cemetries are superior to the Little Lake cemetery, but in point of beauty Mr. Wise did not see any better than his own.

While in Toronto yesterday Mr. Wise attended the exhibition, and heard the famous Life Guards Band, which he says is one of the finest that he has ever heard.

Although his trip west was a pleasant one he was very glad to get home again, as the heat of Detroit and other American cities was almost unbearable.

Houses Scarce In Peterborough

Marmora Lady Found One After Four Visits to City.

The scarcity of houses in Peterborough is well illustrated by the troubles of a Marmora lady who has spent many weary hours house-hunting in the city. The lady in question has made no less than four visits to Peterborough in an effort to secure a house. Three visits were fruitless but she has at last succeeded in obtaining a residence upon her fourth attempt.

Quaker Excursion On Labour Day

Football Game Will be Played at Gore's Landing.

The Quaker Football Club are running an excursion to Jubilee and Gore's Landing on Labour Day and as it is the last excursion down the river this season no doubt a large crowd will take it in. The steamer Water Lily and Palace Barge are chartered for the trip. Dinner will be taken at Jubilee followed by programme of sports. At 3 o'clock the steamer will leave for Gore's Landing where a game of football between the Champion Quakers and a picked team from Cobourg and Harwood will be played.

Music will be furnished on the barge for dancing.

Returning, the boat will leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock sharp, calling at Jubilee for the barge.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine — irritated bladder — irregular bowels—bad stomach — there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys—soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work.

Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—if the skin does not throw off the tissue waste of the body—then these impurities are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities, the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-a-tives

not only heal and strengthen the kidneys but they also increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical cure for all kidney troubles. They are made of fruit and tonics—are pleasant to take—and a guaranteed cure when faithfully used. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 29, 1906.

THE BYE ELECTIONS.

It is expected that the date of the bye-elections to fill vacancies in seven Dominion constituencies will be announced in a few days. Three of these vacant seats are in Ontario, East Elgin, North Bruce, and North Renfrew; three are in Quebec, and one in Nova Scotia—Queen's and Shelburne, the former seat of Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance. In view of the fact that a special session of Parliament will be held in November to consider tariff questions, it is probable that the elections will be held in time to permit of the new representatives taking their seats, and also that the elections will be held simultaneously. Three of the seven seats now vacant were held by Conservatives, and it would be no surprise, except, perhaps, to optimistic Mr. Borden, if they would be occupied after the elections by Government supporters. There is little doubt of the election of Mr. Fielding, North Bruce especially seems to be unsafe for the Conservatives, and if suitable Liberal candidates are placed in the field the other Ontario seats cannot be positively counted upon by the Conservatives. The Quebec constituencies are all decidedly Liberal, and can only be placed in doubt by the nomination of rival Liberal candidates. One of the three Quebec seats is either Nicolet or Gaspe, for both of which Hon. Rudolph Lemieux was returned. It has not yet been announced which he will elect to sit for, but both are decidedly Liberal. The same may be said of the other two, the St. Mary's division of Montreal, and Quebec County. It is very probable that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will meet Parliament in November with the ranks of his supporters undiminished, if not augmented, as the result of the bye-elections.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Is President Roosevelt trying to cast a "spell" over the American people, with the object of getting a third term?

A rich find of gold is reported in New Ontario, north of the height of land, in the Township of Playfair. It is hoped the Whitney Government will Playfair in dealing it out to concessionaries.

Scotland sent 3,741 immigrants into Canada last June, as compared with 1,854 in the same month last year. In view of Premier Whitney's preference for Scotch, th omajority of them should have settled in Ontario.

President Roosevelt, in handing out his orders for Josh Billings' spelling, is setting himself above the law, as the Czar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey might consistently do. The United States Congress at one time passed an act making Noah Webster's dictionary, the standard for use.

Hon. Mr. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, is verging upon true greatness. He is imitating Sir Charles Tupper. He prophecies that the Conservatives will win all three of the coming bye-elections in Ontario. That won't be much of a gain, as noses count. The seats in question were all held by Conservatives. They are East Elgin, North Bruce and North Renfrew.

While the revolting methods of the Russian terrorists are revolting, it will take a long crusade of assassination and outrage on the part of the people to balance the black account of cruelty and oppression heaped up by the dominant classes. If there is to be murder for murder, outrage for outrage, cruelty for cruelty, it will keep the people of Russia busy till the end of the century to, in even a remotely approximate degree, equal the misery inflicted in even a few years by the cruel policy of the autocracy.

Edmonton has bought the Grand Trunk Pacific divisional terminal for $100,000. That is, in consideration of a bonus of that amount the city will be made a divisional point. Edmonton hopes to become a great wholesale centre, and distributing point. In 1904 Conservative politicians declared the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a superfluity, and the expenditure in its construction a waste of money. This transcontinental line will amply justify itself before it is completed, not to speak of its immense development influence in the years to ome.

In Canada a general Dominion election, is due, says Canadian Graphic, in about three years, but as yet there is scarcely a ripple on the political sea to indicate the beginnings of the coming storm. Business men are going about concerned wholly with their personal affairs; farmers are busy with their crops; artizans are thinking of wage income; not a stratum of citizenship is thinking strongly and definitely of politics. We have peace and prosperity in every province and on every hand. In the United States the conditions appear to be reversed. There is some prosperity, of course, but there is no peace.

NEITHER SHRINKING NOR INTRIGUE.

Toronto News.

The story goes that in order to strengthen his claims upon the succession to the Liberal leadership Mr. Fielding will seek to represent an Ontario constituency. But it is doubtful if the report has any good foundation. There is reason to think that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's health is satisfactory, and that he was never more strongly entrenched in the affection, esteem and confidence of the Liberal party. His Government may be losing ground, but his personal ascendency is peculiarly great and entirely secure. There is indeed a curious disposition to hold his colleagues responsible for the faults and failures of his administration, and to regard the Prime Minister as strong and vigilant and, likewise, as methodical and irresponsible. Certain it is that he has the bearing of a great leader and the art of a popular tribune, that he is good to hear and pleasant to look upon, and that no more skilful manager of party has appeared in our politics. He is, in short, a man who would hold a distinguished place in any country, and whose great and statesmanlike qualities neither partisan envy nor partisan detraction can obscure.

There is no hint that Sir Wilfrid Laurier intends to quit the stage, nor is he the type of man who will shrink from the battle so long as he has the strength to handle his weapons. Then no one suspects Mr. Fielding of any disposition towards intrigue. He will never seek to supplant the Prime Minister, nor will he plan any long design to obtain the succession. None of the meaner qualities of the self-seeker have been revealed in his career. As yet Mr Aylesworth cannot dispute his supremacy, nor is there any evidence that the Minister of Justice thinks of leadership. Moreover, he, too, is the type of man who is loyal to comrades, and is not unbalanced by ambition. Mr. Brodeur and Mr. Lemieux are politicians of rather more than average size with attractive personal qualities, but it is not pretended that they are national figures or that they have shown any special capacity for leadership.

Majestic Trims Rochester, Jr.

Exciting Stony Lake Boat Race Between the Large and The Small.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, August 29 — The Stony Lake population from Boschink to Juniper were treated to a rare spectacle the other day — a real race between the steamer Majestic and the fast motor boat, the Rochester jr., which suddenly appeared at the lake a few weeks ago. Keen excitement was manifested by all at the anticipation of the test of speed, which the long stretch of water between Boschink and Juniper Island tended to make the more interesting.

A few preliminary stunts between Boschink and Crowe's Landing, ended in favour of the big boat, but it was thought that this was due to the over-crowding of the little craft. Two of the quartette on board therefore relinquished their passages so that the captain and engineer, Messrs. Hubert Eakins and Robinson, alone were left the sole commanders.

Both engineers settled down to do their utmost, as if their lives were staked on the result of the friendly spin. It was soon demonstrated that the motor was not in the same class as its big companion, which gradually crept away and left its pursuer several lengths behind at the conclusion of the chase.

Mr. "Pete" Ayotte, the clever fireman on the Majestic, was mainly responsible for the victory, as he kept supplying the steamer at most opportune time.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Scarce Labour And High Wages

What San Francisco Has to Pay For Re-building the City.

Something like three hundred millions of dollars must be spent in the rebuilding of San Francisco, at least some forty thousand additional workmen, skilled and unskilled are required. According to the "Argonaut" the labour situation has become serious. It is not a question of wages, for the highest wages ever known in the history of the world are now being paid in San Francisco. A minimum wage for labourers on railroad work and in warehouses is only $2.25 a day. Cement workers get $5, hod-carriers $4, cabinet-makers, $3.50, millmen $3.50, plasterers $6, stonecutters $4.75, carpenters lathers $6, shinglers $4, painters $4, fresco painters $5, paper-hangers $4, plumbers $5, machinists $3.75, tinners $4, sheet metal workers $4, glaziers $4, stationary engineers $4. There is a very strong demand at high wages for teamsters and electricians.

HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "lungers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the baccilli Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes.

Ferrozone is put up in 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Halt Way Round The World In "One Revolving Moon"

C. P. R. Will Girdle More Than Half the Globe in Thirty Days—The New "Oversens" Route.

Mr. Geo. Ham, Chief of the Intelligence Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, leaves Quebec on Friday morning next and will, after crossing the continent, embark on one of the C. P. R. Pacific steamers on the thirty-days' voyage between Liverpool and Hong Kong. Jules Verne was counted in the same class as the fish liar when he wrote his romance, "Round the World in Eighty Days," but it is left to Canadian enterprise to circle more than half the globe in thirty days. The Examiner has completed arrangements for publishing the telegraph despatches which Mr. Ham will send en route detailing the progress and the incidents of this time-beating journey. This trial trip will constitute a precedent for a regular all-British round-the-world mail service, with Canada and Canadian railway and steamship enterprise the chief factors. Canada may not build British battleships, but it does many things equally important in adding to the resources and cohesive forces of the Empire.

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, August 29. — Mrs. E. R. and Miss Tate, who have been spending the last few weeks at Tadoussac, have returned home.

Mr. W. K. Leonard of the News staff, spent a few days in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. Dr. Burgess and family have returned to their home in the village after a pleasant visit with friends in Perth, Ont.

Mr. W. Cotton of Niagara Falls, is in town visiting his grandfather, Mr. Adams.

Miss Quinn of Peterborough, is at present spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Quinn.

Mr. L. J. Labelle of the Cavendish Lumber Co., was in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Miss Muriel Gilliard, who has been spending a few weeks with her aunt has returned to her home in Cobourg.

Miss Gertrude Northey of Selwyn, spent Sunday in the village, the guest of Miss M. Morrison.

Miss Hazel Kennedy, daughter of Hon. Mr. Kennedy, of Butte ,Mont., U.S.A., is the guest of Miss Maud Leahy.

Miss Cora Montgomery of Peterborough spent Sunday in the village, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hayes.

Mrs. F. S. Klein and children, have returned to their home in the village after a month's visit with her friends in Smithville.

Mr. Allan Bravender has returned to the village after a pleasant vacation spent in Syracuse, N.Y.

Mr. Noble of Toronto Junction, is visiting his uncle, Mr. S. Leggott.

The bulk of the traffic is now from the lakes instead of to the lakes, as the schools are re-opening in the city and families are beginning to return to their winter homes.

Mr. Stewart of Peterborough, the license inspetor, paid a visit to the village on Friday evening last and surprised some of the vendors of soft drinks in the village. Tuesday he was in town and distributed some papers among the boys requesting them to appear as witnesses. Others of the thirsty ones were so taken by surprise that they started to run that evening and when last seen they were making good time on the Kingston road.

A special meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough will be held in the Presbyterian church here on Thursday, September 6th, when Rev. S. S. Burns, B.A., will be duly inducted into the pastoral charge of the Lakefield church. The services will begin at 2.30. At 7.30 p.m., a reception will be held in the school room adjoining the church, when the residents of Lakefield of all denominations will have an opportunity of meeting Mr. Burns. It is expected a large number will be in attendance. Refreshments will be served by the ladies.

The brick work on the House of Refuge is just about completed, the majority of the bricklayers having gone to Ottawa, where Mr. MacPherson has the contract of building a large opera house.

Tanner's new drug store is nearing completion. Messrs. Baptie Bros. who have the contract, are making good progress finishing the inside, and they expect to be in their new premises about the 15th of September, when they will have everything up-to-date.

Messrs. Chas. Blomfield, David Edwards and Chas. Bickell have gone to Ottawa to attend rifle matches held there this week. We understand Mr. Blomfield has already scored a number of prizes.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Aug. 29. — The stock market rallied to-day from the depression of the Philadelphia trouble yesterday, under the leadership of the Harriman Pacifics and buying of Amalgamated Copper, which stocks we think are purchases on all declines. The remainder of the stock market meets some stock on the recoveries at present and we are inclined to advocate still the neutral position. Conservative action will give the best results.

Canadian Pacific was a strong feature making a new high record on large transactions. There was no special news accompanying the rise. We are told to buy Republic Steel for a big rise and recommend it to our friends. The closing was active and very strong.

Dividend Announcement

INDUSTRIAL

The Company has just declared a cash mortuary dividend on Policies over 5 years in force which have matured and shall mature in 1906. To all death claims on Policies over 5 years in force it adds 5 per cent. ; to all death claims on Policies over 6 years in force, 6 per cent., and an additional 1 per cent. for each year of duration. Thus the dividend on claims under Policies over 10 years in force is 10 per cent.; over 15 years, 15 per cent.; over 20 years, 20 per cent.; over 25 years, 25 per cent.; 1879 (the earliest issue), 27 per cent. The cost of this dividend payable during the current year is approximately.

ONE MILLION TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS

In addition to this the immediate benefits (payable during the six months after date of issue) on adult Industrial Policies, excepting Term and Endowment, issued during 1906 have been doubled. Certain increases have also been made in the benefits on infantile Endowment Policies during the first year. The cost of these, which will operate as a dividend on all claims maturing during this year, on the issue of this year, is approximately

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

These dividends are over and above the dividend declared on Industrial Policies January 1 last, which was a quinquennial cash dividend, amounting to about 20 per cent. of the premium for a year, declared on all Policies (except Increasing Life and Endowment Policies, which by their terms carry benefits increasing yearly after the third year) issued in 1881, 1886, 1891, 1896 and 1901. The amount appropriated for this dividend was about

SIX HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS

Thus the Company THIS YEAR has declared and IS PAYING dividends on Industrial Policies amounting to

Over Two Millions of Dollars

Every one of these Policies is non-participating, promising a definite sum only at maturity, without dividends. The payment of the dividend. is PURELY VOLUNTARY. Dividends have been actually paid without promise for many years by the Metropolitan. The total amount now approximates

Ten Millions of Dollars in 12 years. Included amoung these Policies are hundreds of thousands of Policies issued by other companies and assumed by the Metropolitan

INTERMEDIATE

Intermediate Policies for $500 each have been issued by the Metropolitan for 10 years past. They are Policies designed for such of the Industrial classes as can afford to pay annual, semi-annual or quarterly premiums instead of weekly. As the plan was new there was no actuarial experience to guide the Company as to the Mortality cost. The Company promised to pay, if earned, dividends after five years and annually thereafter. This year the Company set aside over to be paid in dividends on Intermediate Policies during 1906. Payment of these dividends has brought the cost of these Policies very nearly down to the non-participating rates of this and other Ordinary companies.

Six Hundred and Twenty Thousand Dollars

ORDINARY

The Ordinary Policies issued by the Company for the last 15 years have been practically all written on non participating rates—plain business contracts for plain business men, which tell their whole story upon their face, leave nothing to the imagination, borrow nothing from hope, require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents. The rates, therefore, are low. The Company has in force, however, a considerable, though, compared with its total business, a very small percentage of participating business. Some of the Policies were issued on annual dividend and some on deferred dividend plans —many of the latter having been issued by other companies and assumed by the Metropolitan. Upon these Policies the Company has this year declared and is paying a dividend equal to the excess premium charged by mutual rates over the non-participating rates charged on its current business. The amount of this dividend is nearly TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, which is a voluntary extra dividend.

Thus the amount of dividends the METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY is paying this year is nearly

Three Millions of Dollars

THREE QUARTERS OF WHICH IS A VOLUNTARY GIFT BY THE COMPANY TO ITS PATRONS.

Enlightened Methods In Life Insurance

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, of New York, has just distributed some official information in the form of a statement, which would be unprecedented in the history of life insurance were it not for the fact that this same institution has before treated its policy-holders to similar surprises.

The company announces that it has declared and is paying a cash dividend upon its Industrial Policies maturing in 1906, amounting to more than two million dollars. The full significance of this action is apparent when the nature of the Metropolitan Life's insurance contract is understood. This company is in no sense Mutual. It does not "estimate" or guess at what it will be able to pay an insured person when his policy matures, but agrees to pay a definite, specified sum, in return for a definite, specified premium, paid by the insured, according to contract. In other words, it sells insurance for what the protection is worth—not as an investment nor as a speculation. Upon this basis the cost to the person insured is of course determined by past experience, and as the factor of competition prevents the exaction of too high a rate, the premiums must always be as low as safe administration of the business will permit.

It may be assumed then that a policy holder in the Metropolitan Life has bought a definite amount of insurance at the lowest market rate, has agreed to pay for it in definite sums at definite intervals, and has no more expectation of extra benefits than he would have in buying fire insurance or a house on similar terms.

It happens however that this policy holder is associated with a company, that by skilful management, has had phenomenal growth and prosperity, and as the actual cost of individual insurance decreases with each year's increase in volume of business, there has arisen a profit which the company gives back to the source whence it came—though no obligation to do so, implied or expressed, exists in its contracts. It has thus distributed approximately ten millions of dollars within the past few years, and it is a significant indication of the company's present condition that the voluntary dividend of two millions now being paid is the largest yet declared in any one year.

It need not be assumed that the Metropolitan Life desires to pose as a philanthropic institution. Undoubtedly its growth in popular favour, and its tremendous accession of new business year after year are in part due to this voluntary application of profit. It may be "all business" but, if so, it is the sort of broad-guage, open-handed business that might be widely imitated with good results to all concerned.

It's an old saying that contentment is better than wealth. A very limited amount of wealth is necessary to purchase a packet of tea contentment, as "Salada" Tea is put up in quarter, half and one pound packages, and sold at popular prices so as to be within the reach of everyone.

LURE OF THE LAKES STILL HOLDS SWAY

The lure of the lakes is not yet impaired. The beauty of the weather, and the last-chance stage of the season, created a great rush to Stony Lake this morning. Over one hundred passengers were on board the morning train for Lakefield, and standing room was at a premium.

Game Laws Are Being Rigidly Recognized

Says Game Warden Fitzgerald, Who Has Just Returned From Official Visit—Ducks Very Plentiful in Rice Lake Regions—Sunday Shooting Must Stop—Rice Crop Poor.

Mr. Percy Fitzgerald, Deputy Game Warden for Eastern Ontario, returned last night frokm a two weeks' official trip in the southern part of the county and in a number of the adjoining counties. He visited Rice Lake, Hastings, Campbellford, Trent Bridge, Trent River and Scugog Lake, and found everything in first-class order. No illegal duck or partridge hunting is going on and residents in the districts visited stated that the law is being rigidly adhered to and this season has been the most quiet for years.

No arrests were made by Mr. Fitzgerald and he believes there are few breakers of the game law. The duck hays in the Rice Lake region are very plentiful and some rare sport awaits the lovers of the gun there next Saturday when the season for duck opens. The partridge hunting season opens on Sept. 15th.

Sunday Shooting Must Stop.

The Game Warden wants it distinctly understood that Sunday shooting on the Otonabee River and at other places must be stopped. Too much of this work has been going on in past years, and especially on the Otonabee, has it been unduly prevalent. He intends enforcing the law to the letter and a sharp look-out will be kept on all offenders.

Rice Crop Poor.

The rice crop on Rice Lake this season, Mr. Fitzgerald states, is not up to the average. The high water that prevailed during the summer prevented the usual growth and although the grains are plentiful, they are not as large as in former years. The rice picking season will shortly commence when the red men will again be seen among the water fields gathering in their harvest.

Board Will Deal With Normal School Problem

Special Meeting Will be Held To-night to Discuss the Advisability of Enlarging North Ward School

Another chapter in the Normal School question will be compiled to-night, when the Board of Education will hold a special meeting to deal with the matter. The question before the Board is not of providing a site, but rather of what they are willing to do in case the Government accepts either the Hilliard property or Dixon Park as a site for the Normal. The Board will have to decide whether or not they will be able to enlarge the North Ward School to the capacity required by the education authorities. Whatever is the result of this meeting, it will serve to throw some more light upon the problem which is causing the public so much trouble.

WEDDING BELLS

PILLSWORTH—HUDSON.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride on Rubidge street this morning at 10 o'clock, when Mr. Fred. D. Pillsworth, son of Mr. Jas. F. Pillsworth, of Belleville, and Miss Lillian M. Hudson, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Hudson, were united in the sacred bonds of matrimony. Mr. Pillsworth is a prosperous young business man of the firm of Scott Pillsworth's Framery, Winnipeg, Man. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives only, by Rev. A. E. Stguernagel, pastor of Bethany Tabernacle. The bride, tastefully attired in pale blue chiffon with white trimming, and carrying a white bridal bouquet, was assisted by her sister, Miss Nellie Hudson, while the groom was supported by Mr. Fred Hudson. Miss Pearl Hudson played the wedding march, and the company sat down to a sumptuous breakfast.

The happy couple left on the 2 o'clock train for Belleville, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will be at home in Winnipeg.

Wilson Family United After Three-Score Years

Happy Celebration of an Unbroken Re-united Family of Nine—Has Probably No Equal—Interesting History About the Wilson Family.

A unique reunion and probably one without a parallel in the history of Peterborough was celebrated last night at the residence of Ald. Wilson. It was the reuniting of Mr. Wilson's father's brothers and sisters, who have not been together since 60 years ago. The family consists of 9 brothers and sisters all of whom are living—the oldest being 78 years and the youngest 64 years of age. No death has yet occurred in the family and all are hale and hearty and able to thoroughly enjoy the happy reunion after so many years of separation.

The family consists of Mrs. Jas. Best, Peterborough; Mrs. Stevenson, Woodstock; Wm. Wilson, Bright, Ont.; Joseph Wilson, Ingersoll; Mrs. Wm. Harper, Lakefield; Mrs. Geo. Eastland, Bobcaygeon; Edward B. Wilson, Peterborough; Thos. J. Wilson, Covington, Kentucky, and Mrs. Milson Blewett, Smith Township.

Before separating again this singular gathering will have their pictures taken as it is probably the last time they will ever be together. Although no all of the Wilson family were born in Peterborough, yet they were brought up here and have always recognized this city as their home.

There is some interesting history in connection with the family which few of the present citizens of Peterborough will remember. The late Thos. Wilson, the father of the united family and grandfather of Ald. Wilson, was the first engineer of the Trent Valley Canal. He was also the man who built the first locks at Healey Falls and in Peterborough many years ago. Both he and his brothers were actively engaged in the Rebellion of '37, and were they living to-day could undoubtedly give some interesting history of the troublesome times in early Canada.

OBITUARY.

KATHLEEN METCALFE.

Sympathy will go out to Mr. and Mrs. F. Metcalfe, in the death on Tuesday of Kathleen, their only child, at the age of one year and four days. Interment took place this morning, from the family residence, Rubidge street.

Gained 25 Pounds.

"I was very much run down in health, could not sleep, was very nervous, and so weak that I could hardly get around. Some months ago I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and to-day I am pleased to say that I am completely restore to health. I have gained over 25 pounds in weight, sleep well, and feel strong and quite healthy." — Miss Annie Evans, 39 Gottingen street, Halifax, N. S.

Physicians prescribe it.

Abbey's Salt is regularly ordered by physicians in place of Citrate of Magnesia, Seidlitz Powders, Epsom Salts, Liver Pills and Mineral Waters.

The medical profession at large recognizes the fact that Abbey's Salt is not only the ideal laxative and cure for Constipation, but is also a perfect tonic to purify the blood—correct stomach, liver and kidney troubles—and invigorate the whole system.

Five-Year-Old Charge Against Fred Baker

Accused of Stealing Liquor From Mr. Rountree in June, 1901—Charge Not Proven—Was Fined for Illegally Selling Spectacles in the City—Memory Was Poor on Certain Subjects.

After a freedom of five years Fred Baker was arraigned in Police Court this morning charged with stealing two kegs of lager and a half gallon measure from Arthur Rountree, then proprietor of the Little Windsor. It was for a different reason however, that he was in court this morning he had just been arrested last Friday by P. C. Newell for illegally selling eye spectacles. Crown attorney Wood thought that in view of the fact that the prisoner's record was none of the best, the old charge ought to be first pressed.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, counsel for prisoner, considered it undue severity to bring up the old charge when it was not considered of sufficient importance at the time to constitute a police court trial.

Nevertheless the case was heard, the prisoner pleading not guilty. Mr. Rountree testified that in June, 1901, the cellar window of the Windsor Hotel was broken into and two kegs of lager and a measure were stolen. No trace of the thief or thieves could be found and he had offered a reward for the return of the empty kegs and measure, the former he stated being valued at $3 each by the company.

Kegs Hidden in Bushes.

Baker came in one day and brought the half gallon measure and later informed the witness that he knew where the kegs were. Mr. Rountree in company with the prisoner drove out to Jackson Park and found one of the emptied vessels among the bushes. The other was gotten in the creek to the rear of Wm. Hamilton's foundry. Baker had stated to him that while knocking about he had accidentally discovered the lost property.

The magistrate remarked that although there was a strong suspicion that the prisoner knew all about the theft yet the evidence was open to another meaning and he couldn't feel justified in making a conviction.

Peddling Without License.

The next charge brought against Baker was that of peddling in the city without a license, the outcome of which was a fine of $10 or 15 days in jail.

P. C. Newell who arrested the prisoner, first went into the box and stated that he had seen Baker trying to sell a pair of the spectacles to a gentleman on Hunter street for $1.35. He asked where the goods came from and received the reply that "he didn't have to tell." Later the prisoner said they came from Toronto by express to him; another story was that an old gray whiskered man had given them to him to sell for half the proceeds.

Threw Spectacles Away.

In going to the police station three pair of spectacles were thrown away. These P. C. Newell picked up and produced in court.

Mr. R. J. Todd stated that he had also been stopped by the prisoner and asked him to purchase a pair of the spectacles. He was an optician he told him and stated that the goods could not be bought for less than $5.00.

Baker's Evidence.

Baker next went into the box but his memory could not recall the conversation with Mr. Todd. He said he never attempted to sell any of the goods.

"Do you wear glasses?" asked the Magistrate.

"I do in the fall of the year."

"Do you need three pair at once?"

"Sometimes they get broke," was the reply.

The magistrate concluded that the offence was illegal and Baker was fined $10 to be paid forthwith or 15 days in jail.

Interview With Mr. Ed. Huff

Our Newest Merchant Tailor Has Had a Busy Season and a Warm Welcome.

"Well, Mr. Huff, you have had quite a prosperous season since opening up business in Peterborough?"

"Yes, sir; my expectations have been fully realized. I might say that they have been exceeded."

"This month has been slack, of course, it always is the dullest month in merchant tailoring? Eh!"

"No; my experience has been different. I have been, and am still, quite busy on ordered work. For proof, there's my measure book. You are at liberty to look down the pages right up to date, and you'll find that we have not had any spare time yet for holidays."

And so it appeared. It was quite evident that Mr. Huff will have no dull interval between summer and fall, as his new autumn suitings, etc., are coming in, and ready for choosing. This is rather unprecedented prosperity, and such interviews as this with the leading merchant tailors develop the fact that in no season of late years has the demand for best tailored work been so apparent in Peterborough. In Mr. Huff's case, the advance orders indicate that business will continue good. His taste and discrimination have enabled him to make a fine showing in a comparatively short period. Mr. Huff keeps up to date in his business. He is a regular subscriber of the "Sartorial World," the leading journal of the tailoring trade throughout the world, which issues monthly fashion plates of men's prevailing and advanced styles.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say to him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Growers.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Mr. Eugene Flaherty, formerly of the Review staff, but for the past eight years of the Port Arthur Chronicle, is in the city on a two weeks' vacation, visiting his father, Mr. Ed. Flaherty, Water street, and renewing old acquaintances. This is Mr. Flaherty's first visit to the city since he left Peterborough nearly ten years ago, and consequently expresses his great surprise in the growth of the town during that period.

Severe Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. George Lawson, Consecon, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured me of constipation, rheumatism, stomach troubles and a very severe kidney trouble, after years of suffering. I am now 68 years of age, and very grateful for what Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have done for me."

Omemee Wants To Be A City Suburb

Citizens Advocate a Radial Railway Line to That Village.

Examiner Special.

Omemee, Aug. 27.—The weather is all that could be desired for saving the harvest, which has been excellent. Threshing is now the order of the day, with a splendid yield and sample.

A number of our sports went to Lindsay, expecting to see Peterborough win the lacrosse match last Saturday.

Omemee High School has been successful in passing eight teachers, all of whom are in active demand. Our High School will have a large number of outside pupils this year.

Dr. Sutton has returned with his bride, Miss Bleadsdell, of Toronto.

We will have a total prohibition here entirely after the British Medical Association at Toronto declaring that alchoholic stimulants were on the decrease in the medical profession. This, combined with the advanced rates, causes many a woe-begotten looking countenance.

The Omemee and Emily citizens are wishing for the radial line advocated by Mount Pleasant citizens. Both Mount Pleasant and Omemee would prove most desirable places for suburban residences for the city of Peterborough.

Rev. Walter Nugent, of Chicago, conducted the services in the Presbyterian church here most acceptably on Sunday. The theme of his discourse was "Enthusiasm in the Christian Life."

Mr. Nugent is a former pupil of Omemee High School.

Mr. A. Parsons, commercial traveller representing a large American manufacturer of druggists' sundries, after covering the Dominion, says the Midland district is his choice.

Harry Lamb, son of Mr. J. J. Lamb of the Omemee tannery, has returned home after a month's visit with his uncle, a farmer at Moose Jaw, Sask. Harry is glad to get back to his picturesque village, the prairies being of too much sameness for pleasure, but for wealth procured in a few years, the West can't be beat, and many of his wealthy friends intend returning to Ontario.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Many Bounties Have Been Paid By Government

A Large Increase For Fiscal Year Ended 30th June.

OUTPUT NEARLY DOUBLED

Pig Iron Increase Was Over 200,000 Tons and Steel Ingots 290,000 Tons—Bounty From Dominion on These Was Over Two Millions But Ceases Next Year—Dom. Steel Co. the Heaviest Earner.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The iron and steel bounty payments paid by the Dominion Government for the financial year up to July 1 amount to $2,064,339, as compared with $1,540,203 in 1905. The payments indicate a very large increase in the output of the Canadian iron and steel industries.

Bounty amounting to $687,831 was paid on a total output of 581,858 tons of pig iron; of this, 86,523 tons was made from Canadian ore. The bounty on this was at the rate of $1.65, and totalled $142,263; 495,335 tons were made from foreign ore. The bounty on this was at the rate of $1.10, and totalled $544,868. Last year's output of pig iron was 386,719 tons, of which 59,452 tons were from Canadian ore. The rates of bounty were higher last year, viz., $1.50 on foreign and $2.25 on Canadian ore.

Of steel ingots, 569,237 tons were made in the Canadian mills during the past year, as compared with 272,916 tons in 1905. The bounty in 1906 at the rate of $1.65 per ton, was $941,000. In 1905, at the rate of $2.25 per ton, it was $614,433. Of puddled bars, 3,560 tons were made in 1906, as compared with 3,509 tons the year before. The bounty, at $1.65 per ton, this year, was $5,875. The payments last year at $2.25 per ton were $7,895.

The Government paid a bounty in 1906 of $369,832 on 72,875 tons of rolled angles, wire rods, plates, etc. In 1905 the payments were $293,203, and the output 59,842 tons.

These iron and steel bounties expire next year unless they are renewed by Parliament.

The lead bounty in 1906 totalled $90,197, as compared with $330,645 the year before, the rate of bounty being much lower on account of the higher price of lead in the world's markets.

The petroleum bounty, at the rate of 1 1-2 cents per gallon, showed payments amounting to $291,157, as compared with $350,407 in 1905.

There was also paid a bounty amounting to $15,079 in manila used in the manufacture of binder twine, as compared with $13,789. In 1906 the bounty was allowed on 4,423,300 lbs. of manila used in the manufacture of 8,617,357 lbs. of binder twine.

The total of industrial bounties during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, was $3,088,407, an increase of $229,056 over the year previous.

The bounties for iron and steel earned by the several companies in 1905-'06 were as follows:

Death in the Drive.

Rochester, Aug. 29.—Charles Williams, 19 years old, son of A. C. Williams, a prominent shoe manufacturer, was drowned in Lake Ontario off Sea Breeze yesterday. He was in swimming with several companions, and in diving from the pier struck the water with such force that he was unable to breathe.

Falls From Train.

Windsor, Aug. 29.—Edward Whalen, aged 40 years, a resident of Braddock, Penn., fell from a Grand Trunk passenger train near Chatham late Monday night and sustained serious injuries. He has not yet been able to explain how the accident occurred.

Crisis in Persian Affairs Liable To Cause Trouble

Nothing Has Yet Occurred to Justify Outside Interference.

WARNING TO THE BRITISH

The Teheran Correspondent of The London Daily Mail Declares Crisis Is Approaching by Which It Looks as If Germany Stands to Profit—Government Fully Alive to the Critical Nature of Situation.

London, Aug. 29.—The British Government is fully alive to the critical condition of affairs in Persia, and to the alleged efforts of Germany to obtain a footing there, and it is stated doubtless steps will be taken by the powers to protect their interests when a crisis arrives.

Thus far, the Foreign Office says nothing has occurred to justify outside interference.

Crisis in Persia Coming.

The correspondent at Teheran of The Daily Mail, under date of Aug. 25, declares a crisis is approaching in Persia; that, with Russia paralyzed, Germany's great opportunity is at hand; that the entire Government organization is collapsing; that the provinces are in a condition of anarchy; that the treasury is empty, and all the available securities mortgaged; that the army, unpaid for months, is in a condition of open mutiny, and that insurrections occur daily and are fast spreading, the only trustworthy troops in Teheran being the Cossack brigade, which also is beginning to get out of hand.

Shah is Intriguing.

The Shah is losing his health and the control of his subjects, and is intriguing with the Sultan as the supreme head of Islam. Turkey continues her aggressions on the western frontier. Germany, straining every nerve to gain a footing in Persia, has made a loan through Belgian financiers in return for concessions from the Shah in connection with a magnificent new legation building and a German college and hospital in Teheran. German steamers are running monthly to the Persian Gulf. The new German Minister, direct from Constantinople, where he was high in the Sultan's favor, is a fervid advocate of the Bagdad Railway.

The correspondent concludes with a solemn warning to Great Britain to guard the safety of India, as foreign control of Persia is inevitable.

SEEKS A SITUATION.

Wife Leaves Husband Because Life Was Too Hard With Him.

Detroit, Aug. 29.—William M. Cauldfield, a young Englishman, who came to Toronto two years ago, and was employed on the Grank Trunk, married a Miss Hopwood a short time ago, and six weeks ago came to Detroit with his bride.

He was not as successful in getting permanent work as he had hoped to be. Two weeks ago, during his absence from their rooms, his wife disappeared. He took for granted that she was on a visit that she had contemplated, but now finds that she has has not been at her friends'.

He has just found a note which she left, which had escaped his notice, in which she says: "I am tired of this life and am going away to find a situation." He is unable to locate her.

Five Factories Inundated.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—The steamer Dundurn of the Hamilton and Montreal Steamship Line, broke the gates of the Cote St. Paul lock in Lachine Canal, and the water poured down and overflowed, causing thousands of dollars' damage, and closing down five factories. The steamer, which had seventy-five passengers on board, was undamaged. The accident happened at 6.30 a. m. yesterday, and the canal will be blocked for a day. The factories damaged were: Belding, Paul & Co., foundation of 30 feet torn down, $5,000; James Shearer, $1,000; Cantin dry dock gate broken, damage not estimated; Canada Paint Co., $1,000; Globe Hat Works, $400; Caledonia Iron Works, $800.

Rescued From Burning Steamer.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29.—Twenty-one persons, including the captain's wife and two little children, were rescued early yesterday from the burning steamer Charles A. Eddy by the Detroit and Cleveland line steamer City of Mackinac, off Port Sanilac in Lake Huron. The fire which broke out early was soon beyond control. Capt. Simpson of the City of Mackinac, crowded to its capacity with passengers, steamed to the windward of the burning freighter and amid great excitement among the hundreds of passengers and in a heavy sea took off her crew over the rail. Capt. Eley of the Eddy was sick in bed and had to be carried to the Mackinac with his wife and two small children.

Ignore the Injunction.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The board of arbitration to fix the value of the Berlin & Waterloo Street Railway Co.'s plant met yesterday morning and decided to take evidence notwithstanding injunction proceedings taken by John Cummings on Monday. John M. Campbell, valuator for the company, and assistants, gave evidence during the afternoon. They valued the plant at $114,090. The arbitration will continue during the entire week.

Spain's Marriage Reform.

Madrid, Aug. 29.—A royal decree published yesterday restores the civil marriage formalities and suppresses the obligation on the part of parties desiring to get married to declare their religion. This is directly opposed to the papal nuncio's claim, and it is expected will arouse a political struggle when Parliament reassembles.

Union Station For Quebec.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Acting on the suggestion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Dominion Government, as owners of the Intercolonial Railway, have agreed to a plan providing for the erection of a large union railway station in Quebec City. The station will be built near the site of the Champlain market, and will be easily reached from the new Quebec bridge.

Peterborough Bowlers Invited To Attend

The Big Tournament of the Canada Bowling Club in Toronto—Programme for the Day.

The Examiner has received the following item in connection with the great bowling tournament which begins on September 1st in Toronto, requesting the attendance of some of Peterborough's bowlers on that occasion and it is expected a number of them will accept the invitation:—

The Canada Bowling Club, the membership of which includes some to Torontos most representative bowlers, are holding a big tournament on Saturday, September 1st, extending over Labour Day, and succeeding days, and it is expected that the event will be the largest ever held in the city.

The programme will consist of a Primary Competition, Consolation, Scotch Doubles and Singles, in all twenty-four prizes will be distributed as follows:—

Primary Competition—Trophy prize and eight individual prizes for the winners and runners up. Consolation—Eight individual prizes for the winners and runners up. Doubles—Four individual prizes for winners and runners up. Singles—Prizes for first three players. The prizes are handsome and valuable and well worth striving for.

What lends interest to the affair is the fact that the Tournament will be held during the Exhibition, when low rates will be in effect on all the railways. Many outside bowlers will be in town during the Fair and it is expected that they will take advantage of the Tournament and enter one or more of the various competitions.

All the Toronto Clubs will also have entries, and the event promises to bring out the most representative gathering of bowlers in the history of the game in Toronto.

The greens are being placed in first-class shape, the Club having appropriated a substantial sum for the purpose.

Refreshments will be served free during the tournament, and everything will be done, looking to the comfort of visitors from outside Clubs.

The secretary is Mr. Gordon A. Brown, Audit Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Red Fire Finish In Frost Cup Semi-Finals

Runnels and Johnston Play With Blood in Their Eye to the Last Bowl of Last End.

The semi-final game in the Frost Trophy played last evening between rinks skipped by Johnson and Runnels finished one of the most sensational games played on the Brookside Lawn. After the third end Runnels took the was never more than two or three shots ahead until the fifteenth and second last end, when with only one end to play he was four to the good. The last end certainly proved a hammer. "Hi, Hi, Hi," required four to tie and five to win. To do this against the reliable Runnels required some tall figuring, but "Hi, Hi Hi" turned the trick and this is how it was done. Davidson and Aitcheson drew each one bowl close to the Jack, and Green, for "Hi, Hi, Hi" in trying to cut out, played about ten feet "long", thus leaving Runnels still lying two shots. "Pete" now came to the mat, but still failed to draw the shot, playing about ten feet "long" and Runnels piling up guard in front to save his two. "Hi, Hi, Hi" now looked rather blue but game; with a wave of the hand he gave the word to "Pete" to "play the game" and with his last bowl his vice ran out the Jack and "Hi, Hi, Hi" lay three. Runnels now had only one to the good and with his first bowl went to the ditch. "Hi, Hi, Hi" needed one to tie and two to win, and with his first bowl lay well up for fourth shot. Runnels with his last shot got wrecked, the score standing a tie. "Hi, Hi, Hi" came on the mat, last bowl in hand and Pete, with a yell that could be heard at Jackson Park, asked for another draw to win, which was accomplished amidst the plaudits of a very large crowd, "Hi, Hi Hi" being carried shoulder high to the Club House.

BOWLING

Out of sixty-one games played on their Canadian tour the British bowlers won forty-seven, their majorities totalled 1,167; deducting Canadian majorities of ninety-five, leaving the net total of majorities of the British bowlers in the sixty-one contests, 1,072.

LAWN TENNIS

Those desiring to take part in the tennis tournament to be held by St. John's A. Y. P. A. Tennis Club on Labour Day, are asked to hand in their names by Friday night, if possible, and not later than Saturday night. The only condition stipulated to allow of entry is that the person desiring to enter be in good standing with the club, or, in other words, having paid their annual membership fee of twenty-five cents.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers are requested to turn out to practise tonight on Riverside Park at 6.45 in preparation for their game with the all-star Rice Lake team on Labour Day. The team which has been so successful this season will accompany the Quaker excursionists on their annual picnic and again endeavour to wrest a victory. The following players are requested to be on deck to-night in uniform:—Boycott, Armstrong, Crough Baker, Archibald, Best, Fitzgerald, Doris, Simpson, Evans, Sullivan, McFadden, Brooks, Todd, and any others wishing to chase the pigskin.

• • • •

The following players and members of the Quaker Football Club are asked to be present at Roy's studio on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for a picture:—Dr. Morgan, W. McIlroy, J. E. Sullivan, E. W. Wasson, I. McFadden, J. Doris, B. Simpson, R. Evans, R. Best, P. Fitzgerald, T. Deforge, W. Archibald, J. Crough, D. Baker M. Armstrong, B. Boycott and H. T. Huston. Players will appear in uniforms.

RUGBY.

The senior rugby prospects are fairly bright. The Victorias of Toronto have not yet decided to re-enter the ranks, but the Argos are sure to be in line again, and the Toronto Rowing Club is talking of entering the Union. In Peterborough all last year's players are available with the exception of "Doc" Shaw and Geo. McDonald. The latter has removed to Dundas and will be found on the Valleytown line-up this fall. There is some talk in Dundas of entering a team in the senior series, but when the season opens Dr. Caldwell's club will probably be found in the intermediate ranks again.

Secretary J. B. Hay expects the new rule books to be ready for distribution about September 1.—Toronto News.

TURF.

CORP. GIBSON DID SOME FINE SHOOTING YESTERDAY

Corporal Joseph Gibson, of the 57th, did exceedingly well at the D. R. A. ranges in the D. R. A. rifle matches at Ottawa yesterday, and other Peterborough members made a good showing. In the Walker match in which the shooting this year was of a remarkably high quality, Corp. Gibson was twentieth with a score of 64 out of 70, and won a cash prize of $8. The score of the winner, Maj. Ronnie, of the Queen's Own Rifls, was 67.

In the MacDougall match, Corp. Gibson, with a score of 64, won a cash prize of $6. In the same match Staff-Sergt. Bartlett, of the 57th, scored 63 and won $5, while Pte. Fitzgerald with 61 won $4.

No Band Concert In City This Week

The Band Will Fill Two Days Engagement at Toronto Exhibition.

There will be no band concert in Victoria Park to-night as announced yesterday. It was found impossible to arrange this and so the people of Peterborough will be without their usual concert this week as the 57th band leaves to-morrow to fill a two days' engagement at the Toronto Exhibition. For the benefit of the peo who have been away at the summer resorts and have not heard the band recently Mr. Gliddon is arranging for some extra concerts in September. The band may give two concerts next week, or else continue the usual Friday night concert for two weeks.

The full band will go to Toronto to-morrow and will give two concerts to-morrow and a similar number on Friday. The band had only been engaged for one day but arrangements have been made to lengthen their visit.

Fall Goods coming in and no place to put them. Our space is limited, so Summer Goods must be cleared. Crowds Still Flock Out To Jackson Park

Good Bill of Moving Pictures This Week—Ocean Wave is the Latest Arrival on the Midway—No Chance to Get Seasick.

Jackson Park still continues to draw big crowds, the attendance last night being very large. The park never seems to grow wearisome to the people of Peterborough, and the way that the attendance has kept up during the season, has been remarkable. Every fine evening during the summer has seen thousands in the park.

The moving pictures this week are new and very funny, giving the crowd frequent opportunities to laugh. "Moving Day" appealed to all, with its realistic furniture-smashing effects, and the funny mix-ups attending looking for a flat, and then moving in with the children packed in trunks for fear that the janitor will hang up the 23 sign. A new lantern has been in use for the last two nights, which is much superior to any that has heretofore been used. The light is much stronger and steadier, and the illumination is perfect. The 57th band rendered a splendid programme of popular music.

Those who patronize the park this week have a new amusement to while away the time. The machine is called the Ocean Wave, and has the merry-go-round eclipsed. The sensation is that of riding on an ocean liner or on a street car on a rough road. The machine is proving a great favourite, but its stay will not be long as it is en route to the Ottawa Exhibition.

Wrist Broken By Horse's Kick

Painful Accident to Frank Steele Yesterday.

Frank Steele, an employee of McCollum Bros.' livery establishment, was the victim of a painful injury yesterday. While grooming a horse in the barn the animal, irritated by flies suddenly kicked out, the hoof striking Steele on the wrist, and breaking that member. He was removed at once to the Nicholls Hospital where the injury was treated.

Peterboro' Boy's Bold Impersonation

Registered at Palmer House as "J. R. Stratton" and Evaded Hotel Bill.

A Toronto despatch says: J. R. Dundas ("Jack"), once coachman for Hon. J. R. Stratton, and now belonging to the Brantford Fire Department, was arrested at Brantford Tuesday on a charge of beating a board bill at the Palmer House in this city about a year ago. Detective Verrey will go to Brantford to bring the prisoner back to-day. The detectives say that Dundas, who, physically, somewhat resembles Mr. Stratton, impersonated that gentleman when he registered at the hotel, thereby gaining the confidence of the management.

Accused Was Allowed To Go

Richard Sheehy Charged With Stone Throwing--Drunk Gets 10 Days.

The case of Richard Sheehy, jr., who was in the police court last week charged with throwing stones, came up this morning for final settlement, the magistrate allowing the youth to go. In reviewing the evidence, Mr. Dumble said he could not but believe the statement made by the police officer that he saw the accused throwing stones, but nevertheless allowed him to go, and hoped that the city boys in future would not repeat such offences.

Jail for Ten Days.

Thos. Bosworth, an Englishman, was one of the decorators of the prisoners' box this morning, charged with being druk. Board Agrees To Enlarge North Ward School To Meet The Normal School Needs

Barnardo Avenue School Will be Extended to a Ten-Room Building if Dixon Park or Hilliard Farm is Selected as Sites—Another Step Towards the Unravelling of This Problem.

The Board of Education, having been asked to state the size of school it will provide for Normal School purposes in the event of the Ontario Government selecting as their site, the Dixon Park or Hilliard Farm it is moved by Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Dumble, that this board hereby agrees, should either of the above mentioned sites be decided upon to extend the present North Ward School to a ten-room building, provided the city council will advance the necessary funds and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the City Council.

The above resolution unanimously carried at a special session of the Board of Education last night should go a long way towards the unravelling of the tangle in which the city is involved concerning the Normal School question. The agreement to enlarge the North Ward School to a ten-room capacity leaves the way open to the Ontario Government to select either the Dixon Park of the Hilliard farm as their site, as the enlarged North Ward School would afford them the necessary Public School accommodation. Opinion seems to favour the Dixon Park as the probable site, but this is mere conjecture, as the matter lies entirely in the hands of the Ontario Government. A forward step has, however, been made, and the authorities will now be able to go on with the selection of a site, armed with the knowledge that if a site is chosen in the North Ward there will be sufficient Public School accommodation to meet the needs of a Normal School.

Board Almost Unanimous.

The Board last night, with one exception, were unanimous in the opinion that the only thing that they could do under the circumstances was to enlarge the North Ward School. It was pointed out that in the district north of Dublin street 300 pupils could be secured, which would fill the enlarged school. True, some of the pupils would have a long walk to school, but this condition exists at present, as there is no fourth book nor kindergarten classes in the North Ward School, and the youngest and oldest pupils have to come to the Central School to attend these classes.

The exception was Dr. Morrison, who strongly advocated the building of a new school in the West End in preference to enlarging the North Ward School. He was of the opinion that there were desirable sites in the West End, and that that section needed more accommodation than did the North Ward. Dr. Morrison, however, voted in favour of the agreement, saying that he did not want to go against the rest of the Board in the matter.

There were present Messrs. R. Fair, W. Pringle, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Morrison, John Crane, B. F. Ackerman and Dr. Burnham, and D. Walker, Public School Inspector.

Mr. Fair, in the absence of Chairman Ferguson, took the chair, and explained that the meeting had been called to deal with the Normal School question.

Mr. Pringle's Opinion.

Mr. Pringle, in going over the situation, expressed himself (as being in favour of enlarging the North Ward School. He stated that Inspector Walker had investigated the matter and had found that placing the boundary as far south as Dublin street would give 300 pupils, who could be accommodated at the North Ward School. This figure was based on last year's attendance. Mr. Pringle explained that while some of the pupils would have to walk a longer distance to school than they do now, under the present conditions both the fourth book and kindergarten pupils have to go to the Central School, as there are more of these departments in the present present Barnardo avenue school.

In answer to a question, Inspector Walker said that there were 179 pupils on the roll of the North Ward School in May last.

Dr. Morrison's Objection.

Dr. Morrison, on the other hand, was very much of the opinion that the Board should build a new school in the West End. He had understood that the Deputy Minister and Inspector of Education had looked favourably upon sites in the West End, and in view of the fact that the Board had realized that more Public School accommodation was needed there, it would be more in keeping with the ideas of the Board to advocate the building of a new school in the West End. He thought the Board would be putting itself in an awkward position by enlarging the North Ward School. It was hardly fair to ask pupils to walk from the door of the West Ward or Central Schools to attend the North Ward School. The West End was suffering from the need of school accommodation. The matter, he thought, would depend upon the Board. If they built a new school in the West End the Government would select a site there, and, if the North Ward School was enlarged, the site would be chosen in that situation. In conclusion, he said that he was strongly in favour of a new West Ward School, and stated that the money spent in enlarging the North Ward School could be spent in building a new West Ward school.

Mr. Crane said that there was no doubt that the authorities were right about the railway near the site in the West End. With the heavy grade there the noise would be terrific.

Mr. Dumble said that the people got used to all kinds of noises.

Mr. Crane's Views.

Mr. Crane added that what Dr. Morrison had said of the West Ward School would apply to the North Ward. He was of the opinion that the Board should enlarge the North Ward School.

A Matter of Dollars and Cents.

Mr. Dumble said that the matter was one of dollars and cents. The West Ward property could not be bought for less than $10,000 or $12,000, the cost of which would go a long way towards enlarging the North Ward School. It would be saving the people of the town if they utilized land that cost nothing. It would not hurt the Dixon Park to use it for a school, as it would be kept beautiful. It was an ideal place for a school, away from all noises. The question was whether the school would be too far away from the pupils. He thought that this would not be the case.

There was an advantage of $12,000 in building the school on the Dixon property. The Board should not take any chances or make any more delays. To build a new West Ward School would cost $40,000.

Dr. Morrison said that if the school were built in the Dixon Park it would be over a mile from the Central Park and hard to get at. He asked if the teachers coming to the Normal School would walk a mile to school if in other places they could get boarding places close to the school.

Question not Choice of Sites.

Mr. Pringle said that the question was not the choice of a site. They had to decide what size of school the Board would provide in the North Ward for Normal School purposes. The Government had also asked the Council if a site could be secured on Murray street between the Y.M.C.A. and the Baptist church. The Board had nothing to do with the site. He agreed with Mr. Dumble that the sooner they dealt with the question the better.

Mr. Pringle then moved the above resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Dumble. Before the motion was put, Dr. Burnham inquired if the Board had been asked to deal at all with the West Ward School, and was informed by Inspector Walker that the authorities had asked only what Public School accommodation could be given in the North Ward in the event of the site being chosen on the Dixon Park or Hilliard farm.

The motion was carried unanimously, Dr. Morrison, who voted with his colleagues, stating that, while he thought that a new West Ward School should be built, he would not vote against the rest of the Board.

Cost of the Work.

Chairman Fair thought that a committee should be appointed to find out the cost of the proposed enlarging of the school, as the Council would undoubtedly ask for information along that line.

Mr. Pringle stated that Architect Belcher, the architect of the present building, had been asked to find out the cost of increasing its capacity to that of a ten-room school.

The Board then adjourned.

Mr. W. B. Kelly The Veteran Lumberman Passes Away

Bridgenorth Loses Its Best Known Citizen and the County an Old Resident—Was Injured by a Street Car a Week Ago.

By the death of Wesley B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, last night, Peterborough county loses one of its best known and most respected residents.

The late Mr. Kelly was widely known on account of his connection with the lumbering trade, which he followed for many years, doing a large and successful business at his mill at Bridgenorth, which has given employment to a large portion of the population of the village.

Mr. Kelly met with an accident in Peterborough on Tuesday of last week, while driving. At the corner of George and Simcoe streets his buggy was struck by a street car, and Mr. Kelly was thrown out. He was not apparently seriously hurt, but the shock proved fatal. He never rallied and passed away last night. He had been troubled with heart disease and poor circulation for a number of years.

The deceased was the only son of the late S. S. Kelly, and was born in Baldimand township, near Grafton, in 1836. His father came to Bridgenorth in 1852, and built a steam saw mill there, soon after taking his son in as a partner, the firm, which carried on a general lumbering business being known as S. S. Kelly & Son. Mr. Kelly, sr., built the first steamer on Chemong Lake. When his father died in 1878, the subject of this sketch took charge of the business, which has been in existence ever since. Besides his lumbering activities the late Mr. Kelly was engaged extensively in agriculture, and owed a large area of land. Although fire checked the lumbering business at Bridgenorth several times Mr. Kelly's industry was by no means swamped and he surmounted all such obstacles.

The deceased was very popular, his business integrity and personal qualities making him decidedly so. In religion he was a Methodist. His politics were of a broad character; he owed allegiance to no party, but voted according to his convictions as to what he thought was the best for the country. He took no active part in municipal politics, contenting himself with the cares of his business, and the carrying out of his duties as a good citizen. His death will be regretted by all who knew him, and will come as a shock to many who had not heard of his illness.

A widow, and four sons and two daughters, survive him. They are Smith, Willan, Noble, Burritt; Misses Whipple and Beatrice. Mrs. R. T. Milburn and Mrs. S. A. Davis, of Smith, are sisters of the deceased.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, Bridgenorth, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Half Holidays Have Been Successful

Business Has Not Been Hurt in Least by the Vacations.

Beautiful weather greeted the last half holiday of the season to-day, and those who benefit by the holiday are enjoying it to the fullest extent. 'The Non-Coms.' excursion down the Otonabee was patronized by a large number. Now that the holidays are over for the year it must be acknowledged that the system was a pronounced success from the first. Employer and employee alike have benefited by their little vacation each week, and the former has lost nothing in the way of business, as it is conceded that as large sales have been made on Thursday morning as there would be on the whole day. In some cases, in fact, it has been materially increased as the result of bargain sales during the morning.

Amazed At Growth Of Peterborough

Mr. Robert Redmond Sees Many Signs of Progress.

A gentleman who should be well known by the older residents of Peterborough, Mr. Robert Redmond, of Chicago, is in the city renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Redmond had not been in Peterborough before for twenty years and naturally sees many changes during that period. He is impressed with the progress and development of Peterborough. The vacant lots upon which he used to play are covered with buildings. Mr. Redmond is the owner of a large livery and automobile garage in Chicago, having no less than 42 automobiles in his establishment.

Smith Farmer Hurt In Upset

Horse Frightened and Threw Mr. Mann Out.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Jos. Mann, of Smith township, received some injuries as a result of a runaway. Mr. Mann was driving to Bridgenorth from his home, when his horse from some unknown cause, suddenly became scared, throwing him out and breaking the schiole. Although it was thought he was badly hurt, he felt better yesterday and is rapidly recovering.

THURSDAY, AUG. 30, 1906.

NORMAL SCHOOL SITE.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night the only question to consider and deal with was what the Board was prepared to do in regard to enlarging the North Ward School to meet Normal School requirements, in order to make either the Hilliard Farm site or the Dixon Park site eligible—that is to bring them under consideration as worthy of being chosen as a site for the Normal School. This was all the Board was asked to do and all it could or did do. In binding itself to enlarge the North Ward School to a ten-room building, it did its share of the work of solving the problem of a site. There is no need to consider the wisdom or otherwise of this action before it is definitely known whether the sites in question as affected by the action of the Board meet the approval of the agents of the Government empowered to recommend a site, whose ultimate selection will depend upon the Education Department or the Government.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

In a paragraph printed in a recent issue of the Examiner, complimentary reference was made to the elaborate annual report issued by the Berlin Board of Trade. In connection with this the following remarks were written:

This report is evidence that the Berlin Board of Trade takes itself seriously, and furnishes an example to our own Board of Trade, which issues no report, except a type-written summary, which would never see the light of day, were it not that the newspapers had more enterprise than the Board itself. A Board of Trade, representing "Progressive Peterborough," should, at least, break even with "Busy Berlin," and compile as large a record, and in, at least, as creditable a form. The Examiner congratulates the Berlin Board of Trade, and if its admirable and elaborate annual report, both in typography and letterpress, is a reasonably reliable index of its functional activity, it must be a power in promoting the material progress and prosperity of the town it represents.

In spite of the fact that the executive of the Peterborough Board of Trade enters a protest against the above article, the Examiner has no retraction to make. What is there lacking in truth in this, the only direct, reference to the Peterborough Board of Trade? — "A Board of Trade, representing 'Progressive Peterborough,' should at least break break even with 'Busy Berlin,' and compile as large a record, and, in at least, as creditable a form." Is there anything wrong, or inferentially misleading, or unjust, in that? We will admit that the complaint implied in the reference does not lie as against the executive of the Board of Trade, which cannot make bricks without straw — cannot, do satisfactory work without membership, and membership that will take an interest in the work that comes within the province of a Board of Trade. While the little town of Berlin, with a population of ten thousand, has a Board of Trade consisting of 275, the membership of the Peterborough Board of Trade is short of 100. Is this creditable to Peterborough? Is it the measure of Peterborough's enterprise? Is it not proper for a newspaper having the interests of the city at heart, to call attention to such a shortcoming, with the object of arousing the interest of our merchants and business men. We have the best minor city in Canada. Do the membership and activity of our Board of Trade represent such a city? Might not our progress be greatly accelerated; our industrial and commercial importance increased, if we had, as we should have, an alert Board of Trade of 500 members, instead of fewer than 100 members? Some members of the Board, who are practically 'playing "a lone hand" in carrying on Board of Trade work, feel aggrieved that the Examiner should bring the Board upon the carpet, and publicly criticise its easily correctible weakness of membership and its equally easily correctible apathy. The matter resolves itself into this question: Is the Peterborough Board of Trade, in membership, and in the interest members take in the work, such as the city of Peterborough should have? If an honest answer can be given in the affirmative, the Examiner will have reason to apologise.

Large Crowds Go To Toronto

Trains Crowded Carrying Passengers to Toronto Fair.

People from all over Eastern Ontario are travelling westward to the Toronto exhibition. Every passenger train on the C.P.R. and G.T.R., which have been enlarged to meet the heavy demand, are well filled before leaving Peterborough, and are collecting more all along the lines.

This week an extra train on the C. P. R. at 5.48 a.m., has been running, and on Monday next two extras will pass through to the Queen City, at 5.48 a.m., and 7.45 a.m. respectively. Beginning next Monday a special will be run on the Grand Trunk, leaving Campbellford, and passing through Peterborough at 7.20 a.m.

It is expected that Labour Day will see the biggest influx of visitors at the fair of any single day during its session.

Havelock Happenings Briefly Told

A Prominent Marmora Citizen Dies From Sunstroke.

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Aug. 27.—Miss Eva Lancaster is spending a few days in Hastings the guest of Miss Irma Puffer.

Mr. Bert Robertson, Marmora, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. R. E. White spent Sunday with friends in Hastings.

Hastings will play baseball in Havelock Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mabel McGrath, of Peterborough, is spending a few holidays in town the guest of Mrs. Rady.

Mrs. Robt. Jack and Master Ronald are spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Messrs. Gee Andrews and Robt. Adams, Norwood, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Jean Hart is visiting friends in Owen Sound and Sarnia.

Miss Moffatt, Marmora, is the guest of Mrs. A. McWilliams.

Miss Edna Walton, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Stanley Barlow.

Mr. Percy Lancaster, of town, is spending his holidays with friends in Owen Sound and Sarnia.

Miss Alice Ashby is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Geo. Galbraith is spending a few days with friends in Camden East.

Mr. John Bateson is spending his holidays in Peterborough and Toronto.

A number of our young ladies drove over to Norwood on Monday evening. Some say there was to be a spinsters' convention held there that night.

News was received on Sunday of the death of Mr. Gordon McWilliams, an old and respected citizen of Marmora. Mr. McWilliams had been ill for the past five weeks, the result of a sunstroke which he received while out walking one morning in one of his fields. He was about 66 years of age. During the prime of his life he kept the Royal Hotel in Marmora, afterwards moving to the West, where he stayed about three years. Since then he had been living retired in Marmora. He leaves a wife and family of nine children to mourn his death. They are Arthur, Miss Minnie, and Mrs. Clark, of Havelock; George and Harold, who are in the West; Arthur and the Misses Florence, Stella and Edith, of Marmora.

The people of Havelock extend their sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

J. C. O'Mullin, brewer at Halifax, when interviewed at St. John, N. B., on his return from the west, gave the opinion that if the government officials would exploit the east as they do the west, intending settlers would find it just as good a place to live in.

"Galt milkmen should deliver milk about town each Sunday during the hot weather," said Dr. Vardon. "Milk delivered on Saturday night was seldom fit for use by Sunday evening or Monday morning. The use of such milk was very detrimental to the health and often threatened the very lives of the town's infant population."

THE LATEST SPORTS

Peterboro' Shots Get On The Targets

The Winners in Difficult Firing Competitions.

It was George Fitzgerald's innings at the Dominion Rifle Association meetings yesterday. His quick head practice on the northern deer runs came into good play in the Sir Charles Ross match, in which at 200 yards seven shots are allowed at special targets exposed for only 3 seconds for each shot. Mr. Fitzgerald came sixth with 29, winning a prize of $8. He also scored in the Henshaw match — 10 shots at 1000 yards — winning $5, with a score of $40. Private Duncan Cameron also won $5 with a score of 39. Charley Blomfield of the Warsaw Rifle Club, captured a $4 prize in the Sir Charles Ross quick-firing match.

BASEBALL

Oshawa and Port Hope played their second game of baseball on the home grounds yesterday in their series of best two out of three games for $100 a side, the home team winning by a score of 6 to 4. This win necessitates a third game, which will be played off in Bowmanville on Saturday next. Port Wilson made an excellent umpire.

FOOTBALL

The Quaker football team and officers of the club are requested to be at Mr. Roy's studio on Friday night at 6.30 o'clock instead of Saturday afternoon as published yesterday.

• • • •

The Quakers will hold a practice game on Friday evening on Riverside Park.

TURF.

The Canadian West is getting there with both feet—or rather with all four feet—it has produced a broncho that has made the record-breaking performance of pacing a mile in 2.09 3-4. This "fleet little record-"buster" is a Winnipeger. Winnipeg is proud of its cowmen but its heart goes out in big thumbs towards the broncho, and the Free Press gives editorial prominence of half a column to her "great feat"—it should have said "feet."

BOWLING

Some of the semi-finals for the Frost Trophy are being played this afternoon on the Brookside green.

ARE YOU A PRISONER?

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as securely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or used to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have

What To Eat and When to Eat

Two Important Questions Answered Really After Reading This.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinises the starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.

We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested.

Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers, now 10 cents.

The Daily Grind Ruins The Nerves

In factories and workshops, offices and stores—yes, and in the homes, too—people are being worn out by the monotonous wear and tear of unceasing toil.

In the hot summer time especially the burden is heavy to bear, and without the opportunity for rest or recreation many a victim falls by the way, overcome by nervous exhaustion, heart failure or physical decline.

The world's work must be done. The toiler must toil on. But there is a method of replacing wasted nerve cells and building up the worn out system, and that is by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after each meal.

It gives vigor and tone to the system and prevents exhaustion and prostration. It is the friend of the worker, for it makes him strong and well and fills him with new hope, new confidence and new vigor and energy.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

Americans All Want To See Lock

Hydraulic Lift is an Attraction for People From Lakes.

"Not a day passes," said a local Everyman to The Examiner to-day, "but that we have three or four cabs at the lift lock. The American tourists coming down from the lakes all want to see the lock, and as their train connections give them the necessary time, very few go away without having visited the lock. It astonishes them all, too," he said, in conclusion.

The lift lock is certainly a great advertisement for the city, as everyone who comes here apparently has heard of the structure and is anxious to see it in operation.

The arbitration board is in session at Berlin, to decide what the town shall pay for the Berlin and Waterloo street railway. The company's valuation is $114,000, and the franchise expires in October. Judge Morgan, of Toronto, is the company's arbitrator.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

Mr. Gordon Logan Tells Of Northern Ontario

Was With Ontario Land Survey Party in Algoma—Was Formerly Resident of East City—Forests Plentiful in the North—Good Farming Land—A Voyage Between Burning Banks.

The many friends in the city of Mr. Gordon Logan are pleased to see him here again for a brief holiday. Mr. Logan until five years ago was a resident of East City, and during the past three months has been engaged with Mr. T. B. Speight's Ontario Land Survey in New Ontario. At present he is visiting his grandfather, Mr. H. Calcutt and in conversation with an Examiner representative yesterday told some interesting incidents of life in the scarcely explored wilds of the northern part of the province.

The survey party with which Mr. Logan was connected was one of many engaged in marking out the boundary lines of townships in the Algoma District and was working in the neighbourhood of Lake Opazatika. The land there he believed would be excellent for farming although as yet no tillers of the soil have found their way to this section of Ontario.

The land is covered with plenty of spruce, balsam, birch and poplar forests yet unmoved by the woodman's axe.

Eighteen of the party left the camp with Mr. Logan in three canoes of six men each and paddled down the full length of the Opazatika River and part of the Missinaba making 31 portages before reaching a railway line.

For two days they paddled between banks of burning bush with thick smoke filling the whole air. Almost at every stroke a tongue of flame would shoot up a spruce or balsam making a pretty, yet disastrous scene. One night while bivouacked on the bank of the Opazatika, the flames crept within half a mile of the sleeping party. They were however, discovered in time and a watchful eye was kept on the approaching danger.

Mr. Logan believes that life in New Ontario is ideal and has greatly improved in health during his short term there. He will leave shortly for his home in Galt where he intends spending the winter.

FIGHT WITH TIME.

Half Way Round the World in Thirty Days Is Latest Transportation Plan.

SUCH IS C. P. R. SCHEME.

Passengers Will Travel 12,000 Miles On One Ticket, Making But Two Changes.

Half way around the world in 30 days, with only two changes, and scarcely more stops, is the latest development of the C. P. R. Twelve thousand miles under one house flag on one ticket, and with baggage checked right through, supplied throughout with every comfort of modern travel, and less bother than is ordinarily experienced on a trip of a few hundred miles. Starting from Liverpool and being landed at Hong Kong, after traversing two mighty oceans and the North American continent within the space of a month! It is by far the most wonderful victory of transportation over distance that the world has ever seen, and one which no other transportation company but the great Canadian railway enterprise could dream of. By it travellers will buy a ticket in England, and, travelling steadily westward, will in a trifle over four weeks be brought to the heart of the Orient; while from Hong Kong the process will be reversed, the traveller leaving the East, journeying east, and in 30 days be in England—the bulwark of the west.

This greatest and latest project of the C. P. R. is the direct result of the placing in commission of the Empresses, which have so cut down the time taken in crossing the Atlantic; the sailing schedule of the Pacific Empresses will be altered so that travellers will be taken from the Atlantic Empresses, rushed across the continent in a special train, and at once transferred to the waiting Pacific Empress for the journey across to Hong Kong. And in the whole journey they will only go beyond British territory once, when the boats touch at Yokohama, Japan. The same process will be repeated on the return trips.

One of the main reasons which have dictated this wonderful achievement in fast travelling is the desirability of proving the superiority of the Canadian route for mails as well as passengers to the far East. By the fastest trips around the other side of the world, or what is known as the "overland" route, from Liverpool to Brindisi by train, thence by express packet boat to the Suez canal, and the rest of the way by the P. and O. steamers, the fastest time to Hong Kong is 35 days, generally longer—at least five days more than by the Canadian Pacific route. This advantage is so apparent, not to mention the additional comfort of the trip only broken twice, together with the advantage of crossing Canada on the way, and always being under the British command of the ocean highways, that it must have a potent effect in swinging the pendulum of the world's travel to Canada.

This is the way the C. P. R. time table between Liverpool and Hong Kong works out in the rough:

	Days.
Liverpool to Quebec	7
Quebec to Vancouver	4
Vancouver to Hong Kong	19

To give a better idea of the huge nature of this undertaking one must consider the mileage involved in these inter-Antipodean excursions, which considerably illumines the matter. They are:

	Miles.
Liverpool to Quebec	2661
Quebec to Vancouver	3072
Vancouver to Yokohama	4283
Yokohama to Shanghai	1178
Shanghai to Hong Kong	810
Total—	12,004

"That sounds like a fairy tale, doesn't it," remarked Mr. Piers, manager of the C.P.R. steamship lines, to The Gazette yesterday. "But we are going to do it, and that within a very short space of time, and if it does not prove to the British and other European nations the advantages of travel via Canada to the East, and vice versa, they must have lost their business acumen."

The new C.P.R. train, which will be the connecting link for the ocean service, will be known as the "Overseas Limited," and it will leave Quebec on its first run on Friday, August 31st, on which date the Empress of Ireland will reach that port. Within about an hour the westbound passengers will be transferred, with their baggage, to the train, and 96 hours later they will be in Vancouver, for transportation to the Orient; the acme of speed with the absolute minimum of inconvenience. The mails, of course, will be carried on the same train. Not only is this by thousands of miles the longest through connection the world has ever seen, but it is, by almost weeks, the quickest.

The first return trip will be run on September 17th, from Vancouver on the arrival of the Empress of India, and will reach Quebec on September 21st, to connect with the Empress of Britain, which is due in Liverpool with the mails and passengers from the East on September 28th, and thence onward the trips will occur regularly between the two sets of Empresses. The only change necessary to inaugurate this service was the setting back of the sailing dates of the Pacific Empresses one day. The Atlantic schedules will not be changed at all.

The train will consist entirely of sleeping cars, a diner and mail and baggage cars—a veritable train de luxe, designed for nothing but through traffic, and with the minimum of stops in its long course across the continent.

In order to ensure rapid transit the engines and cars used will all be subjected to a specially careful examination before going out, so that no delays by petty accidents may happen, and only the finest engines and most expert engineers and crews will be employed. The train will be given right of way over all other traffic of any kind whatsoever, and orders will be sent ahead that special care be taken that no undue delays occur when it is necessary to change crews or engines or take on water, etc.—everything will be sacrificed to speed in order to keep the schedule of 96 hours for the run, and ensure the closest of connections on the journey from Antipodes to Antipodes.

Buffalo Minister Will Visit Here

Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr Has Accepted Call to Buffalo.

The Buffalo Courier of yesterday says: The Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr, of Newton Centre, has accepted a call to the Maple Street Baptist Church here, and will assume his duties at that church in the near future. Dr. Burr was pastor of the First Baptist Church at Newton Centre, and recently resigned, when he received a call from the Buffalo church.

Before coming here he will spend a few weeks at Peterborough, Ont. Dr. Burr is a native of Nyack, this State, and is a graduate of Brown University and the Crozier Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Guy L. Brown was formerly pastor of the Maple Street Baptist Church, but resigned several weeks ago to accept a call to a church in New York.

VITAL STATISTICS FOR PETERBORO'

According to the Provincial Registrar, the county of Peterborough is doing its share in maintaining the population of the province. In 1903, the deaths recordedd were 788, and in 1904, 891, showing an increase of 103, a much larger rate of increase than any other county in the province. There was an increase in marriages as between 1903 and 1904, the total in the former year having been 330, and in the latter 337. There was an increase of 13 in the number of deaths, so that as to the years under review there is a net increase of population of 93.

Expected Dip Of Otonabee Camper

Standing in a Sailing Canoe He Tumbles Over.

Posing as a light-footed acrobat in a sail boat, a young camper at Crawford's Grove, took an unexpected dip in the Otonabee waters yesterday afternoon in front of Mr. Jno. Holmes' residence. The youthful sailor who it appears has not yet reached the common sense age, was standing in the canoe while making a tack from the Otonabee shore. An onlooker on the beach was watching the proceedings and there happened just what he expected. With difficulty the youth got to shore and by means of Mr. Holmes' punt, towed his water-soaked craft to shore. Carefully adjusting things he took his departure—a sadder and wetter, but a wiser boy.

Cold Springs' Annual Outing

Delightful Day Down the River by Water Lily.

Yesterday Cold Springs held their annual excursion down the river, going by the steamer Water Lily. The weather was all that could be desired, and this, with the popularity of the outing, made the occasion one of the most successful in its history.

The pioneers arrived at Jubilee in good time, and, after a hearty dinner, went in for a good time. The sports, which consisted of running and jumping, and a football match, in which the ladies showed considerable ability, was much enjoyed, both by the players and the onlookers. A special prize was given to the winners of the ladies' race, consisting of a large package of tea presented by Mr. W. Mason, the popular local tea merchant, who, by his generosity, made this one of the most exciting contests.

The result of the sports was as follows:

Girls 7 years and under—
Roxy Downer, May Bennet, Mary Tully.

Boys 7 and under—
Harold Rose, Jack Tully.

Girls 10 and under—
May Bonnett, Roxy Downer, Maggie Bennett.

Boys 10 and under—

Old Resident Returns To City

Mr. James Pringle, of Stratford, Sees Many Changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Pringle, of Stratford, Ont., are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Swanston, Hunter street, East City. They are on their way home after a delightful visit to England and Scotland. Mr. Pringle was a former resident of Peterborough, but left here fifty years ago. Since that time he has only been in Peterborough twice, his last visit being twelve years ago. Many changes are, of course, noticeable, and he has been greatly impressed by the businesslike air that characterizes Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Pringle, who crossed the Atlantic in June, had an enjoyable visit to the Mother Country. Many places of interest in England and Scotland were visited. They returned on the steamer Canada, and had the pleasure of listening to a concert daily by His Majesty's Second Life Guards Band, which came over on the same steamer. Mr. Pringle says the band is a very fine one.

"Profit" and Loss Milk Episode

Sam. Profit's Rig Met With An Accident.

The milk delivery rig belonging to Samuel Profit met with an accident on Smith street west, near Jackson Park, this morning. Coming down the hill near the park the horse bolted, and capsized the rig, spilling a quantity of milk. The driver, a small boy, escaped unhurt, and the rig was not damaged. There is no use crying over spilt milk, but the owner of the outfit realizes that there is little profit in such an escapade on the part of his horse.

WEDDING BELLS

HETHERINGTON—COOKSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residencee of Mrs. Dobson, 390 Smith street last evening at 7 o'clock, when her daughter Miss Frances E. Cookson, was united in marriage to Mr. W. R. Hetherington, son of Wm. Hetherington, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Davidson in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington will reside in Peterborough.

Youths To Make Restitution

Allowed to go on Suspended Sentence if This is Done.

A crowded courtroom greeted the enlarged trial of the youths who pleaded guilty on Tuesday of accepting money from Earle Downey, the boy who, it is alleged, stole $12 from Mr. Jno. Sullivan in the National Hotel yeards some time ago. Although five were connected with the theft the police were only able to round up three at present—Longo, Sullivan and O'Toole. Downey and Gorman were the other two, the former having skipped out at the first scent of danger and it is understood the latter is working near Ottawa.

Mr. Gordon appeared on behalf of the Downey boy and stated that his mother was willing to make restitution if the charge was dismissed.

The magistrate, however, said he could not agree to this as the boy had been charged with various kinds of little offences for the past five years.

Crown Attorney Wood was willing to allow the boys present to go providing they made restitution to Mr. Sullivan and paid the costs.

The magistrate acting on this, adjourned judgment until Saturday Saturday morning and if the money and costs are paid he will allow the the boys to go on suspended sentence. The total sum to be handed over in the meantime by the four boys at present in the city amounts to $25.

A feature of the present London season is the extraordinary number of visitors from Canada.

New Convent Has Been Opened In North Bay

Six Sisters From Mt. St. Joseph Convent Left To-day—Were Accompanied by the Superior General—Sister Loyola, of Cobourg, Will Take Charge of the New Institution—Bishop Scollard an Energetic, Worker.

Through the energy of Rev. Bishop Scollard, of North Bay and Bishop of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, a new convent is being opened in the former town. The people there have been anxiously awaiting this important movement and through the request of Bishop Scollard, Rev. Mother Clotilda, superior general in charge of the congregation, left this morning with six of the sisters from Mount St. Joseph the Mother House of the Sisterhood.

Sister Loyola who has been for a number of years teacher in Cobourg, has been chosen to take charge of the new institution at North Bay and it is with great regret of the people of that town that she has been chosen. The sisters who have been sent north will look after the educational interests of the congregation there and will be in charge of the schools.

Rev. Mother Clotilda will remain with the sisters until they have become settled in their new home after which she will return to the city.

The opening of a convent in North Bay is but another instance of the energetic work being done by Bishop Potter, who is continually contriving to meet the educational demands of his people. Considering that he has only been in the Sault Ste. Marie diocese for a short time his work there has been most profitable.

City Flower Gardens Worthy Of Recognition

Horticultural Society Officials Visited a Number of Them Yesterday—Winners of Competition Not Yet Decided—Citizens Taking More Care With Their Lawns—Some Praise by Dr. Seath.

Yesterday after a number of the officials of the Horticultural Society drove through part of the city inspecting some of the many lawns and flower gardens with a view to finding the best maintained of them all. The party consisted of Messrs. D. W. Dumble, the president of the society; H. C. Rogers, Peter Campbell and Jas. Stevenson and although they have not yet made any decision, were very much impressed by the character of the spots which form a prominent part of the beauty of the city.

They found that the gardens are becoming more extensive as the years go by and that the citizens are taking a greater pride in the beautifying of their premises. People are vieing with one another to have superior lawns and flower gardens, and the result is becoming more and more noticable every year.

The row of premises of the citizens residing on George street from Smith street north were found to be particularly pretty by the examiners and was unequalled by any similar portion which they had visited. Of course it was impossible for the officials to see every garden in the city and very few were examined other than those which were entered in the competition.

The object of these visits is to do away with all old unnecessary buildings and earth and stone piles around residences and instilling a spirit of beauty among the owners. The Society believe that they are gradually accomplishing this and if it continues to spread Peterborough will certainly be soon among the prettiest cities of the province.

It might not be amiss to mention here that the city gardens are noticed and praised by visitors as well as citizens. Dr. Seath, who was here this week on an official educational trip remarked that some of the lawns and gardens of Peterborough were not surpassed in beauty by any he had seen in the province. Such recognition as this should be an impetus for Peterborough people to continue in making the city a beautiful one by diligently attending to their respective premises.

Free Postal Delivery Will Be Taken Up To-night

Manufacturers' Committee May Take Steps to Impress the Necessity for Such Delivery Upon the Dominion Government.

The question of free postal delivery will be discussed at to-night's meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee, and it is probable that some action will be taken to impress upon the Dominion Government that such a delivery is needed in Peterborough. Ald. McWilliams, chairman of the committee, who will introduce the matter to-night, informed The Examiner that Peterborough was the next place in line for free delivery. All the places larger than this city have already been provided, and it is now Peterborough's turn. The public will await with interest the action of the committee in the matter, as the proposal is one that should meet with hearty approval from every citizen.

The committee have several other matters to deal with to-night. They will endeavour to come to some arrangement by which a large industry will locate here, and will also discuss the agreement with the Steel Rolling Mills Company.

Enlarging North Ward School Will Cost $11,000

Reliable Authority Estimates the Cost at That Figure—Nothing New in Normal School Question To-day.

There is nothing new in the Normal School question to-day, but the action of the Board of Education last night, seems to have considerably simplified matters.

There will be no new developments until the Education Department signify which site they choose for the Normal School when a meeting of the council will be held and the land deeded over to them. A copy of the resolution passed by the board will be sent to Mr. Colquhoun, after which it is expected the authorities will announce the site decided upon.

The Examiner learned on reliable authority to-day that the cost of enlarging the Barnardo avenue school will be in the neighbourhood of $11,000. The present building cost $9000 and to add six rooms will cost, it is estimated, several thousand more.

Suspects Arrested For Stealing Copper

Was Brought From Lindsay Yesterday and Disposed of to Local Junk Dealer—C. G. E. and Lock Works Refused to Buy—Police Officer Meharry Gathers in the Men.

Through the vigilance of P. C. Meharry two suspected copper thieves were arrested this morning charged with stealing and disposing of a quantity of this metal. Both are young men hailing from Lindsay where the theft was committed from the Sylvester Brothers, who are manufacturers there.

They tried to dispose of their goods to the Canadian General and to Ald. Adams of the Lock Works yesterday, both of whom refused to accept it, considering something must be wrong as the copper was worth much more than the amount asked They next tried to sell the copper to Lowe, Eisenberg & Co., junk dealers at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets, who accepted the goods, giving a check to the amount of some $13 on the Bank of Nova Scotia, the material being sold as old junk.

In the meantime the police heard of the affair and on suspicion informed the bank not to cash the cheque until an investigation was made. The cheque was finally cashed by the gentleman who runs the Greek restaurant on Charlotte street.

This morning P. C. Meharry with scarcely a clue to work upon started out in quest of the suspects, and while in the restaurant for information met his man ordering a lunch which he did not get an opportunity to eat. He was taken to the police station where it was discovered that the friend who was with him was also implicated. Meharry immediately retraced his steps and getting his eye on the other on George street lodged both in the County jail where they await their trial on Saturday morning.

Mr. Sylvester of Lindsay was notified of the occurrence and will be present here at the trial on Saturday.

Toronto Man Missed Train

Did Not Know Which to Take at G. T. R. Station.

A Toronto gentleman this morning was another of the many who have made mistakes at the Grand Trunk station on account of no placards being placed on the trains to direct which one to take. This gentleman was going home but did not know until it was too late that his train had gone.

In consideration of these many mistakes, the travelling public believe that it is time the Grand Trunk authorities looked after this matter and gave their patrons a better service in this respect.

Scarlet Degree For True Blues

At Meeting Last Night a Number Received This Degree.

Last evening the Loyal True Blues met in their Hall and the Scarlet Degree was given to the members that have joined this new branch of this Association.

As this is the highest degree the Lodge is now in fine shape to accept any new candidates and confer the full number of degrees. Everything points to a very prosperous Loyal True Blue Lodge in Peterborough and in this city nothing should stand between this Lodge and success in making it the banner Lodge of Ontario.

Rate War Appears To Have Stopped

Round-Trip Fare to Rice Lake To-day Was 75c.

The rate war on the Otonabee is apparently over, as some of those of those who go down to the sea in ships found out this afternoon. There were no inducements of a 40c round trip to Rice Lake with supper thrown in. Instead it was found that the rate on the steamer Monarch was 75c for the round trip. A cheaper rate prevailed on the Water Lily, on which steamer the excursion under the auspices of the 57th nomcoms was run.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

Municipalities Are Anxious To Get Cheap Power

Municipal Association Discusses How Best to Get It.

THE CONVENTION OPENED

Mayor J. J. Ellis of Ottawa Elected the New President—Hon. Adam Beck Tells of the Powers of the Hydro-Electric Commission and Explains Some Points — Officers Elected and Resolutions.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Early development of the waterpowers in Ontario and the transmission of cheap electric power to every municipality desiring to use it were made the principal issues yesterday before the annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Convention, which met at the City Hall.

Representatives from a large number of cities and towns in the province are attending the meeting, and they seemed to be unanimous in their expressions regarding the benefits of electrical energy supplied at a low figure through the agency of the Provincial Government. Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, explained the various features of the power bill passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Explanation of Hon. Adam Beck.

At the conclusion of his address Hon. Adam Back, who was commended for his efforts in endeavoring to get cheap power, explained some points in the power bill which some of the delegates wished enlightenment upon. He said that in brief the provisions of the bill permitted the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to go to companies which already have a few millions invested in power plants at Niagara Falls and secure from these companies estimates of what they will sell power for to the Commission. The Commission can then inform the municipalities, or, of its own accord, enter into some scheme to secure cheaper power, providing the companies ask too much.

Cost to Municipalities.

When the Commission gets a careful estimate as to the cost of delivering energy to each municipality it can submit its figures to the municipalities, which are privileged to take it or not at those figures. Should a municipality take power, it may sell it to local consumers at any price it likes, above a minimum fixed by the Commission, which sale price will be high enough to include interest and sinking fund on money invested. Further, he stated that it made no difference to a municipality from where the power was brought so long as it was the cheapest available. The Commission's duty was to look after all such interests of the town or city.

Could Not Announce Policy.

Asked by a delegate whether the Government intending building plants or expropriating those already built at Niagara Falls, providing the companies would not sell power at a sufficiently low figure, Mr. Beck replied that he could not announce the policy of the Government on this matter.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, Mayor Thompson of Galt, Ald. J. H. Fryer of Galt, Ald. Armstrong of London and others spoke in favor of the cheap power proposals.

A paper on "The Power Question" was read by Ald. J. W. Lyon of Guelph, secretary of the Western Ontario Municipalities Niagara Power Union, and several persons spoke in a general way on the matter, all voicing the hope that soon something will be done to supply the power needed. As a result of the afternoon's discussion on the subject it is expected that all municipalities wishing Government aid in securing cheap energy will make an estimate of how much each requires, so that the Commission may have something definite before it. This paper preceded and precipitated the power discussion.

The first paper read during the afternoon was on "The Industrial Progress of Ontario," by Mr. John T. Hall, head of Hamilton's publicity department. It dealt with the methods which should be employed to bring in industries, and stated that no city should be without a publicity department.

At the conclusion of the discussion on the power question a paper was read by W. C. Mikel, city solicitor of Belleville, on "Work and Power of the Ontario and Municipal Board," and Mr. James Forman, assessment commissioner of Toronto, read one on "The Assessment Act," reviewing the amendments made last session of th Legislature to the assessment act of 1904.

Officers Elected.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows.

President, Mayor J. A. Ellis, Ottawa; 1st vice, D. M. McIntyre, city solicitor, Kingston; 2nd vice, Ald. M. Cooper London; 3rd vice, Forest H. Bean, Welland; 4th vice, Mayor Sleeman, Guelph; secretary-treasurer, K. M. McKay, St Thomas; executive, Mayor Coatsworth, Toronto; mayors of London, Ingersoll, Brockville and Peterboro, J. H. Fryer.

The Resolutions.

The following resolutions were referred to the resolutions committee:

That the Ontario Municipal Association express its willingness to enter into a confederation with the other provinces and the Canadian Manufacturers upon the following terms, viz: That persons unable to pay taxes may have these charged against the property and not remitted.

That legislation be sought enabling municipal councils of cities to open and extend streets upon the local improvement plan upon such terms as to assessing therefor the property benefited as may seem proper, notwithstanding petitions against the same.

That this association apply to the local Legislature asking that power be granted to all municipalities to assess all property within the municipalities and collect taxes thereon.

That the Ontario Legislature be petitioned to pass the coming session such legislation as will enable municipalities to assess railways at the rate of $5,000 per mile.

That legislation be passed compelling bakers in all municipalities to adopt a uniform loaf of bread.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC ENGINEER.

P. W. Sothman, a Native of Denmark, Appointed by the Commission.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—P. W. Sothman, at present consulting engineer of the City of New York, has been chosen by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission as chief engineer of the electrical staff of the Commission, and under the general direction of Commissioner Cecil B. Smith.

He will be especially charged with constructing, estimating and supervising for the various municipalities which apply to the Commission for electric power under the act.

He was born in Denmark in 1870 and graduated from the Institute of Technology at the Charlottenberg, Germany. For seven years he was consulting engineer for the Siemen and Hartle Electrical Co. in developing water powers in Germany, Russia and South Africa. He went to New York in 1905.

65,000 ATTEND.

A Record-Breaking Children's Day and Canadian National Fair.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—"The biggest Children's Day we have ever had," was Manager's Orr's remark last night of the exhibition attendance. "It is larger than most Citizens' Days," he added. Another authority estimated the visitors, large and small, at 65,000. "Kids and kittens" were the special features of yesterday. At night, when they packed the grand stand and the paddock to the tune of 20,000 or so, it was another experience to listen to the comments made, and to hear the crash of childish laughter that rolled along the wide galleries like a great wave breaking on a shingle beach. The weather was all that could be asked or desired.

The Directors' Luncheon.

The luncheon at 1 o'clock yesterday drew together a gathering of prominent educationists. A particularly distinguished guest was Prof. Goldwin Smith, who contributed some interesting remarks, touching upon conditions as they had changed in Toronto during the past half-century. Other speakers were Superintendent Seath, Chairman Shaw of the Board of Education, and James L. Hughes, school inspector.

To-day is Manufacturers' Day.

IN ATTEMPTING ESCAPE.

Beat Turnkey Into Insensibility, But Frustrated by Fellow Prisoner.

Port Arthur, Aug. 30.—Mike Evino, an Italian, who was arrested in the west, charged with the murder of an Italian here, and W. Woods, who is in jail on a charge of theft, made a determined effort to escape from jail.

When Turnkey Jones went into the dayroom Woods and Evino sprang at him and knocked him down, kicking him into insensibility. They endeavored to get his keys from him, but a young man named Slater, who is in on a charge of manslaughter, gave the alarm and endeavored to protect the turnkey. He was injured in the melee.

Jailer Penfold hastened to the dayroom at the sound of alarm and captured the two men. Woods has made three attempts to escape.

Charlebois Tries Again.

Kingston, Aug. 30.—The murderer, Charlebois, who escaped from the penitentiary some months ago and was recaptured, made another attempt to escape from confinement. He was at work cutting the bars of his cell when discovered.

The Price Was Five Millions.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—The Penman Manufacturing Co. of Paris, Ont., has been bought out by a Montreal syndicate, composed of David Yulle, president of the Dominion Textile Co.; C. B. Gordon, vice-president of the same company, and J. P. Black, president of Canadian Concerters' Co. The price is between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000.

Strike at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—About 43 moulders and coremakers employed by the Canadian Iron & Foundry Co. went out on strike last night, owing to the refusal of the company to grant an increase of ten cents a day in the moulders' wages and a minimum rate of $2.25 a day to the coremakers.

Crop 92 Million Bushels.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—T. C. Irving of Toronto, manager of Bradstreet's, estimates the western wheat crop at 92,000,000 bushels.

Hundred Russian Officials Have Been Sacrificed

Pay Forfeit For Russia to the Terrorists Last Week.

TERRIBLE LIST OF DEATHS

291 Private Persons Were Also Killed or Wounded, and 92 Officials Were Wounded — Bandits, Too, Plied Their Work and Captured $180,815 of Private and $84,981 of State Money by Robbery.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—Official statistics of the terrorism of last week show that 101 officials, gendarmes, police, etc., were killed; ninety-two were wounded, 291 private persons were killed or wounded; thirty-four spirit shops were plundered; private and individual institutions were robbed of $180,815, and state institutions of $84,981. There were over 150 armed attempts to rob banks, houses, etc.

Liberal Papers' Opinions.

The Liberal papers welcome the semi-official statement in behalf of the Government, to the effect that it would be a great mistake to suppose that revolutionary terrorism will be met by terrorism on the part of the Government, and adding that the Cabinet intends to continue to the path of reform. But the papers manifest their distrust of whether the Ministry will be able to master the situation by the publication of the ukase providing for the distribution of land to the peasants. Some of the papers, however, hail the announcement as being a distinct concession from the position which the Government took two months ago, when Premier Goremykin returned a non-possimus to this demand on the part of Parliament.

Russian Consul Shot.

Tientsin, Aug. 30.—The Russian consul here, M. Laptow, was shot in the stomach yesterday by a Russian concession contractor named Lavinsky. The shooting occurred at the Russian consulate. Lavinsky was arrested. His victim is in a critical condition.

THE CUBAN REBELLION.

Insurgents Hold Town of Cabanas and May Take Santa Clara.

Havana, Aug. 30.—The surrender yesterday of some of the more vigorous insurgent leaders in the provinces of Matanzas and Santa Cruz, and the coming in of a scattering few insurgents in response to the Government's proffer of amnesty, is vastly more than offset by the insurgent sentiment looming stronger daily in the country districts of the provinces of Havana, Pinar del Rio and Santa Clara, and which now is reported to be gaining headway in Santiago, from which province, however, there are as yet no reports of the existence of organized bands.

The insurrection in the Province of Pinar del Rio has spread to the north coast, and the Town of Cabanas now is in the hands of the insurgents, who are reported also to have gone in the direction of Bahia Honda. The latter place is the site of one of the United States naval stations.

Pino Guerra again is threatening the railroads. The latter have begun the construction of an armored train.

Gen. Alemas, Governor of Santa Clara Province, has telegraphed President Palma that unless reinforcements are sent, Santa Clara City is likely to fall.

Plans and specification for the new union depot of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Midland railways have arrived in Portage la Prairie. They show a handsome structure, which will be considerably larger and better equipped than either of these now there. It is desired, if possible, to let the contract locally, and tenders are being called.

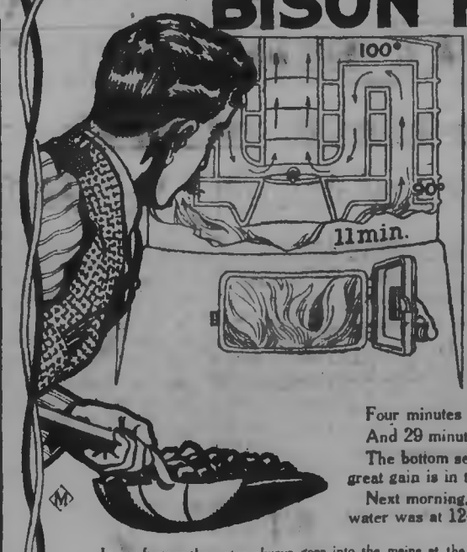
BISON FURNACE



In an actual test under ordinary conditions a prominent Montreal Professor of Physics reports the following results with a Bison Hot Water Heater:

Starting with the water at 65°, eleven minutes after the match was applied its temperature increased to 100° in the upper section.

Four minutes later it went up to 137°.

And 29 minutes after starting it was at 194°.

The bottom section gets as hot as in any other furnace—the great gain is in the top section.

Next morning, 15 hours after it had been left for the night, the water was at 124° in the top section and 100° in the lower.

In any furnace the water always goes into the mains at the temperature of the upper section.

In the Bison Furnace the water in the upper section is always the hottest—in other furnaces it is the coolest.

Famous Steamer The Old Princess Has Been Wrecked

Founders In Lake Winnipeg In a Tremendous Storm.

SIX PERSONS LOSE LIVES

Capt. Hawks Sticks to His Ship and Goes Down In Worst Disaster In the History of That Water — Sixteen People Escape In Boat and Land on Swampy Island—Steamer Was an Historic One.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—In the worst storm that ever swept over Lake Winnipeg, the famous "Old Princess" went to the bottom, 150 miles north of Selkirk.

Six passengers went down with the wreck and sixteen struggled to Swampy Island in two boats in imminent peril.

They were rescued by the City of Selkirk the next day and arrived home yesterday morning.

Capt. Hawks, Miss Flora MacDonald, Loftus Geodmanson, Joe Adrensen, J. Johansen and Charles Grayeyes perished.

A Rebellion Transport.

The Princess was built in 1881 and was used to transport troops in the Riel rebellion.

The great storm struck her Saturday afternoon, and she literally dropped to pieces in battling with the elements, the crew being forced to abandon the hull with water up to their necks.

As the passengers and crew sought to leave the waterlogged craft the smokestack fell, penetrated the hull and the boat broke in the middle, part of it drifting away, while the balance, with the machinery, went to the bottom.

Old Capt. Hawks went down standing at the pilot-house, his many years in the Hudson Bay service from England to Fort Churchill teaching him to spurn life without his ship.

The boat was southbound from Poplar Point with passengers and a cargo of fish.

There will be an investigation over the use of such an old and rotten vessel. It was owned by Capt. Wm. Robertson of Selkirk.

Dies From Fall.

Brockville, Aug. 30.—As a result of injuries sustained by falling from a cheese factory roof, striking on his abdomen, Norman Goderich died here yesterday in the hospital. He was unmarried and was upwards of 40 years of age, with no living relatives. The accident occurred near Frankville.

Killed at Crossing.

Galt, Aug. 30.—Mrs. George Mogg, a married woman, aged about 50 years, was killed by the northbound Grand Trunk train at the crossing near Hunter's Corners yesterday afternoon. Engineer Farley blew the whistle, but deceased walked directly on to the track and was hurled about 20 feet. A coroner's inquest will be held.

Hurt While Playing Ball.

Windermere, Aug. 30.—About a month ago Frank Harris, son of Rev. Dr. Elmore Harris of Toronto, while playing with bowling balls, accidentally struck himself on the forehead. It did not trouble him again until about ten days ago, when he was taken sick. Dr. Bruce of Toronto was sent for, and he, with Dr. Porter, operated on Harris yesterday morning. They found a slight fracture of the skull, and Harris now lies in a critical condition at their summer residence here.

Killed While Blasting.

Fort William, Aug. 30.—S. Peterson, foreman for Foley Bros., on the G.T.P. construction, and an Italian, name unknown, were instantly killed Tuesday afternoon at Kaministiquia by the premature explosion of a blast.

Carried Skyward By Balloon.

Kingston, N.Y., Aug. 30.—Caught by the anchor of a balloon and whirled 500 feet in the air over the heads of 5,000 spectators, Mrs. Roper of Brooklyn was seriously but not fatally injured yesterday at the Ulster County Fair at Ellenville. The balloonist pulled the safety cord and descended, Mrs. Roper striking the ground heavily.

Destroy Chicago Food Stuff.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Three hundred and fifty thousand pounds of foodstuffs were destroyed in Chicago last week, according to the bulletin of the health department, because they were impure. Arrests have also been numerous. Fifteen Greek peddlers, two fish dealers, three bakers and three ice cream dealers were arrested on the charge of attempting to dispose of foodstuffs that were unfit for consumption.

MISS LOUISA JONES.

Victim of Assault Unable to Recall Events of Night She Was Hurt.

Owen Sound, Aug. 30.—Miss Louisa Jones, the victim of the daring assault a few weeks ago, will in all probability leave the General and Marine Hospital this morning, as she has practically recovered from the effects of the outrage.

She has completely regain her normal mental condition, but has not the faintest recollection of anything that transpired on the evening in question. She distinctly remembers going to town, but her recollection does not go beyond that point.

In view of this fact it is very improbable the culprit will ever be brought to justice, in the opinion of several officials engaged in the search.

A provincial detective is in town this week seeking information concerning the matter.

Robert Glockling Resigns.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Robert Glockling, Deputy Minister of Labor for Ontario, has resigned. He said last night: "Conditions up in the Parliament Buildings, where my office is located, have been far from pleasant for some time, and I have felt that I was occupying my position on sufferance. My reports were ignored and I was given no work to do. To a man who is not afraid of work this was intolerable." He denied that he had been too partial to labor interests as against the interest of manufacturers. Manufacturers, however, have for some time been finding fault with Mr. Glockling and have claimed that he was endeavoring to obtain powers by which he could have enforced arrogant demands. Mr. Glockling is now to accept the presidency of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders of the United States and Canada.

GOOD SHOOTING.

Cadet Lieut. Hartney of Harbord Rifle Prodigy at D. R. A.

Ottawa, Aug. 30—Conditions were not favorable for good scoring at the D.R.A. meeting yesterday. The wind was strong and variable and the light shifty. In spite of this, however, an excellent standard of marksmanship was maintained, and in two cases, the Ross match and the Henshaw match, the winners won with better scores than last year. In the Ross match Pte. W. Short of the G. G. F. G., Ottawa, scored 34 as against 33 last year, while in the Henshaw match Corpl. Freeborn of the 13th, Hamilton, won with 67, as against 65 last year.

The Cadets' match attracted a great deal of interest. It is shot over 200 yards and is open to teams of five pupils from any schools having cadet corps, recognised by the D. O. C. of any military district in Canada. Every competitor must be under 18 years of age on the date of the competition.

Bull'seye Eight Times.

The Harbord Cadets of Toronto entered a team of three, one of whom, Lieut. H. Hartney, a 17-year-old boy, hit the bull'seye eight times, including the sighting shot, and won the individual prize. Congratulations from all sides were heaped on the young prodigy.

Team prizes—$25, Harbord Collegiate Institute, 93; $20, Ottawa Collegiate Institute, 89; $15, Ottawa Public School, 86.

The Harold L. Borden match, in memory of the son of the Minister of Militia, who fell in South Africa, went to Pte. W. M. Eastcott of the 3rd Victorias of Montreal. He secured the cup, medallion and $20 with a score of 34. The team prizes were: $48, 1st R. C. A., 178; $40, R. C. A., 175; $32, 48th, 172; $25, G. G. F. G., 170. Next in order: 2nd Q. O. R., 168; 13th Regt., 168; 43rd, first team, 168; 43rd, second team, 163.

Lt.-Col. Bate Is New President.

At a meeting of the Canadian Military Rifle League held here last night at the Rockliffe ranges, Lieut.-Col. Bate of the G. G. F. G. was elected president. Lieut.-Col. Sherwood retiring. A motion to change the name of the league to the Canadian Rifle League was adopted.

Col. Gibson Retires.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—At a meeting of the D. R. A. Tuesday night Col. J. M. Gibson announced his retirement from the presidency of the association.

Frank Ford Is Going West.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Mr. Frank Ford of Toronto is the new Deputy Attorney-General of the Province of Saskatchewan, and will leave in a few days for Regina. He was formerly solicitor to the Treasury of Ontario, and left that position to become a member of the firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin and Harcourt.

Planing Mill Burns.

London, Aug. 30.—Fire broke out at 9 o'clock last night in the sash, door and planing mill of Ald. Gerry, and in a couple of hours the whole concern was wiped out of existence. Large piles of lumber, beside the mill, were burned. The loss is estimated at $25,000; insurance about $10,000, in different companies.

New St. Clair Channel.

Detroit, Aug. 30.—Notice is given that the new channel at St. Clair Flats will be opened to navigation on Monday next. The new cut will be used exclusively for down bound boats. It is 300 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

Fire at Deseronto.

Deseronto, Aug. 30.—Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed two large barns and their contents on the premises occupied by F. B. Gaylord, on Dundas street, and owned by the Rathbun Co.

PORTE GETS PERSIAN PROTEST.

Demands Withdrawal of Turkish Troops From Margovar.

Constantinople, Aug. 30.—The Persian ambassador here has been informed from Teheran that Turkish troops have occupied the Persian district of Margovar, comprising some 25 villages.

The Turkish Government denies that the alleged encroachment has taken place, but nevertheless the ambassador has lodged an energetic protest with the Porte, and has demanded the recall of the troops.

Selling Short Weight.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—City Sealer Jos. Grein yesterday directed that suits be instituted against Armour & Co. and the Anglo-American Provision Co., on a charge of selling short-weight lard. The city sealer declared yesterday that he and one of his inspectors purchased five-pound pails of lard at the stock yards and found them to be from three to twelve ounces short in weight.

Lachine Canal Repaired.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—All the factories along the Lachine Canal, which were damaged by the flooding arising from the break of the Cote St. Paul gates by the steamer Dundurn Tuesday, were able to resume operations yesterday. The resumption of canal traffic took place last night.

Stakes Claim In Street.

Port Arthur, Aug. 30.—While engaged in digging a sewer here yesterday, a laborer named McPherson struck a vein of quartz, highly mineralized with silver and sulphide of copper, and has staked a claim on the street in partnership with Capt. Hogan.

Youth Ends His Life.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Manson Kenny, aged 18, who had been summoned to appear in court for assaulting a Chinaman, ended his own life on Wednesday night in the yard in rear of his boarding-place on Queen street. He was a driver for the Rapid Delivery Co.

Severely Burned.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—George Chalke, 163 North Caroline street, an Australian employed at the International Harvester Co.'s Works, was severely burned while at work yesterday afternoon. His left leg was badly injured. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Forge Room Burned.

Tilkonburg, Aug. 30.—Fire broke out in the forgeroom at the Maple Leaf Harvest Tool Works on Tuesday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock, completely destroying that portion of the establishment.

Flower Show at Guelph.

Guelph, Aug. 30.—The ninth annual convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association is in progress at the Ontario Agricultural College. Over one hundred delegates are present. Secretary Ewing's report showed that up to the end of 1905 there were 82 members in good standing. Of these, 46 were in and around Montreal, 12 in and around Toronto, and 24 in other places in Canada. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $92.91 on hand. The floral exhibit was not as large as usual, but was a creditable one. Some fine specimens of foliage plants and cut flowers were shown. Last evening the convention listened to a lecture by H. S. Arkell, B. A., and other addresses.

Police Raid a Lottery.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 30.—W. E. Hunt, who a year ago was fined $1.000 for running a lottery at Fort Erie, was arrested again yesterday by Provincial Officers Greer and Mains. He has been running a lottery at the Anglo-American Hotel at Fort Erie and the paraphernalia was scooped by the officers.

Victoria News Of Local Interest

Former Peterborough Residents In British Columbia.

The following paragraph from the Victoria, B.C., Times will be of interest to many of our readers. The D. C. Rogers mentioned is a son of Col. H. C. Rogers, and Messrs. Barnard and Robertson are his sons-in-law. The Times says:

A change has taken place in two of the legal firms in Victoria. The firm of Robertson & Robertson has been dissolved, and also that of Barnard & Rogers.

G. H. Barnard and Harold B. Robertson have now entered into partnership and will occupy the office in the Chancery Chambers.

D. M. Rogers, in retiring from the firm with which he has been identified, has accepted a retainer from several companies and will in future be associated with A. C. Flumerfelt, supervising the legal work of various enterprises in which the latter is interested, among which are the International Coal and Coke company, Hastings Shingle Manufacturing Company, British American Trust Company, and various business concerns in Canada. His office will in future be in the McGregor block.

In the partnership of Robertson & Robertson, Harold B. Robertson has been for some time the sole resident member, his brother, Herbert, conducting business in Vancouver.

Peterborough Industrial Exhibition September 26th

The Co-operation of the Ladies Specially Invited—Fruit Growers and Florists Should Also Assist.

The public are reminded that the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be held this year on September 25th and 26th, and that the directors are making preparations for a most successful exhibition. The prize list has been prepared and revised, and an attractive reward for successful competitors will be available.

There is no reduction in the department of ladies' work, and the handsome prizes as offered should induce a large exhibit. Ladies are requested to make early preparation, for making a strong exhibit. The prizes are well worth competing for. There are numerous ladies who have articles well worthy of display and capable of creating keen competition. Such ladies are urged to send to F. J. A. Hall, the secretary, Peterborough, for a copy of the prize list. Now is the time to take action. The skill of Peterborough county ladies is well known and if they undertake to make their department of the Exhibition a success they will certainly accomplish it.

There is ample material, especially since the collapse of the Horticultural Exhibition, for a splendid display of fruit and flowers. It is hoped that fruit growers and florists will do their share in making this department of the Exhibition the success it can be made by general co-operation.

Price Of Coal Is Likely To Go Up

Hard Coal Will be Selling as High as $7.30 Next Week.

The price of hard coal has taken a jump in Toronto this week, advancing from $6 to $6.50. The prospects are that Peterborough people will have to pay more for their coal in the near future, although the advance is not likely to be as great as in Toronto. A local coal dealer informed the Examiner to-day that he expected coal would advance 10c or 20c per ton at the first of next month. It would be as high as $7.30 at least for hard coal. The present rate is $7.20 per ton.

Special Meeting County Council

To Provide Foundation for Bridges After Bridges Are Built.

The County Council is rather going at things craw-fish style—they have built two bridges over the Indian River, one at Keene and the other at Evans', about midway between the Douro boundary and Allandale. In other words, the meeting is to give the third reading to a by-law authorizing the issue of debentures to the amount of $14,000, to pay the cost of those structures, that is, furnish the financial foundation.

It is probable that the question of advertising for tenders for the heating and plumbing of the House of Refuge will be considered and dealt with.

RETURN OF PETERBOROUGHS' MUSICAL ARTIST.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who has been in Europe for the past few months, returns about the middle of September. Mrs. Morrow has been studying under the finest European teachers, and returns with credentials from her teachers, which place her in the foremost rank of teachers in Canada.

Mrs. Morrow's ability as a teacher is well known to the people of Peterborough, and after having been instructed further by eminent European artists, who cannot but anticipate good results from her pupils, who should look forward to her return and embrace the opportunity of studying under such a talented artist.

Pupils will kindly forward their names as soon as possible so that hours can be satisfactorily arranged, as her classes in vocal as well as instrumental music, will be even larger than last year. Studio, 437 Brock street. 6d50

THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAY OVER

To-day is the last of the regime of Thursday half-holiday summer system, and the merchants and their staffs, and the lawyers and their clerks having had their Thursday afternoons off for July and August, will hereafter be placed on the level of common work-a-day mortals.

It is thought that the half-holiday system has, on the whole, been satisfactory. The employees especially think it is a great success, and as to the principals, some regard it with favour, while others are not much enamoured of it. It may have worked to the disadvantage of some few persons, but it has given employees, as well as employers, a much-needed rest, at a season when rest is doubly appreciated, and the taking of it stands less chance of injuriously affecting business interests. As to the lawyers' half-holiday, it is well known that during July and August it is superfluous work to spin the web of the spider—when so many of the flies are out of town, or too languid with the heat to come near the net.

OBITUARY.

MRS. PATRICK CRANLEY.

After an illness of scarcely a week, Annie Ryan, wife of Patrick Cranley, passed away this morning at her residence in Douro. Deceased was well known in Douro Township and respected by all who knew her, and her death at the early age of a little over forty years has come as a shock to her many friends. She was taken ill on Monday last with appendicitis, which, together with inflammation of the liver, was the cause of her death.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, a large family, one sister, Mrs. John Towns, Douro, and some brothers in the United States.

The funeral will take place on Saturday to St. Joseph's Church, and thence to the Douro cemetery.

Mr. J. H. Ferguson Will Relieve Vancouver Manager.

Mr. J. H. Ferguson, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has received word that he is detailed to relieve the manager of the Vancouver branch while on his vacation. Mr. Ferguson, accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson, will leave immediately for the West. He expects to be away at least three weeks or a month.

Field Night For City Aldermen

Three Committee Meetings are Called for This Evening.

There is a big programme scheduled for to-night at the city hall, no less than three committee meetings being called for this evening. The aldermen are evidently going to clear the slate to-night.

The Board of Works Committee meets at 7.30, the Manufacturers' Committee holds sway at 8 o'clock, and the Finance Committee will finish the programme, their time being scheduled to begin at 8.30.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 30. — Developments this morning showed the manipulative element of banking interests still disposed to work for higher levels along specialty lines and Union Pac. was put higher, with a very aggressive western operation in the general list. This Western faction expects higher prices and has been tipping several stocks. We think the conservative attitude should be maintained. Ten thousand shares of C.P.R. sold at the opening at a new high level checked the advance in that issue and a reaction followed. Call money was firmer loaning at 7 1-2 per cent. and this chilled the general speculation, room traders hammering the market in the late trading and forcing a general re-action. Sterling exchange was very weak to-day and it is expected announcement of gold imports will follow which should result in easier call money. The close was irregular and dull.

Why Wear Glasses?

Just why do your Neighbors—or You—wear Glasses? To see clearly and easily—whether reading, sewing, writing, conversing or walking along the street. Perfect vision, without strain or discomfort, is possible only with perfectly formed eyes. An imperfect eye may see perfectly by exerting great effort. If then you are conscious that you are not seeing easily your eyes are at fault—and, if you are already wearing glasses, they, too, are at fault.

Four Almost Drowned In Lake Ketchewanooka

Three Were Experimenting in Sailing Canoe When It Capsized in Deep Water—Lady Attempted Rescue But Her Boat Was Upset Also—Young Men Responsible for Their Safety—Were Tourists at Young's Point.

Upset in the deep water of Lake Ketchewanooka, three American tourists on Wednesday afternoon barely escaped with their lives and the life of a young lady who ventured the rescue of the struggling trio. The tourists, who are guests at the Young's Point summer resorts, were enjoying a canoe sail among Polly's Islands, just below the Point, when the boat, under the seamanship of Miss Preston, of Buffalo, suddenly rocked to and fro and capsized in about thirty feet of water. Their imminent peril was observed by Miss Graham, of Rochester, who quickly arrived at the scene of the unfortunate accident, but through the eagerness of Miss Preston and the two young gentlemen with her to save their lives, the rescuing canoe and its feminine occupant were upset into the lake.

From the viewpoint of those on shore, the safety of the quartette seemed almost beyond hope before succor could reach them. The young men, however, were masters of the situation and succeeded in keeping the ladies above water until assistance finally arrived, and extricated them from their perilous position.

Mr. Blomfield's Cottage Destroyed By Fire

Dog Overturned Burning Lantern While Occupants Were at the Juniper Island Pavilion—The Animal Was Burned—Scarcely Anything Saved—Cottage Valued at $300—Big Crowds Gather—An Imposing Scene.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 31.—Fire broke out in the summer cottage, "Maisonile," owned by Mr. C. J. Blomfield, of Lakefield, last night, and this morning the buildings on that island are in black ruins. The cottage, which has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hudspeth and daughters, of Port Hope, for the past two or three weeks, was situated a short distance from Juniper Island store in the Burleigh channel. At the time it started the temporary occupants were enjoying themselves at the Juniper Island pavilion.

The lurid flames, shooting up the dry timbers, could be seen from all points on the lake, and in a few minutes canoes, skiffs and launches from all directions were headed for the scene, which presented one of the prettiest, but most disastrous, in the history of the lake.

The flames, however, had gotten too much headway, and nothing save a refrigerator and trunk were saved from the ruins. The loss will amount to over $300 at least, as the cottage was a handsome one.

The supposed origin is that the dog, which was left behind, overturned a burning lantern. The animal itself lost its life in the flames, together with all the clothing and house furnishings. The building, it is understood, was insured.

Maximum Penalty For Selling Liquor Illegally

Lawless & Spellman Fined $100 and Costs for Breaking the Law in Temperance Lakefield--Pleaded Guilty to the Charge--Police Court Changed to Barroom.

The police court this morning resembled very much the appearance of a bar room. A couple of cases of ale, a tub full of bottles containing varied samples of cool beverages and a small barrel of lager with pump attached and working in fine shape, decorated the floor of the court room while a thirsty-looking crowd of spectators stood round and watched the proceedings—so near and yet so far.

The case against Lawless & Spellman of Lakefield charged with illegally selling intoxicating liquor on Friday, Aug. 24, was heard this morning before Magistrate Dumble who imposed a penalty fine to the fullest extent of the law.

The story of the discovery is perhaps familiar to the most of the Examiner readers. License Inspector Joseph Stewart having heard a rumour that Messrs. Spellman & Lawless were illegally selling liquor on their premises investigated the situation last Friday night and discovered intoxicating liquor in the bar which together with some of softer nature he brought to the police station and produced the same in the police court this morning to strengthen the evidence. This, however, was found out afterwards to be unnecessary as the defendants through their counsel, Mr. G. W. Hatton, pleaded guilty.

Mr. Hatton in addressing the magistrate, asked for leniency. Their license ran out on the first of May and most of the liquor found was on hand at that time. A month ago the inspector, he said, went to their house in Lakefield and was afforded every opportunity of examining the stock. He was also asked to take an inventory of the goods then. Had they been asked they would have taken the liquors out then, but they were not. It being the first offence he requested the magistrate to be lenient with the defendants.

Liquor Received Recently.

Crown Attorney Wood said he heard that Mr. Spellman declared he would still sell even if he did go to jail for it. After the inspector had broken into the bar he had come to him to have Mr. Stewart sent to jail as a burglar. He did not wish to be harsh but would like them to know the law of the land must be obeyed. He could prove he said that liquor was shipped to their house within the last thirty days.

Criticized Newspapers.

Both the Attorney and the Magistrate severely condemned a couple of the local newspapers for printing interviews before the case came off. The Examiner was not one of these.

Fined $100 and Costs.

The Magistrate in summing up the case said that illegal selling of liquor must be stopped. It was the will of the Lakfield citizens that Local Option was passed there and the law must be obeyed.

"I impose a penalty of $10 0and costs to be paid forthwith or three months in jail at hard labour," he concluded.

The costs amounted to $12.05. The Magistrate also ordered the destruction of all the wet goods in the kegs, cases and bottles. The fine was paid.

CAUGHT NINE POUND 'LUNGE

Mr. Bruce Bell, of the Cressman staff, took occasion of the half-holiday yesterday afternoon to go fishing, and not without catching anything, either. During the afternoon he hooked and landed a fine 9 1-2-lb 'lunge.

Non-Coms. Outing Was Great Success

Excursion Down Otonabee Was Well Patronized.

One of the best excursions of the season down the river was that held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the non-coms. of the 57th. The weather was ideal for such an event, every arrangement had been made for the convenience and entertainment of the people, the crowd was not too large for the boat, all of which conditions combined to make the affair a decided success. The Otonabee never looked better than it does just now and the sail to Rice Lake was greatly enjoyed by every one.

The Water Lily left at 1.45 with between 200 and 230 on board. On reaching Jubilee Point a number got off there and indulged in a baseball game while the remainder crossed the lake to Harwood for supper.

Refreshments of lemonade, soda-water, fruit, etc., were supplied free of charge, a feature that was much appreciated. The sail home in the moonlight was delightful and the time passed all too soon until Peterborough was reached at 10 o'clock.

The following committee did everything in their power to give the excursionists a good time: Sergt. W. Hatten, president; Colour-Sergt. Roberts, secretary-treasurer; Staff-Sergt. Sharpe, Q. M. S. Edwards, Staff-Sergt. Cotterell, Sergt. Succee. That their efforts were successful in the verdict of all who made the trip yesterday.

On Their Way to Hastings for a Few Days Fishing.

An automobile party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Albertino, of Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Niedringham, of St. Louis, were in the city to-day, and had luncheon at the Oriental. Mr. Albertine is proprietor of the Hotel Arlington at Cobourg, and brought the party here in his very handsome Packard touring car, which aroused much admiration, being one of the finest that ever visited Peterborough. The party left this afternoon for Hastings, where they will try to attract some of the finny tribe that are making the Trent famous.

OBITUARY.

JOHN CROWE.

After a short illness of but a week Mr. John Crowe, a Cavan farmer, passed away this morning at the age of 55 years. Death was due to pneumonia, with which disease the deceased was stricken last Thursday.

He leaves a wife, a daughter, Mrs. David Lawson, of Otonabee, two sons, William and John, and is survived by a sister and brother. These are Mrs. Gilbert of Hamilton, and Hampden Crowe of Toronto.

The deceased was well known throughout Cavan township and was an industrious farmer. The funeral will take place to the Little Lake cemetery. Mr. Jos. Stewart of East City, and Mr. Adam Dawson, Peterborough, are cousins of the deceased.

No Meeting Of Council To-night

Nothing Has Been Heard From Education Authorities Yet.

Nothing has been heard from the education authorities at Toronto, in reference to the Normal School site.

A copy of the resolution passed by the Board of Education agreeing to enlarge the North Ward school, has been sent to Mr. Colquhoun, and Mayor Best expected to hear from that official as to the selection of a site, in which case a special meeting of the council would have been held to-night to deed over the property chosen to the Government.

Up to the time of going to press however no communication had been received, and there will be no meeting of the council to-night.

CONVERSION OF THE TAILORS.

Men Who Were Prosperous Custom Tailors Adopt Semi-Ready Tailoring.

The New York journals published for the custom tailoring trade admit that the Semi-ready system of tailoring has been a serious factor in their trade. They are continually encouraging the members of their profession to get out of the rut and meet this new intruder. Perhaps the best proof of the advantages of Semi-ready tailoring is the fact that of the 55 Semi-ready wardrobes in Canada some 42 are presided over by men who were formerly merchant tailors themselves. As soon as they learned of Semi-ready and visited the big tailor shops in Montreal they accepted the first opportunity to get a Semi-ready agency. Custom tailors who get the agency are the most ardent advocates of the new system. A. W. Cressman, agent for Peterborough.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realise that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

FRIDAY, AUG. 31, 1906.

THE GOLDEN FARM.

The dairying interests of Canada are developing strength every year, and we are coming to make more of our butter. Last year we increased our exports of butter by 2,914,321 pounds, an increase in value of $1,233,009. While the farmers are jubilant over the increased price of cheese this year, they perhaps do not realize what it means in the aggregate. Though we sent to the Old Country about the same bulk of cheese as the previous year, the enhanced price brought a money return greater by $4,126,697. We sent cheese during the year ended June 30, 1906, to the large value of $24,300,908, about $4 for every man woman and child in Canada. Our farms and fields are our greatest gold mines. With 25 millions for cheese, nearly seven millions for butter, nearly twelve millions for bacon, and over thirty millions for wheat, we have in these four chief articles of agricultural production and export, a sum nearly three times as great as our total export of minerals from all our rich mines.

THE PURSUIT OF MR. FIELDING

The Tory tacticians are joyful. They think they have hit on a plan that will cause Hon. Mr. Fielding further annoyance and probably defy business. When the election cry was heard a few weeks ago the personal charges against the Finance Minister were all thrown out. They were so flimsy that it was generally believed that they were introduced for no other purpose than to harass and slander the respondent. But the Tories are finding a use for them and showing that if their dilatoriness in bringing the case to trial was not studied they are at least able to take advantage of it and make it count in the vindictive persecution. They have entered an appeal from the finding dismissing the personal charges, hoping to delay the matter as much as possible in the effort to keep Mr. Fielding out of the House when it meets to consider the tariff. As he has personally conducted the inquiries on which the new legislation will be based, they figure on this causing the Government embarrassment. It is not likely that the small plot will be allowed to succeed. If the matter can be disposed of in time, Mr. Fielding will be in his seat when the House meets; if not, then the session will probably be put off till it is disposed of. Fortunately the country is not suffering for tariff changes, but the action of the Tory cabal shows how diminutive-minded and bitter are the followers of Mr. Borden when they will resort to such methods, which can result in no greater advantage than the glutting of personal vengeance. — Hamilton Times.

STRATFORD'S EXPERIENCE.

Peterborough's experience in municipal ownership in regard to water works is eminently satisfactory, but perhaps municipal ownership and operation is better in water works than in any other utility. At least all share the benefits and cost. But even in water supply it is not winning favour in Stratford. The Beacon says:

The cost for hydrants to the city has enormously increased under municipal ownership. When the water-ical ownership. When the water works were taken over from the Water Supply Company there were only 94 hydrants. This number has been increased to 138, and the rates are the same as paid to the company, viz., $40 per annum for 84 hydrants and $30 for each of the remainder. This reduction of $10 was made by the company for 10 extra hydrants. Under the commission 43 more were added without any further reduction in price, and for the proposed extension of mains 30 more are requisitioned, which would bring the total up to 168, as against the company's 94, and the cost per annum to $5,880, as against $3,060, an increase of $2,220.

Now, an increased number of hydrants does not mean an increase in the cost of the operation of the works. No more water is pumped for 168 hydrants than for 94, so that the expense connected therewith is merely the interest on the investment. The proposed new extension is to cost $18,000. This entails an interest charge at 4 per cent. of $720 per annum, yet the commission ask for 30 hydrants on this extension at a cost of $30 per annum each, or an extra charge of $100 per annum, which is $180 more than the ensire interest charge.

Is this reasonable or just? What would be thought of such a proposition coming from the old Water Supply Company? Wouldn't it be characterized by Mr. Savage and others as an attempt at downright robbery? Yet it is by such financing as this that many municipally-owned plants are made to appear as a perfect god-send to the people.

Verily, municipal ownership is making a brilliant record in Stratford. Water rates increased to the public and the municipal treasury expected to pay the entire interest charges and more for extensions.

Stratford is not likely to make a wild dash to get into the municipal power circle.

Peterborough Boiler And Radiator Company By-law

Has Received Its First and Second Readings by Hastings Council—Company Asks for Bonus of $5,000 and Exemption From Taxation.

The following from the Hastings Star gives some information about the settlement of the Peterborough Boiler and Radiator Company in that town. The bylaw referred to on the last page of the Star is one to authorize the issue of debentures for the purpose of granting a bonus of $5,000 to the company and exemption of the property from taxation:

At a special meeting of the village council on Friday evening the bylaw to grant a bonus to the Peterborough Boiler and Radiator Company, Limited, received its first and second readings. The bylaw is published on the last page of this issue of the Star, and while the agreement between the village and company is not published yet, anyone reading the bylaw will be able to get an insight of the whole transaction. A vote on the bylaw of the qualified electors of the village will be taken on Monday, September 24. If the bylaw receives the necessary number of votes the council will read it a third time and the same will become law.

That the bylaw will not receive a unanimous vote is evident from the way a few of our citizens are opposing it; while some of those who are in favour of the bylaw are a little dubious of the result.

A suggestion has been made that a public meeting be held at which the question could be fully discussed. This would be all right if the electors would attend, but meetings of this kind are not always a success. We would suggest that those wishing to discuss this bylaw do so through the Star during the coming two weeks.

Must Not Furnish Beer To Brewery Workers

O'Keefe & Company Fined $20 and Costs for Allowing Beer to be Consumed on Their Premises.

The custom of breweries giving their employees beer to drink during their working hours received a deadly blow by a decision in the Police Court this morning.

The O'Keefe Brewery Company was fined $20 and costs, or fifteen days, for allowing beer to be consumed on their premises by their employees.

This is illegal for a firm having a wholesale license.

"I admit that the defendants have a wholesale license," said Mr. James Haverson, K.C., who appeared for the defendants, charged with a breach of the liquor law.

"I admit also," went on the lawyer, "that from time immemorial it has been the custom of this firm and others, too, to give their employees three or four glasses every day.

"If this is a legal custom it will be continued; if not, I suppose it must stop."

Acknowledged Guilt.

The magistrate answered the lawyer in the same good-humoured manner, first asking that the statute be read.

Section 63 of the Ontario License Act reads as follows:

"No person having a license to sell by wholesale shall allow any liquors sold by him or in his possession for sale, and for the sale or disposal of which any license is required, to be consumed within his warehouse or shop."

"In that case, I think you are guilty," observed His Worship.

"I think we are," replied Mr. Haverson.

"Then it will not be necessary to call any witnesses," observed the magistrate.

"I was relying on Mr. Haverson for my evidence if there was any dispute as to the facts," said Mr. Corley, laughing.

"That settles brewers giving employees liquor any more," remarked Mr. Haverson, as he left the court.

Help Themselves.

The manager of the Cosgrave Brewery Company said it was the practice in every brewery for employees to get beer.

"How can we stop them?" he asked; "they take it themselves."

"Do you ever give it to them?"

"Oh, yes, but we will have to stop now."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is nothing in journalism quite so partizan as the independent newspaper, and nothing quite so independent as the honestly conducted partizan paper.

MR. WHITNEY WEAKENS.

Brantford Expositor.

The announcement that the Gillies timber limit would be withdrawn from prospecting, and operated by the Provincial Government, was hailed as a marked step in the direction of public ownership. It would appear, however, from an interview held with Mr. Whitney while in England, that he is not at all certain as to the course which will be pursued. In reply to a question as to the Government's intentions in this matter he is thus recorded:

It is impossible to say what we shall do. The facts are that a part of the Gillies timber limit, leased by the Government, is known to contain quantities of the valuable ore. Many of the prospectors set up claims on this land, but as these could not be legally substantiated, the Government have decided for the present to hold it. Whether we shall eventually work it or lease it I cannot yet say.

Just so. As it was with Niagara Falls power, so it is with regard to the Gillies limit, the zeal of the Government for Government operation weakens perceptibly when the time comes for making a practical application.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

One Ingredient of

Zutoo

Is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

The other ingredients of Zutoo are just as harmless.

If you knew what the drug cures contain, and their ultimate effect on the system, you would discard them at once and take Zutoo, which is harmless as Soda.

Isaak Walton Again.

—Two local disciples of Isaak Walton spent a very pleasant day down the river on Monday and were more successful than the majority of other fishermen are just now, coming back with eight beautiful black bass. However one of the eight had to be caught twice. When being lifted out of boat this particular fish made a dash for liberty by jumping into the water. Undaunted one of the sports jumped in after it and captured the beauty for the second time.—Hastings Star.

Campers' Return.

—The campers are beginning to return. Ernest Dallior, Ernest and Fred Parker, arrived home to-day from Sandy Lake, where they have been camping for the last ten days. They had a jolly time, doing their own cooking. They had splendid luck fishing, but all had misfortune to break their poles. They are a very young crowd to go camping, the oldest being but fifteen, and the youngest but seven.

Monarch Ran Down Punt On The River Last Night

Two Occupants Have a Narrow Escape—One Hurled Into the Water But Succeeded in Saving Himself.

Two men in a punt had an exciting adventure on the Otonabee below the boat-house last night, which might have had serious results. They were H. Rands and Wilfrid Skippen, who were showing agile use of the paddle, when the steamer Monarch hove in sight, homeward bound from her Rice Lake trip. The two men did not see the Monarch, and were watching the Water Lily from the bow of their boat. This was a fortunate move, as the steamer crashed into the empty stern and swung it around without doing any damage, whereas if they had remained at the stern their craft would have undoubtedly been sunk. Skippen was hurled into the water, but fortunately was able to swim, and succeeded in getting back into the punt, which was uninjured by the collision. The steamer reversed as soon as the small craft was struck.

Citizens Will Ask For Free Postal Delivery

Petitions Will be Circulated Throughout the City—They Must Show Postmaster-General That They Are In Earnest.

Peterborough is on a fair road to obtaining a free postal delivery. Ald. McWilliams has brought the matter into prominence and it remains now with the citizens to determine whether the project will be carried out. A unanimous decision was reached last night at the Manufactures' Committee meeting to prepare a petition asking the Post Master General to grant this to the city.

Ald. McWilliams in bringing the matter before the Committee thought there would be little difficulty in obtaining the free delivery at present. All the cities in the province larger that ours has it and it is Peterborough's turn now. Three years ago, he said, Sir Wm. Mulock had refused it but he believed if the citizens showed they were really in earnest for the inauguration of the new idea they would easily get it. He had been speaking to Mr. Hall, member for West Peterborough, who was taking the matter up in parliament in co-operation with Windsor, which was after the same.

Ald. Ball thought it would be popular and that nine-tenths of the population would sanction it.

Ald. Tovey also considered it a good suggestion.

The Mayor said that the only way to do was to get a petition and leave a copy in the different factories and see that they were signed. Acting on this suggestion it was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Tovey, that petitions be prepared and circulated among the citizens, asking the Post Master General to grant a free postal delivery to Peterborough.—Carried.

Sacrilege In Norwood Church

Were After the Change But Found None.

Some miscreants on Tuesday of last week entered the Methodist church and cut open the doors of the library in the Sunday school room with a jack knife, in the hope, no doubt, of securing the little bit of change belonging to the Sunday school that might be there. In this, however, they were disappointed, as the coffers were empty. It seemed they then began a search for other articles of value that might be in the sacred edifice. They went through the place from cellar to choir loft, tramping over the pulpit chairs with their dirty boots. They broke a piece off the bottom of the thermometer, turned the clock upside down and pulled the electric wires part way out of the organ. The only articles missing, so far as can be ascertained, are a few volumes out of the library, which it is hoped the culprits will read and derive some benefit.—Norwood Register.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with a headache since."—Mr. O. Barber.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The appearance of Lillian Spencer here, at the Grand, on Thursday next, Sept. 6th., for the first time as a star, in the charming comic opera success, "Dolly Varden," is being heralded as an important event, theatrically, on account of the splendid reputation this attraction has made so far this season, and is making in other cities. From the excerpts from newspaper critics in other parts of the country, it is to be expected that local music lovers, and patrons of the best class of attractions, may look for a veritable treat in this presentation.

The title role of "Dolly Varden" is one of the most unique and satisfying characterizations ever conceived by a writer of comic opera librettos. It combines with the usual requisites of a stellar role, a very strong vein of comedy—one, in fact, that would be above the limitations of the ordinary prima donna. The portrayer of this part must be, beside a singer and an artist, a born comedienne, for it contains some of the brightest comedy lines and ludicrous incidents ever allotted to a dainty femenine character in comic opera.

That Lillian Spencer is most happily suited to this exacting part is not doubted by those who saw and enjoyed her charming portrayal of Angela in "Florodora" at the New Theatre, or her success in the cast with Lillian Russell in "Lady Teazle." Milton and Sargent Aborn, who are the managerial sponsors for her present starring tour, have surrounded her with an admirably selected cast of operatic favourites, it is said, and are using the entire magnificent equipment of dainty and artistic costumes and splendid scenic settings seen in Lulu Glaser's presentation of "Dolly Varden."

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Aug. 31.—Developments to-day operated for irregularity. The news of the Bryan speech, etc., had the effect of causing considerable realizing. This seemed to have been well taken, for when money raised up, expected because of the carriage till Tuesday, the list became strong without pressure of stock, and gradually rose. It is evident that the unfavourable monetary conditions of the immediate future, including the bank statement have been discounted. The dullness on declines shows this. The trading was restricted to-day on account of the Monday holiday, which gave excuse for many operators to leave for a short vacation. The floor had the market most of the time, but whenever shorts attempted to cover not much stock was forthcoming, neither will it until the banking interests desire to sell, for they control a majority of the floating supply. The closing was extremely dull.

VERDICT OF A JURY.

Condemns System of Signalling and Despatching on Radial.

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—The jury which investigated the circumstances of the death of Alfred S. Barnes, the motorman who was fatally injured in a head-on collision near the canal Saturday, brought in the following verdict last night:

"We find that Alfred S. Barnes came to his death as the result of a collision between cars, and we condemn the system of signalling and despatching of cars on the radial road and would recommend that the obstruction to the motorman's vision at this point be removed."

Collision at King.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A freight train, south bound, running at 30 miles an hour, hit an open switch and crashed into a standing train of cars near King station early yesterday. The engineer and fireman jumped and the locomotive was derailed and almost buried in a bog alongside the track. Five cars were overturned, three of them bottom up.

"Alberta Giant" Dead.

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 29.—James Riddell, an old-timer, and brother of Lieut. Riddell of the Strathcona Horse and W. R. Riddell, K. C., of Toronto, died yesterday. The deceased was the giant of Alberta, and stood six feet ten. His death was unexpected. He was doing business on Saturday.

Had a Bad Leg.

"For twelve years I was a great sufferer from eczema on the inside of the leg. There was a raw patch of flesh about three inches square, and the itching was something fearful. Dr. Chase's Ointment completely cured me, took away the itching and healed up the sore." — Mr. Alexander McDougall, Postmasteer, Broad Cove Marsh, N. S.

Newest Fancies In Footgear.

Women seem to have gone mad on the subject of shoes this season, their requirements being beyond those of a well shod centiped. Of course they must have shoes to match each gown, but the newest fancies in this line are summery looking canvas pumps with white so called pin stripes of different colors to "go" with duck or linen skirts. The stripes, the flat bow on the toe and the narrow binding about the top correspond in color. They come in varying shades, and it must be admitted they set off the immaculate whiteness of the skirt and lingerie blouse. Generally a tie and belt of the same shade as the stripes in the shoe are worn.

Board Of Works Attend To Many Matters

Deputation Waited on the Board Regarding Edinburgh Street Extension and Sidewalk Construction—New Crossing for Charlotte Street at Corner of Bethune—Grand Trunk Will Not Object to George Street Extension Over Their Tracks.

The Board of Works of the City Council met last night in the City Clerk's office, and dealt with a large number of matters, none of which were of vital importance to the city. The question of the extension of Edinburgh street and the erection of a new sidewalk on Water street opposite the Goose Pond, was probably the most important.

There were present Chairman Hicks, Ald. Graham, Duncan, Johnston, Elliott, Adams and McIntyre.

A petition was received for a granolithic sidewalk on south side of Sherbrooke street from Aylmer street to the creek. This was sufficiently signed. It was suggested that it be done when the working men reached there but Ald. Johnston here made an objection to the construction of those sidewalks petitioned for recently in preference to those asked for a long time ago. This was the general belief of the committee and the matter was referred to the engineer.

A letter was read from the City Engineer stating he had prepared plans for the cutting down of the grade on Dickson street and that the cost would amount to about $215.

Moved by Ald. Graham and Johnston, that notice be given for the carrying out of the work.—Carried.

A communication was read from the tax and land agent of the Grand Trunk in reference to the extension of George street south, over the G. T. R tracks. The Company had no objections to this and the matter will be discussed with the superintendent.

A letter was received from Mr. John Riddell, asking for a crossing on Homewood avenue. This was left in the hands of the City Engineer and as it is much needed it will be looked after at once.

A petition from residents on McDonel street was read, asking that the sidewalk be placed on the outside of the tree line between Waton and Dickson streets. This was left on motion of Ald. Johnston and Elliott, in the hands of the Engineer.

For Street Extension.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Jas. Middleton and Jas. Stubbs in possession of a petition signed by a large number of ratepayers asking that Edinburgh street from George to Water be opened.

The Chairman thought the matter ought to be referred to the Council for consideration first.

Mr. Middleton said the owners of proeprty there had increased the value of it during the past year some $12,000, and thought the least the City could do was to open it as soon as possible. He also referred to the necessity of removing the elevated sidewalk on Water street opposite the goose pond and filling in the large hole there and of building a new sidewalk.

Mr. Stubbs was also heard with reference to the matter and said that the sidewalk ought to be built as soon as possible—even before the street was extended. He had purchased three lots in that vicinity and as well as many others, would like to see the hole filled up and the sewer pipes covered.

Ald. Johnston suggested that the Chairman and Engineer look into the question of opening Edinburgh street and fixing the sidewalk and sewer and made a motion to this effect. The matter will therefore be looked into and a report with regard to building a sidewalk will be presented to the Council at its next meeting.

Albert Street Extension.

Ald. McWilliams called attention to Albert street which does not run out to the boundary. A couple of gentlemen who have purchased lots there would, he said, like to have this street opened and they would be quite willing to do all they can in promoting this scheme. This was referred to the Engineer.

Charlotte Street Crossing.

Ald. McIntyre referred to the unsatisfactory condition of the crossing on the north side of Charlotte street on Bethune street. Many complaints, he said, were made and people were in danger of injuring themselves there.

The Chairman said that this was to have been done before and he would see that it is fixed at once.

Presented With Pretty Gold Pin

Miss Beryl Carton Honoured by Her Sunday School Classmates.

A picnic, coupled with a presentation, was the attraction which took the young ladies of Miss Edgar's Sunday School class of George street church out to Jackson Park yesterday. The presentation was made to Miss Beryl Carton, one of the most popular young ladies of the class, who left this morning to take a course of training as nurse in the St. John's Hospital, New York.

The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in games and other amusements, and a delightful picnic repast was partaken of in the shadow of the pines. During the afternoon Miss Edgar, on behalf of herself and class, presented Miss Carton with a very handsome gold pin.

Stony Lake, Aug. 30. — The recent defeat of the motor boat, Rochester jr., is causing considerable amusement among the Stony Lake visitors. The Majestic is the oldest steamer on the lake and was regarded by many as the slowest. It was a case of the survival of the fittest, and the old Majestic carried off the laurels in fine style. The gearing of the motor boat was entirely ruined and had to be replaced before it could be used again. Great credit is due the crew of the Majestic, Captain Young says the Majestic is ready for any more "fast ones" who care to try.

Proposition Of Steel Co. Will Be Considered

At Next Meeting of the Council—Company Ask for Bonus of $6000 and Siding Right-of-Way.

The Peterborough Steel Rolling Mills Company which is among those looking for a site to locate in Peterborough providing an agreement can be come to with the City Council, was the subject of a great deal of discussion at the Manufactures' Committee meeting last night. A meeting of the council will be held in the near future and their proposition will then be considered.

The Chairman brought the subject before the Committee, stating that the Company were anxious to obtain a site and begin work at once. He had been unable, he said, to get the Mayor to call a meeting of the Council so that the consideration of the question had been delayed.

The Mayor said he expected a communication from Mr. Colquohoun today respecting the Normal School site and if received, the Council would meet to-night; if not Tuesday night would be the next available date.

Ald. McWilliams explained that the Steel Company are asking for a bonus of $6,000 and a right of way for a siding. They need 5 acres of land for the building which must be near the river or lake. Several sites had been looked over, he said, but nothing had been finally decided upon.

Courts Were Consolidated

Court Chemong No. 530 and Companion Queen Court Unite.

Last night at the meeting of Court Chemong, No. 530, I.O.F., all arrangements were completed for the consolidation of the two courts — Companion Queen and Chemong. Mr. C. N. Brown of Belleville, inspector of organizers for Eastern Ontario, was present, and put through the consolidation.

A large number were present at the meeting, showing the interest taken in the work, the chair being occupied by Chief Ranger David Wallace.

Another matter of importance decided was the election of three medical physicians as examiners as in former years. Dr. Greer was elected the Court's physician for the balance of the year and Drs. Carmichael and McKinnon as examiners.

MANY PICNICS AT JACKSON PARK

Although one would think the picnic season about over, it did not look at all like it at Jackson Park yesterday afternoon. Two Sunday school classes gathered there and there were several private picnic parties on the ground as well. The people who don't go away to the summer resorts have found the park a delightful place to spend the afternoon and evening. Despite the fact that the band was not present, the crowd was large last night, and the pictures greatly enjoyed.

Brinton Company's Carpets Are Attracting Attention

Display at Toronto Exhibition is Being Greatly Admired —Some Costly and Artistic Carpets on View.

The display of carpets manufactured by the Brinton Carpet Company is attracting a lot of attention at the Toronto Exhibition. They are similar to the carpets which will be manufactured by the company at their factory in this city. The Toronto Star says, commenting upon the exhibit:

One of the best carpet displays ever seen in Canada is to be found at the exhibit of the Brinton Carpet Company in the Manufacturers' Building. This company has just established a factory at Peterborough, Ont., and is the offspring of the famous Brintons, Limited, Kidderminster, England. One of the handsomest features of this costly exhibit is a beautiufl Kildare hand-tufted carpet, 10 feet 8 inches by 14 feet, of the period of Louis XIV. It is woven in reseda green, with a gold border, the whole making a very rich effect. Another fine sample is that of a Louis XV. Regina Axminster, which represents the quality to be manufactured at Peterborough. The whole display is most artistically arranged.

RETURN OF PETERBOROUGHS' MUSICAL ARTIST.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who has been in Europe for the past few months, returns about the middle of September. Mrs. Morrow has been studying under the finest European teachers, and returns with credentials from her teachers, which place her in the foremost rank of teachers in Canada.

Mrs. Morrow's ability as a teacher is well known to the people of Peterborough, and after having been instructed further by eminent European artists, who cannot but anticipate good results from her pupils, who should look forward to her return and embrace the opportunity of studying under such a talented artist.

Pupils will kindly forward their names as soon as possible so that hours can be satisfactorily arranged, as her classes in vocal as well as instrumental music, will be even larger than last year. Studio, 437 Brock street. 6d50

Grand Opera House Opens Sept. 6th

Theatrical News of Interest to Local People.

The Grand Opera House will open for the season on Thursday next, September 6th, when Strange & Edwards Operatic Comedy success, "Dolly Varden," will be presented. The opening is not on Wednesday, as previously announced. Improvements have been made to the interior of the house, which will be found in splendid shape on the opening night.

The standing "ad." of the opera house for this season will be found always at the top of the first page. There the announcements of coming attractions will be presented.

It is interesting to note that three of the original company who were with Lulu Glaser when she created the part of "Dolly Varden," will be with the company next week. They are Klara Farm, J. H. Wallenstedt and W. H. May.

Rapid Tool Company Will Locate Here

Manufacturers' Committee and Company Agree Upon Terms—Site Will be Ultimator Property, East City—An Important Establishment—Company Will Spend Nearly $20,000 Before the Factory is Ready for Operation.

It is now an assured fact that the Rapid Tool Company recently formed in Peterborough by Peterborough by Peterborough capitalists, will locate here.

This was one of the many important questioned discussed by the Manufacturers' Committee last night the outcome of which was that a bylaw will be framed and submitted to the city council for their ratification.

The company has been negotiating for a considerable time to come to an agreement with the city council respecting the terms of location, and last night the Manufacturers' Committee were quite agreeable to the conditions proposed.

The site upon which the Rapid Tool Company's works will be situated will probably be the old Ultimator property in East City, just across the Hunter street bridge, upon which they have secured an option. The new industry will be a very important one for Peterborough, as it will give employment to twenty-five men, all of whom will be skilled mechanics

A deputation waited on the committee, composed of Messrs. W. S. Davidson, Wm. Rudkins, G. L. Hay, and E. B. Fowler, and named the conditions upon which they would agree to locate here

The members of the Manufacturers' Committee present were Messrs. McWilliams, chairman; Hicks, Tovey, Adams, McIntyre, and Mayor Best.

The chairman in opening the question, read a letter containing the company's terms, the chief of which were that they were willing to accept a bonus of $2000 for a site and a fixed assessment for ten years.

Other Offers Made.

Mr. Davidson, the spokesman, then gave some facts about the work which will be done by the ompany. The company was incorporated, he said, for the purpose of manufacturtools, augur bits, etc, and at the time the incorporation was published in the Gazette he had heard from several places asking for the privilege of location. Many of these towns had offered better terms than the company had requested from Peterborough, but they were anxious to erect their plant here.

Skilled Workmen Only.

They had an option on a lot — the old Ultimator property across the river — which would be suitable for them. The building would require improvements amounting to about $1000, and other buildings, costing at least $2000, would have to be erected. Twenty-five skilled workmen would be employed, within six months after the plant was in operation, at an average wage of $2.50 per day. Fifteen are already engaged at $3 each per day. All kinds of auger bits on the market for general purposes will be manufactured, the same as are made by United States firms.

Will Spend $20,000.

A building 75 feet x 40 feet will have to be immediately erected, costing, together with machinery and all necessary appliances, in the neighbourhood of $20,000. The site on which they proposed to build contained 60 feet of a frontage by 278 feet deep, which can be purchased for about $1200. The company asked for a bonus to cover the cost of this land, together with a fixed assessment for ten years.

At present the greater portion of auger bits used in Canada come from the United States, as there is but one company in Canada—that in Montreal—manufacturing them. Undoubtedly their manufacture here would be a great benefit to Canadians, as the cost of this extensively used tool would be lessened.

The committee, including the Mayor, were anxious to have the Rapid Tool Company settle in Peterborough, and were favourable to the proposition.

Moved by Ald. Adams and Tovey, that the matter be referred to the City Solicitor to prepare a bylaw immediately. — Carried.

Council Will Issue Pamphlets

To Advertise the Resources of the City on the Continent.

Negotiations are now on foot to have pamphlets issued displaying the industrial conditions of the city. This was a question which the Manufactures' Committee spent some time considering last night and it is only a question of time when these pamphlets will be distributed among the leading manufacturing concerns on the continent and in Great Britain.

These books will be confined strictly to business with a view to impressing upon large concerns the desirability of locating here and will therefore only contain a description of the resources of the city and notes on the manufacturing establishments with illustrations.

Ald. McWilliams suggested that a good plan to follow in editing the book would be first, to show Peterborough's position in Ontario, second, her canals, railway connections, summer resorts and markets; third, the waterpowers. As illustrations he suggested a skeleton map of the city showing the building developments, cuts of factories, etc.

Considerable discussion as to the size and appearance of the pamphlet arose and it was decided to leave these conditions in the hands of a committee to decide upon. A motion by Ald. Hicks and Tovey, that the Chairman, the City Clerk and Ald. Adams be a committee to decide on the size and appearance of the book, cost, etc.—Carried.

THE POWER OF STEAM

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

Primary Class Had Enjoyable Outing

Little Folks of George Street Entertained by Their Teachers.

The members of the primary class of the George street Methodist Sunday School were very pleasantly entertained by their teachers at a picnic at Jackson Park yesterday afternoon.

A large number of little folks was present, and many mothers also spent the afternoon in the park. The children enjoyed a round trip on the street cars before going to the park. Then games and singing were indulged in and the time passed very enjoyably. The amusements included a ride on the ocean wave, an experience that was a treat to the little folks. Tea partaken of in picnic fashion was heartily enjoyed. Some of the little ones finished the day by viewing the moving pictures. The outing was voted a decided success, and the members of the class would willingly picnic at Jackson Park with the weather and other conditions as favourable as they were yesterday. The teachers who arranged the affair and who did everything in their power to give their pupils an enjoyable time were Miss Lewis, Mrs. Little, Miss Lumsden and Miss Armstrong.

57th Band Taken For Life Guard Musicians

Added to Their Laurels at Toronto Exhibition Yesterday—Quarter-Master Sergt. Edwards' Amusing Experience.

The 57th Regiment Band under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, added to its laurels yesterday when they gave two concerts at the Toronto Exhibition. The band was up to full strength and according to Peterborough people who heard them perform, have never played betetr. Their concerts were heard by thousands of people and the numbers were heartily applauded, the band's playing arousing the admiration of the crowd. They gave a concert from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon and another in the evening between 6.30 and 8.30. The band was, by not a few of the crowd, taken for the Second Life Guards, a fact which caused the 57th boys considerable amusement.

In this connection Quarter-Master Sergt. Edwards has a funny story to tell. The sergeant accompanied the band in uniform and during the afternoon concert was near the stand when a man came along and entered into conversation with him. "How do you like this country?" was the first question he asked Q. M. S. Edwards. The gallant sergeant was somewhat surprised but managed to answer "You have a fine country here."

The man, who it afterwards transpired came from Sault Ste. Marie, asked all kinds of questions about the Mother Country, inquiring among other things, as to how the Toronto Exhibition compared with that at Glasgow. Sergt. Edwards managed to answer them but he had to keep his shoulder turned away for fear the "57" would be noticed. Other people made the same mistake and thought they were listening to the Life Guards Band, an unconscious tribute to the good appearance and good playing of Peterborough's crack organization.

The majority of the band returned to the city last night, a few remaining over until Monday night.

Debentures To Be Issued For Providing Money

To the Amount of $14,000 for Erection of County Bridges—Grant Asked for the Fair—Applicants for Management of New House of Refuge--Floating Bridge at Chemong Defective--Councillors Attended Funeral of Late W. B. Kelly.

A special meeting of the County Council was convened in the Court House this morning. The chief business of the sitting was to give effect to a bylaw to provide for the issuing of debentures to the amount of $14,000 for the purpose of constructing bridges in the County of Peterborough. A considerable amount of other important business also received the attention of the Council.

The Warden, Mr. Thos. J. Johnston, took the chair at 10.30 o'clock.

The members present were Messrs. Webster, Moloney, Stinson, Garbutt, Peck, Shaw, Menogue, Buck and Andrews.

The clerk read the minutes of the last regular meeting, which were, on motion, confirmed.

Communications.

A communication from A. W. Elliott was read, in reference to the supply of wood for the Court House, etc.—Referred.

A communication from Mr. F. J. A. Hall, secretary of the Peterborough Industrial Fair, was read, asking the Council for a grant on behalf of the Exhibition.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Applications Received.

Applications were received from Mr. Henry Beavis, of Douro, and Mr. Wilbert A. Elliott, of Lakehurst, for the position of manager of the new House of Refuge.

The Warden stated that he had also received several other applications for this position since the Council last met. He thought it advisable that something should be done at this session to have all applicants notified as to the duties of the position. The building would be ready, according to contract, by the 1st of September, and the matter should be considered carefully.—Laid over until afternoon session.

Old Floating Bridge.

Mr. O'Leary, caretaker of the Chemong bridge, wrote informing the Council that people were still using the old floating bridge, and that heavy threshing engines, etc., had recently passed over. Mr. O'Leary thought there was danger in continuing to use this bridge, and had cautioned parties, but was told that it was a public highway and that if councillors did not object, he need not.

Councillor Stinson made an explanation. He said that as to parties who had spoken to him about crossing the old bridge, he distinctly told them they could do so only at their own risk.

Mr. Belcher, the engineer, was referred to in regard to this matter. He stated that this bridge should never be used to convey any heavy traffic, and that even trotting horses across the bridge had been prohibited. It was never intended that a heavy threshing outfit, weighing eight tons, should be allowed to cross, as it loosened all the bolts, pins and nuts, and would be a very dangerous proceeding, besides. He thought the Council should take action to prevent the bridge being used, as he felt sure there would be an accident some time which might make the Council liable for damages.

On motion of Councillor Shaw, the matter was referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

The Late W. B. Kelly.

Councillor Garbutt referred to the death of the late W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, and stated that as he had been so long and so intimately associated with the affairs of the county, he felt that the Council should adjourn to pay the last mark of respect to deceased. He moved that when the members of this Council adjourn at noon they attend the funeral of the late Mr. Kelly in a body this afternoon at 2 o'clock.—Carried.

The Junk By-law.

County Solicitor Peck, who had prepared a bylaw to regulate the junk business in the County of Peterborough, laid the bylaw before the Council.

On motion of Councillor Shaw, the Council went into Committee of the Whole, when the bylaw received its several readings and was passed. Council then adjourned.

Proceeds Of The Guelph Excursion

Secretary Wm. Collins Divides the Proceeds.

Mr. Chas. O'Reilly, secretary-treasurer of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute has just received a cheque from Mr. William Collins, of Peterborough, for $50.70, being one-third of the net receipts of the union excursion to Guelph, held in June, under the auspices of the East and West Peterborough and West Durham Farmers' Institutes. The amount received from the G.T.R. was $224.60, which after deducting expenses, $72.50, left $152.10 to be divided between the three institutes.—Norwood Register.

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exactly correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

CRACK-BRAINED CALLERS.

Royal Palaces Have a Singular Attraction For Lunatics—Posed as "Wolsey's Double"—Often a "Scene."

Next to the Home Office the most shining mark for lunatics is a royal palace, which has a singular attraction for them. They merely write to Whitehall, but when their erratic thoughts turn towards Windsor Castle, Buckingham Palace, or any other royal residence, nothing short of a personal visit to it will satisfy them. Half the occupation of the police at royal palaces would be gone were some effectual method discovered of keeping them at a suitable distance.

Remoteness is not protection whatever against people with a bee in their bonnet, as is proved by the circumstance that lunatics used to turn up very frequently at Balmoral and Osborne. Once an impatient pilgrim to Cowes jumped from a steamer soon after it had left Portsmouth and struck out for the opposite shore. When he was fished out of the water he explained that the boat was not going fast enough and that he had purposed to hurry on to the Isle of Wight. Guessing his object, the captain communicated with the police immediately on reaching Cowes, with the result that the man was promptly placed under detention. Another lunatic walked every yard of the way from London to Balmoral, which he reached in high jubilation. As, however, a telegram had preceded him, he was at once taken charge of and ultimately restored to his friends. So aloofness is no barrier to lunatics.

Nor is the absence of royalty altogether a preventive of the visits of these afflicted mortals. When, for instance, the ghost at Hampton Court last came under public notice, a wild, haggard-looking individual prowled about the historic pile, informing all who listened to him that the restless spook was that of his wife.

"Why," ejaculated an elderly dame, "I always thought it was Lady Jane Grey, poor dear!"

"Precisely," he replied with much complacency. "I'm Lord Grey!"

Some years ago, again, a frequent visitor to Hampton was a man who prided himself on his (entirely imaginary) resemblance to Wolsey. He always carried about with him a small modern portrait of the cardinal's portrait, which he invariably pulled out to clinch his argument that he was the great man's "double." As a fact, he was no more like him than Mr. Beerbohm Tree is like the late Mr. W. E. Gladstone.

At present Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle are powerful lodestones to the insane, some of whom are generally near them. One of the strangest visitors Buckingham Palace has ever had was a soldier with a grievance against the War Office. At one time a captain in an infantry regiment, he used to get himself up in a singular garb—black undress military suit and white campaigning shako, with two white satchels at his side—and carry an enormous broom, which apparently had some symbolical significance. At first he haunted Pall Mall and then Buckingham Palace, subsequently appearing in front of the House of Commons. One day he was missed, and he has never been seen since.

And strange indeed are many of the stories of demented folk who journey to Windsor. One man announced that the King had sent for him to manage an emigration scheme to Canada, another that he forbade the marriage of Princess Ena and the King of Spain another that he had discovered a plot to kill King Edward, and so on. Often such crack-brained visitors bring with them letters or petitions of the wildest and most incoherent character. On one occasion a man displayed his "claim"—an enormous roll—immediately he alighted from the train, declaring that he was going to present it at the castle forthwith.

"But the King is not there," one of his chance confidantes remarked. "He's on the continent."

"H'm! Very annoying!" exclaimed the newcomer. "I told him I would be here, too."

"Yes," assented the man soothingly, "but, you know, state business is sometimes very pressing."

Admitting the truth of this proposition, the lunatic said that he would come down later, and left by the next train. But he was not seen again.

More recently a gentleman who was traveling to Windsor was rather startled by a fellow-passenger's question. A restless individual opposite him asked whether petitions to the King should be written in red or black ink.

"Black, I should think, but it may be red," he answered cautiously.

"I'm right," went on the man, "I've done it both in black and red"; and then he relapsed again into silence.

Of course, there have been many exciting scenes at the castle, some of them created by men only temporarily insane at most. There was one not long since, and the disturber—who not only made the usual harebrained statements, but refused to leave the castle and struck a constable—was taken to the workhouse, where he was kept for a short time. The doctor, however, was unable to certify that he was insane. In fact, some of the police at the castle have had many singular encounters with lunatics or people presumably such, and are now experts in a way in dealing with the insane in general.

Bleeding Piles Cured

—after Years of Suffering.

Miracle-days may be past—but the day of saving people from suffering is ever-present.

What is more distressing than Itching, Bleeding Piles? Some say the only cure is the knife. We say, operations are unnecessary. Read this letter:

"For years I had Piles, which protruded and bled freely. The itching pain was sometimes almost unbearable. Often I suffered so severely it was next to impossible to remain on duty. It was a hardship to walk. I tried many remedies, but with poor success.

"This winter, in New York—at the Bench Show—I suffered greatly—was almost compelled to remain in my room. I tried several remedies—without relief.

"On my return home, Mira Ointment was advised. I used it. In only a short time, all the irritation and pain ceased. I can now walk with ease and attend my duties as a member of the Fire Department.

"I strongly recommend Mira Ointment to anyone suffering from this annoying complaint.

Progressive Conundrum That Could Be Worked Out Two Ways.

"Miss Gracie," he said, with an engaging smile, "did you ever try your hand at one of these progressive conundrums?"

"What are progressive conundrums, Mr. Spoonamore?" inquired the young lady.

"Haven't you heard of them? Here is one: Why is a ball of yarn like the letter 't'? Because a ball of yarn is circular, a circular is a sheet, a sheet is a flat, a flat is $50 a month, $50 a month is dear, a deer is swift, a swift is a swallow, a swallow is a taste, a taste is an inclination, an inclination is an angle, an angle is a point, a point is an object aimed at, an object aimed at is a target, a target is a mark, a mark is an impression, an impression is a stamp, a stamp is a thing stuck on, a thing stuck on is a young man in love, and a young man in love is like the letter 't' because he stands before 'u,' Miss Gracie."

"I don't think you have the answer quite right," said the young lady.

"A ball of yarn is round, a round is a steak, a stake is a wooden thing, a wooden thing is a young man in love, and a young man in love is like the letter 't' because, Mr. Spoonamore—and she spoke clearly and distinctly—"because he is often crossed."

The young man understood. He took his hat and his progressive conundrums and vanished from Miss Gracie Garlinghouse's alphabet forever.—Pearson's.

BLENDING SPIRITS.

Curious Results Obtained by Mixing Whisky and Water.

Some curious results are shown by blending of spirits. Take nineteen and one-quarter gallons of high proof spirits and add twenty-two and one-fourth gallons of water, and, strange to say, you have forty gallons, and not forty-one and one-half, as one would naturally suppose. This is reasonably explained by the large globules of the spirit absorbing the small globules of water, thereby lessening the volume of wine gallons.

Here is another phenomenon: Take equal parts of whisky and water, each at a temperature of 70 degrees F. Mix them and the temperature rises at once to 80 degrees.

If two barrels of whisky are placed under a roof, one with the bung in and the other with it out, the former will gain in proof, while the latter will lose. This is due to the fact that when the bung is in there is no evaporation, but the barrel absorbs the water much faster than it does the whisky. When the bung is out there is evaporation, and the spirit evaporates easier than the water.

These are a few of the facts the old rectifier who can neither read nor write has gathered in fifty years of experience as a cellar man. He keeps trace of his liquors by their marks, and, strange to say, he can read his gauges and thermometers with accuracy and is curious and exact in his knowledge of chemistry as applying to his trade.

Greek Palate Ticklers.

As delicacies the Greeks ate young foxes caught in the autumn, robins and sparrows and certain kinds of fish snared by moonlight. There is a scrap of an old Greek comedy in which a cook boasts of frying a fish so exquisitely that it threw him grateful looks from the pan. A famous Greek dish was the Trojan pig, half of it boiled and the other half roasted. It was stuffed with eggs, ortolans and thrushes. The Romans ate snails—giant monsters—fattened until their shells held an incredible amount of snail. The kettle in a high class Roman kitchen was often shaped like an elephant's head. The water was poured through the trunk. The gridiron might be a huge silver spider or a skeleton fish.

The Horses' Inferno.

"Paris is the inferno of horses" is a very old aphorism. French cabmen and carters have in general very little love for the horse. Many consider this wretched quadruped as a simple tool, a motor with four feet, rather than as a precious servant worthy of regard and consideration. Not a day passes in the capital without one witnessing revolting brutality, often coupled with real stupidity.

Not Responsible.

Workman—Mr. Brown, I should like to ask you for a small raise in my wages. I have just been married. Employer—Very sorry, my dear man, but I can't help you. For accidents which happen to our workmen outside of the factory the company is not responsible.

THE SANDS O' DEE.

"Oh, Mary, go and call the cattle home,
And call the cattle home,
And call the cattle home,
Across the sands o' Dee.
The western wind was wild and dark with foam,
And all alone went she.

The western tide crept up along the sand,
And o'er and o'er the sand,
And round and round the sand,
As far as eye could see,
The rolling mist came down and hid the land;
And never home came she.

"Oh! is it weed, or fish, or floating hair—
A tress of golden hair,
A drowned maiden's hair,
Above the nets at sea?"
Was never salmon yet that shone so fair
Among the stakes o' Dee.

They rowed her in across the rolling foam,
The cruel, hungry foam,
To her grave beside the sea.
But still the boatmen hear her call the cattle home,
Across the sands o' Dee.

—Charles Kingsley.

STORIES OF THE KING.

That Turf Story and Project For Disposal of Balmoral.

Two pieces of news, writes the Marquise de Fontenoy, concerning King Edward are likely to prove of interest. The one is the issue of a denial by his private secretary, Lord Knollys, of the story widely printed to the effect that he was about to retire from the turf. Lord Knollys' letter is dated from Buckingham Palace, July 14. I mentioned, a couple of weeks ago, in calling attention to the new policy inaugurated by the jockey club at its recent meeting, that the King's success in at length defeating the reactionary element of the club would be likely to modify any intention he may have entertained at one moment of withdrawing from the turf, intentions that have been widely discussed in the press, both at home and abroad. The prediction, therefore, contained in this column has been fulfilled.

The other bit of news about the King is his project to turn over Balmoral to the Prince of Wales. The latter is fond of Balmoral, and frequently visits it for the sake of salmon fishing, which is excellent there. Moreover, the climate agrees with him, and with his wife and children, quite as much as it did with the late Queen Victoria. On the other hand, the climate does not suit the health either of the King or of the present queen. When Queen Alexandra goes to Scotland she usually stays, not at Balmoral, but at Mar lodge, with the Duke and Duchess of Fife, which to her is much more congenial and comfortable.

King Edward finds Balmoral not only bleak and damp, but, above all, gloomy and lonely, and now that he can no longer indulge in the fatiguing deerstalking expeditions of which he was formerly so fond, time hangs rather heavily on his hands at Balmoral, and he remains there for as short a time as possible. In fact, I do not suppose he has lived there more than three weeks in the year since he has been on the throne. He prefers Sandringham, Windsor, London, and places abroad.

Moreover, the family of the Prince and Princess of Wales has now become too numerous for Abergeldie Castle, the Highland home which was put at their disposal at the time of their marriage. They need a bigger establishment, and as King Edward cannot, by the terms of his mother's will, sell Balmoral, or transfer it to the Government, as he did in the case of Osborne (now used as a convalescent home for naval and military officers, and as a naval academy), he proposes to turn it over to his only son, whose presence there with his wife and children during a part of the year will relieve, in a measure, the King from the ill-will which he would arouse north of the Tweed were he, after deserting Balmoral, to shut it up as a source of useless expense.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Sportsman Scores The Driver Of Orillia Belle

Says Combination Was Entered Into Between the Two Powells at Dufferin Park and Tim Alert Belongs to Cook.

The Canadian Sportsman refering to Peterborough men and horses makes statements, which are not, as far as information supplied the Examiner goes, founded on fact. Mr. Chas. Martin informed the Examiner that Tim Alert belonged to him and not to Cook, as stated in the following article:—

The success of the meeting at Dufferin Park would have been assured if, on the first day, in the opening race, George Powell had been taken off his sulky and heavily fined for his tricky conduct. A prompt, decisive ruling given on the spot would have satisfied every man present, because it would have been accepted as an official declaration that the judges knew their duty, had their eyes wide open, and were prepared to act firmly in punishing all rascally work.

A combination was entered into between the two Powels in the 2.20 pace Tim Alert was entered under the name of C. Martin, Peterborough; George Powell named and drove Orillia Belle in that race. The combination played Tim Alert in the pool-box to win, and George Powell's duty therefore was to hold back Orilia Belle and finish in second place. The driving of Orillia Belle was one of the worst pieces of strong-arm work seen on the track for many a day. She was almost pulled to a standstill twice to insure the winning of Tim Alert, but all the judges did was to look on and say nothing. This allowed the gang to carry out their scheme and draw a considerable amount of money out of the pool-box.

The next question in connection with this race is, who is the owner of Tim Alert? We are informed on good authority that he is the property of a man named Cook living at Peterborough, who, at the present time is under suspension, and therefore has no right to start a horse on any Association track. The person in whose name the horse was entered is a young fellow used for the occasion, who is stated to have no interest whatever in the animal. These facts are said to have been known to James Powell who drove the horse, and also to George Powell. The man Cook, who had no right to be on the track, was there on the day of the race, and profited largely by the successful scheme that was played. The Association heard that evening that Cook had been present, and next day they had a party stationed at the gate, who, upon his arrival refused to allow him admission to the track. He thereupon expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied, as he had got away with the game the day before and had no further interest in the races.

Rugby Prospects Are Very Bright

Senior Ranks for Peterboros' is the Opinion Advanced.

Prospects for rugby in Peterborough this year are exceedingly bright and from present indications the team will be fully as strong as last year. That the Peterborough team will be found in the senior ranks of the O.R.F.U. this season seems certain, judging by the opinions expressed by some of the most prominent officers and players of the club. There is plenty of material and Peterborough will no doubt make this interesting for the best of them. An organization meeting will be called early next week to give the boys a good start. The first practice will be held to-morrow afternoon at Riverside Park.

LAST RACES AT CHEMONG PARK

The last of the series of races for the championship flag of the Chemong Yacht Club will be sailed to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at Chemong Lake. The races have created a lot of interest and with good weather there should be a great contest to-morrow afternoon.

LOCAL HORSES AT OTTAWA RACES

Peterborough horses will be represented in the races at the Central Canada exhibition at Ottawa, which opens to-morrow. Dr. Johnston left last night taking his fast mare Hazel Belle and also Harry Nesbitt's Harry Direct, both of which should be in the money whenever they start.

BOWLING

The most interesting stage of the Frost trophy competition has now been reached and a battle royal is expected when W. Johnston and J. McIntyre meet in the finals.

Local Marksmen Had Hard Luck

Staff Sergt. Bartlett Was the Only One to Win Money.

Peterborough marksmen were not so successful in the shooting at the D. R. A. matches at Ottawa yesterday. The only one that seems to have got in the money at all is Staff Sergt. Bartlett, who with a score of 56 out of a possible 70, won $4 in the Dominion match which is shot from the 600 and 800 ranges. The first prize winner was Sergt. W. Kelly, of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, who scored 66 and won a challenge cup and $30. There was a high wind.

Fast Baseball Game Monday

Shamrocks and Athletics Play Final Game in City Series.

The best and probably the last baseball game of the season will be played on Monday between the Shamrocks and Athletics. This game will decide the city championship. No doubt the game will attract the largest crowd of the season as the fans have had few opportunities of witnessing good baseball this season. Several of the players of both teams have been making reps for themselves in the Trent Valley League and are in the pink of condition. Jimmy Pilling, the elongated slab artist who has been winning fame in Norwood, will pitch for the Athletics. He should deliver the goods in fine form. Prunes Quinlan, who has only lately struck his true gait, will perform for the Irishmen and with Trainor holding the shoots, the Athletics will have to travel good and fast to have a look in. Trainor, who has lately broke into the catcher's harness already shows the ear-marks for a star back stop. Don't miss this game the last chance of the season.

Good Programme Of Races Arranged

Three Trials of Speed at Peterborough Industrial.

The official programme for the races at the Peterborough Industrial Fair on Wednesday, September 25 will be issued in a day or two. The races will be in charge of the following directors:—Alex. Elliott, R. J. Munro, J. M. Brooks and R. Hicks. The programme is as follows:

2.50 class, trot or pace, purse $100.

2.25 class, trot or pace, purse $150.

2.18 class, trot or pace, purse $150.

The races will be run in half-mile heats. The entry fee is 3 per cent., and 7 per cent. will be taken from winners. Horses are eligible August 14, and all entries should be in before 10 a.m. on Tuesday, September 25. Entries are to be sent to J. M. Brooks, at the Munro House.

LAWN TENNIS

A large turn out of tennis players is expected at Nicholls Oval to-night, when final arrangements will be made for a tennis tournament and tea on Monday, by the members of St. John's A. Y. P. A. Tennis Club. There are thirty-seven members in good standing and entitled to play, the majority of whom, it is expected will enter the different events. Entries should be made to-night and not later than to-morrow night.

FIRST PRACTICE OF RUGBY TEAM

The first rugby practice of the season is called for to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Riverside Park and it is important that there should be a big turnout as it will serve to give a line on the team. Other teams will soon be practising and Peterborough should get the advantage of an early start. All members of last year's team as well as any others who are going to play this year should be at Riverside Park to-morrow at 3 o'clock.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers are reminded to be present at Roy's studio this evening at 6.45 o'clock for a team photograph. They will practice later at Riverside Park.

Dundas Allowed To Go Free Again

The Brantford Fire Department Wanted Him Back at Work.

The Toronto Star says:

J. R. Dundas, formerly a coachman of Hon. J. R. Stratton, who impersonated his former employer at the Palmer House, a year ago, thereby obtaining free board and lodging, was convicted by Magistrate Denison this morning, but let out on suspended sentence, as Crown Attorney Corley put in a good word for him.

"He's employed in the fire department at Brantford, and they give him a good reputation and want him back," said the Crown Attorney.

Dundas claimed that he thought his board was paid for, and denied any criminal intentions.

The Toronto News says:—

"J. R." Dundas did not look much like the former Provincial Secretary, except in his initials, but then he was clean shaven this morning.

One year ago Dundas, who was formerly a coachman of Hon. J. R. Stratton, passed himself off as the ex-Cabinet Minister, and lived in the lap of luxury for several days at the Palmer House.

The next role in which Dundas appeared was as a humble member of the Brantford Fire Brigade, from which he was removed to Toronto to answer the charge of fraud.

"Your Worship," said Dundas, "I thought the bill had been paid for by a friend of mine, and when I found out it wasn't, I gave the money to one of the detectives."

"That is quite right, Your Worship," put in the Crown Attorney. "Besides, the man is given a good character by the Fire Department of Brantford, and they want him back.

"I will let him go on suspended sentence," said the magistrate.

Out Of Jail And Back Again

Experience of Wm. Jones the Shoelace Pedlar.

Wm. Jones the shoelace pedlar who just emerged this morning from a month's vacation in Castle Nesbitt, had the misfortune of being arrested again this afternoon. A citizen complained that Jones was using abusive language and P. C. Meharry placed him behind the bars. He was somewhat intoxicated and at intervals in the cell would pour forth strongly-worded volumes of language against the officers of the law. He will be heard from to-morrow morning.

Balmy End Of August Still Lure The Visitors

Stony Lake is Not Yet Deserted—Round Trip Becomes Popular—The Usual Dances—Mr. Morrow Entertained a Party Around the Lakes—Many Cottages Close Their Doors for the Season.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, August 30th. — The exceptionally fine weather, and the delightful moonlight lights, are causing many who contemplated packing up their effects, and boarding up their cottages for the season, to linger a few days longer.

A large number of Peterborough people are daily taking the round trip with a view to having one last look at the beatiful scenery, and of taking a few deep breaths of perfectly fresh air.

Young men and maidens were out in large numbers at the pavilion last night, and this pleasure resort seemed as popular as ever.

The Misses Batten entertained a number of friends to five-o'clock tea at Britannia yesterday.

Mr. W. G. Morrow entertained a party to a trip around the lakes on the Mayflower on Tuesday. Several points of interest were touched, and dinner was taken at the Burleigh Falls hotel. Miss Lilian Rush joined the party at Mr. Neill's cottage, Clear Lake. Hon. George A. Cox, who spent a few days as the guest of Mr. Morrow, has returned to Toronto.

A fishing party, consisting of twenty visitors of Kilkenny and Glenwood took a fishing and picnic trip to Jack's Creek on the Mayflower yesterday. The catch numbered twenty five bass, one lunge and incidentally a brace of turtles of the dove variety. Spoons were used to lure the bass and the lunge but were not at all necessary in the case of the affectionate ones.

Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. Stratton went down t othe city yesterday. Their cottage is closed for the season.

Mr. (Hon.) Lawrence Graham who has been sponding a few days in Toronto, returned to Kiluna yesterday.

Mr. W. Thompson came up to the Victoria yesterday, where he will spend a few days.

Mr. Fred Roy took the round trip yesterday.

Miss Helen Hall is at Winonah for a vacation.

Miss Alberta Gooding is a guest of Miss Alma Knapman at Forest Home.

Miss Louise Bell and Miss Katie Blomfield of Lakefield are at Mrs. (Dr.) Bell's cottage for a few days.

Mrs. Cone of New York, who has been at Boscobel left for home yesterday.

Mr. Forgie of Pittsburg, Pa., who has been a guest at Kilkenny, returned home yesterday. Mrs. Forgie will remain for a couple of weeks.

Mr. L. M. Watson of the city, was at the lakes on Wednesday.

Mr. J. O. McCarthy closed his cottage at Emerald Island yesterday and returned to Toronto.

Dr. Morrison and family went down to the city yesterday.

Mr. Fred J. Schnepback and Mr. Henry C. Pears, of Cleveland, are guests at Glenwood.

Miss Edna Know of Orillia is a visitor at Minota.

Messrs. Robert and Melville Robinson of Peterborough, are at Prune Hill camp.

Mrs. M. Martin of Port Hope is a guest at Sloarnbell.

Miss E. Eugene Wickins of Toronto, is a guest of Miss Rice at Grassy Isle.

Miss Michell of Toronto, who has been at Kilkenny for a couple of weeks, returned home yesterday.

Dr. Henry Barnes, Mrs. Barnes, Miss Alma Barnes and Mr. W. J. Lewis closed the cottage at Cleveland Point yesterday and left for home this morning.

Mr. Oxley, who is summering at Viamede, went down to the city yesterday.

Mr. J. J. McBain has closed Bona Vista for the season.

Mr. Gerald Hall, who has been a guest at Elfin Nook, went down to the city yesterday.

Mr. Leo Young, and Misses Gertie and Mollie Young, who have been tenting on Juniper Island, left for home yesterday.

Mr. W. B. Kennedy of Toronto, is a guest at Viamede.

Miss Sarah E. Guillet of Akron, O., is a visitor at Westaway.

Miss Cora Young, Mrs. J. B. Rohr, Mrs. S. Martin and Mr. C. P. Walker, of Rochester, are among the guests at Glenwood.

Mr. A. P. Earle of Pittsburg, Pa., and and Mr. W. J. Campbell of Toronto, who have been at the Victoria House for a couple of weeks, left fort heir homes yesterday.

Mr. George Fitzgerald took the round trip on the steamer yesterday.

Miss Ruby Aikens went down to Peterborough yesterday to spend a couple of days.

Mr. H. M. East and family of Toronto, closed their cottage on Indian Isle and left for home yesterday.

Mr. McCready went down to Peterborough yesterday.

Miss Alice Hughes of Toronto is a guest at Tawasantha.

Mr. Durham Collins who has been at Maple Creek, Sask., is at Catamaran for a few holidays.

Among the recent arrivals at the Victoria House, are the following: Mrs. William Hartley, Peterborough; R. B. Tyler and wife, Rochester, N.Y.; Gustav Deutschlenn, Joseph H. Crane, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gibson, Aylmer; Frank Y. Brenton, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Moore of Lakefield, spent yesterday with friends on the lake.

St. John's Sunday school, Lakefield, held their picnic at Sandy Point, Clear Lake, on Tuesday.

Nine Charges Held To Have Proven In Tompkins Case

Gang Who Were in Peterborough in Toronto Police Court Man Admitted Having Been in This City—Says He Was Professional Ball Player.

The more evidnece is heard in the Tompkins case in Toronto, the more the citizens of Peterborough should rejoice that the visit of Tompkins and his companions here on circus day did not result in robberies such as took place in other towns. Tompkins yesterday admitted having been in Peterborough, and said he was a semi-professional ball-player.

The Toronto Star says: Tompkins and the members of the gang captured in the raid on the 15th of this month, were in the police court this morning, and opposite the names of the six prisoners was arrayed a list of 23 charges.

Harry Tompkins, nine charges of theft, five convictions, four acquittals.

Minnie Tompkins, six charges of theft and one of vagrancy, three convictions, four acquittals.

Charles O'Neil, one charge of theft, and one of vagrancy, acquitted on both.

Hattie Dineen, two charges of theft and one of vagrancy, acquitted on theft charges, remanded on the vagrancy charge.

William Lennox, once charge of theft and one of vagrancy, theft charge withdrawn, vagrancy charge adjourned.

Nellie Lennox, one charge of theft and one of vagrancy, theft withdrawn and vagrancy charg adjourned.

The six prisoners are said by the police to be members of a gang of over 25 criminals who hive operated extensively through the United States and Canada, and the authorities are sorry not to have landed them all behind the bars. They hope, however, that they have broken up the gang.

Something of a Traveller.

Tompkins was the very picture of sullen defiance. He stood with his hands in his rockets and answered questions in an insolent manner. He corroborated his wife's testimony, and in response to Mr. Corley's questions, admitted having been in Galt, Orillia, Quebec, Montreal, Peterborough, Belleville, Oshawa, Stratford, Listowel and several other cities. He claims he was there playing semi-professional ball, but the authorities say that he was there making lucrative hauls during reunions and other gatherings.

J. W. Scott, an ex-mayor of Listowel, was the next complainant. He said that he had lost a $160 diamond pin on the 2nd of August during the Listowel Old Boys' Reunion. He positively identified Tompkins as the man who shoved and jostled him a short time before he lost his pin.

Mr. Ryrie, the jeweller, identified almost positively the pin found in Tompkins' possession as one he had sold Mr. Scott on August 6, 1904.

A conviction was entered.

At this point Mrs. Tompkins, who had returned to the dock, broke down again and sobbed violently.

J. E. Ivers was the next complainant, he having lost a $250 diamond stud in the train near Orillia on August 8. Several witnesses from Belleville testified that O'Neil—(the two Tompkins and O'Neil were charged with the theft)—had been in Belleville that day. Magistrate Denison considered this a good alibi and O'Neil was discharged. The vagrancy charge was also withdrawn.

On the same charge the magistrate acquitted Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins.

Took No Action As To Sick Benefits

Grand Lodge of True Blues Will Leave the Matter to Subordinate Lodges.

St. Catharines, August 30th. — The Grand Lodge of Loyal True Blues Association, spent most of this morning discussing the constitution. A number of changes have been made, among them that the password will now be sent direct to the subordinate lodges, instead of to the District Deputy, for distribution to the lodges.

The Grand Lodge has disposed of the question of establishing a sick benefit department. The committee's report on the subject was discussed, and as there seemed to be a little opposition, it was finally agreed to allow the subordinate lodges to take a vote on the question. The committee will submit their plan to the lodges individually. It is proposed that by paying $1.40 quarterly members may enjoy $3 a week benefit if they get sick, together with a doctor's services.

The question of re-establishing the Blue Apron degree is in abeyance. It came up for discussion but was laid on the table. It will likely be dealt with before the Grand Lodge rises.

No Sleep For The Kidneys.

Old people are especially liable to Kidney and Bladder Irritation. The organs are weakened by age. This starts up inflammation—blood is not properly purified as it goes to the kidneys—and the bladder is unable to retain the urine properly. There is a constant desire to urinate day and night—and sound, restful sleep is unknown.

Bu-Ju

Why Wear Glasses?

Just why do your Neighbors—or You—wear Glasses? To see clearly and easily—whether reading, sewing, writing, conversing or walking along the street. Perfect vision, without strain or discomfort, is possible only with perfectly formed eyes. An imperfect eye may see perfectly by exerting great effort. If then you are conscious that you are not seeing easily your eyes are at fault—and, if you are already wearing glasses, they, too, are at fault.

We make no charge for consultation.

Struck Officer In Face And Dashes For Liberty

Detroit Woman Didn't Want to Be Arrested—Made a Determined Resistance—Took Three Policemen to Subdue Her.

Examiner Special.

Detroit, Sept. 1.—Harriet S. McDonald, who gives her age as 29 years, her occupation as cook, and her residence as 257 Seminole avenue, didn't like to be arrested. Detective Sergeant Judd Lombard, of the Central Precinct, thought the young woman would rest better in the matron's quarters at the police station, and requested her to leave Pardridge & Blackwell's store and accompany him.

She is accused of having appropriated a small article of jewellery, for which she is alleged to have failed to make payment, but on the outside she resented the idea of going to the station.

"I won't go," she said.

"You will go," replied the detective.

"Take that and see!"

There was the sound of a falling fist, a red flush on the detective's cheek, a hurried gathering of skirts, and the wild dash between cars and automobiles of a handsomely-dressed and pretty woman.

"Stop her!"

Lombard had recovered from the effects of the blow, and the astonishment attendant on the sudden escape of his prisoner.

Lieut. Fenton, now acting superintendent of police, happened to be passing.

"To the rescue!" he cried, shouting to a patrolman.

Then the two detectives and a patrolman bore down on their prey. She was soon surrounded by officers, and once more the battle raged.

"I won't go," cried the fair damsel in distress.

"You will," replied Lombard.

"Hurry, now, and be good," said Fenton.

"Not for mine," replied the prisoner, and she made a determined stand against being locked up.

There was little more to the affair. The three officers soon convinced the woman—by physical force—that her place was in the station, and there she went, fighting every inch of the way. "Suspicion" is the word opposite her name on the police blotter.

The prisoner will be held pending an investigation.

Two New York Sisters Marry Same Husband

He Divorced One for Alleged Desertion and Then Took the Other as His Wife---A Story of Mixed Marriage Relationship.

New York, September 1. — Mixed marriage relations of the two daughters of Mrs. Adele Cromwell, widow of the late Lieut. Oliver Cromwell, of the United States navy, whose home is at No. 13, South Third street, Harrison, N. J., were instrumental in bringing about yesterday the announcement by Mrs. Cromwell of the marriage September, 15, 1905, of Mrs. Matilda Andrews, her daughter, to D. Lean Luca, of Prussia.

Mrs. Cromwell admitted yesterday that she published the notice without her daughter's sanction, and did so, she explained, in order to protect her other daughter, who is now the wife of the man who was formerly the husband of her sister.

Miss Matilda Cromwell became several years ago the wife of Edward F. Andrews. The marriage did not turn out happily and after a separation Andrews went to South Dakota for an indefinite stay. He returned to Harrison about three three months ago, and last June 5th a notice was published that Edward F. Andrews had been granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Matilda, by JudgeLacombe of South Dakota on the ground of desertion. Immediately after the publication of the divorce notice announcement was made that Andrews had married a sister of his former wife, this marriage having taken place last May 25, which was about a year subsequent to the date of the filing of the divorce decree.

The divorced wife of Andrews has lived in Brooklyn since she parted from him. Last week she went to Harrison to visit friends. She was informed that her former husband had married her sister. She expressed great surprise at this news, saying it could not be true, as she was still the only lawful Mrs. Andrews. She is said to have declared that she had not been served with any summons in a divorce case.

The complications arising from the claim of the first wife that she had no knowledge of a divorce, were causing no end of a scandal, until Mrs. Cromwell, mother of both women, came to the relief of the present Mrs. Andrews and produced evidence that her daughter Matild must have known of the divorce, when three months after it was granted she became wife of Lucas, then employed in a New York hotel.

The first Mrs. Andrews is now 26 years old. The present one is some years younger. Andrews is several years the senior of both. As a result of his first marriage, there is one child, Edna, six years of age. The present Mrs. Andrews and her mother assert that the first Mrs. Andrews is not on good terms with the rest of the family and is trying to make trouble for her sister.

Dog Travels As Cigar Salesman

Rex Knows Every Town and Every Customer Within a Large Territory.

Indianapolis, Aug. 22.—Dogs have been taught to perform many kinds of labour, but so far as is known there is only one dog that sets in the capacity of a travelling salesman.

Ye tthis is exactly what Rex does nearly every working day of his life, and he does it well. He knows every town where there are customers, and he knows the customers and they likewise know him.

Rex really does the principal part of the travelling, and his master, Miles M. Goodwin, sells the goods. The master is blind, but with the travelling ability of Rex he is able to cover his territory as he did before he lost his sight. Rex is his master's eyes.

Goodwin lives at New Castle, near here, and the story of his affliction is a pathetic one. He was a handsome, well built young man and popular everywhere he went. He made friends and was a successful salesman. For eleven years he sold clothing on the road for an Eastern firm. Then blindness came upon him. A few years ago he was stricken with atrophy of the optic nerve and he lost his sight.

Then Goodwin went into business at his home town, starting a cigar jobbing house under the firm name of Goodwin & Dille. Goodwin longed to be on the road again for his own house and one day he had an inspiration as he observed the intelligence displayed by his dox Rex, then a pup. The experiment was tried and it proved successful, for Rex was quick to learn, and it was not long before he understood that it was to be his work to guide his master from place to place.

Since he started, he has never failed for a single day to do his duty. When he first made his trips with the dog, Goodwin had to inquire his way to the places he wished to visit, but when once there he introduced Rex, and Rex never forgot.

He now knows "all the trade" in the various towns the pair "make" and the customers always have a cordial welcome for the interesting salesman.

Rex never makes any mistakes. He takes his master directly to where he wishes to go and loses no time in doing so. When they are through with a town he leads the way to the proper railway station.

Mr. Goodwin holds him by a strap that is fastened to the dog's collar, and a code of signals has come to be understood by them, so that each knows the meaning of every movement of the other. Goodwin can tell when he is at a street crossing by the manner in which Rex ducks his head, giving the strap a slight jerk

Rex guides his master across the street safely, no matter how crowded it may be, and steers him clear of street cars, automobiles and buggies. Master and dog have never yet met with an accident.

Fiance, $210 and Trunk All Gone

New York Nurse on Way to Get Married is Deserted.

(Examiner Special.)

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—Leaving her fiance, Frank Doyle, standing by one of the telephone booths in the Broad street station, Miss Mary Finlayson, a trained nurse, of New York, spent five minutes in the women's waiting room. When she emerged Doyle was gone and the police have made a vain search for him since last Friday. With Doyle, the young woman secerts, went $210 of her savings and her trunk as well.

Miss Finlayson said she had known Doyle, who is a stone cutter in the employ of a Boston firm, for five years. They were engaged, and, to purchase her wedding outfit, she had saved $750. At the instance of Doyle, she drew $210, packed her trunk and accompanied him to this city last Friday. He told her he would introduce her to relatives here and they would be married.

Miss Finlayson, heartbroken, spent the night at the Young Women's Christian Association and later reported to the police.

Wants To Get His Money Back

Gives Girl a Note and She Turns Him Down.

(Examiner Special.)

Allentown, Pa., September 1. — Not in the records of Lehigh county is a more singular petition to be found than that entered by Levi H. Kleckner, a wealthy real estate dealer, to have a judgment note of $1,000 given to a former secretary, declared null and void.

Early in 1904 Kleckner engaged pretty blonde Miss Mary Geiser, as his secretary. Miss Geiser is now Mrs. Van Buren Ribor.

Miss Geiser, he says, promised to be faithful in business, and as a reward for the work to be done he gave her the note for $1,000, imposing restrictions regarding her conduct. The note was replaced with a judgment note, stating that Miss Geiser should receive the sum conditional on her remaining in Kleckner's employ for four years. The girl went with some friends, among them her present husband, on a straw ride, and turned up late at the office the next morning. The reprimand which followed this, caused her to leave.

Interesting Items From Across the Sea.

ENGLAND

A voyage in search of hidden treasure has been temporarily interrupted by the Customs authoritics at Douglas, Isle of Man. A few days ago a curious-looking ketch entered the bay windbound. Evidently the crew were strangers to Manx waters, for they brought their craft up in a portion of the bay used by small pleasure-yachts which ply for hire, they being under the impression this was the roadstead. On being apprised by fishermen of their mistake they worked out of their dangerous position and made the inner harbour. The ketch turned out to be the Catherine, of no port of registry. ToCustoms officials the information was given that the vessel had been purchased and fitted up with a view to proceeding to New York, and thence to the Caribbean Sea, for the purpose of searching for treasure hoards hidden by old-time buccaneers among the islands. For this purpose the ketch had been rudely but effectually altered and strengthened. Her bulwarks had been raised, and a steering-gear, calculated to make professional mariners stare in astonishment, fixed. Her crew consisted of the master and owner, and four men, and of these the master was the only one possessed of any serviceable knowledge of seamanship.

Fallowfield, a suburb of Manchester, was the scene of a sad love tragedy recently. Two young lovers, named Martha Watts and John Chapman, depressed owing to the fact that the man had been out of work and that their marriage in consequence could not take place. They went for a walk in the fields, and after taking spirits of salts, walked to some houses abutting on to the railway. A woman named Smith was alarmed by the appearance of a man who implored her help. She found the girl lying on a neighbour's doorstep in great pain, and with great presence of mind made an emetic which in the case of the man was effective, but his sweetheart was too far gone to swallow. When Chapman became aware that efforts to administer an emetic to his sweetheart were unavailing, he sat down beside her on the step, put his arms round her, told her that he loved her, kissed her cheeks, and said that he would stick to her to the last. The agonies which the girl was suffering did not prevent her reciprocating his devotion, for she turned her eyes upon him and smiled and faintly murmured some incoherent words. She died about four hours afterwards.

The island of Caldey, in the Bristol Channel, has just been purchased by the Church of England Benedictine monks, now residing at Painsthorpe Abbey, near York. Caldey Island, which is nearly two miles long, and lies about two and a half miles off Tenby, thus, in a sense, passes back to its ancient owners, for it was in the hands of monks from the middle of the fifth century down to the Dissolution under Henry VII. in the middle of the 16th. Owing to the small size of the old monastic buildings, the Painsthorpe Community—who number over 20 monks—have decided to build a new monastery, work upon which has already been started. In addition to the farm, the island has extensive quarries, and these, of course, now pass under the control of the Abbot of Caldey. The Church of England Benedictines, who have thus acquired for themselves a unique and permanent home, are of interest from the fact that they were established with the special sanction and approval of the late Archbishop of Canterbury.

Mr. William Amery, a visitor to Ilfracombe, Devonshire, owes his life to the sagacity of a terrier dog. A few days ago while strolling under the Torrs cliffs he was cut off by the tide and attempted to scale the cliffs, which at that point are almost perpendicular. After climbing nearly 200 feet, his way was barred by a large rock, and finding retreat impossible he sat down on a narrow ledge and shouted for help. A lady visitor on the cliffs above, hearing his cries, hastened to her hotel and telephoned to the Ilfracombe Harbour office for assistance. It was quite dark when two boats arrived on the scene, and the men would probably have failed to discover Mr. Amery had it not been for the dog which was taken in the boat, and which climbed up the cliff. On discovering the young man it commenced barking, and so guided the rescuers to his perilous position.

An extraordinary case of burying the wrong man occurred recently at Bethnal Green, London. Thomas Weston, the man who was supposed to be in his grave, is a general labourer, and some weeks ago, he disappeared, seeking work among the fruit pickers. A body was found in the Thames at Battersea. It was almost beyond identification, but it was that of a man of diminutive stature, and manifestations of heart disease and brain paralysis were discovered. In these details it answered to the absent Weston. The colour of the hair and the tattoo marks on one elbow carried absolute conviction to Weston's brother. A coroner's jury ultimately decided that it was Weston's body, and Mrs. Weston drew five guineas insurance money, and buried the dead man at Morden, and spent the balance on food and mourning. Weston, however, returned home a few days ago.

SCOTLAND

Recently the annual "conventicle" took place at Kirk o' Muir, a lonely spot in the Fintry Hills, about equidistant from Stirling, Denny and Kilsyth. The origin of the gathering dates back nearly 200 years. At that time the glens in the district had a considerable population, and their church was at Kirk o' Muir, where nothing is now left but a crumbling wing of the building and the moss-grown stones in the old graveyard, which is separated by a dyke from a small farmhouse. When the kirk on the muir grew old and the inhabitants of the district were too few to require a new one, they stipulated for one preaching a year on the hallowed spot where their forefathers had worship-

Crimson Blind

BY FRED M. WHITE

Author of "Tregarthen's Wife," "The Robe of Lucifer," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, by R. F. Fenno & Company.

CHAPTER I.

David Steel dropped his eyes from the mirror and shuddered as a man who sees his own soul bared for the first time. And yet the mirror was in itself a thing of artistic beauty—engraved Florentine glass in a frame of deep old Flemish oak. The novelist had purchased it in Bruges, and now it stood as a joy and a thing of beauty against the full red wall over the fireplace. And Steel had glanced at himself therein and seen murder in his eyes.

He dropped into a chair with a groan for his own helplessness. Men have done that kind of thing before when the cartridges are all gone and the bayonets are twisted and broken and the brown waves of the foe come snarling over the breastworks. And then they die doggedly with the stones in their hands, and cursing the tardy supports that brought this black shame upon them.

But Steel's was ruin of another kind. The man was a fighter to his finger-tips. He had dogged determination and splendid physical courage; he had gradually thrust his way into the front rank of living novelists, though the taste of poverty was still bitter in his mouth. And how good success was now that it had come!

People envied him. Well, that was all in the sweets of the victory. They praised his blue china, they lingered before his Oriental dishes and the choice pictures on the panelled walls. The whole thing was still a constant pleasure to Steel's artistic mind. The dark walls, the old oak and silver, the red shades, and the high artistic fittings soothed him and pleased him, and played upon his tender imagination. And behind there was a study, filled with books and engravings, and beyond that again a conservatory, filled with the choicest blossoms. Steel could work with the passion flowers above his head and the tender grace of the tropical ferns about him, and he could reach his left hand for his telephone and call Fleet Street to his ear.

It was all unique, delightful, the dream of an artistic soul realized. Three years before David Steel had worked in an attic at a bare deal table, and his mother had £3 per week to pay for everything. Usually there was balm in this recollection.

But not to-night, Heaven help him, not to-night! Little grinning demons were dancing on the oak cornices, there mere mocking lights gleaming from Cellini tankards that Steel had given far too much money for. It had not seemed to matter just at the time. If all this artistic beauty had emptied Steel's purse there was a golden stream coming. What mattered it that the local tradesmen were getting a little restless? The great expense of the novelist's life was past. In two years he would be rich. And the pathos of the thing was not lessened by the fact that it was true. In two years' time Steel would be well off. He was terribly short of ready money, but he had just finished a serial story for which he was to be paid £500 within two months of the delivery of the copy: two novels of his were respectively in their fourth and fifth editions. But these novels of his he had more or less given away, and he ground his teeth as he thought of it. Still, everything spelt prosperity. If he lived, David Steel was bound to become a rich man.

And yet he was ruined. Within twenty-four hours everything would pass out of his hands. To all practical purposes it had done so already. And all for the want of £1,000! Steel had earned twice that amount during the past twelve months, and the fruits of his labor were as balm to his soul about him. Within the next twelve months he could pay the debt three times over. He would cheerfully have taken the bill and doubled the amount for six months' delay.

And all this because he had become surety for an absconding brother. Steel had put his pride in his pocket and interviewed his creditor, a little, polite, mild-eyed financier, who meant to have his money to the uttermost farthing. At first he had been suave and sympathetic, until he had discovered that Steel had debts elsewhere, and then——

Well, he had signed judgment, and to-morrow he could levy execution. Within a few hours the bottom would fall out of the universe so far as Steel was concerned. Within a few hours every butcher and baker and candlestick-maker would come abusively for his bill. Steel, who could have faced a regiment, recoiled fearfully from that. Within a week his oak and silver would have to be sold and the passion flower would wither on the walls.

Steel had not told anybody yet; the strong man had grappled with his trouble alone. Had he been a man of business he might have found some way out of the difficulty. Even his mother didn't know. She was asleep upstairs, perhaps dreaming of her son's greatness. What would the dear old mater say when she knew? Well, she had been a good mother to him, and it had been a labor of love to furnish the house for her as for himself. Perhaps there would be a few tears in those gentle eyes, but no more.

David lighted a cigarette and paced restlessly round the dining-room. Never had he appreciated its quiet beauty more than he did now. There were flowers, blood-red flowers, on the table under the graceful electric stand that Steel had designed himself. He snapped off the light as if the sight pained him, and strode into his study. For a time he stood moodily gazing at his flowers and ferns. How every leaf there was pregnant with association. There was the Moorish clock droning the midnight hour. When Steel had brought that clock——

"Ting, ting, ting. Pring, pring, pring, pring. Ting, ting, ting, ting."

But Steel heard nothing. Everything seemed as silent as the grave. It was only by a kind of igner consciousness that he knew the hour to be midnight. Midnight meant the coming of the last day. After sunrise some greasy lounger pregnant of cheap tobacco would come in and assume that he represented the sheriff, bills would be hung like banners on the outward walls, and then——

"Pring, pring, pring. Ting, ting, ting, ting, ting, ting, ting, ting. Pring, pring, pring."

Bells, somewhere. Like the bells in the valley where the old vicarage used to stand. Steel vaguely wondered who now lived in the house where he was born. He was staring in the most absent way at his telephone, utterly unconscious of the shrill impatience of the little voice. He saw the quick pulsation of the striker and he came back to earth again.

Jefferies of the Weekly Messenger, of course. Jefferies was fond of a late chat on the telephone. Steel wondered grimly, if Jefferies would lend him £1,000. He flung himself down in a deep lounge-chair and placed the receiver to his ear. By the deep, hoarse clang of the wires, a long-distance message, assuredly.

"From London, evidently. Halloa, London! Are you there?"

London responded that it was. A clear, soft voice spoke at length.

"Is that you, Mr. Steel? Are you quite alone? Under the circumstances you are not busy to-night?"

Steel started. He had never heard the voice before. It was clear and soft and commanding, and yet there was just a suspicion of mocking irony in it.

"I'm not very busy to-night," Steel replied. "Who is speaking to me?"

"That for the present we need not go into," said the mocking voice. "As certain old-fashioned contemporaries of yours would say, 'We meet as strangers!' Stranger yet, you are quite alone!"

"I am quite alone. Indeed. I am the only one up in the house."

"Good. I have told the exchange people not to ring off till I have finished with you. One advantage of telephoning at this hour is that one is tolerably free from interruption. So your mother is asleep? Have you told her what is likely to happen to you before many hours have elapsed?"

Steel made no reply for a moment. He was restless and ill at ease to-night, and it seemed just possible that his imagination was playing him strange tricks. But, no. The Moorish clock in its frame of celebrities droned the quarter after twelve; the scent of the Dijon roses floated in from the conservatory.

"I have told nobody as yet," Steel said, hoarsely. "Who in the name of Heaven are you?"

"That in good time. But I did not think you were a coward."

"No man has ever told me so—face to face."

"Good again, I recognize the fighting ring in your voice. If you lack certain phases of moral courage, you are a man of pluck and resource. Now, somebody who is very dear to me is at present in Brighton, not very far from your own house. She is in dire need of assistance. You also are in dire need of assistance. We can be of mutual advantage to one another."

"What do you mean by that?" Steel whispered.

"Let me put the matter on a business footing. I want you to help my friend, and in return I will help you. Bear in mind that I am asking you to do nothing wrong. If you will promise me to go to a certain address in Brighton to-night and see my friend, I promise that before you sleep the sum of £1,000 in Bank of England notes shall be in your possession."

No reply came from Steel. He could not have spoken at that moment for the fee-simple of Golconda. He could only hang gasping to the telephone. Many a strange and weird plot came and went in that versatile brain, but never one more wild than this. Apparently no reply was expected, for the speaker resumed:—

"I am asking you to do no wrong. You may naturally desire to know why my friend does not come to you. That must remain my secret, our secret. We are trusting you because we know you to be a gentleman, but we have enemies who are ever on the watch. All you have to do is to go to a certain place and give a certain woman information. You are thinking that this is a strange mystery. Never was anything stranger dreamt of in your philosophy. Are you agreeable?"

The mocking tone died out of the small, clear voice until it was almost pleading.

"You have taken me at a disadvantage," Steel said. "And you know——"

"Everything. I am trying to save you from ruin. Fortune has played you into my hands. I am perfectly aware that if you were not on the verge of social extinction you would refuse my request. It is in your hands to decide. You know that Beckstein, your creditor, is absolutely merciless. He will get his money back and more besides. This is his idea of business. To-morrow you will be an outcast—for the time, at any rate. Your local creditors will be insolent to you; people will pity you or blame you, as their disposition lies. On the other hand, you have but to say the word and you are saved. You can go and see the Brighton representatives of Beckstein's lawyers, and pay them in paper of the Bank of England."

"If I was assured of your bona-fides," Steel murmured.

A queer little laugh, a laugh of triumph, came over the wires.

"I have anticipated that question. Have you Greenwich time about you?"

Steel responded that he had. It was five-and-twenty minutes past twelve. He had quite ceased to wonder at any questions put to him now. It was all so like one of his brilliant little extravanganzas.

"You can hang up your receiver for five minutes," the voice said. "Precisely at half-past twelve you go and look on your front doorstep. Then come back and tell me what you have found. You need not fear that I shall go away."

Steel hung up the receiver, feeling that he needed a little rest. His cigarette was actually scorching his left thumb and forefinger, but he was heedless of the fact. He flickered up the dining-room lights again and rapidly made himself a sparklet soda, which he added to a small whisky. He looked almost lovingly at the gleaming Cellini tankard, at the pools of light on the fair damask. Was it possible that he was not going to lose all this, after all?

The Moorish clock in the study droned the half-hour.

David gulped down his whisky and crept shakily to the front door with a feeling on him that he was doing something stealthily. The bolts and chain rattled under his trembling fingers. Outside, the whole world seemed to be sleeping. Under the wide canopy of stars some black object picked out with shining points lay on the white marble breadth of the top step. A gun-metal cigar-case set in tiny diamonds.

The novelist fastened the front door and staggered to the study. A pretty, artistic thing such as David had fully intended to purchase for himself. He had seen one exactly like it in a jeweler's window in North Street. He had pointed it out to his mother. Why, it was the very one! No doubt whatever about it! David had had the case in his hands and had reluctantly declined the purchase.

He pressed the spring, and the case lay open before him. Inside were papers, soft, crackling papers; the case was crammed with them. They were white and clean, and twenty-five of them in all. Twenty-five Bank of England notes for £10 each—£250!

David fought the dreamy feeling off and took down the telephone receiver.

"Are you there?" he whispered, as if fearful of listeners. "I—I have found your parcel."

"Containing the notes. So far so good. Yes, you are right, it is the same cigar-case you admired so much in Lockhart's the other day. Well, we have given you an instance of our bona-fides. But £250 is of no use to you at present. Beckstein's people would not accept it on account—they can make far more money by 'selling you up,' as the poetic phrase goes. It is in your hands to procure the other £750 before you sleep. You can take it as a gift, or, if you are too proud for that, you may regard it as a loan. In which case you can bestow the money on such charities as commend themselves to you. Now, are you going to place yourself entirely in my hands?"

Steel hesitated no longer. Under the circumstances few men would, as he had a definite assurance that there was nothing dishonorable to be done. A little courage, a little danger, perhaps, and he could hold up his head before the world; he could return to his desk to-morrow with the passion flowers over his head and the scent groves sweet to his nostrils. And the mater could dream happily, for there would be no sadness or sorrow in the morning.

"I will do exactly what you tell me," he said.

"Spoken like a man," the voice cried. "Nobody will know you have left the house—you can be home in an hour. You will not be missed. Come, time is getting short, and I have my risks as well as others. Go at once to Old Steine. Stand on the path close under the shadow of the statue of George IV. and wait there. Somebody will say 'Come,' and you will follow. Good-night."

Steel would have said more, but the tinkle of his own bell told him that the stranger had rung off. He laid his cigar-case on the writing-table, slipped his cigarette-case into his pocket, satisfied himself that he had his latch-key, and put on a dark overcoat. Overhead the dear old mater was sleeping peacefully. He closed the front door carefully behind him and strode resolutely into the darkness.

CHAPTER II.

David walked swiftly along, his mind in a perfect whirl. Now that once he had started he was eager to see the adventure through. It was strange, but stranger things had happened. More than one correspondent with queer personal experiences had taught him that. Nor was Steel in the least afraid. He was horribly frightened of disgrace or humiliation, but physical courage he had in a high degree. And was he not going to save his home and his good name?

David had not the least doubt on the latter score. Of course he would do nothing wrong, neither would he keep the money. This re preferred to regard as a loan—a loan to be paid off before long. At any rate, money or no money, he would have been sorry to have abandoned the adventure now.

His spirits rose as he walked along, a great weight had fallen from his shoulders. He smiled as he thought of his mother peacefully sleeping at home. What would his mother think if she knew? But, then, nobody was to know. That had been expressly settled in the bond.

Save for an occasional policeman the streets were deserted. It was a little cold and raw for the time of year, and a fog like a pink blanket was creeping in from the sea. Down in the Steine the big arc-lights gleamed here and there like nebulous blue globes; it was hardly possible to see across the road. In the half-shadow behind Steel the statue of the First Gentleman in Europe glowed gigantic, ghost-like in the mist.

It was marvellously still there, so still that David could hear the tinkle of the pebbles on the beach. He stood back by the gate of the gardens watching the play of the leaf silhouettes on the pavement, quaint patterns of fantastic designs thrown up in high relief by the arc-light above. From the dark foggy throat of St. James's Street came the tinkle of a cycle bell. On so still a night the noise seemed bizarre and out of place. Then the cycle loomed in sight; the rider, muffled and humped over the front wheel, might have been a man or a woman. As the cyclist flashed by something white and gleaming dropped into the road, and the single word "Come" seemed to cut like a knife through the fog. That was all: the rider had looked neither to the right nor to the left, but the word was distinctly uttered. At the same instant an arm dropped and a long finger pointed to the gleaming white square in the road. It was like an instantaneous photograph—a flash, and the figure had vanished in the fog.

"This grows interesting," Steel muttered. "Evidently my shadowy friend has dropped a book of rules in the road for me. The plot thickens."

It was only a plain white card that lay in the road. A few lines were typed on the back of it. The words might have been curt, but they were to the point:—

"Go along the sea front and turn into Brunswick Square. Walk along the right side of the square until you reach No. 219. You will read the number over the fanlight. Open the door and it will yield to you; there is no occasion to knock. The first door inside the hall leads to the dining-room. Walk into there and wait. Drop this card down the gutter just opposite you."

David read the directions once or twice carefully. He made a mental note of 219. After that he dropped the card down the drain-trap nearest at hand. A little way ahead of him he heard the cycle bell trilling as if in approval of his action. But David had made up his mind to observe every rule of the game. Besides, he might be rigidly watched.

The spirit of adventure was growing upon Steel now. He was no longer holding the solid result before his eyes. He was ready to see the thing through for its own sake. And as he hurried up North Street, along Western Road, and finally down Preston Street, he could hear the purring tinkle of the cycle bell before him. But not once did he catch sight of the shadowy rider.

All the same his heart was beating a little faster as he turned into Brunswick Square. All the houses were in pitchy darkness, as they naturally would be at one o'clock in the morning, so it was only with great difficulty that Steel could make out a number here and there. As he walked slowly and hesitatingly along the cycle bell drummed impatiently ahead of him.

"A hint to me," David muttered. "Stupid that I should have forgotten the directions to read the number over the fanlight. Also it is logical to suppose that I am going to find lights at No. 219. All right, my friend; no need to swear at me with that bell of yours."

He quickened his pace again and finally stopped before one of the big houses where lights were gleaming from the hall and dining-room windows. They were electric lights by their great power, and, save for the hall and dining-room, the rest of the house lay in utter darkness. The cycle bell let off an approving staccato from behind the blankety fog as Steel pulled up.

There was nothing abnormal about the house, nothing that struck the adventurer's eye beyond the extraordinary vividness of the crimson blind. The two side-windows of the big bay were evidently shuttered, but the large centre gleamed like a flood of scarlet overlaid with a silken sheen. Far across the pavement the ruby track struck into the heart of the fog.

"Vivid note," Steel murmured. "I shall remember that impression."

He was destined never to forget it, but it was only one note in the gamut of adventure now. With a firm step he walked up the marble flight and turned the handle. It felt dirty and rusty to the touch. Evidently the servants were neglectful, or they were employed by people who had small regard for outward appearances.

The door opened noiselessly, and Steel closed it behind him. A Moorish lantern cast a brilliant flood of light upon a crimson carpet, a chair, and an empty oak umbrella-stand. Beyond this there was no atom of furniture in the hall. It was impossible to see beyond the dining-room door, for a heavy red velvet curtain was drawn across. David's first impression was the amazing stillness of the place. It gave him a queer feeling that a murder had been committed there, and that everybody had fled, leaving the corpse behind. As David coughed away the lump in his throat the cough sounded strangely hollow.

He passed into the dining-room and looked eagerly about him. The room was handsomely furnished, if a little conventional—a big mahogany table in the centre, rows of mahogany chairs upholstered in morocco, fine modern prints, most of them artist's proofs, on the walls. A big marble clock flanked by a pair of vases, stood on the mantelshelf. There were a large number of blue vases on the sideboard. The red distemper had faded to a pale pink in places.

"Tottenham Court Road," Steel smiled to himself. "Modern, solid, expensive, but decidedly inartistic. Ginger jars fourteen guineas a pair, worth about as many pence. Moneyed people, solid and respectable, of the middle class. What brings them playing at mystery like this?"

The room was most brilliantly lighted both from overhead and from the walls. On the shining desert of the dining-table lay a small, flat parcel addressed to David Steel, Esq. The novelist tore off the cover and disclosed a heap of crackling white papers beneath. Rapidly he fluttered the crisp sheets over—seventy-five Bank of England notes for £10 each.

It was the balance of the loan, the price paid for Steel's presence. All he had to do now was to place the money in his pocket and walk out of the house. A few steps and he would be free with nobody to say him nay. It was a temptation, but Steel fought it down. He slipped the precious notes into his pocket and buttoned his coat tightly over them. He had no fear for the coming day now.

"And yet," he murmured, "what of the price I shall have to pay for this?"

Well, it was worth a ransom. And so long as there was nothing dishonorable attached to it, Steel was prepared to redeem his pledge. He knew perfectly well from bitter experience that the poor man pays usurious rates for fortune's favors. And he was not without a strange sense of gratitude. If——

Click, click, click. Three electric switches were snapped off almost simultaneously outside, and the dining-room was plunged into pitchy darkness. Steel instantly caught up a chair. He was no coward, but he was a novelist with a novelist's imagination. As he stood there the sweetest, most musical laugh in the world broke on his ear. He caught the swish of silken drapery and the subtle scent that suggested the fragrance of a woman's hair. It was vague, undefined, yet soothing.

"Pray be seated, Mr. Steel," the silvery voice said. "Believe me, had there been any other way, I would not have given you all this trouble. You found the parcel addressed to you? It is an earnest of good faith. Is not that a correct expression?"

David murmured that it was. But what did the speaker mean? She asked the question like a student of the English language, yet her accent and phrasing were perfect. The laughed again noiselessly, and once more Steel

WHAT Fruit-a-tives ARE

OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS"

Fruit-a-tives are the marvels of modern medicine. They have accomplished more actual cures—done more good to more people—than any other medicine ever introduced in Canada for the time they have been on sale.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices. They are nature's cure for —CONSTIPATION

—BILIOUSNESS
—BAD STOMACH
—DYSPEPSIA
—HEADACHES
—IMPURE BLOOD
—SKIN DISEASES
—KIDNEY TROUBLE
—RHEUMATISM
—IRRITATED HEART

Fruit-a-tives are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. These juices are concentrated—and by a secret process, the juices are combined in a peculiar manner. This new combination is much more active medicinally than fresh juices—yet so perfect is the union that Fruit-a-tives act on the system as if they were in truth a natural fruit, medicinally stronger than any other known fruit.

To this combination of fruit juices, tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets.

These are Fruit-a-tives—sold everywhere for 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

Story of The Crimson Blind caught the subtle, entrancing perfume.

"I make no further apology for dragging you here at this time," the sweet voice said. "We knew that you were in the habit of sitting up alone late at night, hence the telephone message. You will perhaps wonder how we came to know so much of your private affairs. Rest assured that we learnt nothing in Brighton. Presently you may gather why I am so deeply interested in you; I have been for the past fortnight. You see, we were not quite certain that you would come to our assistance unless we could find some means of coercing you. Then we go to one of the smartest inquiry agents in the world and say: 'Tell us all about Mr. David Steel without delay. Money is no object.' In less than a week we know all about Beckstein. We leave matters till the last moment. If you only knew how revolting it all was!"

"So your tone seems to imply, madam," Steel said, drily.

"Oh, but truly. You were in great trouble, and we found a way to get you out. At a price; ah, yes. But your trouble is nothing compared with mine—which brings me to business. A fortnight ago last Monday you posted to Mr. Vanstone, editor of the Piccadilly Magazine, the synopsis of the first four or five chapters of a proposed serial for the journal in question. You open that story with a young and beautiful woman who is in deadly peril. Is not that so?"

"Yes," Steel said, faintly. "It is just as you suggest. But how——"

"Never mind that, because I am not going to tell you. In common parlance—is not that the word?—that woman is in a frightful fix. There is nothing strained about your heroine's situation, because I have heard of people being in a similar plight before. Mr. Steel, I want you to tell me truthfully and candidly, can you see the way clear to save your heroine? Oh, I don't mean by the long arm of coincidence or other favorite ruses known to your craft. I mean by common sense, logical methods, by brilliant ruses, by Machiavelian means. Tell me, do you see a way?"

The question came eagerly, almost imploringly, from the darkness. David could hear the quick gasps of his questioner, could catch the rustle of the silken corsage as she breathed.

"Yes," he said, "I can see a brilliant way out that would satisfy the strictest logician. But you——"

"Thank Heaven! Mr. Steel, I am your heroine. I am placed in exactly the same position as the woman whose story you are going to write. The setting is different, the local coloring is not the same, but the same deadly peril menaces me. For the love of Heaven hold out your hand to save a lonely and desperate woman whose only crime is that she is rich and beautiful. Providence had placed in my hands the gist of your heroine's story. Hence this masquerade; hence the fact that you are here to-night. I have helped you—help me in return.

It was some time before Steel spoke.

"It shall be as you wish," he said. "I will tell you how I propose to save my heroine. Her sufferings are fiction; yours will be real. But if you are to be save by the same means, Heaven help you to bear the troubles that are in front of you. Before God, it would be more merciful for me to be silent and let you go your own way."

CHAPTER III.

David was silent for some little time. The strangeness of the situation had shut down on him again, and he was thinking of nothing else for the moment. In the dead stillness of the place he could hear the quick breathing of his companion; the rustle of her dress seemed near to him and then to be very far off. Nor did the pitchy darkness yield a jot to his now accustomed eyes. He held a hand close to his eyes, but he could see nothing.

"Well?" the sweet voice in the darkness said, impatiently. "Well?"

"Believe me, I will give you all the assistance possible. If you would only turn up the light——"

"Oh, I dare not. I have given my word of honor not to violate the seal of secrecy. You may say that we have been absurdly cautious in this matter, but you would not think so if you knew everything. Even now the wretch who holds me in his power may have guessed my strategy and be laughing at me. Some day, perhaps——"

The speaker stopped, with something like a sob in her throat.

"We are wasting precious time," she went on, more calmly. "I had better tell you my history. In your story a woman commits a crime: she is guilty of a serious breach of trust to save the life of a man she loves. By doing so she places the future and the happiness of many people in the hands of an abandoned scoundrel. If she can only manage to regain the thing she has parted from the situation is saved. Is not that so?"

"So far you have stated the case correctly," David murmured.

"As I said before, I am in practically similar case. Only, in my situation, I hastened everything and risked the happiness of many people for the sake of a little child."

"Ah!" David cried. "Your own child? No! The child of one very near and dear to you, then. From the mere novelist point of view, that is a far more artistic idea than mine. I see that I shall have to amend my story before it is published."

A rippling little laugh came like the song of a bird in the darkness.

"Dear Mr. Steel," the voice said, "I implore you to do nothing of the kind. You are a man of fertile imagination—a plot more or less makes no difference to you. If you punish that story you go far on the way to ruin me."

"I am afraid that I am in the dark in more senses than one," David murmured.

"Then let me enlighten you. Daily your books are more widely read. My enemy is a great novel reader. You publish that story, and what results? You not only tell that enemy my story, but you show him my way out of the difficulty, and show him how he can checkmate my every move. Perhaps, after I have escaped from the net——"

"You are right," Steel said, promptly. "From a professional point of view the story is abandoned. And now you want me to show you a rational and logical, a human way out."

"If you can do so you have my everlasting gratitude."

"Then you must tell me in detail what it is you want to recover. My heroine parts with a document which the villain knows to be a forgery. Money cannot buy it back because the villain can make as much money as he likes by retaining it. He does as he likes with the family property; he keeps my heroine's husband out of England by dangling the forgery and its consequences over his head. What is to be done? How is the ruffian to be bullied into a false sense of security by the one man who desires to throw dust in his eyes?"

"Ah," the voice cried, "ah, if you could only tell me that! Let my ruffian only imagine that I am dead; let him have proofs of it, and the thing is done. I could reach him then; I could tear from him the letter that—but I need not go into details. But he is cunning as the serpent. Nothing but the most convincing proofs would satisfy him."

"A certificate of death signed by a physician beyond reproach?"

"Yes, that would do. But you couldn't get a medical man like that to commit felony."

"No, but we could trick him into it," Steel exclaimed. "In my story a fraud is perpetrated to blind the villain and to deprive him of his weapons. It is a case of the end justifying the means. But it is one thing, my dear lady, to commit fraud actually and to perpetrate it in a novel. In the latter case, you can defy the police, but unfortunately you and I are dealing with real life. If I am to help you I must be a party to a felony."

"But you will! You are not going to draw back now? Mr. Steel, I have saved your home. You are a happy man compared to what you were two hours ago. If the risk is great you have brains and imagination to get out of danger. Show me how to do it, and the rest shall be mine. You have never seen me, you know nothing, not even the name of the person who called you over the telephone. You have only to keep your own counsel, and if I wade in blood to my end you are safe. Tell me how I can die, disappear, leaving that one man to believe I am no more. And don't make it too ingenious. Don't forget that you promised to tell me a rational way out of the difficulty. How can it be done?"

"In my pocket I have a cutting from the Times, which contains a chapter from the history of a medical student who is alone in London. It closely resembles my plot. He says he has no friends, and he deems it prudent for reasons we need not discuss to let the world assume that he is dead. The rest is tolerably easy. He disguises himself and goes to a doctor of repute, whom he asks to come and see his brother—i.e., himself—who is dangerously ill. The doctor goes later in the day and finds his patient in bed with severe internal inflammation. This is brought about by a free use of albumen. I don't know what amount of albumen one would take without extreme risk, but you could pump that information out of any doctor. Well, our medical man calls again and yet again, and finds his patient sinking. The next day the patient, disguised, calls upon his doctor with the information that his 'brother' is dead. The doctor is not in the least surprised, and without going to view the body gives a certificate of death. Now, I admit that all this sounds cheap and theatrical, but you can't get over facts. The thing actually happened a little time ago in London, and there is no reason why it shouldn't happen again."

"You suggest that I should do this thing?" the voice asked.

"Pardon me, I did nothing of the kind," Steel replied. "You asked me to show you how my heroine gets herself out of a terrible position, and I am doing it. You are not without friends. The way I was called up to-night and the way I was brought here prove that. With the aid of your friends the thing is possible to you. You have only to find a lodging where people are not too observant and a doctor who is too busy, or too careless, to look after dead patients, and the thing is done. If you desire to be looked upon as dead—especially by a powerful enemy—I cannot recommend a more natural, rational way than this. As to the details, they may be safely left to you. The clever manner in which you have kept up the mystery to-night convinces me that I have nothing to teach you in this direction. And if there is anything more I can do——"

"A thousand, thousand thanks," the voice cried, passionately. "To be looked upon as 'dead,' to be near to the rascal who smiles to think that I am in my grave. . . . And everything so dull and prosaic on the surface! Yes, I have friends who will aid me in the business. Some day I may be able to thank you face to face, to tell you how I managed to see your plot. May I?"

The question came quite eagerly, almost imploringly. In the darkness Steel felt a hand trembling on his breast, a cool, slim hand, with many rings on the fingers. Steel took the hand and carried it to his lips.

"Nothing would give me greater pleasure," he said. "And may you be successful. Good-night."

"Good-night, and God bless you for a real gentleman and a true friend. I will go out of the room first and put the lights up afterwards. You will walk away and close the door behind you. The newspaper cutting! Thanks. And once more good-night, but let us hope not good-bye."

She was gone. Steel could hear the distant dying swish of silk, the rustling of the portiere, and then, with a flick, the lights came up again. Half-blinded by the sudden illumination Steel fumbled his way to the door and into the street. As he did so Hove Town Hall clock chimed two. With a cigarette between his teeth David made his way home.

He could not think it all out yet; he would wait until he was in his own comfortable chair under the roses and palms leading from his study. A fine night of adventure, truly, and a paying one. He pressed the precious packet of notes to his side and his soul expanded.

He was home at last. But surely he had closed the door before he started? He remembered distinctly trying the latch. And here the latch was back and the door open. The quick snap of the electric light declared nobody in the dining-room. Beyond, the study was in darkness. Nobody there, but—stop!

A stain on the carpet; another by the conservatory door. Pots of flowers scattered about, and a huddled mass like a litter of empty sacks in one corner. Then the huddled mass resolved itself into the figure of a man with a white face smeared with blood. Dead! Oh, yes, dead enough.

Steel flew to the telephone and rang furiously.

"Give me 52, Police Station," he cried. "Are you there? Send somebody at once up here—15, Downend Terrace. There has been murder done here. For Heaven's sake come quickly."

Steel dropped the receiver and stared with strained eyes at the dreadful sight before him.

CHAPTER IV.

For some time—a minute, an hour—Steel stood over the dreadful thing huddled upon the floor of his conservatory. Just then he was incapable of consecutive ideas.

His mind began to move at length. The more he thought of it the more absolutely certain he was that he had fastened the door before leaving the house. True, the latch was only an ordinary one, and a key might easily have been made to fit it. As a matter of fact, David had two, one in reserve in case of accidents. The other was usually kept in a jewel-drawer of the dressing-table. Perhaps——

David went quietly upstairs. It was just possible that the murderer was in the house. But the closest search brought nothing to light. He pulled out the jewel-drawer in the dressing-table. The spare latch-key had gone! Here was something to go upon.

Then there was a rumbling of an electric bell somewhere that set David's heart beating like a drum. The hall light streamed on a policeman in uniform and an inspector in a dark overcoat and a hard felt hat. On the pavement was a long shallow tray, which David recognized mechanically as the ambulance.

"Something very serious, sir?" Inspector Marley asked, quietly. "I've brought the doctor with me."

David nodded. Both the inspector and the doctor were acquaintances of his. He closed the door and led the way into the study. Just inside the conservatory and not far from the huddled figure lay David's new cigar-case. Doubtless, without knowing it, the owner had whisked it off the table when he had sprung the telephone.

"Um," Marley muttered. "Is this a clue, or yours, sir?"

He lifted the case with its diamonds gleaming like stars on a dark night. David had forgotten all about it for the time, had forgotten where it came from, or that it contained £250 in bank-notes.

"Not mine," he said. "I mean to say, of course, it is mine. A recent present. The shock of this discovery has deprived me of my senses pretty well."

Marley laid the cigar-case on the table. It seemed strange to him, who could follow a tragedy calmly, that a man should forget his own property. Meanwhile Cross was bending over the body. David could see a face smooth like that of a woman. A quick little exclamation came from the doctor.

"A drop of brandy here, and quick as possible," he commanded.

"You don't mean to say," Steel began; "you don't——"

Cross waved his arm, impatiently. The brandy was procured as speedily as possible. Steel, watching intently, fancied that he detected a slight flicker of the muscles of the white, stark face.

"Bring the ambulance here," Cross said, curtly. "If we can get this poor chap to the hospital there is just a chance for him. Fortunately, we have not many yards to go."

As far as elucidation went Marley naturally looked to Steel.

"I should like to have your explanation, sir," he said, gravely.

"Positively, I have no explanation to offer," David replied. "About midnight I let myself out to go for a stroll, carefully closing the door behind me. Naturally, the door was on the latch. When I came back an hour or so later, to my horror and surprise I found those marks of a struggle yonder and that poor fellow lying on the floor of the conservatory."

"Um. Was the door fast on your return?"

"No, it was pulled to, but it was open all the same."

"You didn't happen to lose your latch-key during your midnight stroll, sir?"

"No, it was only when I put my key in the door that I discovered it to be open. I have a spare latch-key which I keep for emergencies, but when I went to look for it just now the key was not to be found. When I came back the house was perfectly quiet."

"What family have you, sir? And what kind of servants?"

"There is only myself and my mother, with three maids. You may dismiss any suspicion of the servants from your mind at once. My mother trained them all in the old vicarage where I was born, and not one of the trio has been with us less than twelve years."

"That simplifies matters somewhat," Marley said, thoughtfully. "Apparently your latch-key was stolen by somebody who has made careful study of your habits. Do you generally go for late walks after your household has gone to bed, sir?"

David replied somewhat grudgingly that he had never done such a thing before. He would like to have concealed the fact, but it was bound to come out sooner or later. He had strolled along the front and round Brunswick Square. Marley shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, it's a bit of a puzzle to me," he admitted. "You go out for a midnight walk—a thing you have never done before—and when you come back you find somebody has got into your house by means of a stolen latch-key and murdered somebody else in your conservatory. According to that, two people must have entered the house."

"That's logic," David admitted. "There can be no murder without the slain and the slayer. My impression is that somebody who knows the ways of the house watched me depart. Then he lured his victim in here under pretence that it was his own house—he had the purloined latch-key—and murdered him. Audacious, but a far safer way than doing it out of doors."

But Marley's imagination refused to go so far. The theory was plausible enough, he pointed out respectfully, if the assassin had been assured that these midnight rambles were a matter of custom. The point was a shrewd one, and Steel had to admit it. He almost wished now that he had suggested that he often took these midnight rambles. He regretted the fiction still more when Marley asked if he had had some appointment elsewhere to-night.

"No," David said, promptly, "I hadn't."

He prevaricated without hesitation. His adventure in Brunswick Square could not possibly have anything to do with the tragedy, and nothing would be gained by betraying that trust.

"I'll run round to the hospital and come and see you again in the morning, sir," Marley said. "Whatever was the nature of the crime, it wasn't robbery, or the criminal wouldn't have left that cigar-case of yours behind. Sir James Lythem had one stolen like that at the last races, and he valued it at £80."

"I'll come as far as the hospital with you," said Steel.

At the bottom of the flight of steps they encountered Dr. Cross and the policeman. The former handed over to Marley a pocket-book and some papers, together with a watch and chain.

"Everything that we could find upon him," he explained.

"Is the poor fellow dead yet?" David asked.

"No," Cross replied. "He was stabbed twice in the back in the region of the liver. I could not say for srue, but there is just a chance that he may recover. But one thing is pretty certain—it will be a good long time before he is in a position to say anything for himself. Good-night, Mr. Steel."

David went indoors thoughtfully, with a general feeling that something like a hand had grasped his brain and was squeezing it like a sponge. He was free from his carking anxiety now, but it seemed to him that he was paying a heavy price for his liberty. Mechanically, he counted out the bank-notes, and almost as mechanically he cut his initials on the gun-metal inside the cigar-case. He was one of the kind of men who like to have their initials everywhere.

He snapped the lights out and went to bed at last. But not to sleep. The welcome dawn came at length and David took his bath gratefully. He would have to tell his mother what had happened, suppressing all reference to the Brunswick Square episode. It was not a pleasant story, but Mrs. Steel assimilated it at length over her early tea and toast.

"It might have been you, my dear," she said, placidly. "And, indeed, it is a dreadful business. But why not telephone to the hospital and ask how the poor fellow is?"

The patient was better but was still in an unconscious condition.

CHAPTER V.

Steel swallowed a hasty breakfast and hurried off townwards. He had £1,000 packed away in his cigar-case, and the sooner he was free from Beckstein the better he would be pleased. He came at length to the offices of Messrs. Mossa and Mack, whose brass-plate bore the legend that the gentry in questions were solicitors, and that they also had a business in London. As David strode into the offices of the senior partner that individual looked up with a shade of anxiety in his deep, Oriental eyes.

"If you have come to offer terms," he said, nasally, "I am sorry——"

"To hear that I have come to pay you in full," David said, grimly; £974 16s. 4d. up to yesterday, which I understand is every penny you can rightfully claim. Here it is. Count it."

He opened the cigar-case and took the notes therefrom. Mr. Mossa counted them very carefully indeed. The shade of disappointment was still upon his aquiline features. He had hoped to put in execution to-day and sell David up. In that way quite £200 might have been added to his legitimate earnings.

"It appears to be all correct," Mossa said, dismally.

"So I imagined, sir. You will be so good as to indorse the receipt on the back of the writ. Of course you are delighted to find that I am not putting you to painful extremities. Any other firm of solicitors would have given me time to pay this. But I am like the man who journeyed from Jericho to Jerusalem——"

"And fell amongst thieves! You dare to call me a thief? You dare——"

"I didn't," David said, drily. "That fine, discriminating mind of yours saved me the trouble. I have met some tolerably slimy scoundrels in my time, but never any one of them more despicable than yourself. Faugh! the mere sight of you sickens me. Let me get out of the place so that I can breathe."

David strode out of the office with the remains of his small fortune rammed into his pocket. In the wild, unreasoning rage that came over him he had forgotten his cigar-case. And it was some little time before Mr. Mossa was calm enough to see the diamonds winking at him.

"Our friend is in funds," he muttered. "Well, he shall have a dance for his cigar-case. I'll send it up to the police-station and say that some gentleman or other left it here by accident. And if that Steel comes back we can say that there is no cigar-case here. And if Steel does not see the police advertisement he will lose his pretty toy, and serve him right. Yes, that is the way to serve him out."

Mr. Mossa proceeded to put his scheme into execution whilst David was strolling along the sea front. He was too excited for work, though he felt easier in his mind than he had done for months. He turned mechanically on to the Palace Pier, at the head of which an Eastbourne steamer was blaring and panting. The trip appealed to David in his present frame of mind. Like most of his class, he was given to acting on the spur of the moment . . . . It was getting dark as David let himself into Downend Terrace with his latch-key.

How good it was to be back again! The eye of the artist rested fondly upon the beautiful things around. And but for the sport of chance, the whim of fate, these had all passed from him by this time. It was good to look across the dining-table over Venetian glass, to see the pools of light cast by the shaded electric, to note the feathery fall of flowers, and to see that placid, gentle fact in its frame of white hair opposite him. Mrs. Steel's simple, unaffected pride in her son was not the least gratifying part of David's success.

"You have not suffered from the shock, mother?" he asked.

"Well, no," Mrs. Steel confessed, placidly. "You see, I never had what people call nerves, my dear. And, after all, I saw nothing. Still, I am very, very sorry for that poor young man, and I have sent to inquire after him several times."

"He is no worse or I should have heard of it."

"No, and no better. And Inspector Marley has been here to see you twice to-day."

David pitied himself as much as a man could pity himself considering his surroundings. It was rather annoying that this should have happened at a time when he was so busy. And Marley would have all sorts of questions to ask at all sorts of inconvenient seasons.

Steel passed into his study presently and lighted a cigarette. Despite his determination to put the events of yesterday from his mind, he found himself constantly returning to them. What a splendid dramatic story they would make! And what a fascinating mystery could be woven round that gun-metal cigar-case!

By the way, where was the cigar-case? On the whole it would be just as well to lock the case away till he could discover some reasonable excuse for its possession. His mother would be pretty sure to ask where it came from, and David could not prevaricate so far as she was concerned. But the cigar-case was not to be found, and David was forced to the conclusion that he had left it in Mossa's office.

A little annoyed with himself he took up the evening Argus. There was half a column devoted to the strange case at Downend Terrace, and just over it a late advertisement to the effect that a gun-metal cigar-case had been found and was in the hands of the police awaiting an owner.

David slipped from the house and caught a 'bus in St. George's Road.

At the police-station he learnt that Inspector Marley was still on the premises. Marley came forward gravely. He had a few questions to ask, but nothing to tell.

"And now perhaps you can give me some information?" David said, "You are advertising in to-night's Argus a gun-metal cigar-case set with diamonds."

"Ah," Marley said, eagerly, "can you tell us anything about it?"

"Nothing beyond the fact that I hope to satisfy you that the case is mine."

Marley stared open-mouthed at David for a moment, and then relapsed into his sapless official manner. He might have been a detective cross-examining a suspected criminal.

"Why this mystery?" David asked. "I have lost a gun-metal cigar-case set with diamonds, and I see a similar article is noted as found by the police. I lost it this morning, and I shrewdly suspect that I left it behind me at the office of Mr. Mossa."

"The case was sent here by Mr. Mossa himself," Marley admitted.

"Then, of course, it is mine. I had to give Mr. Mossa my opinion of him this morning, and by way of spiting me he sent that case here, hoping, perhaps, that I should not recover it. You know the case, Marley—it was lying on the floor of my conservatory last night."

"I did notice a gun-metal case there," Marley said, cautiously.

"As a matter of fact, you called my attention to it and asked if it was mine."

"And you said at first that it wasn't sir."

"Well, you must make allowances for my then frame of mind," David laughed. "I rather gather from your manner that somebody else has been after the case; if that is so, you are right to be reticent. Still, it is in your hands to settle the matter on the spot. All you have to do is to open the case, and if you fail to find my initials, D.S., scratched in the left-hand top corner, then I have lost my property and the other fellow has found his."

In the same reticent fashion Marley proceeded to unlock a safe in the corner, and from thence he produced what appeared to be the identical cause of all this talk. He pulled the electric table lamp over to him and proceeded to examine the inside carefully.

"You are quite right," he said, at length. "Your initials are here."

"Not strange, seeing that I scratched them there last night," said David, drily. "When? Oh, it was after you left my house last night."

"And it has been some time in your possession, sir?"

"Oh, confound it, no. It was—well, it was a present from a friend for a little service rendered. So far as I understand, it was purchased at Lockhart's, in North Street. No, I'll be hanged if I answer any more of your questions, Marley. I'll be your Aunt Sally so far as you are officially concerned. But as to yonder case, your queries are distinctly impertinent."

Marley shook his head gravely, as one might over a promising but headstrong boy.

"Do I understand that you decline to account for the case?" he asked.

"Certainly I do. It is connected with some friends of mine to whom I rendered a service a little time back. The whole thing is and must remain an absolute secret."

"You are placing yourself in a very delicate position, Mr. Steel."

David started at the gravity of the tone. That something was radically wrong came upon him like a shock. And he could see pretty clearly that, without betraying confidence, he could not logically account for the possession of the cigar-case. In any case it was too much to expect that the stolid police officer would listen to so extravagant a tale for a moment.

"What on earth do you mean, man?" he cried.

"Well, it's this way, sir," Marley proceeded to explain. "When I pointed out the case to you lying on the floor of your conservatory last night you said it wasn't yours. You looked at it with the eyes of a stranger, and then you said you were mistaken. From information given me last night I have been making inquiries about the cigar-case. You took it to Mr. Mossa's and from it you produced notes to the value of nearly £1,000 to pay off a debt. Within eight-and forty hours you had no more prospect of paying that debt than I have at this moment. Of course, you will be able to account for those notes. You can, of course?"

Marley looked eagerly at his visitor. A cold chill was playing up and down Steel's spine. Not to save his life could he account for those notes.

"We will discuss that when the proper time comes," he said, with fine indifference.

"As you please, sir. From information also received I took the case to Walen's, in West Street, and asked Mr. Walen if he had seen the case before. Pressed to identify it, he handed me a glass and asked me to find the figures (say) '1771. x. 3,' in tiny characters on the edge. I did so by the aid of the glass, and Mr. Walen further proceeded to show me an entry in his purchasing ledger which proved that a cigar-case in gun-metal and diamonds bearing that legend had been added to the stock recently—a few weeks ago in fact."

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

John Bull Not So Thirsty As In The Past

Wave of Sobriety is Flowing Over Great Britain—Yet Briton's Thirst is Marvellous—Would Take a Large Tumbler to Hold One Year's Supply—Wines Outweighed Half Population of London County.

That the "wave of sobriety" to which the late Chancellor of the Exchequer referred in his Budget speech in the British Parliament last year is still flowing is proved by the fact that last year John Bull spent nearly £5,000,000 less on intoxicants than in the previous years—more accurately, he saved £401,602 every month on his drink bill. And this is no exceptional or spasmodic effort on his part, for his thirst has been now declining steadily for six years, to such an extent that in 1905 his alcoholic drinks actually cost him more than £21,750,000, or nearly £60,000 a day, less than in 1889.

If the present rate of decline continues, it is estimated that by 1930 the British drink bill will have fallen below £100,000,000 a year, a smaller amount than it has ever totalled since the year 1863; and this in spite of the fact that the population will probably then be 60,000,000. If this desirable consummation is realized, the amount spent per head on intoxicants two dozen years hence will be only £1 13s. 4d., or less than half its amount when Queen Victoria came to the throne.

It is not easy to realize from these figures what such a decrease in the consumption of liquor as was experienced last year really means. We get a better conception of it when we find that the beer alone of which John Bull voluntarily deprived himself every month of last year, as compared with 12 months earlier, would fill a bottle 50 feet in diameter—so capacious that it would take 25 Lifeguardsmen to touch hands round its base, and rising higher than the pillar of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar Square.

But in spite of the six years' decline, the Briton's thirst for alcoholic drinks is still a thing to marvel at. If all the (diluted) spirits he drank last year were placed in one leviathan glass, the tumbler (would be more than 200 yards in mean circumference (less than nine circuits to the mile); it would tower 80 yards higher than the apex of the cross on the St. Paul's Cathedral, London, and would require a spoon four times the length of the London Monument to stir it with. From this glass John Bull could drink 14,300 gallons every hour, night and day, for 12 months, without exhausting its contents.

His Beer Bottle.

John's aggregate beer bottle for 1905 was naturally of much more startling dimensions. It was 150 yards in diameter (more than a quarter of a mile around it) and rose 100 yards higher than the famous Eiffel tower, or roughly four times as high as the clock tower at Westminster—and this without taking into account its still more soaring neck—while it would require a cork so enormous that ten regiments of soldiers could find standing room on it. All the ships in the British navy could float on the contents of this Brobdingnagian bottle of beer; and they would fill a sufficient number of barrels to reach in single row two-fifths of the way around the Equator.

Weight of Wines.

As for the wines John drank last year, they far outweighed half the population of the County of London; a dozen cruisers could float on them; and they were disposed of at the rate of little less than 20,000 bottles night and day, throughout the year. One need not be a temperance enthusiast to find such mental pictures staggering; but what must one think when we find that in 60 years the British thirst has been indulged at a cost of over £7,389,000,000 —a sum more than nine times that of the national debt.

Has Thirstier Neighbours.

It is, however, some satisfaction to know that however thirsty John Bull is, many of his neighbours are thirstier still. It is true that the average Briton drinks 31 gallons of beer in a year; but this is abstinence compared with the Belgian's 47 gallons, the Bavarian's 54 gallons, and the Wurtemberger's 42 gallons. Of wine, the Italian drinks 23 (in 1902 it was 27) gallons in 12 months; the Frenchman 22, and the Spaniard 15 gallons, whereas the Briton is content with a moderate third of a gallon, or a bottle every six months. As a spirit drinker, too, the Briton compares favourably with his neighbours, for while he consumes four-fifths of a gallon yearly, the Dane disposes of 3 1-4 gallons, the German drinks nearly a couple of gallons, and the South Australian (Northern Territory) exceeds three gallons.

It is interesting to note, in conclusion, that, while last year the Englishman spent an average of £3 19s. 10d. on intoxicants, the Scotsman's expenditure was £3 1s. 9d., and the Irishman's only 10d. over £3. Of the three nationalities, the Scotsman is far the most abstemious in beer, but his thirst for spirits runs to 1 3-5 gallons a year.

"Next Please" Question Solved

Mechanical Device Invented for the Barber Shop.

The matter of who is "next" in the barber shop often occasions unpleasant incidents, and the offended person may leave the place, never to return. To obviate these incidents, a mechanical device has recently been invented by which the patrons are summoned in proper order. It consists of a dial secured in a prominent part of the place. The patron has merely to glance at this at such times as his attention is attracted by the ringing of a bell, and when he sees the number which corresponds to that on a check which was handed to him as he entered, he knows it is his turn. This signal is given by the barber whose chair has just been vacateed, by touching an electric button placed at a convenient point on the chair or fixtures.

red and this custom has continued to the present time.

Col. Sir Alex. Moncrieff, the inventor of the Moncrieff disappearing gun, died recently at his Perthshire residence, in his 78th year. It was while watching the bombardment of the fortress at Sebastopol, during the Crimean War, that the idea of the system for mounting heavy ordnance with which his name is inseparably associated, entered Moncrieff's mind. This is what is known as the Moncrieff disappearing system, the idea being that the gun should be exposed to the enemy only while it is actually being fired, then recoiling into shelter and out of sight, and the energy of the gun being stored up so as to raise the gun into firing position when loaded again. The practicability of the idea he was convinced of, but it was many years before it matured into practical form.

There was a strong element of comedy about a charge of burglary investigated at Edinburgh a few days ago. Mr. Louis Rainbow, was asleep in his house about 4 o'clock in the morning, when he heard hammering at his door. He shouted, but the banging, which was described by Mr. Rainbow as being like the bombardment of 20 men, continued. The burglar, it turned out, was deaf, and so did not hear the householder's outcries. The latter, very frightened, threw his bedding out of the window and jumped upon it, shouting loudly until a couple of policemen arrived. When the officers entered the house they found the burglar kneeling at the door of a wardrobe. He was too deaf to hear their arrival.

There has been more drunkenness in Glasgow since the public houses were closed at 10 o'clock than when there was no restriction. Four thousand more cases have been heard this year than last, and the number of persons found drunk and incapable shows an increase of 2,077, while 1,533 more were convicted of being drunk and disorderly this year than in the corresponding months of last. It is pointed out that since it is no longer possible to get drink after the theatres and other places of entertainment close, people buy bottles of whisky before the public houses are shut. Clubs—in reality drinking bars—are also more generally attended, and altogether larger quantities of drink are now being bought.

The wedding of Mr. Jas. Baird Jackson and Miss Mary Shiker, of Huntley, Aberdeenshire, which took place at Oban recently, is invested with a strong tinge of romance. The parties met each other for the first time a week previously. Mr. Jackson was cruising in his yacht, the Eileen, and on arriving at Inverness, met Miss Shiker at a friend's house. It was a case of love at first sight; he proposed, was accepted, and the sequel was reached in the chambers of an Oban solicitor, where they were married by the declaration of the sheriff. Mr. Jackson is a young gentleman of wealth.

The rector of Lowestoft, the Rev. Tupper Carey, who has gained the title of "the fisherman's parson," has arrived in the Shetlands to preach to the Lowestoft fishermen at Lerwick, where their boats are now prosecuting the herring fishing. When they were engaged in the mackerel fishing off the Cornish coast a few months ago, the rector travelled to Newlyn, and preached to the Lowestoft men there. These two visits involve a total distance of some 3,000 miles.

In the little Hebridean Island of Mingalay, Inverness-shire, the inhabitants have not paid rent or rates for years. The reason assigned for this is that the cost of sitting defaulters to Lochmaddy to one of the infrequent courts held there and of executing judgments is prohibitive.

IRELAND

A dastardly outrage on a party of touring motorists occurred recently near Macroom, County Cork, Ireland. Captain Lynch, Mrs. Lynch, her sister, andt he chauffeur, were examining the ignition arrangements of the car, which had broken down, when a man drove up in a cart and stopped to watch the operations. After a moment he became abusive, and jumping off his car, savagely attacked Captain Lynch who pushed his assailant off. An instant later four men emerged from a house nearby, and rushing up joined the first man, and all five attacked the motoring party. Three of them engaged Captain Lynch, and throwing him down beat and cuffed and kicked him severely while the chauffeur was being similarly maltreated by the other two. Mrs. Lynch and her sister courageously went to the rescue and turned the affray in favour of Captain Lynch by pulling off some of his assailants and enabling him to regain his feet. Bruised all over and bleeding from wounds on his head and face, Captain Lynch rushed to the motor car in which he carried a revolver and secured the weapon. The instant the men saw that he was armed they decamped. The individual who startedd the attack jumped on his cart, and drove off in the direction of Macroom while the four others rushed back to the house. Captain Lynch despatched his chauffeur in the motor car to Macroom, to inform the police of the occurrence, while, revolver in hand, he kept guard on the house in which the men took refuge. The chauffeur returned with a sergeant and two constables and at once entered the house and arrested the three men.

"Do you want to go to penal servitude?" said Judge Wright to a prisoner named Allan at the Dublin city commission court recently. "I do, sir," was the reply. "Well, I am afraid, sir," said His Lordship, "that I cannot gratify your desire." Allen had surrendered at Lincoln on his own confession of having stolen from the jewelry shops in Dublin property to the amount of 3,200 pounds. When inquiries were made by the police, however, it was found that several of the details in the prisoner's statements were obviously untrue. He said, for instance, that he had thrown a lot of valuable articles overboard on his passage to Liverpool, but it was proven that he had not left Dublin at the time. His story of his trip to America to sell the stolen jewelry was similarly shown to be false. He has been twice previously sentenced for offences in regard to which his own confession was the only evidence and of which it is now believed he was innocent.

The Irish lion industry at the Dublin Zoo is going ahead. At the meeting of the Royal Zoological Society of Ireland recently, the secretary informed the council that two more lion cubs had been born in the outside lion cage. This is the first time cubs have been bred in the open in the Dublin gardens, and as far as can be ascertained is the first time such an event has occurred in any gardens. Dublin led the example of keeping lions in pens entirely open all the year around. The cubs are healthy. One of them is already purchased, and when old enough is to travel with a comrade to another continent.

At Dublin City Commission, Maxwell J. Boyle, a J. P., for the County of Cavan, whose address was given as Glendaoragh, Ederney, County Fermanagh, was recently sentenced to six months imprisonment, without hard labour, on a charge of having written a defamatory libel in a letter addressed to a young woman. Justice Wright in passing sentence, said the letter was a most abominable production, and he found it difficult to believe that a young man in his senses would have written such a thing.

F. Laudon McGinnis, a distinguished graduate of Ogden College, Bowling Green, Kentucky, U.S., arrived at Queenstown, a few days ago, bound on an eight months walking tour through Great Britain, Ireland and the Continent. He is only 19 years of age and will start on his travels with 20 pounds, which he is confident will be sufficient to cover his expenses.

While bathing in Belfast Lough recently Constable Peter Naughton was savagely attacked by a large porpoise, which rushed at him several times. The constable who is a powerful swimmer, kicked at the fish with all his might and having succeeded in kicking it off swam ashore in a somewhat exhausted condition. The porpoise had bitten him rather severely.

BRAVE ACT BY A LONDON YOUTH

An act of splendid bravery, which saved the life of a child, was performed in the Thames off Greenwich, recently, by a lad, twelve years of age, named Charles Robinson. A number of children were playing on the steps leading from the terrace of the Royal Naval College to the river, when a four-year-old girl, Alice Bowman, fell into the water at the time the tide was running rapidly seaward and the water was very rough. Robinson, on hearing the shouts of the girl's companions, ran to the side and dived in without waiting to take off any of his clothes. After a strenuous swim he reached the girl, and then commenced a grim struggle against the tide to regain the landing place. Fortunately, the child did not clutch his arms, but seized his jacket, thus leaving him free to strike out. The boy was quite exhausted when he reached the steps with his burden.

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

A perfect breakfast is impossible without it and it's just as good three times a day. It gives you real nourishment and renewed vitality. For Malta-Vita is rich in nutrition—every nutritive element of the best white wheat and finest barley malt extract. The malt extract, mixed with the flaked wheat, converts the starch of the wheat into maltose or malt sugar, makes it easy for even the weakest stomach to digest and adds a pleasing taste which cannot be found in grain foods sweetened with sugar, glucose or syrups. Try Malta-Vita with cream or fruit. All grocers, now 10c.

Ballonist Will Attempt Record

Dr. Thomas to Remain in the Air for a Day and a Night.

(Examiner Special.)

New York, September 1. — In the presence of about two thousand persons, Dr. Julian P. Thomas, an amateur aeronaut, accompanied by his brother Jefferson Davis Thomas, of Augusta, Ga., made a successful balloon ascension late yesterday afternoon.

If his plans meet with success all ballooning records for the time being will be broken for Dr. Thomas has his car equipped with a propeller arrangement by which he expects to steer the huge gas bag, and he proposes remaining up to-night and to-morrow.

Provisions for a lengthy trip were taken along, and heavy fur coats were also carried, as old weather was expected high in the air. The balloon was last seen moving south over New Jersey.

Dazzling Dress For Women Police

Brass Buttons, Bloomers and Grecian Helmets Suggested For Applicants.

Atlantic City, September 1.—Mayor Stoy'at hreat to use women as police, because of the scarcity of able-bodied men willing to wear brass buttons on the beach, has aroused the question of the proper costume in which the fair sex are to be caparisoned. Several women who want jobs on the force have taken the matter into their own hands. One of them sent a letter to the Mayor to-day with a sketch of her curves and angles, and a treatise on dress.

"I hope I will not be thought presumptuous," she wrote, "when I say that the uniforms which I am compelled to wear will have considerable to do with my acceptance, if I am selected. I have in mind a uniform of blue, with coat tight fitting, and reaching below the waist. With this I should suggest brass buttons and gold braid as trimming. The skirt should reach below the knee and be met by patent leather boots."

Then follows the entrancing diagram of the young woman herself so attired; the diagram was filed for reference.

Another applicant wants to suggest "Princess." She embodied her suggestions in dressmaker's jargon and the Mayor had to take the letter home to his wife to translate the gores, tucks, pleatings and valances into cop English. She wants "brass buttons, very large," and gold braid. She thinks a "lady policeman" thus attired would be a great success, both for the woman and the peace of the beach.

A third applicant wanted to wear bloomers, "scant cut" with side stripes, cartridge belt with holster. A fourth one suggested a perfect dream of a Grecian helmet and still another suggested a bathing suit — with stockings—and a pink rosette as the badge of authority.

Wasp Eggs For Bait Caused Trouble

Tumbles Into Hornets and Spoiled His Outing.

(Examiner Special.)

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 1.—Herbert Ingham, an Englishman, who lives in South Manchester, got some "wasps" nests, expecting to use the eggs for fish bait on his day off. He shut them in a bureau drawer.

Yesterday he went for the eggs, opened the drawer, and bizz, bizz, out came a swarm of yellow hornets, which stung him on the hands and face. He dropped the nest and shut drawer, then opened it a bit and spent the remainder of the afternoon killing the hornets as they ventured out of the crack. He spent the remainder of his day off reducing the hornet stings.

A Timely Suggestion

Everybody experiences a certain degree of lassitude during the period of early spring and summer. While this may not be at all alarming in the case of the robust and healthy, it is an entirely different matter to those who are not naturally strong, who take cold easily, who are predisposed to consumption, or who, from any cause are not "up to the mark." These require something to build up and fortify the system, something that will assist nature to restore a healthy and normal tone, not a stimulant, but a builder. The ideal system builder is

The Wide Death Swarth Cut By Baleful Cigarette

Cigarette Smoking Impairs Intellectual Activity---Dulls Perception and Conduces to Criminality.

"I advise every cigarette victim to have his photograph taken every year and put side by side in a frame in his room, where he can see the gradual deterioration in himself from year to year. If this does not startle him and bring him to his senses, no preaching will ever do it, for the pictures will be a sermon more eloquent than ever came from the pulpit."—Orison Sweet Marden in Success.

A recent number of Success contains an article, written by its editor, on an evil which is slowly draining out the life of millions of youth. Mr. Marder, to illustrate the transition of a healthy boy to ruin, who unfortunately for himself, and, we may add for the nation, enters upon the first step of cigarette smoking, accompanies his warning against the habit of inhaling nicotine and factory drugged tobacco, with "cuts" of youthful faces, ranging from the first stage of cigarette consumption to the last point, when health is shattered. The editor of Success discusses in a fatherly way, the dangers to health and mind induced by indulgence in cigarette smoking. Counselling youth and adults who have formed the habit of inducing death through nicotine-opium poisoning drawn from cigarettes, he says:

Why Condemned.

"I leave it to others to discuss the normal side of cigarette smoking. I denounce it simply because it kills the ambition and preceptions, because it destroys the ability to concentrate the mind, which is the secret of all achievement. The whole tendency of the cigarette nicotine poison in the youth is to arrest development. It is fatal to all normal functions. It blights and blasts both health and morals. It not only ruins the faculties but it unbalances the mind. In fact the moral depravity which follows the cigarette habit is something frightful. Lying, cheating, impurity, loss of moral courage and manhood, a complete dropping of life's standards all along the lines are its general results."

Medical expert authority declares that the cigarette habit is more to more to be deplored and more fatal to the stability of the nation than drunkenness. Juvenile Court judges police magistrates, superintendents of lunatic asylums, all who are engaged in the reformation of young boys, publicly declare that cigarette smoking is responsible for two-thirds of the crime committed in the United States. Police Justice Crane, of New York city, in his condemnation of cigarette smoking, says:

The Cigarette and Crime.

"Ninety-nine out of a hundred boys between the ages of ten and seventeen years, who come before me charged with crime, have their fingers disfigured by yellow cigarette stains. I am not a crank on the subject. I do not care to pose as a reformer, but it is my opinion that cigarettes will do MORE than liquor to ruin boys. When you have arraigned before you boys hopelessly deaf through the excessive use of cigarettes, boys who have stolen their sisters' earnings, boys who absolutely refuse to work, who do nothing but gamble and steal, you cannot help seeing that a great deal of this boyhood crime is, in my mind, easy to trace to the deadly cigarette. There is something in the poison of the cigarette that seems to get into the system of the boy, and to destroy all moral fibres."

Another New York city police magistrate agrees with his brother justice, Mr. Crane, in attributing to cigarette indulgence, a majority of crime. He says:

"Yesterday I had before me thirty-five boy prisoners. Thirty-three of them were confirmed cigarette smokers. To-day from a reliable source I have made the gruesome discovery that two of the largest cigarette manufactories soak their product in a weak solution of opium. Tobacco is the boy's easiest and most direct route to whisky. When opium is added the young man's [illegible] resisting the combined forces [illegible] caping a physical, mental and moral harm, is slim, indeed."

Nicotine Poison.

Dr. J. J. Kellogg, a medical expert of New York, states that he found enough nicotine in one cigarette to kill a frog. "A boy," he says, "who smokes twenty cigarettes a day has inhaled enough poison to kill forty frogs." In explaining why nicotine poisoning does not quickly kill a boy, Dr. Kellogg says: "It does kill him. If not immediately he will die sooner or later of weak heart, Bright's disease, or some other malady which scientific physicians now everywhere recognize as a natural result of nicotine poisoning."

The president of the Northwestern University, requests all students of that instution who will not refrrain from cigarette smoking to leave. A business college in the East refuses to accept pupils who have formed the cigarette habit. Sity-nine business firms in Detroit, perhaps more, have agreed not to employ cigarette users. In the Detroit Free Press composing room a notice is posted warning employees against the use of cigarettes while at work. Marshall Field and Company, of Chicago, the Morgan and Wright Tire Corporation, and thousands of other industries will not permit cigarette smoking by their help during working hours.

Wrecks Manhood.

The cadets of the United States Military and Naval Academies, are forbidden to indulge in cigarettes under the penalty of expulsion. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, when President McKinley made a call for volunteers, the majority of the rejected men were cigarette fiends. E. H. Harriman, a higgh official of the Union Pacific Railway declares: "We might as well go to a lunatic asylum for our employees as to hire cigarette users." The New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Lehigh Valley and the Burlington Railway have issued strict orders against the use of cigarettes by employees while on duty.

Greed of Makers.

The Tobacco Trust spent $50,000 to defeat the anti-cigarette bill introduced into the Michigan Legislature last year. Some who voted to defeat the measure have boys themselves, but what does a man without honour, who is in the game of politics for all the graft there is in political life, care whether his own son, or some other citizen's son, is permitted by law to commit slow suicide, through cigarette smoking, when the Tobacco Trust requires legislative aid? The gigantic monopoly of tobacco is responsible for the wreck and ruin of health and mind of the nation's youth. Every member of the next Legislature of Michigan should be pledged to vote for a bill to save youth from cigarette poisoning. It is only a question of time when the Federal Government will have to take steps for the suppression of the evil, which is more destructive to life than intoxicating drink — cigarette indulgence.

Blessed Trolley Line Leads To Shrine

Strange Scenes Are Witnessed in Quaint Ste. Anne de Beaupre---Devout People Climb Stairs on Their Knees---Tourists Go Out of Curiosity.

Quebec, Aug. 25.—There is but one place on the American continent where one can travel on a blessed trolley line. The rails are blessed, the ties are blessed, the cars are blessed, the roadbed is blessed, and, for all one knows, the conductors and motormen too.

It is the sacred trolley line which carries the pilgrims from Quebec to Ste. Anne de Beaupre which has thus been blessed, tie, rail and fuse, by a cardinal. They say that there have been accidents on the blessed trolley line, which seems incongruous; but certainly no 20-mile run in the country is prettier.

All the way to Beaupre the traveller has the St. Lawrence on the right, sometimes the river is running the same way as the car—that is, down, as a river ought to,—and sometimes it is going the other way. When it is flowing up country and there happens to be a wind, it breaks on the shore in little whitecaps, like an inland sea, with af unny little imitation of surf booming on the coast. The salt water does not get up to Quebec, but the tide rises 18 feet, nevertheless, the waters of the river being piled up by the tides below.

On the left of the trolley line are quaint little French villages all the way, with names as quaint as they. One is named Guardian Angel.

Anyone, however, who expects to find a primitive rural church at Beaupre will be disappointed. It is an immense and magnificent structure of gray stone. The great grounds about it are laid out in formal French gardening style, with graveled walks, flower beds and large statutes of saints.

In front of the church and connected with it, there is a long, covered stone portico with seats and tables, where frugal pilgrims may eat the luncheons they have brought.

Like a Seaside Resort.

In other ways the village reminds one of seaside resorts. There is the same atmosphere of catering to the tourist over all. There are cabs and hotel runners at the gate of the church grounds. The one long street is lined with hotels. One may count five of these named Ste. Anne. The same indifference to duplication of names prevails—throughout French Canada, where favorite saints are concerned. In Montreal there are two St. Jean streets, three St. Johns, two St. Hypolites, two Ste. Elizabeths, two St. Georges, two St. Alphonses, two St. Patricks, two St. Pauls, two St. Louis.

Beaupre is full of little shops, into which one can step directly off the sidewalk, and all of them, and the hotels as well, are full of souvenirs of the place, quite in summer resort style. One wonders how they can keep afloat, however, for all the business in this line seems to be done in the church store in the basement of the basilica. That is crowded at all times, and money is passing over the counters in a stream.

The mementoes are all of Ste. Anne and her daughter, the Virgin, in some shape. It is the old familiar figure of the mother and child, only in this case the child is a girl. One of these figures, oft repeated, is quaintly attractive. It is a statuette of Ste. Anne teaching the little Ste. Marie to read. She holds a scroll, the alphabet, in her hand, and the alphabet is in English.

On the bases of the pillars of the church, outside, there are inscriptions to good Ste. Anne. Good Ste. Anne, Grandmother of Jesus," one of them reads.

A Row of Chapels.

A row of chapels extends the whole length of the auditorium on either side. Each is maintained by a different society. Then they show a glass case full of the more valuable objects which have been left by visitors. There are heaps of bracelets, opera glasses and lorgnettes, and the number of pistols would indicate a large proportion of visitors from the far west. Two massive jeweled crowns have been made of the rings and other ornaments left. Most precious of all the gifts preserved is the chasuble, stiff with gold embroidery, presented by Anne of Austria, who is said to have worked it with her own hands.

"She was very pious, wasn't she?" said a woman in the tourist party.

"Oh, yes," said the priest who was acting as guide, "you know she got her child from Ste. Anne. She had been 22 years married when Louis XIV. was born."

The church, or rather the cathedral, for it was raised to the dignity of a basilica by Pius IX. is very richly decorated with a picture of Ste. Anne and the Virgin, by Lebrun, over the altar. Exquisite organ music sounds dreamily through its spaces. At all hours except early morning, in summer, at least, hundreds are passing in and out, which gives a curious impression when one surveys the wide, empty country spaces round about.

At fixed hours there are services, and it is said that for the benefit of pilgrims from "the States" these services are in the German, Italian, Dutch Flemish and Spanish, as well as in English and French. One closed by urging most earnestly the purchase of some memento.

"Do not leave", he said, "without buying a memento of good Ste. Anne. The 50 cents it costs you will never be missed, and it will be a thousand times repaid you in the care the good Ste. Anne will have over your health, your children and your business."

In obedience to this injunction a pilgrim from New York bought a little life of Ste. Anne, printed in Quebec, in French. The speaker was right. The 50 cents invested has never been missed and has been fully repaid by a perusal of the little book. It does not mention authorities, but it gives the whole history of Ste. Anne's life from birth to death, with a wealth of detail.

Well down in front of the altar is a pedestal bearing a round box covered with glass; and in this box is the little object which has built this great altar out among the fields—the knuckle bone of Ste. Anne. It is impossible in the dim-lit church to see the object in the box, but a continuous succession of men and women kiss the glass all day long.

Story of the Shrine.

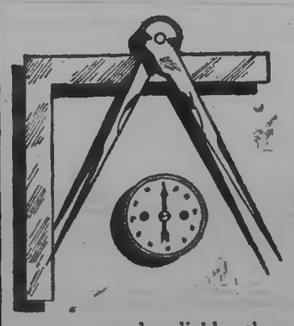
The story of the shrine is a romantic echo of the Middle Ages. Some Breton sailors early in the seventeenth century got caught in a storm. They vowed a sanctuary to Ste. Anne if she would save them, and when they came to port, just down there on the river bank, they walked up through the This is the fourth church that has been erected on the spot. The miraculous woods and built a little wooden shrine. Miracles began from the very first, though the knuckle bone and the rock from the grotto where the virgin was born did not arrive until later.

The age of faith still reigns to a degree startling to the unregenerate. They go up and down the holy stairs all day, every day in the year, on their knees. They are just plain wooden stairs, but in the rise of each one are set relics, let into the wood and covered with glass. There are 28 steps and two relics to each. On each step each pilgrim pauses to say a prayer and then stoops to kiss a relic.

The faithful all about this region make vows to Ste. Anne to visit her shrine on foot and walk 15 and 20 miles and back again to keep the vow. Sometimes they vow such a pilgrimage for ten years to come, or some other stated period; and they keep the vow unless death intervenes.

There are crutches a-plenty heaped at the front door of the church. There are cases full of glasses left by near-sighted persons. The priests who guide the tourist parties about the place tell of many and miraculous healings. The standard Quebec guidebook, an English publication, says the miracles are "oft-times reported daily during the pilgrimage season."

The Pandora Thermometer



The thermometer on the Pandora range oven means precisely in accuracy to the cook what the square and compass mean to the draftsman. Without the square and compass the draftsman would have to work entirely by guess, just as you do without an accurate and reliable thermometer on your oven.

The Pandora thermometer reduces cooking to an exact science. You know precisely how much heat you have and what it will do in a given time. It is one of the small things which makes the Pandora so much different and better than common ranges.

WHAT MEN HAVE SAID ABOUT THE WOMEN

COMPILED BY AGNES DEANS CAMERON

Sing of the nature of women, and then the song shall be surely full of variety, old crotchets, and most sweet closes. It shall be humourous, grave, fantastic, amorous, melancholy, sprightly, one in all and all in one.—Marston.

No man has yet discovered the means of giving successfully friendly advice to women—not even to his own.—Balzac.

A man should choose for a wife only such a woman as he would choose for a friend, were she a man.—Joubert.

A man philosophizes better than a woman on the human heart, but she reads the hearts of men better than he.—Rousseau.

A woman's preaching is like a dog's walking on his hind legs—it is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all.—Johnston.

Woman is the blood royal of life—let there be slight degrees of precedence among them, but let them all be sacred.—Burns.

Let a man pray that none of his woman-kind should form a just estimation of him.—Thackeray.

What is civilization? I answer, the power of good women.—Emerson.

To love is to admire with the heart: to admire is to love with the mind.—Gautier.

Two smiles that approach each other end in a kiss.—Hugo.

There is a woman at the beginning of all great things.—Lamartine.

I am sure I do not mean it an injury to women when I say there is a sort of sex in souls.—Steele.

A woman, when she has passed 40, becomes an illegible scrawl—only an old woman is capable of divining old women.—Balzac.

All the reasons of men are not worth one sentiment of woman.—Veltaire.

A beautiful woman with the qualities of a noble man is the most perfect thing in nature—La Bruyere.

Society is the book of women.—Rousseau.

What a strange illusion it is to suppose that beauty is goodness! A beautiful woman utters absurdities—we listen and we hear not the absurdities, but wise thoughts.—Tolstoi.

Love lessens the woman's refinement, and strengthens the man's.—Richter.

Women and music should never be dated.—Goldsmith.

Women go further in love than most men, but men go further in friendship than women.—La Bruyere.

At first woman fosters our dearest hopes with the affection of a mother; then, like a giddy hen, she forsakes the nest.—Goethe.

There are some lips from which even the proudest women love to hear the censures which appear to disprove indifference.—Lytton.

Women forgive injuries, but never forget slights.—Haliburton.

A woman whose ruling passion is not vanity is superior to any man of equal capacity.—Lavater.

I will not affirm that women have no character; rather, they have a new one every day.—Heine.

To marry is to domesticate the Recording Angel.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

As the faculty of writing is chiefly a masculine endowment, the reproach of making the world miserable has been always thrown upon the women.—Johnston.

Woman is a changeable thing, as our Virgil informed us at school: but her change par excellence is from the fairy you woo to the brownie you wed.—Lytton.

The man who can govern a woman can govern a nation.—Balzac.

Apelles used to paint a good housewife on a snail, to import that she was a home-keeper.—Howell.

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Mrs. Eaton Recovering, Although Her Physician Said She Might Drop Dead at Any Time.

MRS. ROBT. EATON

"The Doctor told me I had heart disease and was liable to drop on the street at any time, says Mrs. Robt. Eaton, of Dufferin, Ont.

"My trouble began four years ago with a weak heart. I was often afraid to draw my breath, it pained me so. I was bothered with nervousness, shortness of breath dizziness, loss of sad petite, smotheringand sinking spells, and I could not sleep.

"Sometimes a great weakness would seize me and I would have to lie down to keep from falling. My hands and feet would seem to go to sleep and a sort of numbness would come all over me and perhaps immediately after the blood would rush to my head and a series of hot flashes would envelop me.

"I took all kinds of medicines, but kept gradually growing worse until about eight weeks ago, when I began using Dr. Leonhardi's Anti-Pill. From the start I improved, until now my appetite has returned, I can sleep well, and have no nervousness, dizziness, palpitation, faintness or any of my other troubles. They They have all entirely disappeared. I feel much stronger, look better, and altogether Anti-Pill has made a new woman of me.

"I am entirely cured and cannot say too much for this wonderful remedy. I would most heartily recommend Anti-Pill to anyone suffering as I did."

Either Independence Or Armed Insurrection

The Result of American-Russianizing Methods in the Philippines—"Graft" Takes the Place of Justice.

The United States newspapers were very active in jeering Great Britain over her early reverses in South Africa, in her fight with the brainiest, most resourceful, well-entrenched, and well-armed of enemies. Yet the Britishers had the Boers trimmed and things settled years before the Yankees had overcome the half-naked, half-armed Filipinos. And Uncle Sam has not done with his trouble there yet, as witness the following article from Collier's Weekly, a leading American journal, written by Herbert Ross:

When the Senate, in the late session of Congress, refused to grant some small measure of industrial relief and moral justice to the Philippines, the members responsible therefor were co-operating as directly with the Filipino insurrectors—the end another bloody uprising—as though they were spinning their plot together under the same roof and both spitting betel nut at the same crack in a bamboo floor. For let no one be surprised if the action of the Senate in refusing to grant a market to Philippine products should result in a recrudescence of armed insurrection in the Philippines. The embers of revolt are glowing; it needs little to fan them into flame.

It was like a slap in the face to native leaders, when last August Secretary Taft and party visited Manila, to be told by the Secretary that independence was not a matter of years, but of generations; that his previous utterances had been along the lines of expediency, that he had been "jollying" them while Governor, but that his latest utterances were official and final. Needless to say, there were muttered accusations of bad faith on the part of the United States, and the popularity of the former Governor waned to the vanishing point.

During the visit of the Congressional party to the islands, the natives were given frequent assurances that they would be given relief from the industrial depression that covers the country like a blanket; they were told that the high tariff on sugar and tobacco, the principal products of the islands, would be removed, or at least materially reduced, and they would be given a market for their goods. Patiently as may be, they awaited the fulfilment of this promise, with what result, we all know. They now feel bitter, and their bitterness and anger are not directed toward the Sugar Trust nor the Tobacco Trust—to them these are but empty sounding words—but toward a more tangible reality, the United States and the people and representatives of the United States.

To the Filipino it is not a case of a handful of Senators or Representatives being owned by the two grasping trusts who manaxed to kill the bill that would have helped to relieve their distress. It is not a case of a desire, real or pretended, to protect the interests of constituents, who perhaps believe that the admission of Philippine sugar and tobacco might prove prejudicial to their interests. No! At the present time the Filipinos—the ones who do the thinking for their neighbours — feel that they have been swindled, that they have been treated in bad faith by Congress, and that all our protestations of disinterestedness and philanthropy are merely made for the purpose of blinding them while we pick their pockets. Illogical, isn't it? Yet that is their plea.

Our career in the Philippines has been anything but a glittering success. After nearly eight years of American occupation, half that time under civil government, the feeling against Americans and against American institutions is far stronger and more widely spread than ever before. The pride of race feeling to-day runs as high and as bitter as when Spain administered the affairs of the islands.

In the course of Governor-General Ide's inaugural speech, he declared that "peace conditions in the Philippines are now unprecedented," presumably meaning that never was unrest more unapparent. Let us see how true this is. Let us see how eight years have caused the Filipinos to love America. Probably no more illuminating illustration can be adduced than the result of the recent election for provincial governors, which took place a few weeks ago. Between opposing candidates there was but one issue, and that issue was clearly drawn. It was between the Americanistas, as the friends of the present government are termed, and the more or less open and avowed enemies of the United States Government in the islands. The platform of these latter candidates was a model of brevity. It consisted of but one word — "Independencia." They declared themselves for independence, not for some vague to-morrow, not for the next generation, not for "such times as they had demonstrated their capacity for self-government," but for to-day. They wanted it immediately.

Not a few of the candidates on the Anti-American ticket made no scruple to declare themselves in favour of another insurrection against the United States, in case independencia was not handed them forthwith. Others, less bold, are known to have expressed the same ideas in private among their friends.

And, of course, since the islands have become so completly "pacified," since the Anti-American sentiment no longer exists, the Filipinos promptly disavowed such sentiments and deluged these Nationalist candidats beneath an avalanche of ballots. Hardly!

The Anti-American or Nationalist party swept the islands like a prairie fire. The Insular Government took an active interest in the elections, but only after desperate efforts did they succeed in electing a very few of their candidates. The sentiment of independence for the Philippines, of opposition to the constituted authorities, and the plans of the United States in the islands, triumphed by an overwhelming majority. In some cases perhaps local interests won, and perhaps as the Insular Government now claims, the voters only thought of the candidate himself, not of his platform or ideas. Grant that, and there were still many provinces where he Government's candidate seemed to be immutably fixed in the public regard, and yet was ignominiously defeated by the Anti-American candidate. The cry of the "Philippines for the Filipinos," seemed to overbalance the native sense of loyalty, which Mr. Taft and the insular officials declare exists.

Twenty-nine provincial governors were candidates for re-election. Of this number only ten were re-elected, the majority of these ten being natives, who had been rabidly outspoken against Americans and American administration. The remaining thirteen, who were either Americanistas or were lukewarm in their denunciation of the Government, were defeated by large majorities.

It is with the wealthy and influential Filipinos, the gente rico, that danger of another uprising lies. They are the people whose interests are concerned with 'tariff' legislation, and who have waited as patiently as may be to see what action Congress would take to give them a market for their produce. During Spanish dominion they had Spain. That market has been closed to them, while the markets of the United States have never been opened. Under the present tariff it is impossible to ship either sugar or tobacco at a profit to the United States.

Industrial conditions in the islands now are almost inconceivably bad and have been for the past three years. The people however, have waited with what patience they could muster, buoyed up by promises made by Secretary Taft and the commission, that "something would be done." It has, but it has been the strangling of what remained of Filipino loyalty and the smothering of the remnants of Filipino industrial ambition.

The Filipinos understand clearly enough that their country is bankrupt, that it is necessary to import $13,000,000 worth of rice to feed the people of a rice-producing archipelago, that the people are groaning beneath a weight of taxation far heavier than it was during the worst days of Spanish rule, that the cholera has decimated the land, that rinderpest has killed the majority of their beasts of burden, that the country is filled with thousands of idle men and hungry women and children, that fields are lying fallow and sold for taxes, and that, worst of all, there is but small prospect of relief.

Given conditions as they exist today, it would not be altogether strange if that limited number of Filipinos who do the thinking for the unthinking millions should decide that another insurrection would be the most expedient plan to bring their grievances, real and imagined, before the American people. They might possibly figure out that conditions could not be much worse, and they have strong hopes that there exists a party in the United States opposed to the retention of the Philippines, and strong enough to influence Congress to grant them independence, which means to them an unlimited license to graft. Anti-Americanism is so widespread, as shown by the recent elections, that there would be small difficulty in organizing a revolt with which it would be extremely hard to deal.

From a four years' residence in the islands, during which time I have met most of the more influential natives in Manila, I should have no hesitancy in declaring that, given a "square deal" and several material changes in our Government in the islands, our government of the Philippines can be made a success. We have made our blunders—are still making them by wholesale—but we are learning, which in itself is an encouraging sign. We started off knowing everything; bitter experience has taught us we have yet a lot to learn.

But unless something is done for the islands, unless we recognize the moral obligations we hold toward the islands and their people, we need not be surprised to awaken to find we have another insurrection on our hands. And should this calamity unfortunately come to pass, every drop of blood shed will be directly traceable to certain dignified, eminently respectable gentlemen down in Washington.

Lessons On The Art Of Floating And Swimming

The Dog and Breast Stroke and When They Should be Used--Swimming on the Back--Confidence in Oneself a Necessity.

To float go out into the water as far as your waist. Throw yourself on your back facing the shore. Hold your chin up as high as possible.

This will submerge your ears, says a writer in Country Life in America, but don't let this strange sensation worry you. If the water closes over your head, simply close your mouth and remain still and straight — you will go under for a second only.

Now throw your arms out wide behind your back and throw out your chest. Hold your chin high. Inhale through the mouth. Exhale through the nose.

You are now in the ideal floating attitude. Never lift your head. Keep straight and still, chest up, toes showing, chin high and ears submerged.

Try to float as long as possible, because this exercise forms the basis not only for swimming on the back, and for life-saving, but also for sustaining yourself quietly in the water for hours. A thirty-minute float is a very respectable performance.

In treading water you return from the fish position to your original attitude, head up and feet down. Together with the dog stroke and floating, it is one of the three basic ways of maintaining life in the water.

To tread water properly just imagine that you are going upstairs and move your legs accordingly. Keep moving your arms horizontally from the elbow in a semicircle, palms downward.

Your head will be well out of the water, a valuable point when you wish to summon help or are about to receive it. An expert water treader can keep his head out of water, while using his right arm to grasp a line or signal for help.

The dog stroke is as simple as it is ugly. Throw your dog in and watch him. Then jump in and imitate the dog. If you can't do it at first keep on till you can. There are no rules.

You should now have the confidence necessary to start out on the regulation swimming strokes. The source of them all is the breast stroke. If you have ever watched a frog swim you will know what is expected of you. Imitate the frog.

Go out as high as your shoulders. Face the shore. Imagine that you are in a tree, and want to make a leap to a branch above your head. Crouch with your hands at your breast and your legs drawn up under you.

Now leap. Send your hands out in front of you, palms down, and sweep with your shoulders. At the same time you must kick with the legs downward, spreading the legs as much as you can, and kick with heel, not with toe.

For swimming in a rough sea there is nothing like a well developed breast stroke. It enables you to see at any time where you are going, so you avoid weeds or dangerous wreckage, etc.

Remember this: Leap forward, rather than kick, and use your heels. Spread your legs, work the scissors grip before crouching. In flinging your arms out, it is palms down; in sweeping them back it is palms obliquely, and in bringing them back to the breast position it is palms vertical.

If you have any difficulty in negotiating the entire stroke, try the arm movement first, then the legs, while holding on to a rope, and finally the complete stroke. To insure your doing the breast stroke to absolute perfection, do it on dry land first, and prevail on a competent man to watch you. Lie on your stomach across a bench and continue the movement till you get them right.

Swimming on the back from the position of floating means a sweep of the arms and the legs downward from head to foot. Try the arms first. Extend them in line with the shoulder, palms obliquely. Sweep them through the water down the side of your hips. Bring them back with palms facing bottom, or rip them out of the water and fling them over your head, taking a fresh purchase with oblique palms.

With each downward or backward sweep of your arms goes a good strong kick with you legs. Pull up your knees and kick back with the heels, so that the legs pass obliquely through the water, the feet as far apart as possible. Again try the scissors grip of the legs in bringing them together so the heels touch.

When this movement is finished, your arms should be ready and extended in line with shoulders to make a new sweep. The sweep of arms and the kick is simultaneous. The scissors grip occurs as you whip your arms into position for another stroke. Swimming on the back is the most satisfactory and least exhausting stroke for long distances.

Mystery Of Meteorites; Story Of Shooting Stars

Coming apparently from nothing, and disappearing as mysteriously, no was silveryy threads across the darkness, and anon bursting forth in all the brilliancy of the noon-day sun, sometimes as silent visitants, and at others outrivalling the thunder's roar, meteors, and their progeny, meteorites, must have early excited the wonder of even primitive man. Of his notions regarding these phenomena, we can have no accurate conception, but certain it is they have furnished him with the basis of one of the earliest, if not the earliest, forms of idolatry. Whole religions and much mythic folk lore have had their origin in the descent of bodies from the sky.

Viewed sometimes as the forerunners of great national disaster and sometimes as the harbingers of unwonted prosperity they have among various peoples and at different periods been treated on the one hand with a mixture of awe and contempt, and on the other raised to the dignity of divinities in themselves. According to the old Lithuanian mythology, at the birth of each infant a star is suspended in the heaves from a slender thread by the spinstress Werpeja; the star thus sheds forth its light while the child lives, but at the end of its earthly career the thread breaks, and the light of its star is extinguished. Traces of the ancient reverence with which meteorites have been regarded are still to be found in the case of Kaaba stone at Mecca and despite the antiquity of its advent upon earth is profoundly revered by all devout Moslems; its history is buried in tradition, but of its celestial origin there is no room to doubt. The Diana of the Ephesians and the Venus of old Paphos, were primarily meteorites, and many others of the ancient divinities had an origin of this kind.

At first the meteorite itself was regarded as a deity, but as the exigencies of the times demanded, it was made to serve as the headpiece to a statue of wood or stone fashioned in either human or animal form. The old Romans at the very height of their civilization, were not proof against the worship of bodies that had come from the skies. The one was obtained from Attalus, king of Pergamus, about the year 204 B. C., and brought to Rome by Publius Scipio Nascia, and installed with an elaborate ceremony in a temple specially prepared for it; it had been worshipped for centuries at Pessinus, undr the name of Cybele, "the mother of gods," and was acquired by the Romans in accordance with an oracle that declared that its possession would assure stability and prosperity to the Roman Empire; this specimen has been looked for in recent years in the excavations about Rome but the probability of its ever being found seem very remote indeed. A stone which fell at Emesa in Syria was brought to Rome by Antononus (Heliogabalus) early in the third century A.D., and for some time was made the object of a most disgusting worship. The chronicles of the Chinese government furnish us with th earliest records in historic times of the fall of bodies from the skies; these records date back to a time ten centuries before the birth of Christ; they are, however, made public only at the termination of each dynasty, and thus, though voluminous and teeming with information are not made available with any great frequency.

The worship of meteorites has not been confined to any particular continent or people; it has been practiced by the unenlightened of all ages and climes; in Africa the custom seems to have been widespread, many tribes maintaining a special order of priesthood, in whose custody these messengers from the heavens were placed; in America many examples are to be found of this kind of worship, some of the old Mexican temples have held treasures in meteorites; the Octibbeha meteorite was found in an Indian grave; meteorites have also been found on the altars of som eof those mysterious people the mound builders, the remains of whose temples may still be seen in part of what is now the State of Ohio; for long ages the Indians of the Saskatchewan worshipped an iron meteorite which had fallen at the head of Iron Creek. About the year 1869 this specimen was removed from its resting place and ultimately found its way into the collection of Victoria College, where it now remains. The Indians were loud in their wailings, when they found it had been removed and their medical men were profuse in their predictions of what calamities would befall the tribes of the Saskatchewan in consequence of the removal of their idol; the meteorite weighed about 386 pounds, and by a little stretch of the imagination the profile of an Indian's face may be clearly made out on the edge of it. A stone which fell near Ogi in Japan, about 1730, and which came into the possession of the British museum in 1883, was for a long time made the object of reverent attention at annual festivities.

In view of the widespread interest which is now wbeing manufested in the study of meteorites, the Canadian Geological Survey has for some time past been putting forth special to trace the history of all Canadian specimens and likewise to augment the numbers in the collection, either by exchange or purchase. Within the past few weeks five plaster models and two specimens — one of the latter being a new one and as yet undescribed — have been added to the collection which now consists of three main masses, three fragments or sections, and nine plaster models an dnegotiations are in progress for the addition of others.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

The Flesh Was Raw and Flaming

If you have any doubt as to the effectiveness of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema you should read the following letter:

Mr. G. H. McConnell, engineer in Fleury's Foundry, Aurora, Ont., writes: "I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth its weight in gold. For about thirty years I was troubled with eczema and could not obtain any cure. I was so unfortunate as to have blood-poison, and this developed into eczema, the most dreadful of skin diseases.

"I was so bad that I would get up at night and scratch myself until the flesh was raw and flaming. The torture I endured is almost beyond description, and now I cannot say anything too good for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has cured me, and I recommend it because I know there is nothing so good for itching skin."

An Up to Date Trifle—The Sunburn Veil—How It Is Adjusted.

The veil for preventing sunburn is among the up to date trifles of the summer wardrobe. Its difference from the automobile veil, however, is not in color or quality. Rather it is the manner of tying it on the head. Usually it is composed of chiffon a yard and a half or two yards long, and the popular colors are green and brown.

Automobile veils are generally put on from the brim of the hat downward,

WAIST FOR MATRONLY WOMAN.

but this is not so with the veils to prevent sunburn. One of their edges is first fastened about the throat, while the other edge is drawn up to the bridge of the nose and from there pinned tightly around the head. The long ends are then crossed at the back of the head and tied after the prevailing fashion of other veils. This arrangement leaves the eyes uncovered, they and the eyebrows being the only exposed parts of the face.

Lace evening wraps are seen more than any other style of cloak this summer. The finest quality of lace is not necessary, many of the wraps being comparatively inexpensive. Sleeveless capes are seen again, but a loose kimono sleeve is, as a rule, preferred. The lace wrap is made up elaborately with net and chiffon, the lining in most cases being of light silk or taffeta.

The surpliced waist illustrated is very good style for a matronly woman. It is carried out in pin spotted rose colored silk. A cross over fichu of plain rose silk and a deep outer fichu of cluny lace finished with rosettes of black velvet ribbon complete the attractive model.

WHIRLIGIG OF STYLES.

Lots of Stunning Braids—Reign of the Tan Shoe—Boulevard Hat.

Very stunning braids are in Persian designs and colorings. These are mostly used for vests upon the bolero and Eton jackets. In most of the braids there is a thread hidden away at one edge that may be pulled up into all sorts of waving figures or applied in scrollwork.

Bretelles of ribbon make a simple little muslin frock very dainty and dressy.

The Paris boulevard "sailor" is an extremely smart hat and is shown in a fine gray straw braid. The high flat crown is draped with folds of gray ribbon in a darker shade. The left side is slightly turned and caught with folds of the ribbon and two long gray wings.

The bandeau is banked with shaded gray silk flowers.

Lucky or unlucky, the peacock feather is disporting itself bravely on every other hat one meets. These mysterious "eyes" are also to be found in handsome embroideries and on belt buckles and buttons.

With some of the girdles it is possible to simulate the princess effect upon lingerie frocks. The girdle, for instance, joins bodice and skirt and is sewed along the upper edge of the bodice, but left free to come down over the skirt band after the latter is adjusted. Crinoline foundations for these girdles are sold in the shops.

Charming little boleros of embroidered white linen with two wide, loose capes falling into graceful sleeves commend themselves for wear with a dozen different summer gowns.

The cape in the cut is a useful little summer garment of beige colored panne cloth. The sleeves are cut with three capes and finished with stitching. The tiny velvet revers, pockets and facings are of chestnut velvet.

For the Mattress.

The daily turning over is not the only necessary attention for the proper treatment of a mattress. This operation itself is liable to strain the ticking and pull the stuffing out of shape in course of time. To avoid this handles may be sewed to the sides, so that the unyielding surface of the mattress itself need not be grasped. These can be made from webbing or a crosspiece of ticking and sewed as firmly as possible to the sides.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

New Styles In Watches—Modish Handkerchiefs—The Latest In Collars.

To be up to date watches must be flat and enameled, so flat that they are as thin as the blade of a knife.

The pocket handkerchiefs fashionable women are using are quite large and made of the softest, finest material. They are simply hemstitched, the beauty of the mouchoir depending upon the excessive fineness of the lawn.

Linen collars to be worn with shirt waists have a frilled border or hem opening fanlike and plaited like those seen in Vandyke portraits. They are separate from the waist and are sold by the dozen.

Tailored suits of covert cloth, either in the tan or English gray suitings, are good investments for fall wear. The shops are reducing their supply, and many of these suits are selling at a nominal price.

Thin materials, such as mousseline, chiffon and mull, are combined with checked silk, the silk being used as bands between others of the fabric itself or lace.

A black bon can be worn with any gown, so it is wise to get a good one. Net, for example, is twice as serviceable as malines, which loses its stiffness on the first damp day. The net should be trimmed with a quantity of black satin ribbon.

The hat illustrated is a charming midsummer model that will do duty in the fall. It is of black straw with a puffed chiffon crown. The ostrich pompon is white.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

Lace Sashes Very Smart—Cheap Panama Skirts—Nail Head Dog Collars.

Gowns of linen, batiste or lawn made with simple tucks and pluits, lace yokes and frilled sleeves, receive an added touch of beauty if girdled with a lace sash. These sashes are really very ultra affairs and are easily made by the ingenious girl. The girdle portion is boned and shaped to the figure, while the sash ends, narrow at the top and beaver shaped at the bottom, are lined with white mulinette and corded.

Good, well cut panama cloth skirts are selling for $4.50 and $5. This material wears like iron and the skirts are therefore good investments.

Dog collars made of nail heads in various colors—purple, pink or red—are very much worn. These nail heads are artistically combined with tiny gold beads.

The narrow cluny insertions, some of them looking very much like heavy hand crochet work joining seams and used in place of veining, are particularly favored. Such narrow cluny lines set together all the seams of many blouses that have cluny trimmings.

A smart little traveling hat is seen in the cut of tan chip. It is simply trimmed with a band of chestnut brown velvet and decorated at one side with two American Beauty roses and some velvet knots. JUDIC CHOLLET.

HERE AND THERE.

A Touch of Green on the Costume Is Smart—Purses Match Gowns.

Apple green, salad green, cabbage green—call it what you will, but if you would be in the swim have a touch of it on your hat, belt or parasol.

The latest decree of fashion in the matter of bags and purses is that they shall match the costume. This means, of course, that a new one must be purchased with each suit. There are, however, a good many modish women who find it possible to exist with two or three in quiet tones.

Polka dotted flannel is the latest craze of the sporting girl. An effective tennis gown is made of white flannel with huge black dots. It has a short circular skirt and a simple round waist turned in at the neck, which is finished with a low turned down collar. The short sleeves have rolling cuffs. Beneath the collar is worn a scarlet silk scarf with flowing ends. Miss Marjorie Gould, the daughter of the railroad king, has a costume of this description.

Long black silk gloves are so scarce that when the merchants have any for sale they hang out a sign, "Long Black Silk Gloves For Sale Today," as if they were advertising sausages or special brands of peas. On account of this dearth of black gloves gants of tan are substituted. They are far more serviceable than white and can be worn with almost any colored dress.

A good looking duck outing hat is trimmed with two white breasts, one on each side, with a knot of soft white silk between.

The blouse illustrated is of pale blue tussore. Almost the entire front is composed of cluny lace outlined with bands of silk. For edging the high collar, forming a crossed tie and making the pompadour bows Peking silk is effectively used.

When a Woman Nags.

A doctor expresses the opinion that nine times out of ten the woman who nags is tired. One time out of ten she is hateful. Times out of mind her husband is to blame.

The cases that come under the physician's eye are those of the women who are tired, and who have been tired so long that they are suffering from some form of nervous disease.

They may think they are only tired; but, in fact, they are ill. In such cases the woman often suffers more from her nagging than her husband or the children with whom she finds fault.

She knows she does it. She does not intend to do it. She suffers in her own self respect when she does it, and in the depth of her soul longs for something to stop it. The condition is usually brought on by broken sleep, improper food, want of some other exercise than housekeeping and not enough of out of door air and practical objective thinking.

It is often the most unselfish and most affectionate of women who fall into this state. They are too much devoted to their families to give themselves enough of any healthy exercise and diversion, enough of naps perhaps or concerts.

Girl's Gabrielle Dress.

A decidedly novel use for the guimpe is given in the gabrielle dress here shown in a new form. The gabrielle, or overdress, which may also serve as a princess, is fashioned of seven pieces, cut in deep round outline at the top, and at each side it is shaped to form two straps. The closing is arranged at the back, where an inverted box plait disposes of the extra fullness allowed in the skirt. A wide hem and three tucks finish the lower edge. The guimpe is made with the regulation seams and a group of lingerie tucks to yoke depth at the center of the front and at each side of the back closing. A standing collar finishes the neck. The sleeves in shorter length terminate in wide bands, while those in full length may have deep cuffs or narrow bands. English cashmere with embroidered batiste and insertion and panama with dotted swiss, needlework and velvet are nice fabrics for the frock.

Other suitable materials include pongee, shantung, taffeta, lansdowne, albatross, linen, duck, mohair, sicilienne, etc.—Delineator.

MOTHER'S ANXIETY.

The summer months are an anxious time for mothers because they are the most dangerous months of the year for young children. Stomach and bowel troubles come quickly during the hot weather and almost before the mother realizes that there is danger the little one may be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally, because they keep the stomach and bowels free from offending matter. And the Tablets will cure these troubles if they come suddenly. You may save your child's life by keeping a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand to give promptly. Mrs. Frank Moore, Northfield, N. S., says: "I do not know any medicine that can equal Baby's Own Tablets for curing stomach and bowel troubles. I always keep them on hand in case of emergency." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Great Irrigation Scheme.

The New South Wales Government has entered upon a spirited policy of water conservation and irrigation. It has been decided to construct a large dam on the Murrumbidgee river at a place called Barren Jack, and from here water will be carried in irrigation canals over an area of 353,000 acres. The work will involve the expenditure of about $7,500,000, and will represent the first part of a great national scheme.

The dam is to be built three miles below the confluence of the Murrumbidgee and Goodradigbee rivers, and when completed will be 200 feet in height and 900 feet in length.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Some Helpful Hints—The Girl Who Is Gaining Flesh.

A splendid laxative sirup may be made as follows: Put a half pound of raisins, prunes and figs to soak in three pints of cold water. Bottle the sirup after two days and take a tablespoonful night and morning.

Raisins are extremely nourishing, especially the sun dried Malagas, which are full of grape sugar. That they should be thoroughly masticated goes without saying. A nutritious and palatable mixture for sandwiches may be made from blanched almonds and raisins that have been put through the mincing machine.

Treatment for pimples and blackheads calls for absolute cleanliness of the body, externally and internally. Pimples show that the body is absorbing poisonous substances that it should be throwing off freely. Keep the intestinal tracts, the kidneys and the skin all active by drinking plenty of water, eating fruit and bathing daily. At night scrub the face well with hot water.

The girl who is gaining flesh rapidly must keep out of doors, doing plenty of good hard work, playing golf or tennis, rowing or walking and so helping that fat to turn into firm, slender muscle. Avoid bread and butter, taking salted toast instead. Live mainly on fruit, vegetables and lean meats. Never take butter, cream, eggs, cereals or fat meats. Make it a habit to take lemon juice in a little water before breakfast every morning. It will be good for you. Do not sleep too much and keep busy all the time.

WHAT IS WORN.

Pump Heels Lined With Chamois. New Stocking Designs.

Pumps that flip flop up and down, wearing out many fine stockings, have been vexing femininity for a long time, but now the shoe man has hit upon lining the heels with chamois, which has a tendency to make the pump cling closely to the foot.

Black and white shepherd plaid stockings have been popular this summer and look very chipper with black patent leather pumps.

This year the catch on a washable belt is put on with a spring, which makes it possible to remove it easily when the belt is to be laundered.

There's a lovely sporty looking horseshoe pin of gold with a row of pearls around the center and a horse's head of gold in the center across the opening of the shoe.

The newest necklaces show locket effects. The chains are quite short, and if there is not a pendant a broad ornamental network across the front takes its place. Garnet chains and bracelets are very fashionable just now. Even in the midst of summer one can predict with safety the continued popularity of soft, clinging materials. Why? Because these are the materials predominating at the races, and it is at the French race tracks in summer that we get the first fall hints.

STENCILED FAN.

Ruffled gowns are as much in favor as the embroidered ones. In fact, ruffles and embroidery go hand in hand this season.

The fad of the moment is to match the hat, belt and shoes or the veil, gloves and stockings.

Decorating one's fan is a vogue at present. The illustration shows a delightful example of this art carried out on gray green satin stenciled in freesia blossoms with their long, grass-like leaves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

"ALL WEALTH IS CREATED BY LABOUR"

Peterborough Schools Re-open On Tuesday Next

In Many of the Buildings Improvements Have Been Made.

Repairs in the Public Schools Will Cost in the Neighbourhood of $1,000.

The long vacation is over. Two days more and the school children of the city will be back to the various institutions of learning for another year's course of study. All the schools in the city open on Tuesday next, a fact which is only too real to the children, who are rushing back from the summer resorts this week. The cooler weather, the display of school books in the windows, the return of teachers from their vacation, all show that holidays are over and that play-things must give way to books and the sterner things of life. The sorrow of the children at returning to school is apparent, and it is not likely that a knowledge of the fact that improvements and renovations have been made in the buildings will tend to make them any the more reconciled to the idea that holidays, like everything else, must come to an end. However, when they have settled in the ordinary, every-day routine of school life they will appreciate the changes that have added to their comfort.

In most of the schools considerable renovations have been made during the summer, which will add to the appearance of the buildings and likewise make them more endurable to their inmates.

Pupils of the Central School will find many changes when they return on Tuesday. Among other things, a new hardwood floor has been put down in Miss Peters' room. The basement has been thoroughly painted inside and the lavatories have also received a touch of the brush. Mr. Wallace's room has been handsome painted, and Miss Peters' and Miss Nichols' rooms have been improved by the installing of new seats.

The playground will present a very different appearance. The old unsightly play-sheds, in which many generations of school children have played their youthful games, are gone, and the ground will be levelled.

In the Collegiate Institute the laboratory has been painted throughout, including the floor, a renovation that was badly needed. The basement has been whitewashed, and the ceilings and walls repaired where necessary. Outside, a new walk has been built on the west side.

The East Ward School has also been the scene of some improvements. Miss Erskine's and Miss Lockhead's rooms have been painted. The lavatories have also been painted and put in first-class condition. New slate black-boards have been placed in Miss Erskine's and Mr. Kelly's rooms. In the kindergarten building a new floor has been constructed and the interior renovated.

In the other Public Schools the improvements made were not so extensive. At the South Central the walks and steps have been renewed and repaired. At the North Ward School some repairs have been made to the grounds. No improvements were made in the Monzies and West Ward Schools, although here, as in the case of the other buildings, the grounds have been put into first-class shape.

All these repairs have been made under the supervision of the Property Committee of the Board of Education, of which Mr. John Crane is chairman. The cost of the renovations will, it is estimated, be in the neighbourhood of $1,000.

In the Separate Schools.

The Convent pupils will find their building vastly improved. Many changes have been made which will add greatly to the comfort of the inmates. No slate black-boards have been installed in every room, taking the place of the old plaster articles. Two of the old rooms have been entirely renovated. Windows have been added on the west side, and new cloak cloak rooms on the east of these rooms, which are 25x33 feet, the cloak room being 5 1-2 feet in width. They have been handsomely painted and new seats put in. The windows have been arranged so that there will be no cross lights. These rooms which will be occupied by the first and second book classes, were built 40 years ago, but are now in a thoroughly modern condition.

Changes will also be made in the grounds. The old sheds on the west side of the building will be torn down. Work has been commenced on a high board fence, six feet high, around the grounds, which will give the inmates of the school more privacy while at play.

Speaking of the attendance at the schools, Rev. Father McColl, the superintendent, said to The Examiner that he expected there would be 200 pupils in attendance at the convent this season, and that about 275 would be on the roll of the new school, and about 200 at the Lake Street School.

Another room is being utilized at the new St. Peter's School, making seven in use. The eastern room will be used by the junior fourth book class. Sister Patricia has been added to the teaching staff.

Bridges Will Be Protected

By-law to Prohibit Traction Engines Crossing Floating Bridges.

The question of heavy traffic passing over the floating bridges to the north was discussed at length yesterday morning and afternoon at the meeting of the county council and a depision bearing on the matter reached. Mr. O'Leary caretaker of the Chemong bridge wrote the council informing the members of the unsafe condition for heavy traffic of the old floating bridge.

Acting on this the County Solicitor was authorized to prepare a bylaw prohibiting traction engines to cross the floating bridges at Pigeon Creek, Gannon's Narrows and Chemong.

Remove The Seats To Central Park

Are Needed More There Than at Inverlea.

A citizen made a suggestion to the Examiner yesterday which was considered to be a very fair one. In Central Park which is used so much for harbouring tired toilers of the long day there are only two or three seats available while in Inverlea there are probably fifteen or twenty. Many of the latter are scarcely used and the suggestion was to bring a few of them south into a warmer climate, where they might be utilized. A sliding scale would be very appropriate.

Threw Cabbage Through Window

Two Young Men Break Window of Grand Trunk Coach.

The other night two youths unknown caused considerable excitement around the G.T.R. station previous to the departure of the 9 o'clock train fror Toronto. They were presumably from Port Hope, and after indulging in various sorts of capers for some time, their fun became more serious to the railway's property, when a big cabbage went rolling through the window of one of the coaches.

The young men vanished behind the train and lost themselves in the crowd or they certainly would have had to answer for their misobief.

THE WEATHER

Those who were up sufficiently early this morning saw quite a heavy deposit of white frost on boards, etc., in sheltered places. The thermometer however did not go below 40 degrees. Though this was not the first white frost of this fall, it was the first of any extent. A slight frost was to be seen one morning last week.

Two Boys Went Out on the Lake and Failed to Return.

Quite a commotion was created on Thursday evening by Masters Angus Fountain and Victor Chambers, who had gone out in a boat with another boy before the storm and failed to return. Messrs. A. Fountain Sr., and Thos. Cashore went up to Rosedale in a boat and heard that the boys had been there. Some time later the boat was found tied to the shore and the three boys fast asleep beside a dead camp fire. The men walked to the Falls, being afraid to venture out in the storm and reached the bridge about eleven p.m. to find it lined with anxious watchers, two almost frantic mothers being among the number.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

MR. KENNER HOME FROM WESTERN TOUR

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, classical master of the Collegiate Institute, returned to the city last night from his Western Canada tour, and left this morning for a few days visit to his home, Prince Albert. During his western outing, which extended to the Coast, Mr. Kenner saw many former Peterborough people. In Edmonton, he revived old scores with Mr. J. McCaig, Inspector of Schools for Edmonton, who occupies a very prominent place in educational circles in the Albertine capital. He also met Mr. Fife, who is installing his family, and becoming a full-fledged citizen of the West. He also met several Peterborough boys in British Columbia, who are all doing well. The West is a fine place for making money, but the social and other conditions are of course rudimentary, and do not yield as much comfort, as in the East.

Steamer Empress On Eagle Mount

High Wind Yesterday Responsible for the Accident.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Sept. 1.—An unfortunate accident occurred to the steamer Empress here yesterday evening, causing considerable inconvenience to a number of the passengers. The steamer was making a call at "Inglestane," Mr. Sutherland's cottage, and on account of the strong wind blowing landward she was beached on a rock on Eagle Mount.

The distress whistle brought the steamers Stoney Lake and Majestic to the scene, but their united efforts proved of no avail, as the keel seemed determined to hang on to the rock. The alligator tug, Hazlitt, was brought up from Lakefield, and about 11 o'clock last night she was extricated from her dangerous position none the worse for the experience.

The Empress was taking the first afternoon trip to have the Toronto passengers in Peterborough in time to catch the evening train. All were transferred to the Stoney Lake, which carried them to Lakefield.

The steamer is to-day on her regular trips in charge of Capt. Gray, whose energetic efforts were responsible for the small damage.

The Chic Fall Coats At R. Fair & Co.'s

The Stylish "Rogers" Garment a Dream of of Joy—Glimpses at Some of its Rare Points of Excellence.

Ladies, who have been in the habit of looking for, and expecting to find at Messrs. Robert Fair & Company's, the latest, and most unique in dress accessories for all seasons, and all occasions, will not be disappointed this season. In these days, when so much depends on correct and artistic dress, it must be extremely gratifying to the fair sex of Peterborough to know that they can avail themselves, at the very earliest stage of the season, of the most popular models in vogue, as shown by the advance exhibits now on view at Messrs. Fair & Co's.

The newest leader in autumn coats is the Rogers' garment — a rival of all other new conceits — for which Messrs. Fair & Co. are representatives in Peterborough. It at once appeals to lovers of cultivated tastes as the swellest and most effective of the new season's coats. While it is admittedly the essence of style and good looks, this model possesses the subtle charm of distinctiveness —a virtue so much admired by ladies in the selection of an outer garment. Important, too, is the fact that the moderate price will almost make you doubt the construction.

Expert designing is one of the chief essentials in a popular ladies' coat, and the verdict in this regard, as to the Rogers' garment, is that the artist has been exceedingly successful. The outlines are clearly Parisian, and the garment has the air of being made to order. The material is a charming plain and fancy tweed, in checked gray and fawn effects, also blacks, beavers and Kerseys, of a very durable autumn weight.

The Rogers' garments are strongly suggestive of durability — they are made to wear—and will look good as long as they last. The treatment of the collars and cuffs is in excellent taste, and the development of the model is nicely accentuated by the buttons and mannish pockets. In the treatment of the sleeves new features add to the graceful fit of the coat. In brief—

Don't decide on style,
Don't order a garment made,
Don't buy a ready-made coat,
Don't engage a coat maker,
Until you have seen, and carefully inspected, the many matchless features of the "Rogers" garments at Messrs. Robert Fair & Co's.

Markets Are Growing Larger

Garden Goods are Prominent and Sell Rapidly.

A larger number than usual were present at the market this morning, market stuff being the principle offering. Potatoes were offered at from 70 to 75 cents per bag. Plenty of beautiful tomatoes were on exhibit and sold at 80 cents per bushel. Apples ranged in price from 15 to 25 cents per peck and from 70 to $1.00 per bag, according to quality. Corn sold at 10 cents per dozen and seemed to be in good demand. Hay, which is not very plentiful at the market, is worth about $9.00 and $10.00 per ton.

In the market hall butter was scarce and was readily bought up at 25 cents per lb. Eggs were worth 17 and 18 cents per dozen, and chickens from 50 to 80 cents per pair.

BLESSING OF LABOUR.

"A wholesome human employment is the first and best method of education, mental as well as bodily," says Ruskin. It was the first blessing given to man when he was put upon the earth, and it will be necessary to his welfare and happiness to the last day that he remains. Some useful work to occupy brain, heart, and hand, someone to be blessed and helped by our labour, this it is that keeps us sane and safe, strong and cheerful, our lives through. Something that waits for our doing helps us to fight our battles against illness, forces us from our lethargy in sorrow, will not give us time to sink down in despair; it is God's angel forever saying, "Go forward."

Quakers Will Go Down The River

Only Excursion From the City On Labour Day.

The Quaker excursion on Monday is the only one out of the city. It will be run to Jubilee and Gore's Landing, by steamer Water Lily and palace barge. The barge will await the arrival of the steamer at the street railway wharf to save time in locking through.

The Quakers will play a game of football at the Landing with the All Stars of Rice Lake. The boat leaves the Wolfe street wharf at 8 o'clock sharp.

BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENT

For the convenience of the public transacting business with the Examiner, it is stated that Mr. R. M. Glover, who has been book-keeper and accountant for the past several years, has been made business manager, and in this capacity will have responsibility in respect of business arrangements and contracts. Mr. Glover is succeeded as accountant and book-keeper by Mr. J. D. Clarke.

BARBER SHOPS CLOSE ON MONDAY

The Barbers' Union have decided that all shops shall be kept closed on Monday next. No union shop in Peterborough will be open on that day, and the public are asked to bear that fact in mind. The barber is an individual who does not get many holidays as a rule, but Labour Day must be classed as one of these few vacations.

Council Refuse Repairs On Victoria Park Steps

A Cricket Club Of 25 Years Ago

Interesting Photograph of the Old Peterboro' Club of Bygone Days.

Last week The Examiner published a picture of the Peterborough Cricket Club taken 19 years ago, which created a good deal of interest and recalled many incidents in connection with the club, which had been almost forgotten. This week is published a still older photograph. The accompanying picture was taken 25 years ago on the old cricket grounds, East City. The photograph, which was supplied by Chief Rutherford is of the club as they appeared at the conclusion of one of their matches which were nearly all victories in those days.

Of the players and umpires shown in the picture five still reside in the city and are easily recognized. They are Harry Strickland and Dr. George Burnham who acted as umpires on this occasion; R. B. Rogers T. Rutherford and Sam Ray. Those standing up from left to right, are Peter Cooper now in Australia; Harry Strickland Matthew Sudorson, dead, Chief Rutherford, Max Hamilton, Principal Long, Dr. Burnham, R. B. Rogers. Seated from left to right are John Sterling, dead, John Hammond, dead, Chas. Logan, now in Guelph, and Sam Ray.

The picture will no doubt be interesting to old cricket players and lovers of the game, who will recall the palmy days of cricket in Peterborough, when the Ashburnham grounds used to resound with the crack of bat and ball and cry of "Well played, sir."

Gas Holder Is Almost Completed

Tank Will be Tested With Water Next Week.

Great progress is being made with the big gas holder for the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and it will be ready for use in a few weeks. The tank will be tested next week and for this purpose the company are asking the Fire, Water and Light Committee for the use of several hundred feet of hose, to be employed in filling the tank with water. If it is found satisfactory the tank will then be hoisted to the top of the frames and rivetted there. The holder will contain about 600,000 gallons.

Many Cases Before The Police Magistrate

City Coffers Increased by Many Fines—Copper Theft Case Postponed—Two Drunks and a Vagrant Among the List—Earle Downey's Whereabouts Still a Mystery.

It was a field day at the police court, this morning. The prisoners' box was not large enough to contain all those accused of offences so that it had to be filled in relays.

William Jones, who had just been released from the hill, after a month's vacation, and who had been lodged in a police court cell yesterday, appeared before the magistrate. He was charged with having no visible means of support, and of using abusive language to a citizen. The old gentleman had a melancholy story to tell, and asked the magistrate to be kind enough to let him go "just this time," and he would leave the city. He said he came from Montreal and was going to Toronto. The court advised him to get out as fast as he could, or he might have a half year term in his recent boarding place. With the remark, "Very well, sir, thank you!" he went.

Two Drunks.

Jos. McMurray and a man named Sullivan appeared on two charges. Both pleaded guilty and were assessed the usual two dollars, which was paid. They were advised to either get out of town or keep sober.

Fined for Assault.

The sequel to a gravel pit episode was heard at the court this morning. Three men, Jos. Sullivan, Wm. Cooney and Jas. Aitcon, had a contract for shovelling gravel for Messrs. Middleton and Ruth, when on Thursday last the somewhat strained relations between the first two broke out in a storm. Sullivan was charged with assaulting Cooney because the latter would not give up his position at the front wheel of the wagon.

Cooney stated that he was the foreman and always accustomed to work at the front wheel. He quietly asked the accused to leave, he said, but the response was he got struck in the face. Mr. Aikens confirmed Mr. Cooney's story. Mr. Middleton testified that Cooney was the foreman.

Sullivan next went into and stated that he had been working for the past two weeks at the front of the wagon. The complainant had repeatedly been trying to crowd him out, and in doing so had struck him several times with the shovel and knocked the latter out of his hand that morning. Thinking Cooney was going to strike him when this was done he hit him.

The magistrate considered that Sullivan forced the trouble and that he had used violence with no right, and fined him $2 and costs, amounting to $4.70, which was paid.

R. F. McWilliams looked after the interests of Cooney, while D. O'Connell defended the accused.

Remanded One Week.

The suspected copper thieves from Lindsay, who were arrested by P. C. Meharry on Thursday, appeared in court this morning, and were remanded for one week. The Crown was not prepared to go on with the evidence this morning.

For Dirtying the Street.

A young man from Otonabee appeared on a charge of carelessly allowing manure to fall from his wagon on Water street yesterday morning. On account of circumstances he was unable to bring a dray wagon box for the load, and it was for this reason the affair happened. The magistrate fined him $2, remarking that the law in this respect must be kept.

Downey Still Missing.

The case of the theft of money from John Sullivan was again referred to this morning. Earle Downey, the boy who is supposed to have committed the theft, is yet missing and cannot be found by his parents, who are willing to make restitution. The other boys, with the exception of Gorman, appeared, but the magistrate would not consent to drop the charge against Downey, so that the case was enlarged for one week.

Decision Of The County Council at Their Meeting This Morning.

Salaries Fixed For Manager and Matron of House of Refuge.

The county council resumed this morning at 10.30. The warden, Mr. T. J. Johnston, occupied the chair and all the members were present.

The clerk read the minutes of yesterday's sessions, which were on motion, confirmed.

House of Refuge Appointment.

The warden asked when it would be best to hold a meeting to appoint a Superintendent and Matron for the new House of Refuge.

Coun. Andrews thought the appointment should be made as early as possible in order to be able to get at the early fall work before it was too late in the season.

Coun. Shaw thought that if the meeting of the council was held in three weeks, it would be early enough to fill the appointments and arrange other details.

Moved by Couns. Moloney and Stinson that this council meet on Friday, 21st September, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of appointing a manager and matron for the House of Refuge and Farm, salary for the above duties to be $550 per annum.—Carried.

New Steps for Court House Park.

Coun. Buck reported for the committee that they had inspected the steps and thought that they were quite good enough for the benefit the county received from them. He did not recommend the council to go to any additional expense at present, as the lease of the park to the Peterborough Horticultural Society had expired on the first of May, last.

Coun. Shaw and Menogus moved that no action be taken with regard to the repairs of the steps, and that a renewal of the lease for five years be executed by this council.—

Reports of Committees.

The following reports of Special Committees were read:

The Special Committee appointed at the last session to consider the matter of adopting a system of county roads, begs leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee considers that any county system of roads should be one which would include all the main leading roads of the county, and not sections thereof.

2. The committee considers such a system would be one which would not bear equably upon the municipalities, as it would have the effect of relieving some proportionately more than others from their present liability for maintenance.

3. Your committee therefore recommend that the council take no action in the matter.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) D. MOLONEY.

On motion the report was adopted.

Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee begs to report as follows:

1. That a grant of $100 be made to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

2. That the clerk enquire of Mr. Stephen Nicholls if he desires to furnish the wood previously contracted for, and that the matter of procuring a supply of wood be left over to the next meeting.

Respectfully Submitted,
W. T. Buck,
Chairman.

On motion the report was adopted.

By-laws.

By-laws were passed through their several readings, confirming the above reports.

The Council adjourned.

Good Ball Game For Labour Day

City Championship Match is Scheduled.

The last and best baseball game of the season will be played at Riverside Park on Labour Day afternoon, when the Shamrocks and Athletics will play for the city championship. The game is called for 3 o'clock, and should be a rattling exhibition. Quinlan and Cahill will pitch for the Shamrocks, and Pilling for the Athletics. Both teams will be strong, and it will be a battle royal from start to finish. The admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

The Shamrocks will line up as follows:

THE REAL FRIENDS.

The resignation of Mr. Robert Glockling, secretary of the Ontario Bureau of Industry, is timed unfortunately for the Ontario Government, which have evidently frozen him out of the position, coming so closely, as it does, upon Labour Day, a day set apart in recognition of labour, as the Bureau of industries was established by a Liberal Government, in the interests of labour. But, as an agent of the Unions in Toronto, said, the present Government has let it run to seed — have taken no care at all to make it useful. This indifference upon the part of the Whitney Government, no doubt induced Mr. Glockling to resign from a position in which he could not, in the absence of Government sympathy, be of much service to the cause of labour, to enter into a sphere in which he could make his work on behalf of organized labour, tell with some effect. The attitude of the Whitney Government is not surprising. When did either popular rights, or the interests of the masses, ever receive sympathetic treatment at the hands of Conservatism? The stand of the Whitney Government in persisting in maintaining prison labour at the Central Prison, to manufacture products, to compete at cut prices, with honest labour, is a measure of the interest and sympathy they have in the welfare of the working man. The working man owes the Bureau of Industry, whose function is to furnish him with information vitally affecting his interests, to the Liberal Government. They owe a long string of benedicent Ontario legislation, intended to benefit the toiler, to the Liberal Government of Ontario, and they are under a deep debt of gratitude to the Liberal Government of the Dominion, for legislation protecting the interests, the health, and lives, of working men. Since Confederation, though the Conservatives were in power for two-thirds of the time, the only statutory enactment made by the Conservative Government, in any way in labour's interests, was an amendment of the Holiday Act, passed in 1894, declaring Labour Day, September 3rd, a public holiday, like Dominion Day. Liberal Governments give the working men protection and aid in his toil, so far as legislation and administration avail, three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. The Conservative Government graciously gives the working man leave to play one day in the year.

SATURDAY NIGHT SHOPPING

Thursday half holiday has run its course and the experiment is regarded as a success. Labour in many departments of commercial and other activity has had a well-earned rest, and merchants have perhaps made as much money as if they had kept open shop on Thursday afternoons. One thing is certain they have made no bad debts. The public have become accustomed to doing their shopping early on Thursdays, as they could, if they made the effort, do shopping early on Saturdays or Saturday evenings. If no other way can be made effectual, it might be well for merchants to declare half holiday on Saturday nights from, say, 8 o'clock till 12, so that the city people would contract the habit of shopping early. The practice of buying Sunday supplies late on Saturday nights is a most pernicious practice, all the more reprehensible since it could be easily avoided. Not only are shopmen kept on their feet till nearly midnight to straighten up their stocks after laggard shoppers have gone home to bed, but the drivers of delivery wagons and the poor jaded horses are obliged to be in motion till far into Sunday morning. This is cruelty to boys and the animals they lash through the streets at midnight—not perhaps from viciousness, but to keep themselves awake. Apart from the unnecessary long hours due to the thoughtlessness or indifference of the buying public, a much greater

ONTARIO LABOUR BUREAU.

The retirement of Mr. Robert Glockling, the head of the Ontario Labour Bureau, is a distinct loss to the labour interests of the Province, and will be regretted not only by those directly interested in the condition of wage-workers, but by all who take a sociological interest in the forces that make for industrial evolution. The usefulness of such an institution as the Labour Bureau depends almost entirely on the man directly charged with its management, and Mr. Glockling was an exceptionally fortunate choice. Under his management the bureau grew rapidly into usefulness, and the records and statistics compiled were of permanent as well as immediate economic value. It was not to be expected that a Conservative Government should have been in active sympathy with the new thought that has awakened among the industrial elements during the past half century. The force of party tradition is strong, and Liberalism is naturally associated with advancement. It is hoped, however, that the Government would follow the example occasionally seen in Britain, where men have for the sake of party necessity pursued policies with which they had little or no sympathy. But the Whitney Government's lack of sympathy with the aims and purposes of a Labour Bureau were too pronounced to be concealed for prudential reasons, and the result is the loss of a most efficient officer, with the possible loss of the entire bureau.

Mr. Glockling is a man of sound judgment, judicial mind, and moderate view. He had the entire confidence of the men in whose special interest the bureau was established, and as the employing class came to know him their confidence in him increased. This was the secret of his successful mediation in several threatened industrial conflicts. The natural divergence of interests between employers and employees on the wage question awakened a continuous antagonism toward the bureau. While Mr. Glockling always declared that he regarded it as existing for the benefit of wage-workers, the antagonism of the employers diminished as they came to understand the methods by which it furthered the interests of employees. It is unfortunate that the Government did not continue the policy of their predecessors until the employers would better understand the aims and usefulness of the bureau, for that would have led to a withdrawal of their opposition. The result of Mr. Glockling's work is seen most prominently in the growth of a better understanding between employers and employees, and the gradual removal of abuses leading to unnecessary conflicts. Perhaps there may be a sufficient change of views and sentiments on the part of the Government in the immediate future to secure the continuation of the bureau under some other capable officer in active sympathy with its aims. Mr. Glockling's acceptance of the Presidency of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders is a distinct loss to the Province, though a gain to the organization, and the Government should make the best of the situation by providing for the continuance of the work he so efficiently inaugurated under their predecessors in office.—The Globe.

FARMERS AND FARM LABOUR

The Labourer is worthy of his hire. This is sound Scripture, and has its bearing on the problem of securing farm labour in Ontario. The difficulty is, of course, intensified by the demand of the wheat fields of the West. But there is another reason, or other reasons, why Ontario farmers find it difficult to secure farm labour, when most they need it. The toiler in every sphere has a preference for a "steady job," and the farm labourer is no exception. A large proportion of farmers need, and will employ, help only during the season of seeding and harvest. These over, the farm hand is turned adrift, to consume his summer's earnings in idleness, or drift into the city, or town, where employment offers, and if he secures a "steady job" no more farming for him. For this condition nobody — only the nature of things, is to blame — but it has to be taken into account. But there is another cause for the difficulty of procuring farm labour, for which some farmers are themselves responsible. The Brantford Expositor states that the authorities of Brant county, have had several cases brought to their notice where young fellows, pretty green and new to the country, have been "let in" on the question of wages, two or three such cases having been tried in court recently. One of the county constable stated to-day that he knew one young fellow—a relative of his—who came out this spring. He was an experienced farm hand, and hired out with a farmer in the vicinity. After working for six weeks he asked for his wages, and was given $12. He could not object, as no stated wage had been fixed when he hired on. The farmer who takes advantage of such innocence, brings himself under the woe pronounced by the Prophet Jeremiah, upon him "that useth his neighbour's service without wages, and giveth him not for his work." There are, it is hoped, few farmers who would act in this way, but it is admitted that there are some who work men for long hours, at absurdly low wages. If there were many such, there would be increasing difficulty in procuring farm help, and the honest farmer, and who is willing to pay wages, will suffer for the sins of another.

MODEST HOUSES.

We learn from "Engineering," that another successful experiment in housing workmen has been made by the British Steel-Smelters, Iron and Tinplate Association, in the north of England. In four towns on the north-east coast, the Association has erected 39 houses at a cost of between $55,000 and $60,000. The total sum so invested now reaches $250,000. The rents vary from $1.75 to $2.10 a week, according to accommodation or size of rooms. Each house has six rooms and a bathroom. Herein lies a lesson to public or private enterprise in Peterborough. We are very properly aiming to convert Peterborough into a greater manufacturing centre than it is now. We use various means, more or less effective. One condition, however, that is lacking is provision for the economical and comfortable housing of working men — men of limited incomes — who do not want to pay so much for a roof to shelter them, and their families, as to prevent the accumulation of a little nest-egg, to hatch independence, in case of reverses or illness. There is an urgent need in Peterborough for a class of buildings, at a moderate rental, and, at the same time, decent, comfortable and convenient — at a rental, say, of $8, $10, or $12, per month. The class of houses being built, command a much higher rental. The average workingman wants a small, snug, convenient house, easily heated, and with that indispensable requisite, a bath. There is money, and grateful recognition besides, for the man who will plan a cottage meeting these conditions. Capitalists will give the preference to a city as a home for an industry, which, at the same time, provides comfortable homes for their employees. If the city when it gets over the work of selecting a Normal School site, does not entertain the idea of an enterprise, such as that mentioned above, then private enterprise, which has the real and lasting interests of Peterborough at heart, could find profitable employment. The very prosperity, and progress, and stability of Peterborough depend upon its working men. The better they are housed the more contented they will be, the better inclined, and fitted for effective service, be more contented, and altogether more profitable employees.

A VOCAL ARTIST VISITING THE CITY

The attractions of Peterborough as a summer resort centre, aside from the substantial benefits received from the presence of tourists, are responsible for the presence of persons of distinction and culture in different spheres, seeking relief from the rush and worry of city life. One of these is Mr. John Ball, a very clever professor of the vocal art, in Buffalo, a nephew of Alderman Ball, and at present in the city, the guest of his aunt, Mrs. David Tannold, Dublin street. Mr. Ball is not only a successful and skilful teacher of vocal music and a voice culturist, but a singer of exceptional quality. He possesses a baritone voice of large range and rich timbre—in fact it might well be classed as a tenor robusto—which he uses with an ease possible only to a thorough knowledge of the art of vocalization and with a cultured taste and expression which only true musicianly sympathy can give. Mr. Ball's repertoire includes the grand opera arias suited to his voice, which he sings with splendid sympathy and spirit. Last Sunday he sang in St. Peters Cathedral at Mass and at Vespers in a most masterly manner. Mr. Ball is still young and there is no risk in forecasting for him a brilliant future. It is hoped that having associations he has with Peterborough that the public may have the pleasure of hearing him in the not far future.

Salada Tea.

—As an endurance beverage, tea is without a rival. Tea is the safest way of taking water into the human system. Disease cannot survive the boiling point that water should reach before tea is wet. The only objectionable constituents of tea, resin and tannin, never appear in "Salada" when the infusion is properly made, according to the directions in each lead packets.

FOOTBALL

Proofs of the photo taken of the Quaker football team by Mr. Roy last night were seen by the Examiner to-day and both are excellent. The absense of daylight didn't seem to hinder the character of the picture at all.

BAND AT JACKSON PARK MONDAY NIGHT

The War Clouds Looking Very Dark In Cuba

Grave Concern Caused By Uprising In Santiago Province.

TRINIDAD IS SURROUNDED

Insurgents Hold All the Towns in Santa Clara Province—3,000 Armed Rebels Are In the Vicinity of Cienfuegos—Desultory Fighting at Cardenas, Hitherto Considered a Perfectly Peaceful City.

Havana, Sept. 1.—The situation was far darker last night than at any previous time since the insurrection broke out. News of an uprising in Santiago Province is causing the greatest concern. When Mr. Sleeper, the American charge d'affaires here, was told the contents of the Associated Press Santiago despatch, he endeavored to verify it through the State Department, but was told it was absolutely untrue. Subsequently the despatch was verified from private sources, and from newspaper sources. It is the opinion here that the worst calamity of all to the Palma Government would be an insurrection in Eastern Cuba.

The Associated Press was informed last night by two reliable eye-witnesses that Cardenas, which hitherto has been considered a perfectly peaceful city, was the scene Thursday of desultory fighting between the police and rural guards on the one side and roving insurgents on the other.

The only province remaining peaceful is Porto Principe. The Associated Press correspondent at Cienfuegos telegraphed last night that there are 3,000 armed insurgents in that vicinity and that all the towns in Santa Clara Province are controlled by insurgents, who attack and loot trains and seize the property of foreigners as well as of Cubans.

Trinidad is surrounded by insurgents, and the Government appears powerless to protect the property of Americans and other foreigners. Railway trains are held up at will and passengers searched. The Cuban Central Railway has declined to assume responsibility for the safety of passengers.

SHOT AND HANGED.

Nineteen Soldiers and Some Civilians Pay Extreme Penalty.

London, Sept. 1.—A despatch to a news agency from Helsingfors, Finland, announced that nineteen soldiers found guilty of participation in the recent mutiny at Sveaborg fortress, were shot there yesterday, that three civilians convicted of incitement to mutiny were hanged, and that others were sentenced to prison for terms varying from five to fifteen years.

Premier Encourages Governors.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Premier Stolypin has sent a circular to the governors instructing them not to be dismayed by the threats or acts of the terrorists as he is sure the population generally will eventually come to the support of the authorities in the war against the revolutionists.

Church Despoiled.

Moscow, Sept. 1.—A church at Buttovo was completely destroyed Thursday night by robbers, who even carried off the sacred altar cross.

Bomb For Wedding Party.

Usovka, Russia, Sept. 1.—A bomb was thrown at a wedding procession here yesterday, killing or wounding sixteen persons. The perpetrators of the outrage were among those killed.

Terrorists' Program.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—The woman who assassinated General Min has warned her jailers that St. Petersburg is on the eve of a series of acts of terrorism.

MARKET FOR CANADA'S WHEAT.

Governor-General Advises Canadians to Look to Orient For It.

Prince Albert, Susk., Sept. 1.—Replying to the civic address of welcome, Earl Grey took occasion to extend several wise suggestions to western agriculturists, chief among which was that they should endeavor to cultivate the Oriental market with its great possibilities.

His Excellency said that as he rode through the golden wheat fields and over the green prairie only waiting the plough and the seed wheat, he began to wonder where all this prosperity was going to end.

As Governor-General, it was not for him to take a part in controversial matters, but it was his duty to take a forward view, and looking into the future he saw coming a time when the present market for Canadian wheat, which was chiefly Great Britain, would not provide a demand equal to the supply.

One remedy for this would be to adopt mixed farming, but he thought the most important step which could be taken by Canadian farmers would be to try to secure the Oriental market to sell their wheat to the Japanese, who were now in a state of transition from a rice-eating to a wheat-eating nation.

There May Be Survivors.

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—A party of three have gone out on the steamer City of Selkirk to search the shores of Swampy Island for possible survivors, or for bodies of drowned, which may have been washed ashore from the wreck of the steamer Princess. It is considered possible that Capt. Hawes and the two girls may have clung to the deckhouse when it was swept off the sinking steamer.

May Have Been Murder.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Askel Carlsen, the Scandinavian who was killed on the wharf, as it was supposed by a fall, may have been murdered. Report reaches the coroner that the sailor was beaten and then thrown over Revetment wall. An autopsy is being made.

Severe Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. George Lawson, Consecon, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured me of constipation, rheumatism, stomach troubles and a very severe kidney trouble, after years of sufferings. I am now 68 years of age, and very grateful for what Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have done for me."

Catarrh of the Kidneys Not Always Recognized.

A Cold Settled in Kidneys, Causing Serious Trouble. Pe-ru-na Restores Health.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA FOR KIDNEY DISEASE.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F., and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna.

MR. ISAAC ROSENZVEIG.

Mr. Isaac Rosenzveig, 9 Dumarais street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"About three years ago, I suffered with a bad cold. It settled in the bladder and kidneys, causing serious trouble.

"I tried several advertised remedies, but it was Peruna which finally cured me, and I had taken only a few bottles.

"I feel that it saved me, and it certainly restored me to such perfect health as I had not known in years.

"I have good reason to give your remedy my highest endorsement."

"I soon found I was getting better and continued taking it for four months. It cleaned out the system leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

CANADIAN CHEESE IMPROVED.

Result of the Meat Scandals on the British Workman.

Ottawa, Sept. 1—Weddell & Co., London, Eng., importers of dairy products, in a communication to the Trade and Commerce Department, pay a high tribute to the value of Canada's cheese. In their review of the last fiscal year they say that cheese on the British workingman's table was being displaced by frozen mutton and beef until the Chicago, disclosures came, which had the effect of driving the people back to cheese, of which all other countries and colonies combined contributed only 33,000 tons. The quality of Canadian cheese last year was improved.

Peppler's Case Collapses.

Walkerton, Sept. 1.—The cases against R. I. Henderson of the Henderson Roller Bearing Co. of Toronto, charged with obtaining $1,200 by false pretences from Henry Peppler of Hanover, and $1,400 from Adam Selling of Walkerton in the same manner, were tried here yesterday before Magistrates Robb and Tolton. Peppler's case collapsed on his own evidence but the Selling case was sent up for trial, Henderson being let go on his own bail.

Want 5,000 Chinese In Free.

, Montreal, Sept. 1.—J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P. for Beauharnois, who returned yesterday from the Pacific Coast, says that leading Chinese residents out there are getting up a petition, asking the Dominion Government to allow 5,000 Chinese to enter Canada without paying the head tax. The idea is to employ these men in the mountain section of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Celestials to return home at the completion of the enterprise.

McIntyre's Rink Will Hold Frost Trophy For A Year

Defeated Johnston's Four Last Night in the Final Game Which Was Very Exciting—Defeated Skip's Good Playing.

The final in the Frost Trophy was played off last night between rinks skipped by J. McIntyre, and W. Johnston, the former winning out by a score of 15-7. The score does not indicate the real merits of the play as at the thirteenth end with only three ends remaining to be played, the scores stood, Johnston 7, McIntyre 9 Johnston having won four consecutive ends with his last bowl and saving his rink from a crushing defeat. A large crowd saw the final played and there was great excitement. Following were the rinks:—

R. Wescott	C. Wood
R. Davidson	W. J. Green
R. Sturgeon	W. Laing
J. McIntyre, 15.	W. Johnston, 7.

Latest Ticks From The Wires

A circular to guide inspectors and rural school boards in making regulations to school buildings, accommodation, water supply, etc., has been issued by the provincial department of education. The circular also specifies the nature of the minimum equipment necessary for each school, in order to qualify for the provincial grant as provided in the new act of 1906.

The increase of the Chinese poll tax to $500 and the consequent shutting out of the Orientals has given the Celestial residents of Vancouver a higher appreciation of their own value. Instead of the working wage of $5 or $6 per week and board paid laundrymen last year, employers in Chinese washhouses have now to give their fellow-countrymen $12 or $13 a week as well as board.

The Band of the Brantford Salvation Army has received an invitation from Canandaigua, N. Y., to play there the first week in September. The invitation is a flattering one, and those in charge of the Brantford branch of the Salvation Army are greatly pleased. It is expected that the band will accept. The band is now one of the finest in Ontario and is a credit to the Salvation Army.

It is very probable that two important industries may shortly locate in Portage la Prairie. Mayor Brown has returned from the east, where he interviewed the managers of two important concerns who have the idea under consideration. The firms are the Waterloo Manufacturing company, which will employ twenty-five men, and the Adjustable Boiler Flue company, which will require seventy-five men to operate the plant.

Quite a lot of excitement prevails at Foster, Que., owing to the discovery of a strange mineral on the farm of Frank Hollingsworth and that of Mrs. W. A. Williams. Mr. Hollingsworth has already sold the mining right on his property to some Americans for a nice round sum. It is hoped that the mines may prove valuable and will be worked to the full extent, as this would add greatly to the life and business of Foster.

Ald. Bellaine will call a joint meeting of the Vancouver council board and the Garden City Club, at an early date. Comptroller Gibson has all the necessary data in hand as to how boulevarding, tree planting, etc., is carried out in the modern cities of Canada and the United States. Now that so much work has been done in the way of layin cement walks there will be little difficulty in going into this work vigorously early next year.

Minister Bryce stated that there was no foundation for the report that two Connaught Rangers had been forced by Nationalists at Donegal to curse the King and the constitution. The men, however, were roughly handled.

Among the articles supplied by the London county council to the elementary day schools in the course of the year are 150,000 gallons ink powder sufficient to make 14,400 gallons; 5,000,000 plain copy-books; 1,250,000 plain drawing-books.

It is reported from Calais, France, that the crew of a fishing boat charged with smuggling at Ostend, have been ordered by the Bruges tribunal to pay $14,600 and were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. Their boat and cargo were confiscated.

The British under-secretary for the colonies stated in the commons that the elections in the Transvaal under the new constitution would probably be held not later than the beginning of next year.

Open The Doors To Knowledge

City Schools Re-open Again on Tuesday.

In consideration of the fact that the city schools open on Tuesday the following from the Boston Teachers' Magazine will be appropriate at this time:—

School begins again. Open the doors wide to let hope enter in; hope that the year may reveal new opportunities for enriching the lives of others; hope that there may be no regrets; hope that enthusiasm will hold out to the end, never weakening, never doubting; hope that we may never cease to grow. Open the door wide that the sunshine of good cheer may enter in; cheer that sustains youth; cheer that keeps the heart young and the eyes bright; bright; cheer that makes the "grown up" a comrade of the children.

Open the hearts wide that a kindly spirit may enter in; kindly affection toward every child, that seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil, hopeth all things. It is this spirit which gives to teaching its true worth, which leads the young to the fountains of life. The kindly eye can see the gold that grime and dirt hide from other eyes. The kindly eye sees in teaching what Horace Mann saw in it: "Co-operation with God in the education of mankind."

With hope and cheer and kindleness, the new school year must yield fruitage. For the teacher himself, the gain will be even greater, if possible, than for the pupils. All the wealth of the nations cannot buy a cheerful heart, a heart that draws its strength from hope, and grows by kindly thoughts and kindly deeds. This cheerfulness is not to be found in the market place of the grown up world. It is something that was born with us all, but fades away when we lose our youth. In no occupations are the fountains of our youth so abundantly fed as in teaching, if we but knew. The more is the pity if the teacher fails to grasp these opportunities. School has begun. Have you opened the doors to let in hope? Have you opened the windows to let in the sunshine of cheer? Have you opened your heart to let kindliness take up its dwelling therein? Will you keep on growing? Can you smile? Will you smile? for a whole year? Then good luck to you on the way.

THAT'S RIGHT, SANITARIS

No Delay in Filling Orders Because of the Big Fire At Arnprior.

It is a pleasure to hear of the pluck and energy displayed by the officers of Sanitaris, Limited, after the destructive fire which gutted the entire bottling works at Arnprior, Ont., on August 14.

The building, machinery and hundreds of cases of Sanitaris Mineral Water were a total loss, yet with instant push, new machinery was ordered, a temporary bottling works fitted up, and, a week after the fire, pressing orders were being shipped.

Fortunately for Sanitaris, Limited, the new plant, which was being erected at the time of the fire, will be completed in about two months.

This will be one of the finest works of the kind in Canada. It is a building 80 by 40 feet, two stories high, with a single story wing, 30 by 20 feet, equipped with the most approved types of bottling apparatus.

This shows the rapidly increasing demand for Sanitaris Mineral Water, which is now used all over Canada.

Third Reading Of By-law Passed

Authorizing Issuing of Debentures for Bridge Construction

At the meeting of the County Council yesterday afternoon the third reading of the bylaw authorizing the issuing of the debentures to the amount of $14,000 for bridge construction, was heard, passed, signed and sealed. The County Clerk was also asked to advertise for the sale of the debentures in the Monetary Times, of Toronto, tenders to be in not later than 10 o'clock, December 22, 1906.

The Bridge Committee met in the morning and approved of the work so far as it was done, of Messrs. Conroy and Son, bridge contractors. A couple of old bridges and some dirt will yet have to be removed before their contract is completed.

Toronto Company Want To Place Order With Council

For Gasoline Engine for County House of Refuge—Representative Addressed the Council Yesterday—Expect to Have Building Completed by November 1st—Will Appoint Manager.

The County Council have not yet decided whether they will generate their own electricity for lighting purposes in the new House of Refuge, or get their light from Lakefield. Yesterday afternoon at their meeting, Mr. Geo. W. Stone, representing the International Harvesting Company, was present and addressed the Council with a view to placing a gasoline engine in the vicinity of the building, for pumping water and generating electricity. The one engine, he said, could be used for both purposes, as well as for others in connection with the farm.

The question was referred to the Building Committee, who will report at the next meeting.

The House of Refuge Committee are making every provision to have the House completed by November 1. A meeting will be called in the near future to consider applications for the managership of the House, as it is necessary that a manager be ready to begin duties as soon as the building is completed.

Tenders for heating, plumbing and lighting will also soon be called for.

Bell Telephone For Ennismore

Request of the Reeve Will Probably be Granted.

It is within the range of possibility that Ennismore Township will have a branch of the Bell Telephone in the near future. The reeve, Mr. Killen, is energetically taking the matter into consideration, and negotiations are under way by which the Bell Company will extend their line there.

Mr. Killen wrote the County Council asking permission for the company to place their wires on the bridge across Chemong Lake. This communication was read yesterday afternoon at their meeting and discussed. The Council seemed anxious to grant the request, and a motion by Councillors Garbutt and Stinson that the Bell Telephone Company be allowed to place their wires on the bridge, subject to an agreement with the county, passed the meeting.

This practically means that Ennismore will have a telephone service which will place it in communication with Peterborough and the centres of the various other townships, and will be in keeping with its steady advancement, which has been so marked in recent years.

Prizes Awarded For The Best Kept Grounds

Mrs. Logan and Mr. A. L. Davis Were Winners of Two First Prizes—Continued Improvement is Reported—George and Water Street North Commended.

The committee of the society on Wednesday made their annual examinations of the gardens, lawns and yards of competitors for the society's prizes. The committee consisted of D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate; H. C. Rogers, Esq., Postmaster; Peter Campbell, Esq., of the Bank of Toronto, and James Stevenson, Esq., ex-M.P.

The awards for best results, the work being all done by the owners, is as follows:

Brock and Aylmer street, $4.

1st prize—Mrs. Logan, corner of 2nd prize—Mrs. Barclay, No. 583 George street, $2.

Mr. Wm. Taylor, for C.P.R. station garden, $2.

Mrs. Thorndike's grounds, corner of Murray and Aylmer streets, for third time, $2.

Grounds kept by all hired help:

1st prize—A. L. Davis, Hon. J. R. Stratton, equal, $4;

2nd prize—T. F. Matthews, $2.

The committee are pleased to be able to report continued improvement in the lawns, yards and premises of the citizens. To walk past neatly kept lawns, bedecked with beds of well-grown flowers, is very gratifying, and those who thus help to give a common ownership and enjoyment to all are benefactors. They give pleasure and inspire others to imitate them, and thus quietly bring up the refinement and taste of the community. We found flowers everywhere. The aim of the society is to help to get rid of eye-sores and to substitute in back yards, passages and lawns, grass, flowers and plants, and in awarding prizes, we were influenced more by the success where success seemed least attainable, than by the fine grounds of the well-to-do.

We regret that so few people who would have liked their premises inspected sent in their addresses, and so we were limited in our examinations.

We were especially pleased with the pretty little lawns on George street, north of Smith street, west side, particularly those of W. J. Thompson, A. Herridge and Mrs. Drummond, which are as near perfection as possible. Both George and Water streets, north, are a credit to the householders and to the city.

Amongst the well-kept grounds are those of A. L. Davis, J. J. Lundy, James Stevenson, James Long, Miss Annie Thompson and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton. These and many others speak well for the refinement and good taste of the people.

The love of flowers is one that grows, and the aim of the society is to extend this taste so that all who pass by may, with the owners, participate in the joy of the flowers.

PETER CAMPBELL,
Chairman.

IT IS A PARASITE

That Causes Itching Scalp, Dandruff, and Finally, Falling Hair.

The itching scalp, the falling hair and the dandruff that annoys are the work of a parasite hidden in the scalp. That parasite must be killed to cure dandruff; and the only preparation that will do that is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

C. H. Reed, of Victor, Idaho, says: "Myself and wife had dandruff and falling hair several years. Two bottles of Newbro's Herpicide completely cured us, after several other preparations had failed to do good." Makes hair grow glossy and soft as silk. Hundreds of other testimonials just as strong. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

OBITUARY.

HENRY MORROW.

A well-known resident of Peterborough passed away last night in the person of Henry Morrow, who died at the residence of his son, Dr. Morrow. The deceased had been ill since July, when he had one of his eyes removed by an operation. Paralysis supervened about August 1, resulting in death.

The deceased was born in Donegal, Ireland, in 1823, and came to Canada in 1845, living in Cavan, till his removal to Lindsay, where he resided until ten years ago, when he removed to Peterborough. His wife predeceased him 34 years ago.

In religion Mr. Morrow was a Methodist and was a member of that church for 45 years.

He is survived by three sons and three daughters. They are Jas., of Ethelton, Sask.; George, of Salt Lake City, Dr. Morrow, of Peterborough; Mrs. Clarke, Hamilton; Mrs. R. D. Preston, Midland, and Miss Fanny, Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 8.25 o'clock, from 176 Dalhousie street, to the G.T.R. station. Interment will take place at Lindsay.

Bank Broke And Holidays Ended

For Two Philadelphia Tourists at Stony Lake.

The holiday of Messrs. W. and V. W. Gilbert, of Philadelphia, who have been stopping for some time at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing, was cut short by bad news. Yesterday they received word that the bank in Philadelphia in which they placed their hard-earned cash had broken, and financially they were badly crippled. The young men left the lake last evening and spent the night at the Snowden House, on their southern journey.

A Pure Food Process At Toronto Exhibition

"Shredded Wheat" Made While You Look—Purest Cereal or Other Food on the Market.

Visitors to the Toronto Exhibition who are cognizant of the disclosures concerning the meats prepared and shipped into Canada and elsewhere by the great packers, will have a chance to see with their own eyes how "Shredded Wheat"—the cleanest and purest cereal food on the market—is made. The whole system, cleaning, washing, shredding, canning, and baking may be seen in left of Main Entrance to the new Process Building. Very interesting are the ingenious devices for removing every particle of dust, sand, chalk, cockle and other foreign substances. But nothing could be more interesting than to watch how the whole wheat is drawn into "the shreds," laid in the pan, and then cut into oblong biscuit shape, before baking. This in itself is worth the price of admission. Visitors will be made welcome, shown every detail, allowed to sample both biscuit and triscuit, and given all the information desired. This "baking of bread without flour" as it is called, is part of the Exhibition, and those who are interested in food production will find it especially attractive and instructive.

Labour Men Feel Very Indignant At Whitney

Say That the Present Government Has Neglected the Labour Bureau—They Praise Mr. Glockling—Some Suggest That Government is Apathetic Because of Hostile Interference of Manufacturers.

Several of the business agents of different unions spoke in strong terms of condemnation at the Labour Temple to-day of the present Government's attitude of indifference to the Ontario Bureau of Industry, the secretary of which, Mr. Robert Glockling, has just resigned.

Mr. Virtue, one of the agents, said that the Bureau had originally been established to be of service to the labouring men, organized or unorganized.

"The present Government have let it run to seed, and taken no care at all to make it useful. If proper attention were paid to it, there is no question but that it would yield profitable returns," continued Mr. Virtue. "It was always worth something to the people and could be made of inestimable value if the Government would pass an Act compelling the manufacturers to supply all the statistics necessary to its work. They have the power to do this, and the only reason they don't is that they are too apathetic to the needs of the Bureau. They don't see any use for it, and simply neglected Mr. Glockling altogether. Such being the case, he has resigned," said the agent.

"Did you always work in harmony with the Bureau?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, yes! We always stood by Mr. Glockling, and furnished all the information the Bureau requested. It was of great service to us, and we hope it will not be allowed to go out of existence, although we are afraid so, with the present Government in power," concluded Mr. Virtue.

Other agents spoken to were loud in praise of Mr. Glockling, and the usefulness of the Bureau, which, they say, could be made of vast service to the public.

"It was the only place we could get reliable statistics from, and we hope it will be continued, with its scope greatly enlarged," said one man.

There are rumours that Mr. Glockling was really forced out of his position, as a result of the attitude of certain manufacturers.

THE BEST STOVE & HARDWARE CO.

To Prevent The Root Exhaustion

Fruit Trees are Vaccinated with Sulphate of Iron.

It has been observed by European scientists that the roots of fruit trees frequently become exhausted while the trunk andb ranches are still in a healthy state, and experiments have recently been made with a view to stimulating and feeding artificially the impoverished trees by vaccinating them with a solution of sulphate of iron.

By the use of coloured solutions, it has been demonstrated that the best location for the incision is at the neck o fthe root, as from this point the nourishing fluid permeates almost the entire tree, both root and branches. It is the idea of the scientists conducting the experiments that germicides as well as nutritive substances might be introduced into the sap, thus protecting the tree from disease.

It is believed that by this method many old orchards, which would otherwise become barren and finally die, may be preserved in a healthy and fruit-bearing state for considerable periods, and that valuable shade-trees located in cities, the loss of which could be repaired only after many years, may be saved.

RETURN OF PETERBOROUGHS' MUSICAL ARTIST.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who has been in Europe for the past few months, returns about the middle of September. Mrs. Morrow has been studying under the finest European teachers, and returns with credentials from her teachers, which place her in the foremost rank of teachers in Canada.

Mrs. Morrow's ability as a teacher is well known to the people of Peterborough, and after having been instructed further by eminent European artists, who cannot but anticipate good results from her pupils, who should look forward to her return and embrace the opportunity of studying under such a talented artist.

Pupils will kindly forward their names as soon as possible so that hours can be satisfactorily arranged, as her classes in vocal as well as instrumental music, will be even larger than last year. Studio, 437 Brock street. 6d50

Granted $100 Towards The Fair

County Council Have Assisted As Usual.

The Peterborough Industrial Fair will be given assistance by the County Council. At their meeting yesterday afternoon, in response to a request from Secretary F. J. A. Hall, they decided to give a grant of $100 to the Fair. This, together with the previous grant of $600 from the City Council and citizens, will be a material assistance to the success of this year's exhibition.

ANNIVERSARY AT CHARLOTTE STREET

The annual sermons in behalf of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary will be preached on Sunday next, morning and evening, in the Charlotte street Methodist church, by Rev. D. N. McCamus, of Listowel. Appropriate music will be rendered by the church choir. All are welcome.

All Union Barber Shops will be closed all day Monday, Sept. 3rd, it being Labour Day.

Diseases During Summer Months

Dr. C. G. Kerley Deals With Intestinal Diseases of Children.

In the Paediatrics Section of the British Medical Congress in Toronto, Dr. C. G. Kerley dealt with the seasonable subject of "Acute Intestinal Diseases of Infants during the Summer Months." The summer, according to the calendar, is nearly over, but there remains a long time in which intestinal maladies, fatal to children, can be developed, and this subject will still be of interest to others:

"The most important factor in treating such diseases," he began, "consists in their prevention, which may readily be brought about by proper feeding methods. Improper feeding causes intestinal disorder and deranged digestion. There you have the foundation of summer diseases, such as I mention. I want to impress on you all these facts; Unclean food is at the root of the evil. Faulty feeding methods do their part, and another undesirable condition is the absence of appreciation on the part of physicians and laymen that an attack of acute indigestion in the summer time is dangerous, and needs prompt treatment.

"Physicians and laymen should remember also that few cases of severe intestinal diseases are severe at the outset. As a rule mild symptoms are noticeable, and if these symptoms are properly treated, the result is seldom serious. If the warning is not taken and the trouble is allowed to develop, severe and frequently fatal results are the penalty and the consequences."

Milk Held To Blame

Speaking of his own treatment, Dr. Kerley said: "With the first sign of gastro-intestinal derangement there is the standing order with all patients to discontinue milk at once, give castor oil and let the baby have nothing but water to drink, until the doctor arrives and advises. Frequently, I may say, the diet for a day or two or three days after that consists of barley or rice water, as substitutes for milk. In large municipalities, and I can prove it, the solution of the large death rate among infants, is the establishment of milk depots, and ice stations, where the pure, clean and wholesome article may be obtained at a nominal cost, or, where the parents are poor gratuitously. The tenement mother should have the advice of a trained nurse in the care of the child. At the Babies' Hospital and the New York Prolioclinic Medical School, we have a low infant mortality among the poorer classes, as we teach the mother how to care for her babe.

A Remarkable Experiment.

"Let me tell you of an experiment conducted in New York last year. Fifty tenement children were placed under the care of one dotor, who visited his small patients every day and saw that they were fed on safe milk. What was the result? Not one of those fifty babies, ranging from three months to nine months, died during the summer period from June to October.

"Some of my patients—these are among the wealthier class—have the cow's bag washed and the milker's hands cleansed. When the milk is drawn as rapidly as possible it is strained through absorbent cotton, and then placed on cracked ice. Ice kills microbes. Cool, clean milk and you have safe milk. One mother uses her silver champagne bowl in cooling her baby's milk.

Commends Dr. Hodgetts.

"Just as the mother must do her part, so must the municipality. I certainly concur in what your Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, has said about the advisability of installing municipal milk depots and general control. It ought to be done. Of course the farmer will expect a good price, and if he supplies proper milk and his services are satisfactory his remuneration should be commensurate."

Eyes Worth Having

Did you ever stop to think that with the exception of the heart, the eye is the hardest worked part of the body.

As long as you are awake and your eyes are open they are working in your service.

Three pairs of muscles control the movement of each eyeball.

The two eyeballs move exactly together. Would you know the effect of their not working together—press your finger against one, so that it's position does not exact'y correspond with the other.

How important it is that if these muscles tire and you have headaches and require Glasses, that your Glasses suit your eyes—our long experience makes us experts and able to fit you correctly.

For The Better Protection Of Fish And Game

Convention Urges the Government to Take Action.

WOULD PROHIBIT EXPORT

First Convention of the New Provincial Fish and Game Protective Association—Address of Chief Justice Falconbridge on Its Objects and Its Work—Representative Gathering of Prominent Sportsmen.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—The convention of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association met in the main building of the University of Toronto yesterday. About seventy-five keen-eyed sportsmen and patient fishermen from all over the province faced the chairman, Chief Justice Falconbridge, who delivered a scholarly address, replete with good solid information regarding the initiation of the movement, the valuable work at present being done, and outlining what was proposed to be undertaken in the future.

Protection For Game Fish.

Dealing with speckled trout, the committee on game fish recommended that the minimum length for catching be seven, instead of six, inches; that sale under any conditions be declared illegal, and that no change be made from the prohibition against exportation; white bass should not be placed in waters where speckled trout were.

These other recommendations were made by the committee.

Black bass—Twelve inches to be the minimum length for catching; open season to be from June 15 to Nov. 30, inclusive; approval of pond rearing of small mouthed fish.

Silver bass—Not to include them in fishing regulations.

Maskinonge—Open season June 15 to Nov. 30; propagation in fish hatcheries if workable; more Government attention to maintaining lake levels during the spawning season.

Pickerel—Not to include in fishery regulations.

Frogs—To prohibit sale or exportation of frogs' legs for five years.

No Export of Food Fish.

The absolute prohibition of the exportation of all food fish for five years was the radical recommendation made by the committee dealing with food fish. It was proposed that the 5-inch meshes be the smallest allowed for catching white fish and salmon trout, and that from Oct. 1 to April 1 be made a close season for white fish, salmon trout and pickerel, and the close season for herring from Oct. 15 to April 1, also it is asked that the catching of sturgeon for five years be prohibited. Apart from the great lakes it is recommended that the use of nets be not allowed, and that the Government take pains to ascertain that licenses be given only to proper persons. The appointment of a commissioner, who as a member of the Government would have charge of the Department of Fish and Game, was also approved.

Furbearing Animals.

The committee on furbearing animals declared satisfaction with the law prohibiting the killing of beaver and otter before Nov. 1, 1910, but believed it was not being sufficiently enforced. It was recommended that there be established more preserves for propagation, and that there be strict Government supervision. It was declared that furs were being exported to the United States, contrary to law, and a remedy suggested was the establishment of reciprocal relations between Canada and the United States. A close season, from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1, was favored. The Government should adopt more stringent protective measures.

For muskrats, an open season in Northern Ontario, from Oct. 15 to May 1, and in southern waters, from Nov. 1 to May 1, was desired; and that 15 days be allowed for disposal after the season's close. The Government should take steps to regulate the taking of marten, mink and fisher, and the close season should be from Nov. 1 to March 1. The Government should establish more preserves for propagation.

Better Inspection.

The committee on fishery overseers and game wardens reported in favor of appointing efficient men to look after both fish and game, one to be assigned to each of the counties, or districts where game and fish abounded, their whole time to be given to the work; that they have power to appoint assistants in special cases, and that two or more special detectives be appointed to investigate, where necessary, and report to departmental Minister. It was also asked that the officers of each branch of the association be appointed guardians of the fish and game without salary.

Feathered Game.

A close season for feathered game, from Dec. 15 to Sept. 15, was favored. The meeting declared against duck-shooting in the spring, the use of gasoline or other launches or sailboats in duck-shooting, or rousing, and the use of stationary blinds or hides more than 100 yards from the shore line. Boats or punts should be allowed to be used in open water; but decoys not tolerated over 100 yards from any shore line or rush bed. It should be unlawful for plover or any other shore birds to be shot in spring. A law in favor of the cultivation of quail, and making it unlawful to shoot them for three years, was favored. Strong objection was expressed to the sale and exportation of ducks.

The committee on reciprocal arrangements with the United States reported in favor of taking steps to make arrangements to restrict the shipping of fish and game illegally captured in Ontario into the United States, and vice versa; also, that there should be uniform laws for the propagation and protection of fish of the great international waters, and arrangements made, by which the officials of both countries could work together for this object.

Prohibition of Nets.

The committee on nets favored the absolute prohibition of trap, hoop and pound nets, as very destructive. Gill nets should be licensed in non-protected waters only. Nets illegally used shall be destroyed on sight. All licensed nets and buoys should carry the license number. The committee was against the exportation of any kind of fish, and opposed net fishing on all inland lakes and streams.

It was moved and carried that settlers in unorganized townships be allowed to kill deer and other big game during November only. Stringent laws against the use of firearms in lumber, railway construction, or park camps, except during the open season for red deer, were proposed. At survey camps at a distance of ten miles from any supply camp or settlement the killing of game for food should be allowed.

The Fishery Reserves.

The committee on public game domains, parks and forests recommended that the northern and eastern shores of Georgian Bay from Killarney to Penetang be set aside for angling. The importance of setting apart reservations from time to time as needed, as tending to increase the supply of fish and game, and prevent the acquisition by private parties and clubs of large tracts of the public domains for exclusive hunting and fishing privileges was favored.

The committee on the transportation of fish and game by common carriers, made up of delegates of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, together with officers of the Grand Trunk and C. P. R., gave the unanimous opinion that it was to the interest of the country and the railways alike to prohibit the export of game and game fish. It was found that the present system of inspection was ineffective, and it was recommended that the Government make it illegal for any transportation company to carry commercial fish for export unless accompanied by a Government inspector's certificate and a detailed service showing the nature of the fish. The Government should appoint inspectors at strategic points, and a nominal fee charged for inspection and certificate issuance. The recommendations are to apply only to fish exported for commercial purposes, and not to fish caught by tourists.

Big Game Hunting.

The matter of big game was not reached till late in the afternoon, and time not serving consideration of the more important recommendations of the committee was deferred, namely, that the time for hunting be extended to Nov. 30, that every licensee be entitled only to 15 consecutive days hunting in each year, and that the use of dogs be allowed.

The meeting put itself on record in favor of permitting the search of lumber camps for venison, caribou and moose meat, holding the jobber and license holder liable to heavy fines. It was resolved that one year in every five would be sufficient for the protection of moose and caribou. Satisfaction was declared with the prescribed number of deer to be killed by each person, and with the law preventing the carrying of firearms in woods where moose, caribou or deer were found between Nov. 30 and Sept. 15 following without a permit.

It was resolved that the exportation of deer, moose and caribou be prohibited except by licenses, such animals to be exported as are killed only by licensees now residents of Ontario.

It was also resolved that hounds should be restricted from running at large where small game exist, between April 1 and Oct. 1.

The association will next meet Easter week, 1908.

SHOW AND FOURTH ESTATE.

Attendance Exceeded That of Corresponding Day of Last Year.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Ontario editors were the lions at the exhibition grounds yesterday. The scintillations of intellect during the day were equal to the fireworks at night, and of this, unfortunately, no complete record remains. It is wonderful to see the doughty champions of party and principle sitting down together in peace and amity. There was but one note in their expressions, and it was a hearty chord of approbation and praise for the big fair. Prof. Goldwin Smith made the address of the day at the luncheon.

The attendance yesterday exceeded that of the corresponding day last year by a respectable majority, and the weather during the day was perfect, turning cool in the evening. The band of the 2nd Life Guards attracted greater crowds than ever, and the splendid programs were closely followed.

Whirled Round Like Top.

Brockville, Sept. 1.—A boy named Coughlin, aged eight years, narrowly escaped being killed here yesterday. In attempting to board a rig his right leg was caught in the spokes of the wheel and mangled to such an extent that little hope is entertained of saving it. He was whirled around like a top before the attention of the driver was directed to his cries.

Quebec Cabinet Changes.

Quebec, Sept. 1.—Hon. W. A. Weir having resigned the Speakership of the Legislature, was yesterday sworn in as Minister of Public Works. Hon. J. C. McCorkill resigned to become a judge. Hon. A. Tessier became Treasurer and Jules Allard, Minister of Public Works, Minister of Agriculture.

The Ozowski Cup and $50 was also won by the 48th Highlanders' A team 344.

The Dundonald Challenge Cup and $36 was won by the 48th Highlanders.

The first stage of the Governor-General's Cup saw a splendid win for Pte. J. Leask of the 2nd Q. O. R. with 100 points. The first 150 men may enter the second and final stage, which winds up the D. R. A. meet this afternoon. There are 150 prizes. The only prize in the first stage is the silver medal won by Pte. Leask.

The University match and $25 was won by the University of Toronto, 268; next, $20, McGill University, 237.

The Gordon Highlanders' Trophy was won by the 90th Regiment, Winnipeg, with 727.

The Lansdowne aggregate Challenge Cup and $36 was won by the 5th C. A. Victoria, 1,438.

In the gauging distance competition the field glass was won by Pte. J. Leask, 2nd Q. O. R., 8 points.

FAULT "PRINCESS VICTORIA."

For Collision In B. C. Waters—Damage Suits Will Result.

Vancouver, Sept. 1.—The court of enquiry appointed by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to investigate the cause of the collision between C. P. R. steamship Princess Victoria and Union steamship tug Chehalis on July 24, in the harbor here, in which ten lives were lost, concluded yesterday.

The finding was against the Princess Victoria, and suspended the certificate of Capt. Griffin for six months. Also the costs of the enquiry were against the C. P. R.

The Department will be asked to make new regulations governing shipping here. Many suits for damages are to follow. The verdict was a surprise.

Horticulturalists' Officers.

Guelph, Sept. 1.—At the Ontario Horticultural Association meeting, J. H. Dunlop, A. Gilchrist, W. J. Lawrence and W. Mustein were appointed to wait on the Government and ask to have the horticultural work of the O. A. C. extended; asking that scientific investigation receive more attention.

The new officers are: President, J. Lawrence, Toronto; 1st vice-president, John Walsh, Montreal; 2nd vice-president, E. Dale, Brampton; treasurer, H. Simmers, Toronto; secretary, A. H. Ewing, Woodstock; executive, for one year, A. Pinoteau, E. Annandale, W. Taylor; two years, J. Suckling, J. Eddy, J. Campbell; three years, W. Kehoe, A. S. Stephens, F. Dicke. Representatives to Toronto Fair, H. Simmers, London, A. Stephens, W. Savage, Ottawa, E. I. Hepstead and R. Wright.

Fifteen Building Burned.

Greyburg, Maine, Sept. 1.—Fifteen buildings of this town were burned yesterday, including the Oxford House, a three-storey wooden structure, with accommodations for 250 persons, 12 residences, a store and an unoccupied hotel, by a fire which started from sparks on the roof of the Oxford House. The loss was estimated at $80,000.

FLOUR BLEND OF ONTARIO.

Excels Manitoba's Best and Dominion Millers Will Advertise Fact.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—At the annual meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association, the following officers were elected:

President, S. W. Vogan, Walkerton; 1st vice-president, Wm. Monro, Thorold; 2nd vice-president, A. E. McLeod, Stratford; secretary-treasurer, C. B. Watts, Toronto; executive committee, George Goldie, Ayr; J. D. Flavelle, Lindsay; Alex Noble, Norval; Hedley Shaw, St. Catharines and Thorold; E. V. Tillson, Tillsonburg, and D. B. Wood, Brantford.

Secretary Watts reported funds of $19,000, an increase of $4,000. The sum of $1,500 will be spent in advertising the advantages of blended flours. It was stated that, for every purpose excepting the making of pure bakers' bread, winter wheat and blended flour made in Ontario were preferable to pure Manitoba.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the association express their appreciation of the Dominion Government's action by appointing a commission to enquire into the inspecting and handling of Manitoba grain from the time it leaves the farmer until it reaches the consumer.

Indians Raise Objections.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—A difficulty has arisen between the Department of Marine and Fisheries and the Indians of the Babine agency at the head waters of the Skeena River, on account of the Indians placing weirs or dams in the river. The Department had these dams taken out, and the Indians are now asserting their right to place them there.

THE AIM AND ATTAINMENT OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

The Motive	The Manner
Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.	Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My children ye have done it unto Me.

Of all the altruistic enterprises of the age, the Children's Aid Society, having regard to its fundamental principles, occupies the highest place, apart from purely religious organizations, and it is questionable whether it should take secondary place, even in this respect. The Church seeks the lost; the Society aims to prevent the loss. The Society is founded upon a living principle; it substitutes love for service in establishing the relations between neglected, dependent, outcast and, worse than orphaned, children, and the parental conditions it creates. It rescues from vice and misery; it creates happiness; it bars the pathway to vice; it opens wide the way to home happiness, honest living, respected and useful citizenship; it safeguards society; it serves the state.

HON. J. R. STRATTON, Honourary President Children's Aid Society.

Deserving Character.

In view of the splendid work it has done, and will continue to do, the Children's Aid Society is deserving of the best that can be done to promote its efficiency, and extend the area of its beneficent influence. The more its character, and the character and splendid record of its work, is made known, the more it commends itself to the practical sympathy of those who would be writ down as loving their fellow men. In view of the work it is doing and is designed, and equipped, to do, no apology is needed for any attempt to arouse public interest in its objects.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM,
President Children's Aid Society.

Peterborough the Pioneer

It is rather a proud matter of boast that Peterborough can claim to be the cradle of the Children's Aid Society. The first Society, founded upon Children's Aid Society principles, established in Canada, if not on this continent, was organized in Peterborough. It came about in this wise: In the year 1889, it occurred to a Peterborough citizen, Mr. Hampden Burnham, while reading a number of the English edition of the Review of Reviews, that the Society for the Protection of Children as organized in England, by Rev. William Waugh, a Baptist minister, might very well be duplicated in Canada. This idea took sharper definition, because in that year there had been a recrudescence in this country of crimes against children, and to give effect to the idea, and obtain information, the city clergy of Toronto, and other places, were communicated with, but all replied that no society of that kind existed anywhere in this country. This proved to be true. It was necessary therefore for Peterborough in order to obtain such standing, to establish a branch of the English Society. This was done. The first Society of its kind in Canada was established in the town of Peterborough, and, for four years carried on its work under the aegis of the parent society in England.

How It Originated.

This is the manner in which the Children's Aid Society became established: About 1892 Mr. Beverley Jones and others of Toronto decided to form a Society there, and to secure an act of the Legislature which would give them a legal standing, a thing very much needed, and it has proven of immense value to the work. At the request of these gentlemen, the Peterborough Society forwarded all its literature on the subject, and to Peterborough initiative — to the happy thought of a philanthropic citizen, and to the information contained in the literature he supplied, is largely due the first Children's Aid Society Act, passed in 1893 — constituting the charter of the Canadian Society, as it exists to-day. To round out the legal function and usefulness of the Society, the Dominion Parliament, which has sole jurisdiction in criminal matters, passed the Juvenile Offenders' Act, which, with the Provincial Act, places at the disposal of the protectors of children, the law in all its strength. But the law of the land is never invoked, except as a last resource; the law of love, is, as a rule, sufficient. The motto of the Society is, "The Homeless Child for the Childless Home." Unlike the Barnardo movement it is wholly a matter of adoption, the beginning, to the friendless, neglected dependent child, of a new life, not as the servant, but as the son or daughter of the house.

How the Work Has Grown.

From Peterborough, as a centre, the good work has radiated, till now there are forty-three Societies in the province, which have rescued a total of 4,000 homeless, dependent, neglected, and worse than orphaned children, not only from homes, or rather habitations of vice, and cruelty, and vicious environment, but has provided them with foster homes, where they have become very children of these homes and the hearts that make these homes. Here we have "a whole city-full" of boys and girls grown up, or growing up, into virtuous and useful members of society, who, but for the work of the Children's Aid Society, would—a thousand chances to one — have become criminals or social outcasts, and inmates of the jail or brothel.

On a Firm Basis.

Mr. J. J. Kelso was, on the passing of the Act, appointed superintendent, and for the past fourteen years he has given his active services and sympathy to the work. The Children's Aid Society is long

MR. R. M. DENNISTOUN,
Secretary and Solicitor Children's Aid Society, past the experimental stage, and the people are beginning to see the fruits of the work and to recognize it as one of the most beneficent movements of the age, whose influence could well be very greatly extended. Not only have our jails and brothels been depopulated to the extent of 4,000 boys and girls, but these 4,000 boys and girls have, instead of being burdens upon the community, become contributors to the burdens of society, sharers in its good work and payers of taxes. There is always a childless home to welcome the homeless child. Though over 2,000 children are annually brought from the British Isles to this Province, the cry is for Isles to this Province. The cry is for more. The agents of the local societies are unable to supply the demand there is for children to adopt. Improbable as it may seem to one come to exercise a deterrent influ- acquainted with the work, there once to this extent that, whereas, seems to be always more homes seek- than the society was in its early ing children than there are children history the secretary was deluged to place in them, but sometimes a to these comfor the various shelters where the call plants are less frequent, and in all dren are kept, there are some who rejects there has been a decided Provincial Officers.

The office of the superintendent is in the Parliament Buildings, Toronto. He has in his office, besides a clerical staff, Mrs. Harvie, whose duties are to visit the children in their various homes to see that the homes are suitable, and report how the children are being treated. Mrs. O'Connor has similar duties to perform for Catholic children, as, according to the act Catholic children must be placed in Catholic homes, and Protestant children in Protestant homes. The society has no creed but human love for humanity.

Reformatory Work.

A few years ago the Government resolved to close up the Reformatory for boys at Penetang, and Mr. Kelso took about one hundred boys who were detained there, and placed them in different homes. The great majority of these boys are now earning their own living and doing well for themselves, thus relieving the country of a great tax for maintenance. From time to time also, young lads are drafted from the Mimico Industrial Schools, and wisely and judiciously placed where they also become a source of wealth instead of a burden. The junior Mercer Reformatory girls, who were formerly confined there, have been given in charge of parties who were willing to receive them, and the same may be said of them as of the boys.

HOW WOULD I SUIT?

THE LOCAL WORK.

The Peterborough Children's Aid Society was established under the act in 1893, though it had been in essential existence since 1889. It has steadily grown in public favour and confidence and in usefulness. It has enlisted the active sympathy of the best elements of our citizenship, regardless of denominational religious affiliations. The good work it has done and is doing, though in a quiet way, needs only to be more widely known to be more widely appreciated and accorded more liberal material encouragement. While the work has been faithfully and efficiently carried on by the officers, that work has been greatly assisted by the city authorities, the Police Magistrate and the citizens at large. Everybody has a good word for the society but those whose vicious complacency its operations disturb. Not only has the society done a positive work for good in rescuing children from ill-treatment, neglect and deadly moral peril, but it has decrease in the parental neglect and brutality that made the existence of the society necessary.

IN A GOOD HOME.

The Shelter

In connection with the work of the society a Children's Shelter—a title pregnant with literal significance—is a necessary adjunct. As is known, Peterborough's Shelter is situated at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets, in beautiful grounds, with sufficient buildings, leased to the society by the generosity of Mayor Best at the nominal figure of $750 per year. The Shelter is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henry, who carefully and efficiently conduct the establishment. Here children, rescued by the society by virtue of its legal and moral powers, are received, clothed, fed, trained and sheltered on an average of three weeks, till they are placed in foster homes.

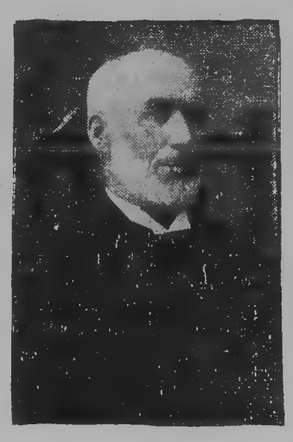
Since the Shelter was opened, ten years ago, two hundred and fifty-two children have been received, and cared for, and all but three, the present population, placed in foster homes, not counting 26 immigrant children, whose parents were "stranded" on their arrival in the city this year. These children were kept and cared for at the Shelter for several days, till their parents "found their feet."

In Lighter Vein.

A glance over some of the letters of applications for children at the secretary's office is rather amusing. One party wants a girl about



MR. GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Representative on Charity Board, Children's Aid Society, twelve years of age, fair hair, blue eyes, well brought up, willing to work, fairly educated, good and kind disposition; without father or mother or other relatives to bother them; the generous offer being made that such a one can have a good home and will be brought up like one of the family. But the secretary laughingly asks, what bringing up does one need that fulfils all these requirements.

Description is Confusing.

Another asks for a dark girl of light colour, not too light, but if a light one could not be had a darker one would do. Not wanted to work, only to wash dishes, nurse the baby and do other little chores. This girl was to be sent by earliest express as the applicant was in very poor health at present. The secretary regretted his inability to match the colour required.

A Modest Request.

One individual is evidently anxious to save the wages usually spent on a hired man. He asks for a good boy able to do a man's work in the field and also to perform chores around the house. In consideration the boy who is able to fulfil these requirements is promised a good bringing up. This is not an infrequent request and in fact it is the usual thing for farmers to expect sturdy youths who will assist in the farm work. All such requests are treated upon their merits—unless the authorities are satisfied that the children committed by the law to their charge, are assured a home, and all that that means, the children are kept in the Shelter till such conditions are met. In the past ten years, the average time of detention in the Shelter is about three weeks.

Favourable Reports Received.

Once the child is placed in its foster home, the Society by means of Government inspectors, guarantees that good care is being taken of the ward. As a rule, these reports are uniformly satisfactory, because of the care taken in the selection of a suitable home in the first place, and it is frequently the case that both foster-parents and ward are in the closest sympathy with each other. As far as the Peterborough society is concerned, out of 250 children placed there is yet to be a complaint registered regarding the treatment accorded the children sent out. At all times it is uniformly good and the children are treated in much the same way as the others in the home are treated. This speaks well for the judicious care used by the officials of the Society in the selection of suitable homes for their wards.

Samples of Good Work.

Few persons are aware of the transforming influence of loving care, sufficient food and pleasant environments, such as the cosy Shelter, with its tree-shaded lawns, flowers, and good living provide. A poor boy was admitted to the Shelter, and so fierce had been the ravages of semi-starvation, abuse and neglect, that he was reduced to the level of an animal — dull, spiritless, and hopeless. But soon he became bright, and a normal boy. He was placed in a happy home, and yesterday his foster-mother brought to the secretary a glowing report, and her delight at the character and promise of her foster-child, was unbounded.

J. J. KELSO
Superintendent of Neglected Children.

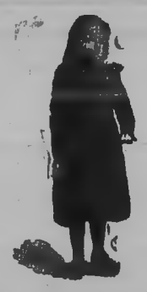
The records contain stories of children, almost as hopeless, without futures, who have turned out well, and are occupying a respectable standing in society, or positions of trust and responsibility.

RAW MATERIAL.

There is to-day in Toronto a man living happily, married, the head of a virtuous household, in receipt of an income of $120 per month, who was rescued from a home of repellant viciousness and almost animal degradation, cared for by the Shelter and placed in a foster home. Another young man similarly rescued is now in a position of responsibility in this city, earning good wages —between $2 and $3 per day—with a promising future. But for the work of the Society the penitentiary or the gallows was his outlook. Another case. A little girl was admitted to the home in Peterborough. She took the fancy of a Toronto lady of wealth who was visiting in the city, and who could find in the Toronto Shelter no child that met her demands. She was adopted and now she is the happy inmate of a luxurious home, the equal in society of others "born in the purple." She travels with her foster-mother when she goes abroad, and enjoys all the advantages of that wealth, made the handmaiden of Christian Charity, can give.

The Sombre Side.

No words can express or convey an idea of the condition of some of the children rescued. Half naked, filthy, bruised and beaten, and ravenous with chronic starvation—ignorant of what a full meal means. When Mr. Henry first assumed charge of the Shelter, children given access to all the food they wanted, gorged themselves to illness, and it was pathetic to note the gloating anxiety with which food was regarded till leave was given to "fall to."



SUNSHINE IN A HOME.

The darker side of the work is investigating the stories of cruelty, neglect and ill-treatment that continually reach the society. Some are pitiable in the extreme. It is the duty of the Children's Aid to examine into all cases and where a case of cruelty or neglect is reported to the secretary an immediate investigation ensues. If the situation is not too serious the parents are simply threatened with the law, and in many cases this is sufficient. However if conditions warrant more stringent measures, an order is procured from the police magistrate by which the society is authorized to take over the neglected children as wards. There are cases where the parents because of poverty or sickness are willing to surrender their children, but they are comparatively few. The most prevalent way is to rescue the children from their unfortunate environment by a magistrate's order. But such a course has the Society that in many become to evil cases it is not necessary to remove ill-used children from parental custody—frequently a warning will suffice.

Such in summary are the characteristics of the society, and an indication of the great work it is doing and will continue to do. Its work is most earnestly commended to all who have an interest in this kind and an interest in the well-being of society. No higher nor more practically beneficial work can be done in the broad field of philanthropy that through the medium of the Children's Aid Society.

A Little Statistical.

As intimated the germ of the Children's Aid Society was first planted in Canada in the good town of Peterborough in 1889. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children as affiliated with the English society, was organized in that year with the following officers:

President—Jas. A. Hall.
Vice-Presidents—Mrs. Jas. Kendry, and Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary-Treasurer — J. H. Burnham.
Solicitor—E. B. Edwards.
Executive Committee — Clergymen and ministers of the different denominations and some laymen.

After an existence of four years the act was passed, and the present Children's Aid Society of Peterborough was incorporated under the act and organized, November 8th,

1893, with the following officers:—

President—Jas. A. Hall.
Vice-Presidents—Miss Isabella Roger and A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary-Treasurer — Hampden Burnham.
Assistant Secretary—J. W. Bennet.
Agents—Geo. I. Roszel and Geo. Cochrane.
Hon. Counsel—E. B. Edwards.

The "Charter" members of the Society, those who first subscribed their names and paid their fee are Hampden Burnham, Isabella Roger, Isabella Buller, M. F. Kelly, E. Morrow, E. Kendrey, J. Chamberlen, Jas. A. Hall, Herbert Symonds, J. C. Davidson, M. L. O'Sullivan, J. W. Bennet, Edg. Pearse, Mrs. R. W. Bell, M. McGill, J. E. Trotter, W. R. Young, E. B. Edwards, E. Walsh, A. M. Nicholls, Mrs. J. W. R. Beck, Annie Sherrin.

The following are the officers for the current year:

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mr. J. H. Burnham.
Vice-Presidents — Mrs. Birdsall, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot.
Secretary and Solicitor — Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer — Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent — Mr. George Cochrane.
Representative on Charity Board — Mr. George Cochrane.
Board of Management — Mesdames Best, Garvin, Davis, Wood, O'Sullivan, Montgomery, Potter, Eardley-Wilmot, Harding, Jessie Birnie, Miss Gow, Miss Dickson, Miss Boucher, Miss Barlee, Rev. A SONG OF TRUST.

Behind the cloud the sun still glows
Above the thorn there smiles the rose,
And side by side with Sorrow goes
Joy with his song and laughter.
God sends the stars into the night;
And grief shall give way to delight:
Trust Him, and find the paths all bright
That lead to the hereafter.

For every noble deed begun,
For every strife of conscience won,
For every kindly service done,
The path of life grows clearer.
God's hand is ever at our side;
God's vice is ever close to guide;
Trust Him, and so be satisfied;
Each hour makes Heaven nearer!

—Frank Dempster Sherman.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH.

Peter urges the saints to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." Growth is as necessary for the Christian life as for the physical and mental. Progress is as essential to the evolution of the soul as to the body. Christ tells us to "Consider the lilies how they grow." They are planted in good soil, watered and cultivated, and then, with the sunshine and air of heaven, they reach the highest beauty. By a wonderful and mysterious process which the highest intellect cannot fully understand everything and being on earth must grow or die. There is no cessation or stagnation in nature. It is life and progress or decay and death.

For spiritual growth man like the lily, must be planted. His soul must be planted into Christ, a spiritual soil, in order to grow in the vineyard of the Lord, and thus grow heavenward then, like the vine, or the mustard seed his soul will develop. By prayer man inhales the air of heaven, and the Spirit of God vivifies his soul. By the study of God's word, he is fed with heavenly manna, nourished, sustained and strengthened. The truth contained in the Bible is his food, the soil from which the man draws spiritual stamina; but action is necessary. The winds of heaven must blow amid his branches, and the sunshine of God's love lead him forth to unselfish exercise, thus by grace and knowledge he can do all things possible in this world and can assist powerfully in building up the kingdom of God upon earth.—Henry M. Hall.

DO YOUR BEST.

Some people will never assist in any good work, unless in doing so they can outshine everybody else. If they cannot excel as singers, they will not sing at all; if they cannot teach a Sunday school class as well as the most expert and experienced, they decline teaching altogether. Now this is as if a man should refuse to be good or do any good whatever unless he could be and do more good than anybody else. This is just what the unprofitable servant did. The widow's mite was more than all who gave of their abundance. The poor woman of Bethany shines as a star forever and ever because she did what she could and what no one else would. God requires of no one impossibilities. He simply demands of us according to our capabilities. He asks only a return of what He has already given us—nothing more. To refuse to give this because it is not equal to what others may render, is sinful in the highest degree. Let us do what we can. To do less than this will bring upon us condemnation. To do our best—no matter how small that may be—is our imperative duty.

OUT OF REST.

I might speak also of your perpetual irritations, your fits of anger, your animosities, your jealousies, your gloomy hypochondriac fears. These all, at the bottom, are the disturbances of hunger in the soul. How certainly is the child irritable when it is hungry! Even the placidity of infancy vanishes when the body is awaiting for food. So it is with man. He is irritable, flies to fits of passion, loses self-government, simply because the placid state of satisfaction is wanting in his higher nature. He is out of rest because of his immortal hunger. Three-quarters of the ill-nature of the world is caused by the fact that the soul without God is empty, and so out of rest. We charge it, more often than justice requires, to some fault of temperament; but there is no temperament that would not be quieted and evened by the fullness of God. —Hoarce Bushnell.

FROM TABOR TO GETHSEMANE.

At times on Tabor's holy mount,
Our soul's baptized in living light,
We hold communion blest and free
With God Himself—upon the height.

Forgetting for the while how close
Below us lies Gethsemane,
Or where in solemn silence steep'd,
Looms sad cross-shadowed Calvary.

How loth we are when comes the call,
Bidding our ling'ring steps descend
Down to the vales that stretch below,
Where doubts and cares like shadows blend.

E'en at the mountain's foot they wait
The bitter agonies of life,
The stricken ones who cry for aid,
A world of sorrow and of strife.

Ye! why despond? Do we not know
That He has pass'd this way before?
Our Master, who endur'd each pang
Of earth, each crushing burden bore?

If He, the Saviour, could descend
From heaven to suffer in our stead,
Should we, ungrateful, hesitate
To follow where His footsteps led?

We may not linger on the height
With Him in rapture, but we may
In lowly service here on earth
Walk with our Master every day.

—Lucy R. Buck.

GOD NEVER DISSAPOINTS US.

My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from Him. —Psa. 62:5.

We cannot trust ourselves too little, and we cannot trust God too much. "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not upon thine own understanding." Somewhere in the future there hangs before us in the air a golden ideal of a perfect life, but as we move on, the dream of complete victory over sin moves on also before us. It is like the child's running over the hill to catch the rainbow; when he gets over the hill the rainbow is as far off as ever. If our expectation of spiritual growth and of conquest of temptation rests on our own resolutions and our own strength, then our day dreams are continually doomed to disappointment.

"My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from Him." God never disappoints us. When we study the Almighty in the book of nature or the Book of Revelation, we find our utmost expectation overtopped by the wonderful reality. When we obey God we find the rich reward sooner or later just as surely as day follows the sunrise. When we trust God He never fails us. When we pray to Him aright, with faith, with submissiveness, with perseverance, and with honest desire to glorify Him, He answers us. I don't believe that our Heavenly Father ever turned a deaf ear to an honest prayer offered in the right spirit. He is a Sovereign, and doeth His own wise will; and if it pleaseth Him to keep us waiting for the answer, then we must understand that delays are not always denials.

If we had only to demand from God just what we desire, and in the way and the time that suits ourp leasure, then we would b esnatching God's spectre and trying to rule the Ruler of the universe. Did you ever know a child that ruled its parents without ruining itself? And if it spoils our children to have their own way, I am sure it would be for our ruin if we could bend God to all our wishes. If this be our "expectation" from God, then the sooner we abandon it the better. God keeps all His promises, but He has never promised to let you and me hold the reins. He answers prayer, but in the way and at the time that His infinite wisdom determines. Some prayers are not answered at once; more than one faithful mother has gone to her grave before the child for whose conversion she prayed has given his heart to Jesus. Some prayers are answered in a way so unlooked for that the answer is not recognized; eternity will "make it plain." For many petitions are answered according to the intention and not according to the strict letter of the request; the blessing granted has been something different from what the believer expected. Jacob, when he blessed the sons of Joseph, laid his right hand on the son who stood at his left side. So God sometimes takes off His hand of blessing from the thing we prayed for, and lays it on another which is more for our good and His own glory. He often surprises His people with unexpected blessings—and Heaven will have abundance of such surprises.

A man once urged John Jacob Astor to subscribe for a certain project, and told him that his son had subscribed, the old German millionaire replied very dryly, "He can do it; he has got a rich father." Brother Christian! you and I have got a rich Father. We are heirs to a great inheritance and possessors of exceeding precious promises. Let us ask our great things. God must take it ill that we covet so little of the best things and pray with such scrimped and scanty faith. "Open thy mouth wide and I will fill it." We can easily overexpect from our fellow creatures, but we cannot overexpect God. "The Lord taketh pleasure in those that hope in his mercy." I have read many a biography which ended in bright hopes quenched in blackness of darkness, but I have never read, and never have I heard of the experience of any man who confessed that he was disappointed in his Lord and Saviour.

My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from Him. There can be no divided responsibility; it is God or nobody. As the old Puritan writer Trapp reminds us, "They trust not God at all who trust Him not entirely; he that stands with one foot on a rock and another on a quicksand will sink as surely as he that hath both feet on a quicksand." The stake is indescribably tremendous, for it involves my eternal destiny. Even Heaven is as yet only on "expectation", but it is from Him!

"My hope is built on nothing less
Than Jesus' blood and righteousness;
On Christ the solid rock I stand,
All other ground is sinking sand."

—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Lesson X ,September 2.—Bartimaeus and Zaccheaus.—Luke 18: 35 to 19: 10.

GOLDEN TEXT.

"The Son of Man is come to seek that which was lost."—Luke 19:10.

BETWEEN THE LESSONS.

After his interview with the rich young ruler, Jesus delivered the parable of the Labourers in the Vineyard, and again predicted his death and resurrection. Coming to Jerico, he healed two blind men. Whether or not Bartimaeus, about whom we study in this lesson, was one of these, or a third person, is an unsettled question. Directly after healing the blind men, Jesus had his famous interview with Zaccheaus.

CRITICAL NOTES.

35. As he drew nigh unto Jericho. Jesus was slowly travelling toward Jerusalem. It is not improbable that he spent a day or two at Jerichb (compare John 11: 6), and that, having gone out of the town on an excursion to the neighbouring hamlets, he was hailed by the blind man. Such an assumption, while it is not the only possible explanation, readily harmonizes the divergence between the statement of Luke and that of Matthew and Mark. Matt. 20:29; Mark 10: 46. A certain blind man. Named Bartimaeus. Mark 10:46. There were two blind latter park of his remark. Jesus turned from Zacchaeus to the other persons present, and spoke about, instead of to, the publican.

Why Wear Glasses?

Just why do your Neighbors—or You—wear Glasses? To see clearly and easily—whether reading, sewing, writing, conversing or walking along the street. Perfect vision, without strain or discomfort, is possible only with perfectly formed eyes. An imperfect eye may see perfectly by exerting great effort. Stony Lake Steamers Meet With Accidents

Empress, Majestic and Stony Lake Have All Had Slight Mishaps During the Last Few Days--Running as Usual.

A spell of bad luck seems to be following the Stony Lake boats just now and within the past few days all of them have met with mishaps. On Friday afternoon the Empress was beached on Eagle Mount during a heavy gale, and was rescued only after considerable difficulty. On Saturday afternoon the Majestic's boiler went out of order,, after she had finished her afternoon trip, and she was unable to aid the Empress with her night round. Yesterday the Stony Lake was the one to meet with an accident. Something went wrong with the wheel, and when Young's Point was reached she hit one of the piers, making a bad dint in one side.

The accident to all three boats were slight, however, and they are now running as usual.

Fishing In The Otonabee Has Been Excellent

Many Fish Have Been Caught—Mr. Thomas Emmerson Probably Leads in the Season's Fishing With Twenty 'Lunge to His Credit.

It is a strange, but perfectly true, statement, that people go to a distance to look for fishing, while, at the same time the waters at their doors, afford better angling.

Peterborough is an example of this statement, and the fact is that there have been as many fish caught in the river inside the city limits, as there have been in some of the summer resorts. The lunge have been biting exceptionally well.

Up to date Mr. Thomas Emmerson probaly leads all the disciples of Izak Walton. During the season he has landed no less than twenty lunge, all of them in the river between the C.P.R. bridge and McDonald's Point. This is a record that has not been reported from any of the near-by resorts.

Messrs. Pollock distinguished themselves yesterday morning by landing two fine lunge near the C. P. R. bridge. The fish tipped the scales at 11 and 12 lbs. respectively.

THAT disaster breeds endurance no one doubts. An Easterner who was visiting in California at the time of the recent calamity fully recognized this fact, and gave the Californians credit for it.

A building had collapsed as a result of the earthquake. Besides several Californians, confined beneath the debris, was a New Yorker. As the rescuers began removing the brick and timbers, a feeble voice called from a corner of thee building far below:

"Help here! I am from the East, and am unused to earthquakes. Take me out first."

A Light Weight.

A COMMERCIAL traveller for a London firm secured an order for £1,000 in the west of England and, as it was not duly acknowledged, wrote a letter to the firm calling special attention to it and saying, "I thought you would consider such an order quite a feather in my cap."

In reply he received this note from principal:—"We have filled your order and inclose for your cap the one feather you require."

After a fortnight came another letter from the firm:—"The people who gave you the £1,000 order have failed, and we lose the goods. We have this day sent you a bagful of feathers for you to fly home with, as we do not want you on the road for us any more."—Strand.

Murray St. Pastor Will Leave City

Has Voluntarily Resigned to go to South America.

The congregation of the Murray street Baptist church, received an unpleasant surprise Sunday morning, after the communion service, when the pastor, Rev. F. J. Scott, B.A., B.Th., announced his decision of leaving for Bolivia, South America, at the end of the year. Rev. Mr. Scott has been considering this move, for some time, unknown to his congregation. He goes to Bolivia in view of the call from the Baptist Missionary Society of Ontario and Quebec, who have been seeking for missionaries for that region for some time past. Mr. Scott, although grieved to leave Peterborough, where he has spent the past two years, explained to the congregation on Sunday, that he felt that he was needed in the south, more so than here, and felt that it was his duty to answer the call for missionaries.

While in Peterborough Mr. Scott has worked diligently for the Christian cause and has made himself beloved by not only his people, but by many others citizens. He will leave, accompanied by his wife and family, for Bolivia, at the close of 1906, preaching his farewell sermon on December 30th.

The congregation although loth to do so, accepted the resignation of Mr. Scott.

Empress Failed To Call Yesterday

And Many Stony Lake Cottagers Are Indignant.

Many cottagers at Stony Lake are indignant at the manner in which were treated by the steamer Empress yesterday. The boat in her endeavour to reach Lakefield in time to make train connection with Toronto did not call at many islands where she was expected and the result was that many people were stranded. A large number had closed their cottages ad had everything packed up in readiness for the boat. When she did not call there was great indignation. Some people drove down from McCracken's Landing and the remainder had to wait until this morning.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

One of President Roosevelt's reformed spelling words serves a double purpose, shortens the heterography and states a fact—"demagog."

We state, says the New Glasgow, N. S., Chronicle, that these clergymen have made their beds and should be compelled to lie in them. They have chosen the part of political partisans; let them remain so. They have descended to misrepresentation, and one of them to slanderous vituperation of the Liberals of this country; let them pay the penalty. Liberals should maintain their independence as free men by at least refusing to listen to them leading in public worship.

Such faddism, in regard to spelling, in the President of the United States, of course will result, says the New York World, only in confusion. It will justify the ignorant and careless who do not spell correctly and put a premium on posturing eccentricity. Artemus Ward lived before his time. Instead of being a neglected humourist he should have made millions out of steel or turned statesman to have his queer phonetics converted into government text-books for the misinstruction of the young. Seriously, President Roosevelt is doing great harm to the cause of education and the working custom of uniformity by indulging his freakish impulse to set up new standards.

Pandora Range

OVEN THERMOMETER. NO "BAD LUCK" BAKING DAYS.

Twenty degrees difference in the temperature of an oven is sufficient to make "Good Luck" or "Bad Luck" in baking many kinds of food.

The heat in the oven of a range not fitted with a thermometer, or worse, fitted with a poor instrument, will easily vary twenty degrees—result is unpalatable, burned or half-baked food, a cross cook and a disappointed family at meal time.

Thermometer fitted in oven door of "Pandora" range has been a proven success for fifteen years, and every instrument is carefully adjusted, and tested by heat, before sending out—the first, best and only thermometer which is of any real value to those who do baking.

"Pandora" range is handsome, economical on fuel and a perfect baker.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

The Whitney Government In Healey Falls Power Deal

Lease of Most Important Water Power in Eastern Ontario--No Public Competition Permitted---Power Commission Ignored--A Lease as Contrary to Law as it is to the Public Interests--The Lessees Favoured.

We were led to expect that the Whitney Government would make a beneficient revolution in the matter of dealing with provincial water powers. It created a Hydro-electric Power Commission which was empowered to deal with the whole question, but which in practice has proven to be a delusion and a snare. Whatever competency in capacity the Commission may have had we find the Government setting the Commission aside and usurping its functions in a way not only contrary to law but hostile to the public interests and hostile to the aims of municipalities desiring cheap power. The lease executed by the Whitney Government to the so-called Northumberland and Durham Power Company looks very like a game of graft in which the municipalities, such as Brighton, are likely to come out second best. In another column is published a synopsis of this precious lease, and below is given an article from the Globe analysing the lease and the surrounding and accompanying conditions. This water power was not put up to competition, the lease was made in contravention of the spirit, if not letter, of the law. The Commission was clothed with full power to deal with such matters but the Government has cavalierly set the Commission aside. The Globe says:—

The Chief Water Power.

When the first hydro-electric commission sent to the Government its report dealing with waterpowers in eastern Ontario, it was made quite clear in it that the most important water power stream is the Trent River, and that the most important water privilege on the Trent is that of Healey's Falls. When the permanent Hydro-electric Commission was created under the authority of the statute based on the original Commission's reports, it was quite naturally expected that no further disposition would be made of any great waterpowers either east or west without bringing the alienated franchises under the jurisdiction of the commission, and that the terms of the concessions would be in accord with the conditions prescribed by the general law which has for some years past governed the granting of such franchises. The facts published in our news columns to-day, respecting the chief waterpower on the Trent River will be an unpleasant eye-opener to those who reposed unquestioning confidence in the Government at whose instance the hydro-electric law was enacted last session.

The "Graft" Element.

The first point to be noticed in this connection is the date of the lease of Healey's Falls to the Northumberland-Durham Power oCmpany. It was made only six weeks ago, the instrument purporting to have been executed on the thirteenth of July last. This makes it perfectly clear that the disappointment inflicted on the public was deliberately planned and carried out since the issue of the hydro-electric report. Truly this is adding insult to injury. It cannot be pleaded in bar of condemnation that any vested right stood in the way of proper treatment of this valuable waterpower, the title of which is still vested in the Crown. It was open to the Government to put the franchise up to competition as was done with the Right of Way mining franchise, to ignore previous applications as it ignored the right vested in one of the Niagara power companies by a completed conveyance, and to subject the terms of the franchise to the authority of the Hydro-electric Commission.

Contrary to Law.

Another important point to be noted is the fact that the terms of the lease to the power company contravene the spirit, if not also the letter, of the law which governs the granting of waterpower franchises by the Crown. According to that law the the limit of the leasehold is ten years, renewable for another ten and then for twenty; the Healey's Falls lease is for twenty years, renewable afterwards for ten, and then for another twenty. In other words, the duration of the first lease is doubled in defiance of the law as it has stood for several years past.

Commission Ignored.

It is not necessary to do more than call attention further to the fact that the Hydro-electric Commission, which has been specifically clothed by the Ontario Parliament with authority to fix the amounts charged for electric energy, is entirely ignored in this lease, that duty being assigned to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council—in other words, to the Ministry of the day—and that to it is assigned also the function of compelling the power company to take steps to supply all the power that is required to satisfy the local demand up to the limit of the capacity of the waterpower. The fact is that if the Government refuses to require the company to produce more energy than it is at any time developing no other authority can be brought to bear on the company; and if the Government fixes a price for electric energy, no matter how favourable it may be to the company as against the purchasers, whether municipalities or private parties, "any order in Council fixing such rate shall be final and conclusive, and binding on all parties concerned."

Cheap Power a Dream.

Such conditions, granted at the present time, will make very unpleasant reading for those who have been interesting themselves to secure an ample supply of cheap power for municipalities as well as private users. This Healey's Falls lease is grossly unfair and absolutely inexpedient. It is on its very face a fraud, a delusion and a snare.

Well Deserved Credit Is Given

Good Work of Good Officials Recognized.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In reading your account of the origin and continuance of the local branch of the Children's Aid Society, I looked in vain for some recognition of Mr. R. M. Dennistoun's splendid work for the last four or five years as secretary and solicitor. The secretary is rally the responsible head and the guiding hand in a movement affecting so vitally the liberty and well-being of our people as this one does. Thorns of the sharpest and most irritating character beset this officer at every stage, and it is to Mr. Dennistoun's great ability and skill that we must ascribe the society's later expansion and success. Mr. Cochrane, as agent, with a merely nominal salary, has done most excellent work. You must allow me also to point out your typographical error in giving $30.00 as the "nominal rent of the shelter". This sum would appear rather more phenomenal than nominal to most people, I think. Fifty dollars is the rent paid by us to Mr. Best, which, of course, is far below the real value of the premises.

J. H. BURNHAM.

It is regretted that the pressure under which the article was written led to the ommission of the recognition which is very properly cheerfully made in the above letter. The ommission, it is, of course, unnecessary to say, not due to any lack of appreciation of the services of the gentleman named, or of the generosity of Mayor Best, in placing so beautiful a property at the services of the society at phenomenal, as well as nominal, rental.

Local Consular Agency Re-opened

Mr. Bell Has Received Further Instructions From United States.

Mr. F. J. Bell has been instructed by the Governments of the United States and Canada to re-open the Peterborough Consular agency, and as a result the agency here re-opened on Monday morning. It had been closed since the 30th of June last, but the inconvenience to shippers was so great that authority was given to re-open the office. As a result, business is now being done at the old stand to the advantage of the general public. There never was any judgment used in closing the office, as the Examiner pointed out at the time.

WEDDING BELLS

ROSS—ROSS.

One of the early September weddings took place this morning at 6.30 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's sister, 509 Water street, when Miss Katherine (Kate) Ross, daughter of the late George Ross, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert H. Ross, formerly of Woodstock, but for some years past a well-known resident of this city. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Robt. F. MacGregor, was unattended, and was gowned in a smart tailored suit of Bois broadcloth, with gloves and shoes to match, and wore a chic hat of pale blue French felt with trimmings of Bois velvet and shaded ruchings to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross were the recipients of many handsome and useful gifts. They left on the 7.20 train for Windermere, Muskoka, taking with them the hearty good wishes of a host of friends.

Outing of Crew Of Dredge Trent

Spent a Pleasant Time Down the Otonabee Yesterday.

The crew of the dredge Trent, yesterday enjoyed an outing to Rice Lake. The staunch little tug, Myrtle was used for the occasion, and notwithstanding the severe shaking up the Myrtle has received by reason of the very heavy work she has been put to during the past few months but in which she has proved herself equal to the task, she made the trip to Rice Lake in splendid time, with Captain Breen at the wheel. A very pleasant day was spent and some good catches were reported. It is said that Mr. Henry Gordon would have proved to be the best fisherman on board, if he had had a line and hook.

Indications of Kidney Trouble

Among the early indications of kidney disease may be mentioned:

Backache.
Fickle appetite.
Deposits in the urine.
Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night.
Rheumatism and acutic pains, constipation and diarrhoea alternating.
Dropsical swelling.
Scanty, dark-coloured urine.
Persistent loss of flesh and weight

Prompt relief is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by persistent treatment the kidneys are restored to health and activity.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

Arrested On Non-Support Charge

Chas. Cook, an Old British Soldier, in Trouble.

High Constable Cochrane celebrated Labour Day yesterday by taking a jaunt into Otonabee township, to arrest Charles Cook, an Englishman, on a charge of non-support.

Cook was brought out by the Salvation Army about six weeks ago, and since that time has only done eight days' work.

Mr. Cochrane found the family, which is composed of Cook and his wife and three small children, living in a house which had but little of the comforts one is accustomed to associatiate with home, sweet home. There was no stove in the house, the family doing the cooking outside. One bed served the five.

Mr. Cochrane brought the family into town, the wife and children being taken to the Shelter, while Cook appeared before Police Magistrate Edmison, and was allowed to go on his own recognizance to appear on Saturday next. The man started to work at the C. G. E. this morning. He is an old British Army soldier.

COMIC OPERA DOLLY VARDEN

"Dolly Varden," at the Grand Opera House Thursday next, September 6, is one of the Grand's best offerings in comic opera. The company numbers 50 people, with a powerful singing chorus. The company is under the same management as "Elsie Jarvis," who was to have opened the Grand last season. Box office is now open, and is open continuously from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

From Forest to Patient.

ALL modern science goes to prove that herbal medicines are vastly superior to those containing mineral ingredients. The herbs of the field and the trees of the forest constitute nature's "medicine chest;" and the highest benefit which science can confer on man is the discovery of nature's medicinal balms and essences, and their preparation in form suitable for use by the people.

Bileans for Biliousness—the great Australian cure for indigestion, headache, debility, liver trouble, etc.—are purely vegetable. They are entirely different and superior to ordinary liver and stomach medicines. It is well known that liver medicines hitherto in use mostly contain bismuth, mercury, and other harmful mineral products, and rely upon these ingredients for their temporary effects. These mineral constituents are very injurious if taken for long, and produce such effects as that of loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out, etc. Bileans are entirely superior. They are compounded from extracts and juices of the finest known medicinal plants. In taking them there is no fear whatever of any harmful secondary effects. They cure that which they are taken to cure, and do not leave behind them evils worse than the original ones. They do not merely purge and weaken, like the old-fashioned medicines, or do the work which the liver and stomach should do. They tone up and enable these organs to fulfil their proper functions, so that when a cure is effected and Bileans are left off, the organs remain strong and healthy. Users of Bileans need therefore never fear their use will lead to the contracting of the terrible "pill-taking" habit.

A Police Officer's Evidence

INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION CURED

Mr. Alexander Gordon, a retired Police Sergeant, of Merry Street, Motherwell, says:—"Up to two or three years ago I enjoyed excellent health. Then my bowels became disordered and I suffered most fearful pain. Indigestion also attacked me and eating became very unpleasant on account of the nauseous after-effects and bad taste in the mouth. I also suffered from weakness and terrible pains in the back.

I was very ill when Bileans were brought to my notice. I decided to give them a trial. Obtaining a supply, I was delighted to find that soon after commencing the course I obtained relief. I persevered, with the result that the constipation and back pains were overcome, and the indigestion disappeared. I am now as healthy as ever and can eat my food with relish."

CHANGE OF SEASON AILMENTS.

At this time of the year the body needs toning up to meet the demands that will be made upon it by the coming winter. Signs of this need are headache spells, a weakly "run down" feeling, biliousness, indigestion, etc. A short course of Bileans will have the effect of toning up and bracing up the whole system.

BILEANS FOR BILIOUSNESS CURE

Headache, Constipation, Piles, Liver Troubles, Indigestion, Palpitation, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Dizziness, Debility, Anemia, and all Female Ailments. Of all Druggists, 50c per box, or post free from the Bilean Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

The Itinerary Of The Great "Overseas Mail"

The C. P. R. Time Beater Running Sharp on Schedule Time--After a Swift Traverse of a Continent Now Booming--Down the Thither Glacis of the Rockies--The "Overseas Mail" a Girdle of Empire.

Examiner Special.

Chalk River, Ont., Aug. 31.—When the conductor, at 9 o'clock sharp this morning at Quebec, shouted "All aboard for Hong Kong and intervening points," he gave the cry of an historic epoch. Twenty years ago the first transcontinental train of the Canadian Pacific Railway made history for Canada. The train to-day, "Overseas Mail," which beats the record of two decades ago by two and one-quarter days, adds another page to the history of the Dominion. The prediction of 20 years ago that the Canadian Pacific would make for a united Canada, as well as for the greater unity of the Empire, has been amply fulfilled. The railway, with 12,000 miles of line, is now, in more ways than one, the backbone of the Dominion. Its ships on both oceans—the other day one carried the Canadian flag around the world,—its telegraph lines span this continent and do business with Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. It conveys British troops from England across North America to India and China. It has done more than any other single agency to develop the Canadian Northwest, which is supplying Britain with bread, and her surer-abundant population with comfortable homes. Its great financial success has improved the public credit of Canada; its energie made per a powerful lyoung nation, where before she was a mere collection of provinces without a common aim or a common patriotism. All this and more has been accomplished by the Canadian Pacific in a quarter of a century, which, in the life of a community, is but as the twinkling of a life. In the great future that lies before us, and in the greater consolidation of the Empire upon which the mind of the English race is set, The Canadian Pacific is destined to play a still more conspicuous part. Its latest achievement in the direction of binding England and her overseas possessions more closely together is the transportation of the China mail from Liverpool by one of the new Canadian Pacific steamships to Quebec, thence by a special train across Canada to Vancouver, and from there by another Canadian Pacific steamship to Hong Kong, the total distance of 13,000 miles to be traversed in 30 days, 10 days less than the time consumed by the Suez route. No other company in the world, steam or rail, or both combined, is capable of undertaking, still less of performing, such a feat by its own unassisted efforts. Nothing like it has ever been done before simply because there has never, until now, been an organization of the resources and all-embracing capabilities on land and sea of the Canadian Pacific.

The Empress of Ireland arrived at Quebec this morning at 2.10 o'clock, making a record trip across the Atlantic of six days, seven hours and fifty minutes, and on schedule time. The "Overseas Mail" left at 9 o'clock, reaching this point sharp on time at 8.15. There was no attempt at speeding the magnificent train, but merely an effort to make the time which would connect with the Pacific Empress of China, which would land the mails in Yokohama in 20 days, and in Hong Kong in 29 days from London, nearly a week less than has previously been done by any route. There was a large number of passengers destined for the Orient. The great majority preferred lingering in Canada, and so while the initial train does not carry out as many people as was anticipated when the Empress left Liverpool, the main idea of landing the mails from Europe to the Orient in record time is being more than satisfactorily maintained. The Empress of Ireland brought over 1437 passengers, a great majority of whom went to Western Canada by the Empress special, which left Quebec within an hour of the "Overseas."

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—The overseas mail reached the half way house this morning bright and early, 598 miles from Quebec. Train after train laden with freight for the west, and passenger trains carrying men to work in the Western harvest fields, have been overtaken during the last 2 days, and other trains, some carrying western cattle to the eastern market, have been met. The picturesque Ottawa Valley and the rock bound north shore of Lake Superior have been left far behind and the high grain elevators of Port Arthur and Fort William are merely remembered as the giant storehouses of the broad wheat lands of the Canadian West. Here at Winnipeg a goodly crowd gathered to greet the pioneer train whose inauguration may possibly revolutionize the trade of three continents, for the new C.P.R. connection links every three weeks in summer and every four weeks in winter, will prove a powerful factor in the development of traffic between the Mother Country and the far East. The growing city of Winnipeg, the portal to the far-reaching fertile prairies of the West, was a town of a few thousand people twenty years ago when the C.P.R. inaugurated its transcontinental train service. To-day its population exceeds 100,000. Then not more than three millions of bushels of wheat were exported from Manitoba. This year 75,000,000 bushels will be sent out from the West to feed the people of Eastern Canada and Europe. Then there were only a few scattered towns and villages in Canada between the Red River of north, and east Rocky Mountains, now the country has filled up, and there are many prosperous cities and towns throughout prairie lands. In that time the C.P.R. with its 661,000,000 trackage had an equipment which consisted of 372 locomotives, 301 first-class passenger and baggage cars, 37 dining and cafe cars, 27 private, official and pay cars, 8,258 freight and cattle cars and 171 other carriages and 3 steamships on the upper lakes. In the intervening 20 years the locomotives have increased to 1109, the passenger and baggage cars to 997, the dining and cafe cars to 160, private official and pay cars to 50, the freight and cattle cars to 31,152, the conductors' vans to 658, and the other carriages to 1,745. The expansion of steamship service has been more than correspondingly larger. The fleet of three vessels sailing between Owen Sound and Fort William has grown amazingly and the ships flying the red and white house flag of the C.P.R now also ply the waters of two oceans and the lakes and Rivers of British Columbia. On the Atlantic are 15 C.P.R. steamships including the two new Empresses, which are breaking all records; 6 crossing the Pacific Ocean; 16 on the Pacific coast service, north and south of Vancouver and Victoria; 16 on the inland waters of British Columbia, and two car ferries on the Detroit River. Besides this there is the connecting Canadian-Australian line of steamships by which the Antipodes are reached. The rail miles has grown, including controlled lines, to 12,883 miles, and every year is seeing this mileage largely increased. The earnings 20 years ago were ten millions of dollars, and the operating expenses six million dollars odd. In the annual report just published it is shown the earnings have reached the huge sum of sixty-one million and the operating expenses over thirty-five millions of dollars. These few figures give a fair idea of the development of the Canadian West and the expansion of the Canadian Pacific, which from being as first intended a mere railway between two points which are now between two points, one of which is now wiped off the map and the other almost forgotten, has become a gigantic transportation company whose ships and trains reach half way round the globe. As an expression of opinion on this new service, one of the passengers on the train, Mr. R .B. Bennett, the well known Calgary lawyer:—

"This great train may be regarded as the concrete expression of that idea of the unity and solidarity of the British Empire of which we so often speak. The name, "overseas mail," suggests the words used by the King, referring to our colonial Empire as the British Dominion beyond the seas. It strikes a true imperial note. It cannot but be just cause for national pride when we recollect that the most important means of communications between the greatest commercial nations of the Occident and the Orient. The mails are being carried over two oceans and across an intervening continent on the steamships and trains of a Canadian Transportation Company. Canada is a country with a population of only a few millions, yet I venture to think that nowhere in the history of commercial and industrial overseas development is there to be found anything that equals in magnitude and far-reaching results this achievement of a Canadian Railway Company."

Calgary, Alta., September 3. — The rarest of days was spent yesterday in crossing the great stretches of prairie of the Canadian West. There had been detentions after leaving Fort William but the few hours were only temporarily lost, and the Overseas Mail within the day was running sharp on the original schedule. The 135 miles between Kenora and Winnipeg were covered in 159 minutes. The same distance between Winnipeg and Brandon was made in 187 minutes, and the run to Broadview, 132 miles, occupied 178 minutes. From Broadview to Moose-jaw, 134 miles, the Overseas Mail rushed in 175 minutes. When Swift Current was reached in the evening the train was exactly on time. At Calgary the Overseas Mail arrived ahead of its schedule. The 973 miles from Kenora to Calgary were made in 34 hours, and 15 minutes, including stops. At the divisional points yesterday large numbers gathered to welcome the Overseas Mail, and even at the smaller stations there were manifestations of the great interest the people took in this epoch-making train of the Canadian Pacific, while the passengers were delighted at the boundless, thickly-stacked fields, which indicated the wealth of the region. The large crop, generally harvested, recalled to many of them, the words that answered Kipling's poem on "Hyperborean Canada." "There are fields of grain, where the wide horizon glows; and the hot sun laughs at the very thought of the lady of the snows." Sunny France or the vine hills of Italy could not have given a more pleasant or genial sunshiny day than the West blessed us with on the glorious September Sunday.

Revelstoke, B. C., September 3. — The Overseas Mail has crossed the Rockies and the Selkirk Range, and arrived here in the valley of the Columbia on schedule time. We have now only the Gold Range to traverse, and run down the Fraser Canyon, to the rail terminus on the Pacific coast, where at Vancouver, the steamship, the Empress of China, is waiting to carry the Oriental mails to the Far East. The magnificents mountain scenery was an unforgetable charm to those on board, and in the delightful summer weather—for the thermometer was in the seventies—the grand old, snow-crested peaks the glaciers, and the deep valleys, were a constant and glorious surprise.

Mr. Bunt Left For Own Sound

Will Have Charge of Selling Department in Store There.

Mr. W. C. Bunt, late of the firm of Richard Hall & Son, left on Saturday for Owen Sound. There he will have charge of the selling department in a store in which he formerly spent 12 years. Mr. Bunt spent about two years in Peterborough and not only gave satisfaction in the work he endeavoured to do but took a deep interest in the work of the Y.M.C.A. In the latter capacity he will be greatly missed.

Mr. Bunt and family carry with them from Peterborough the best wishes of many citizens for their future health and prosperity.

Several Samples Proposed Engine

Have Been Disposed of by Company's Local Agent.

Mr. C .J. McConkey, of Smith, the local agent for the International Harvesting Company of Toronto, has filled many orders recently for gasoline engines similar to that proposed for the new House of Refuge. In Lakefield Messrs. Lawless & Spellman, proprietors of the Lakefield House, have purchased one of these engines for pumping water and running electric fans, etc. Mr. Webster also of Lakefield, has one for mixing bread, and Mr. Alex, Nicholls of Islanda, Buckhorn Lake, has recently installed one of those machines for pumping water.

DIAMONDS

For Every Home.

Diamonds for every Canadian home are not the gems which the wealthy alone can purchase; they are those invaluable gems known as DIAMOND DYES which have been for twenty-five years true money savers for the women of Canada.

DIAMOND DYES wherever used, have proved their superiority over all other package dyes in richness, fullness and durability of colours.

Certain speculators, jealous of the popularity of DIAMOND DYES, are putting up adulterated and crude dyes to imitate the DIAMOND DYES. These common and cheaply prepared dyes produce blotchy and muddy colours and ruin good materials.

When you have dresses, skirts, blouses, jackets, capes, stockings and other articles of wearing apparel to recolour, use the DIAMOND DYES only and you will have results which will fill your heart with joy. DIAMOND DYES make old things look like new.

Always ask your dealer for the DIAMOND DYES and refuse any other make that may be offered to you. The common dyes are sold by merchants simply for the sake of big profits. New Diamond Dye Direction Book, Diamond Dye Cook Book and Illustrated Booklet, entitled "Diamond Dye Longjohns' Winter and Summer Sports" sent FREE to any lady who sends her address to Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal.

Peterborough And Belleville Lead

In Health and Sanitarium Advancement Among Small Cities.

The Toronto News of Saturday night says:—A marked forward movement is characterizing the small cities of the Province in health and sanitation advancement. Belleville is the pioneer. The City Council there has decided to erect an new isolation hospital, and Dr. Bruce Smith, and Dr. Hodgetts have returned from their visit to assist in the selection of a site. That chosen is 200 yards from the General Hospital, on the Bay of Quinte. There will be separate buildings for scarlet fever and diphtheria patients. New laboratories and offices have been installed for Dr. Horace Youmans, Medical Health Officer, who tests all milk supplied in Belleville.

Peterborough has also forwarded plans for the erection of an isolation hospital, to cost $6,000.

Objected Going To Police Station

Found Drunk Sunday Morning About 2 O'clock.

The citizens of Peterborough behaved themselves splendidly over the holiday as was shewn by the fact that only one drunk occupied the prisoners' stand at the police court this morning. He was found by P. C. Newell about two o'clock on Sunday morning in the vicinity of the C.P.R. Hotel, but raised some strenuous objections about going behind bind the bars. The officer was compelled to almost carry him to the corner of George and Simcoe streets, where, considering it was better to walk than be dragged, he walked the remainder of the distance.

This morning he was arraigned before Acting Magistrate Armstrong and allowed to go, considering he had spent a couple of days in the cells.

New Residence At Stony Lake

Mrs. A. L. Davis Having Plans Prepared for Summer Home.

It is understood at Stony Lake that Mrs. A. L. Davis has plans about ready for one of the handsomest and most comfortable new summer residences erected on the inland waters. Mr. Froude is at present engaged in the erection of a new boat house with concrete foundation, of handsome design, two stories high. Her yacht the "Nancy," will have a most substantial resting place when completed, and the second story will be finished as a large and commodious sitting or sleeping room overlooking the waters. Her new residence will be completed as fast as possible. It is understood that the present house will be either moved back or removed altogether, and that a new house of very commodious dimensions and finished in first class style, will be commenced this fall and completed in the early spring. This summer a new wharf and walk have been completed. The cost, it is said, will be in the neighbourhood of ten thousand dollars. When finished this will be the largest and best summer home on our inland waters.

George Street Business Change

Herr Mendel Takes Over the Business of Mr. Leslie Turner.

The photographing business which has been carried on so successfully for the past three and a half years by Mr. Leslie Turner will in future be conducted by Herr Louis Mendel. Herr Mendel is a native of Germany, having just arrived in Canada a year and a half ago. Since that time he has been an employee at Mr. R. M. Roy's studio, where he has made a great many friends. He is also well and favourably known in connection with the Conservatory of Music, where he has been a teacher of the mandolin for some time.

Mr. Mendel followed the present business in which he is for twelve years on the European continent before coming to Canada. He practised in France, Germany, Italy and Austria, so that his ability for performing artistic work, including etchings and enlargings, is unquestionable. He was in Toronto last week attending the Exhibition, and has brought back with him the latest novelties in photography. He is also a practical photographing chemist.

Mr Turner, who gave up the business yesterday, will still remain in Peterborough, and will devote his entire attention to the German Card Manufacturing Company, of which he is a prominent promoter. The company is at present building in the city, and more will be heard of it in a few days' time.

RETURN OF PETERBOROUGHS' MUSICAL ARTIST.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who has been in Europe for the past few months, returns about the middle of September. Mrs. Morrow has been studying under the finest European teachers, and returns with credentials from her teachers, which place her in the foremost rank of teachers in Canada.

Mrs. Morrow's ability as a teacher is well known to the people of Peterborough, and after having been instructed further by eminent European artists, who cannot but anticipate good results from her pupils, who should look forward to her return and embrace the opportunity of studying under such a talented artist.

Pupils will kindly forward their names as soon as possible so that hours can be satisfactorily arranged, as her classes in vocal as well as instrumental music, will be even larger than last year. Studio, 437 Brock street. 6d50
